COURT UPHOLDS COAST IN RATES

LONG-AND-SHORT-HAUL STANDS BUT COMMISSION METHOD IS SCORED.

CLAUSE IS THOROUGHLY REVIEWED

Interstate Commerce Commission Sus tained, But Case Will Be Appealed To Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 .- In the majority opinion of the Commerce said date in the County Court of said Court formally handed down today in the transcontinental rate cases, it is held that the long-and-short haul provision of the interstate commerce act is constitutional. Temporary injunction against putting the so-called "Spokane rates" into effect, however, is granted.

The Court, however, declares that the Interstate Commerce Commission exceeded its authority in attempting to establish a relation betwee long and short haul rates, irrespective of absolute rates, and it enjoins the Commission from putting in force the order reducing transcontinental freight rates pending a more complete investigation by the court.

The Commerce Court reached the conclusion that the cases involved in the present proceeding afforded the best possible opportunity for a determination of the constitutionality of the long-and-short-haul provision of the act to regulate commerce. It was realized that the question eventually would have to be fought out before the United States Supreme Court.

In the formal opinion, prepared by Judge Mack, the Commerce Court upholds the Interstate Commerce Commission upon the point of constitutionality of the long-and-short-haul provision of the interstate commerce act, but it goes further than the Commission did, and declares the law would have been unconstitutional "as an unlawful delegation of legislative power," if no standard were given, "to guide the exercise of the Commission's discretion in granting authority to depart from the rules forbidding a esser rate for the long and for the short haul in the same direction and over the same line." The court disagrees with the method used by the Commission in determining the prop-
