WIFE, SING, SAYS LOVE SOON COOLED

Hardly had the wedding bells ceased their tinkling when Olaf Kindof ceased to love his wife, and alleges Mrs. Vida G. Kindom, who through Attorney O. D. Eby is suing for a divorce. In the complaint she says that they were married in Portland on January 14 last year. In February the plaintiff says that Kindom began to treat her with coolness and indifference. She says that he showed no love or affection whatever toward her, and even went so far as to tell her that he did not love her. She asks the custody of their young son.

Alleging that her husband frequently beat her, and treated her cruelly otherwise, Oley Lois Boylan filed suit for divorce Friday from Ora Boylan. They were married April 4, 1907 in Portland. MARRIAGE FEES ARE LEGAL, SAYS JUDGE

Cupid has lost his anti-tipping fight. Judge Campbell went to Portland Friday and gave little Dan a solar plexus blow. However, the little fellow is not dismayed, and it is dollars to doughnuts that he'll keep on working. Justices Bell and Olson, of Multnomah county, brought suits which involved their claims for the payment of salaries and the effects alleged by Multnomah county for marriage fees, which the county contended should have been turned into the county treasury. Arguments for the justices of the peace objected to Portland judges trying the cases and Judge Campbell was asked to hear them. He held that persons who entered into a contract to marry were not litigants, and therefore it was just for the justices who performed the ceremonies to receive fees.

RIDER RISKS LIFE STOPPING RUNAWAY

William Wallace, of Highland, was in this city Saturday and was preparing to leave for his home when his horse became frightened and started to run away while Mr. Wallace was in the act of getting into the wagon. The horses ran down Main Street and while passing in front of the Beaver building, George Rider seized the reins of one of the animals. He was dragged a short distance. Mr. Rider's heroic act elicited much praise from witnesses. The horses were returned to the owner by David Williams.

MERCHANTS TO HAVE NEW CREDIT GUIDE

The Merchants' Mercantile company, of Portland, is preparing to publish a credit guide for this district. By this system the company will be put in direct touch with credit conditions all over the United States and whenever any one moves here from any other part of the country the merchants here will at once be posted through this company as to how the party paid his bills where he formerly lived. These credit guides are made up in districts covering nearly every state in the Union. They are made from the combined experience of all the merchants in each of these districts and every merchant rates his own customer according to how they paid him. Before a customer is rated he is given notice by letter that he will be rated and is given a chance to pay up his old account and thus secure a good rating. Each merchant and professional man is furnished with a copy of the guide so that he may refer to it and look up the rating of any customer or prospective customer before giving any credit.

THEATRE DISTURBERS LECTURED BY JUDGE

Judge Stipp Friday dismissed the warrants against twelve well-known young men, charging them with creating a disturbance at Shively's Opera House Wednesday night during the rendition of the play, "Don't Tell My Wife," by the Franklin Stock Company. The defendants made many pleas—each one declaring he was guilty. It was urged in extenuation, however, that the play was not presented as admirably as it might have been, and consequently cat-calls, shrieks, etc., were in order. The judge lectured the young men, telling them they must not offend again, and then dismissed the warrants. City Attorney Story suggested that a fine of $5 each would be a salutary lesson for the young men.

EASTERN DEALERS IN APPLES HOLD OFF

The Northwestern Fruit Exchange, in its latest bulletin, reports little change in market conditions during the week past. Speculators in the large eastern centers have evidently made up their minds to "stand pat" against the purchasing of boxed apples for the present, in the belief that holders will weaken later, or that when the movement is actually on in earnest, there will be a large surplus, which will drift into their markets unsold, and which can then be picked up at bargain prices. Commenting on the attitude of the eastern buyers referred to, the Exchange says: "This belief is more or less justified, they figure, by the history of the past season or two, and they argue that if the Northwestern growers allowed their cars to 'follow the line of least resistance,' in years when the conditions were favorable, they are all the more apt to do so this year, when market conditions are very complex and difficult, on account of the enormous crops of apples being harvested in all of the eastern districts. "The view which the Exchange takes of all this is that the easterners are right or they are wrong, entirely as the northwestern growers shall elect. Undoubtedly there are, in the aggregate, hundreds of cars, in weak hands, which will eventually roll into the eastern markets and sell at low prices through the auction and commission houses. It will depend largely on how our apples are handled, and by whom, and what facilities are at the command of the producers, as to what the final results will be. "Taken in connection with other domestic sales reported, the Exchange announces that it has sold out in advance of shipment every single car of Jonathan apples controlled by the Cashmere union, and announces hereunder the new season's averages: Extra fancy grade, $1.55 plus; fancy grade, $1.35 plus; choice grade, 95 cents plus, all f. o. b. cars, Cashmere, Wash. "The above averages are based on the official proportions of each grade as furnished by the union, and include all sizes, from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 tier, inclusive. It is noteworthy that under the Exchange system the union has disposed of all grades at proportionate prices. "Has Millions of Friends. Then he began giving the passengers instructions, and was making a speech to them when the train reached this city. HUNTERS AND BRUIN PLAY HIDE-AND-SEEK

A. H. Heater and O. A. Pace, who recently left for the headwaters of the Molalla River on a hunting trip, were heard from Thursday. Mr. Pace telephoned to the Redway store that they had seen a big black bear. The men started early Thursday morning with their guns loaded for bear and with their faithful dog. The men had become separated, and Heater was the first to see the bear. At first he was brave, and started for the animal. Pace, who was in the rear not knowing of his companion's find, Heater started after Bruin, but the animal was too sharp and hid behind a log, and Heater passed along, not knowing that Bruin was on the lookout. Heater again caught a glimpse of the bear and started for the creek, and by this time the dog with Pace had got busy and proceeded to hunt the animal. Heater, before crossing the stream, threw away his gun. After crossing the stream he called to Pace to throw him his gun so he could shoot the bear. Pace was trembling with fear and not having the strength to do as his friend had requested, the bear made good use of this time and escaped from the "brave" hunters. The men have decided to take up the hunt again for the bear, and as they have a large supply of ammunition on hand, the friends and families of the hunters will no doubt enjoy some bear or beef meat, providing the beef is near at hand.
