RETIREMENT.

Nobody need be surprised at the report that Senator Joseph W. Bailey is to step out of office at the end of his term in 1913. For several years past he has been out of harmony with his party on essential issues. He is against Bryan and the dominant element of the Democrats on free silver. On the tariff he has opposed some of the measures of his party. He is against it on the initiative, referendum and recall. All three of these questions have been of some consequence and the two last-named are still before the country, and will give trouble to the Democratic party in 1912.

A generation of Democrats have appeared upon the scene who know not Joseph, and Joseph recognizes this fact. Will men like Williams of Mississippi are at the front in Democratic councils these days. In a controversy between the Mississippi man and the Texan a few months ago on the question of "What is a Democrat?" the Mississippi declared that the Texan's credentials were bogus. And he was right. If Williams and his incoming colleague Vardaman are Democrats, Bailey is not. For a short time after going to the Senate Bailey was looked upon as a sort of a leader. He held that post for a few years in the House, and there was a general opinion that he would gain it in the Senate. But the defects of temperament which prevented him from being a success as a party chieftain in the popular chamber impeded him in his newer field. Democrats of much less natural ability exerted far greater influence than he did, or than he ever could.

Nevertheless, Bailey's retirement will help to call attention to the irrepressible conflict in the Democracy which threatens to render its life rather troublesome to itself in the next few years. Speaker Clark, Chairman Underwood and the other men who are in the inner council of the party in the House say that the tariff will be at the front in the campaign of 1912. They are correct. It was at the front in the extra session, will be prominent in the session which opens in Dec. and stands a chance to be paramount in the canvass next year. The only doubt as to its paramountcy lies in the uncertainty as to whether the Democratic platform will give greater or less prominence to the initiative, referendum and recall.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN COLORADO.

The opponents of equal suffrage have been circulating a statement that Denver has a great amount of juvenile crime—presumably due to mothers neglecting their children for politics. Judge Lindsey calls this an "outrageous slander." He says that most of the children's offenses are "of a trivial character," and that during the year 1910, out of a school population of 50,000, only 49 children were so persistently delinquent as to be complained of a second time. Judge Lindsey adds: "The police officers of Denver would, I am sure, cheerfully testify that the criminal conditions among youths that formerly existed in Denver have not only decreased, but the serious cases that we formerly had to cope with from exceptionally bad gangs have almost entirely passed away." In this connection let it be also noted that all the state officers of the Colorado W. C. T. U. have signed a published statement that equal suffrage does not demoralize women or make homes unhappy, and that in Colorado "nothing is so feared by corruptionists as the vote and influence of women." None of this is news to anybody who has taken the pains to look into affairs in Colorado. The reports that woman suffrage is detrimental to Colorado come from the same corrupt sources in that state, are propagated through the same corrupt channels elsewhere, and are swallowed by the same gullible innocents from which, through which and by whom scandalously false stories about Judge Lindsey have come, and been propagated and swallowed.

EDUCATION AND MONOPOLY.

The thirst for education and the opposition to consolidations known as trusts are two of the most moving impulses of our strenuous life. If anybody had despised of education in this country, or if doubts have obstructed themselves into patriotic minds that the people would not rally against combinations in restraint of trade, let the troubled eyes turn toward Stebbenville, Ohio, in the shadow of which lies Scio, a seat of learning. The seat of learning is Scio College, a Methodist Episcopal institution of some endowment, a considerable faculty and library, and a growing field of usefulness.

Lately, the trustees have concluded that the field of usefulness could be widened through a merger with Mountain College, a smaller institution not far away. This step, threatening a possible removal of the college of Scio, was deprecated by the population of that place, who insisted upon the Pierian spring being left in their midst. But the full force of the opposition was not realized until Monday, when R. Emery Bletham, the president of Scio, in going to the railway station to take a train for a journey which would complete the merger, found himself beset by a mob, hooting, jeering and casting eggs which it was no extravagance to waste even in this era of high cost of living. The arrival of the train afforded him a timely shelter, and on his return at night he was protected by the sheriff and the marshal.

Such a hunger for knowledge in Scio is not to be despised, and certainly nobody will dare, in these thunderous days of denunciation of all forms of combination, to defend the merging of two institutions of learning into one. If it be a benefaction to make two blades of grass grow where only one has grown, can it be a benefaction to make one college out of two? Scio has sat upon the case and decided that such a combination is unreasonable within the purview of the Supreme Court's decision in the Standard Oil case, and it may be able to prove that it will be in restraint of the trade of Scio merchants and boarding house keepers. At any rate the stale egg, as an argument for education and against monopoly has appeared in Ohio.

JUSTICE IN THE ORIENT.

From the land of the chrysanthemum comes a story which is significantly illustrative of the difference in the administration of justice there and in the Occident. The assassin of Prince Ito, a Korean, displayed great fortitude during his trial and when sentence of death was being passed upon him. The date of his execution had been fixed and was approaching when word was conveyed to the authorities that the doomed man was engaged in writing a poem.

When the authorities were told that six days would be required for the completion of the poem they very considerably postponed the execution for that length of time. When it had been completed the mandate of the law was carried out. In this country a man doomed to die for taking the life of a fellow being wrote a poem and the governor of the state that had ordered his death not only commuted his sentence to life imprisonment but permitted a prison theatrical performance in which the prisoner distributed to fellow convicts as souvenirs pieces of the rope with which he was to have been hanged. This, too, despite the natural human tendency to throw all restraint to the winds and suddenly translate all poets to the Elysian fields or wherever else they may go.

Chump Clark says that the Democrats will come back in 1912. Which prompts us to ask where are they now?

A congressman complains that he can't live on his salary. We know of no law compelling him to hold onto his job.

300 MEN DIE AS WARSHIP BLOWN UP

DESTRUCTION OF FRENCH VESSEL IS MOST DISASTROUS IN NAVAL HISTORY.

SAILORS FIGHT LONG FOR CRAFT

Discipline Causes Many Brave Tars to Lose Lives—Battle With Flames Half an Hour Before Explosion.

TOULON, France, Sept. 25.—More than 300 officers and men of the French battleship Liberte lost their lives today when the ship was torn apart and totally destroyed in the harbor here by an explosion of her magazines.

The battleship Republique was badly damaged and the battleships Democratic and Verite suffered heavily from the masses of twisted iron and armorplate hurled upon their decks.

This is the greatest disaster that has ever befallen the French navy, and in magnitude is almost without precedent in the annals of the world's fighting ships.

Fire Causes Disaster.

The explosion which wiped out one of France's most powerful battleships occurred at 5:20 o'clock this morning. It was the result of an outbreak of fire. The flames spread rapidly in spite of all efforts to extinguish them, and reached the magazines before there was time to flood them.

The magazines exploded with tremendous violence, "sowing death and destruction in every direction. While the naval authorities estimate the killed at 300, it is feared this figure will be exceeded. It will be necessary to go through the ship's muster rolls before a full list of the victims can be prepared.

Several men already have been taken alive from the torn and twisted mass of wreckage, and hope is strong that others may be rescued.

Exactly from what cause or when the fire started has not been established, but it is believed it had smoldered for hours. Of the vessel's full complement of 742 men, Captain Jaures, brother of the Socialist leader, and his second in command, both were ashore on leave, as also were 140 officers and men. The command of the ship devolved on the senior lieutenant, who perished.

Crew Fights Bravely.

The first fire was discovered at 4 a. m., and the bugles immediately sounded the alarm. The crew rushed to quarters and fought desperately the spreading flames, but it soon was evident that the fire had obtained a firm hold.

The position of the fire made it impossible to flood the magazines and finally the commanding officer said to the men, "Let him save himself who can," and told them to jump for their lives.

At 5:35 the first explosion occurred. It was followed by three others at one minute intervals. These came the final terrific detonation which shattered the windows of the entire city and was heard for a radius of many miles. The Liberte was rent asunder; her bows were thrown high in the air and then the vessel slowly settled down and in 10 minutes nothing was visible but the top works.

Those still on deck were hurled skyward amid a shower of iron and steel. The boats of the rescuers were sunk and serious damage was done to the Republique, which lay at anchor close by.

Two of her decks were stove in, and one of the Liberte's armor plates, hurled against her port side, demolished the cabin of an absent ensign.

SUGAR PRICE CUT; BOYCOTT FEARED

New York, Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Fearing a boycott on refined sugar the magnates of the sugar trust today lowered the price of that commodity from $7 to $6.25. The first break in the high price which has been prevailing was made when Arthur Brothers announced this 75-cent drop in fine granulated sugar.

Other sugar men hastened to follow suit, with the single exception of the Federal company. The brokers state that the consumption of sugar has declined considerably since the price was advanced, and the magnates were beginning to fear a boycott.

M'NAMARA HONORED AGAIN BY UNION MEN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—At an enthusiastic session of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' convention here today, John J. McNamara was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The convention also voted to present McNamara with a gold watch for a further recognition of his services to the organization in the past and as an assurance that he is still their first thought in the time of his present trouble.

With approximately $60,000 on hand today and with an outlook of double that amount by the end of the month, all secured by assessments during the convention, the McNamara defense fund is materially increased.

CANADIAN HATRED OF U. S. BEATS TREATY

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 22.—The Globe, the leading Liberal paper of Canada comments as follows on the result of the election:

"The government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier goes out of power on a great issue. Believing as it did, that the offer of the United States to exchange natural products with Canada on a duty-free basis would prove advantageous to both countries, the government risked its life on the issue of reciprocity and lost it.

"The people of Ontario don't like their neighbors to the south. That is emphatically the declaration of yesterday's election. Liberals in tens of thousands must have joined the Conservatives in city and country to show their objections to having any truck or trade with the Yankees.

"The other provinces, taken together, have a majority for Laurier and larger markets, but by an overwhelming vote, Ontario has declared that she will have nothing to do with reciprocity. The campaign orators of the Conservative party, during the last two weeks of the campaign, appealed to the people of this province to save Canada from the Americans. They created a wave of feeling that was not observable on the surface, but that nevertheless swept the voters from their political moorings in numbers.

"That the wave of anti-American sentiment will speedily subside is not the probable. It mounted too high to last. But the drift will remain and until Ontario becomes less powerful relatively in the councils of the nation than she will be in the opening period of the Borden administration, there will be no hope of better trade relations with the people of the United States. The tariff wall will remain.

"The more ardent high protectionists may even raise it still higher. If that is to be the policy of the victors, the reign of Mr. Borden will not be long unchallenged. The West will not stand for an immoderate tariff and reaction will speedily follow any attempt to raise a barrier against imports as high as Haman's gallows.

"It is a matter of very great regret that so many of the leaders of the liberal party should be among the defeated. It will be some time before Mr. Borden can gather around him heads for his various departments who will measure up to them."

is the horse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamberlin, of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he writes, "we were afraid that a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear, we rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT STOPPED BY CLERGY

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The clergy of England, who have been making strenuous efforts to put a quietus on the proposed heavyweight fight between Jack Johnson and Bombardier Wells, the English champion, won their victory today when it was announced that the fight will not take place. The announcement comes from a result of the stand taken by Winston Churchill, the home secretary, who declared that if the promoters did not abandon the proposed fight, he would have both Johnson and Wells deported to keep the peace. It is understood that an official announcement declaring the match off will be made by the promoters.

The cause of the attack by the clergy was an account of the moving pictures, which they claim would instill brutality into the minds of children. The picture rights had been sold for $100,000.

HUNTERS GET BIG GAME.

Ernest P. Elliott and Mort Parks Return From Southern Oregon.

Asserting that they killed mighty bear the limit, and claiming some fine heads to substantiate their claim, Ernest P. Elliott and Mort Parks returned Monday night from a deer hunt in Southern Oregon. Going to Drain on the Southern Pacific, the local hunters joined a larger party and went back into the hills in the Umpqua country.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Oregon City Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of lame back sufferers in Oregon City are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

E. W. Hildem, 714 Main St., Oregon City, Ore., says: "The public statement I gave in 1906 in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. Kidney and bladder trouble caused me much suffering and as time passed, my condition became worse. I finally consulted a physician but his treatment did not bring relief. The kidney secretions were painful and distressing in passage and caused me much annoyance. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at Hunley Bros. Drug Co. and it was simply astonishing the way they took effect on my trouble. By the time I had finished the contents of one box, every symptom of kidney complaint had disappeared and my kidneys no longer annoyed me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

tance of 35 feet 5 inches. Andrew Mathew of Portland won second in this event. Mr. Owen also won the long jump, distance 15 feet 9 inches. John Leslie was second; distance 14 feet 11 inches.

The half mile sprint proved to be one of the most popular events, calling out seven entries. Leslie was first in 2:45. W. W. Rutherford of Portland was second and William Richam took third place. The Scotch program had to be cut because of the absence of the piano necessary for the musicians. In the afternoon an exhibition of dancing was given on the judges' stand in front of the grandstand. During all the events Piper John Smith, of Portland, was the central figure. The dances were in costume and an appreciative audience encircled the young women repeatedly. The award dances, most picturesque and difficult of the Scotch dances, was given by Miss Annie Williamson of Portland. The Highland Fling and Hornpipe were beautifully given by Misses Jessie and Aggie Pottage, and the Highland Fling was given by Miss Marie Watson. Later in the afternoon the same dancers gave an impromptu program on the platform in the grove.

Racing Pleases Crowd. The race meet in the afternoon brought out a large crowd. The only event on the program for Wednesday was a free for all race, and the only entries were Haltamont, owned by Billy Vaughn, and Lou Miller, owned and driven by Cox. Haltamont won the first heat in 2:18 and the second in 2:18 1/4. At the finish of the first half mile lap of the first heat the horses were neck and neck and the finish of the first heat was close in. The second heat Haltamont pulled away from Lou Miller and held a good lead all the way. Cox had difficulty in holding Lou to the fence on the turns and was unable to nose Haltamont out, so had to keep on the longer stretch.

Immediately after the race Chester Elliott and Mort Park of the Elliott & Park garage in Oregon City gave an exhibition race against time with a Ford racer. Early in the afternoon Elliott, who was to have driven the car, had a finger cut off while working on another machine. Park took his place and drove in excellent form for not having trained for the event. Today the same auto will run a race with a motorcycle. Willard Cheney will drive the motorcycle.

The program for today is an exceptionally good one. At 10 a. m. the judging of the livestock on exhibition will take place. At 11 o'clock there is to be a tug of war between teams from different parts of the county. There will also be other athletic events, in charge of Major Noble.

The races today begin at 1 o'clock. The principal event will be the 2:20 trot. There are four entries in this event. The horses entered are: Red Skin, chestnut gelding entered by C. H. Lohmire; Falmouth Jr., brown horse, entered by Fred Woodcock;

Floradora Z., brown mare, entered by E. Tilden, and Almaden D., black gelding entered by J. Smith. Red Skin and Falmouth Jr. seem to be the favorites.

The second event for the afternoon will be a half mile dash. Entries were to have closed at 6 p. m. Wednesday, but as not enough had been entered the entries were held open. There will probably be a special event Friday afternoon for the benefit of the big crowds that will be out on Oregon City day.

The closing attraction for Thursday will be the auto-motorcycle race. Between heats of the horse and gas machine races A. A. West, broncho buster, will give exhibitions of his art. The Oak Grove girls' band will play both afternoon and evening in the grandstand and the pavilion, and there is to be a dance in the Ganby hall under the auspices of the band Thursday evening.

The milk cow contest at the Clackamas county fair has been made one of the leading features by the fair management and as a result seven cows, five Jerseys, one Red Poll and one Guernsey, are entered in a two days' contest to see which can produce the most food value in the two days. M. S. Shrock has charge of this department and he figures out the results of each milking and posts the same on a large bulletin in the main pavilion. To the dairyman this contest is as interesting as a horse race, watching each heat of the contest to see which is in the lead.

PLANS TO IMPROVE ROADS SUGGESTED

This proposed bonding act is in the nature of an enabling act. In addition to the measure mentioned in detail a recommendation was also made that an initiative measure be prepared for submission to the people at the next general election providing for an issue of $2,000,000. It is suggested that these bonds be issued at the rate of $2,000,000 per year covering a period of ten years.

No action was taken in regard to the working of convicts as the committee was disposed to leave this matter in the hands of the governor for the time being.

The bills were the result of a careful research and the best thought of the committee and were adopted by a very large majority. There were not more than four dissenting votes at any one time on any measure.
