MISS ROAKE HAS PRETTY WEDDING

POPULAR OREGON CITY CHURCH-WORKER AND JOHN CRAWFORD ARE MARRIED.

DECORATION OF HOME BEAUTIFUL

Many Handsome Presents Received By Young Couple Who Will Go To Housekeeping In This City.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James Roake, Elvethurst, between John Adams and Jefferson streets, when their daughter, Miss Ivy Belle, was carried to Mr. John Crawford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. S. Bollinger, pastor of the Highland church of Portland, but formerly of this city.

The strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. V. Harris, who formed the quartet with Mrs. Adams and Jefferson streets, when their daughter, Miss Ivy Belle, was carried to Mr. John Crawford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. S. Bollinger, pastor of the Highland church of Portland, but formerly of this city.

The bride wore a very becoming gown of cream colored laces with lace trimmings and was made scrupulously. The only jewelry worn was a garnet brooch, which has been in the family for many years. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and asparagus ferns.

The gifts were many and beautiful, including cutglass, silver and linen. Among the gifts were silver spoons from the Saturday Club, a beautiful chair from the members of the church, given as a token of the high esteem in which she is held and for her untiring work.

The decorations of the Roake home by Mrs. James Roake, were beautiful and artistic. The reception hall was in ivy, festoons of which entwined the railing and formed a background, while the parlor, living room and dining room were decorated with autumn leaves, Virginia Creeper and bright colored salvia blossoms. The bay-window of the parlor, where the wedding ceremony was performed, was a lower of beauty. A background was formed of Virginia Creeper suspended gracefully from the ceiling to the floor, and this was completed with huge Salvia plants covered with the bright red blossoms, while large quantities of autumn leaves were used in other parts of the room. Between the parlor and the living room was an archway of red and gold, colored leaves, which were used in the living room and dining room in a most artistic manner. The electrolux of the different rooms were entwined with autumn leaves, and the lamps cast a beautiful golden hue.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford will go to housekeeping in the Roake cottage on Jefferson street near Elvethurst. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roake, and is one of the most estimable and well known young women in this city. She has been active in church work, at present being leader of the Congregational church choir, and is one of Oregon City's leading vocalists, having taken part in many entertainments given in this city. She has spent most of her life here, where she has made a host of friends.

The bridegroom came to this city about three years ago from Belfast, Ireland, and is a son of the late James Crawford, who was a well-known resident of Belfast. He is a highly educated young man, and is engaged in building.

Only the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom attended the wedding and are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. James Roake and son, Verne, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Roake and son, Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Roake and son, Samuel, Jr., of Clackamas; Miss Mamie Roake, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Slover, of Portland; Miss Florence Reed, of Portland; Miss B. H. France, Miss P. H. France and Alfred France, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McCord, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blum, of Portland; Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Bollinger, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. William McLarty, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy McLarty, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLarty, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Getchell, Miss Jean White, Miss Florence White, Miss Flo Hewitt, Miss Alice Bailey.

YODER-M'NEELAN NUPTIALS BEAUTIFUL

Lydia E. Yoder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yoder, Molalla avenue, was married Saturday night to Ernest J. McNeelan, of Portland, by the Rev. J. R. Landsborough, of the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. F. A. Multhaus, of Portland, was best man and Miss Mary Wolfe, also of Portland, was bridesmaid. The bride was dressed in white silk poplin and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and the bridesmaid was dressed in pink silk poplin and carried a pink carnations. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Swafford.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with Oregon grape and autumn leaves and the ceremony was performed under a bell of chrysanthemums, asters and roses. The impressive ring ceremony was used.

The bridegroom is a young business man of Portland, and the bride is one of Oregon City's most estimable young women. The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for Portland where they will make their home. An elegant wedding supper was served. Many presents were received.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Yoder, Fred, Walter and Robert Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McNeelan, Harry McNeelan, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rober, Josephine Morris, Mrs. O. F. Antonson, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Swafford, Mrs. George Osborne, Miss Viola Bauman, Miss M. H. Becker, Miss Maryann Rober, Miss Louella Rober, Miss Margaret Howatson, Miss Anna Kell, Miss Nellie Swafford, Miss Marie Wolfe, Mr. G. S. Howerton, Mr. Harold Swafford, Mr. A. F. Booth and Dr. F. A. Multhaus.

GERTRUDE RUHL AND CHARLES MERRILL WED

Miss Gertrude Ruhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruhl, of Gresham, was married Saturday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, to Mr. Charles Merrill, of Portland, Rev. S. A. Hayworth, pastor of the Baptist church of Portland, officiating.

The bride is an accomplished young woman, and has visited the Elliott family on many occasions and has made many friends here. She is one of Gresham's popular young women. The bridegroom is manager of the Packard Motor Company. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will go to Bend Tuesday in their large automobile. They left on Saturday evening's train for Salem, where they will remain until Tuesday.

MRS. BONNER ASKS SECOND DIVORCE

WIFE, WHO REMARRIED, DECLARES HUSBAND FAILED TO KEEP PROMISE.

CRUEL TREATMENT IS HER CHARGE

Plaintiff Alleges That She Was Compelled To Make Her Living By Working At Millinery Trade.

Declaring that her husband had not kept the promise he made when she married him the second time Ida C. Bonner Friday filed suit for divorce against Walter A. Bonner, alleging that he had been cruel to her, and had threatened her with bodily harm. The defendant was an employe of one of the paper mills here, and a suit for damages for alleged personal injuries filed by him against the company was recently compromised. The couple were married the first time in the Goldendale, Wash., March 4, 1904, and she obtained a divorce in this city December 21, 1908, on charges of cruelty.

The plaintiff alleges that sometime later Bonner promised that he would be good to her in the second marriage. She says that she made him promise that he would never use profane language in her presence, and upon his promise to do so she forgave him. They were married the second time in this city. The plaintiff avers that he did not keep his promise and soon after the marriage began treating her cruelly. She says that he threatened her with bodily harm and on October 7, 1911, while in a rage tore a coffee mill from a wall in the kitchen, and tried to break the stove and chairs. She further avers that when they were married she had $1,500 which she turned into the household fund, and that he had the benefit of this.

Mrs. Bonner declares that a part of the time during her married life in Oregon for the poultry industry transacted in Clackamas county, and it is believed, by organization, better results can be obtained. It is planned to have a poultry show in Oregon City on the near future. The association will arrange fine displays for the State and County fairs next year.

SQUIRREL EMULATES LITTLE JACK HORNER

There is a squirrel in the forests near Shubel that evidently thinks just as much of its ability to obtain plums as did "Little Jack Horner." Miss Nell Yoder, of Hubbard, was busy in the kitchen at her home Thursday morning when she heard a noise at one of the upstairs windows. Upon entering the room she observed a pine squirrel pulling at one of the curtains. She threw a plum at the little animal to frighten it, but instead of it running away as she had expected, the squirrel raised itself upon its hind legs and caught the missile. Then it jumped to a nearby tree where it enjoyed its unexpected meal.

JUSTICE HARLAN DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan, of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his home here at 8:15 this morning. His death was caused by an acute attack of bronchitis, which began with a cold last Monday. Owing to his extreme age, seventy-eight, but slight hope was held out for his recovery, and the members of his family were at the bedside when he died.

Justice Harlan was constantly attended through his illness by Misses Laura and Ruth Harlan, interested Commerce Commission James N. Harlan and John M. Harlan, of Chicago, his daughters and sons.

Justice Harlan was the dean of the United States Supreme Justices. With but one exception, his term on the Supreme bench was the longest in the history of the United States—thirty-four years. He recently opposed the reading of the word "reasonable" into the Sherman anti-trust law, holding out vigorously, though ineffectually, against the rest of the bench. His death will make it necessary for President Taft to make a fifth appointment to the Supreme Court. This will make a majority on that tribunal of President Taft's selection.

John Marshall Harlan took his seat on the Supreme Court bench December 10, 1877, after a long period of active public life. He was born in Boyle county, Ky., June 2, 1833, and at the age of seventeen was graduated from Center college, Kentucky. He studied law at Transylvania University, and received his LL. D. in 1856. Mr. Harlan married Miss Malvina Shanklin, of Evansville, Ind. During the Civil War he served in the Tenth Kentucky regiment, leaving the service with the rank of colonel.

POULTRY RAISERS TO HOLD BIG MEETING

A meeting of the poultry raisers of the county will be held at Mount Pleasant Friday night. A permanent organization was effected some time ago, and all the raisers of poultry in the county are urged to attend the meeting. There is no better county in Oregon for the poultry industry than Clackamas county, and it is believed, by organization, better results can be obtained. It is planned to have a poultry show in Oregon City on the near future. The association will arrange fine displays for the State and County fairs next year.

J. E. Calavan, county school supervisor, will address a teachers' meeting at Neely next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Methodology and course of study will be the theme.

CUPID SAYS, 'BAH!' TO 'FRIDAY, THIRTEENTH'

Cupid gave superstition a solar plexus blow Friday when Russell C. Hammond, of Polk county, Iowa, and Miss Florence Foster, hotel pianist in this city, were married at the court house by the Rev. J. O. Staats. It is unusual for a license to marry to be issued on Friday, but for one to be issued on "Friday the thirteenth" is something unheard of here. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond declared that they were not in the least superstitious, and they thought "Friday the thirteenth" was just as good a day to be married as any other. Mr. Staats agreed with them. The bridegroom is a traveling salesman. The bride was one of the musicians employed at the recent chautauqua at Gladstone Park.

WIFE, SUNG, SAYS HUSBAND HIT HER

Alleging that her husband struck her four months after their marriage, and that in July, 1911, he threw her down and tried to choke her, Ruth Watson Saturday filed suit for divorce from Floyd E. Watson, a compositor. They were married in Portland, September 3, 1905. The plaintiff alleges that her husband makes a good salary and she asks $3 a week alimony.

G. W. McRoberts filed suit for a divorce from L. E. McRoberts, alleging abandonment. They were married in Hardville, Mo., in 1877. They have three children, Lee, sixteen years of age, Ada, twelve years of age and Dee, ten years of age. O. D. Eby represents the plaintiff.

WIFE, SUNG, SAYS HUSBAND IS LAZY

Alleging that her husband is lazy and has been cruel to her her Margaret Burnett, filed suit for divorce Tuesday against Albert Burnett. They were married January 26, 1910, in Vancouver, British Columbia. The plaintiff asserts that because of her husband's refusal to work she had to seek employment and impaired her health by hard work. She asks to be restored to her maiden name, Margaret Johnson, Dimick & Dimick represent the plaintiff.

MRS. ALISKY SUES FOR DIVORCE HERE

Clara Pearl Alisky filed suit for divorce here Friday from Charles Walter Alisky, son of C. A. Alisky, a wealthy retired Portland confectioner. S. T. Jeffries, a Portland lawyer, represents the plaintiff. Mrs. Alisky, who is a sister of Mobil Gilman Corey, asks $5,000 suit money, $1,000 attorney's fee and $250 a month alimony. A similar suit was filed recently in Los Angeles.

Llewellyn Schwartz filed suit for divorce against Myrtle Schwartz, alleging abandonment. He says they were married in Portland March 24, 1909, and she abandoned him August 31, 1909.

Drying preparations simply dehydrate catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and fluids and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm will master catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell the 50 cent size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren Street, New York.

The Balm is used without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. Ely's Cream Balm contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful drugs.

NEW LIFE INJECTED IN ARCANUM LODGE

New life was injected into the veins of Clackamas council, No. 2007, Royal Arcanum, Friday night at a meeting of that organization in the parlors of the Commercial Club. Thirty members of Oregon, Multnomah and Willamette Councils, of Portland, came up on a special car and were received by J. E. Hedges, Dr. A. L. Beatie and other members of the local Council. F. D. Hunt, traffic manager of the Portland Railway Company; Edward Becker, Supreme Representative of the Royal Arcanum; and H. W. Fries, a well-known realty operator of Portland, and E. C. Bronaugh, a Portland attorney, were among the visitors.

Clackamas Council was organized about nine years ago, but has never had a large membership. It is now proposed to initiate a class of 300 in Portland in November, and Oregon City is expected to furnish its quota of the applicants. The first big boost will take place on Wednesday evening, October 25, when Clackamas Council will hold a "joy smoker" to which many invitations will be issued and the Portland Arcanians have promised to bring up entertainers from the metropolis who will assist in making the occasion worth while. Clackamas Council is planning to treble its membership within the next thirty days and every member present has agreed to become an individual booster for the growth of the organization.
