GROWERS SLOW IN DISPOSING OF SPUDS

The potato trade is unusually slow in opening this season. Many growers are showing a disposition to let go of at least a portion of their growth, but while buyers have heretofore been rather steady in their bids, they are not taking on much stock at the moment.

While prices at San Francisco would admit of a continuation of former values being paid here, shippers say that the season is still so young that it would be extremely hazardon to said work and to be said to be a still so young that it would be extremely hazardous to send much stuff toward the south at this time. With digging of the early crop general in the Willamette valley, it has been found that the crop is better than expected, although some what short of the normal. Reports from the country state that the condition of late potatoes remains ex-cellent, therefore all expectations are for a total crop somewhat heavler than during recent years.

Packers and buyers started in the week fairly well loaded with supplies and the increased offerings of cattle caused a lower market. Steers, especially the heavy classes, were from 25c to 40c less than the week previous. There was a more frequent call for cows and butcher cattle and the market on this class ranged more steady. The calf market was steady.

The constant arrival of eastern hogs; the lower tone of markets east and the matter of quality eased the hog market up a little. One lot of tops sold at $8, with extra heavy as low as $7.
