Douglas Jerrold. Of Douglas Jerrold the following story is told by W. Teunmouta Shore in "Dickens and His Friends":

While living at Putney Jerrold had a brougham built for him. At the coach maker's one day he was looking at the immaculate varnish on the back of the vehicle.

"Its polish is perfect now," he said, "but the arches will soon cover it with scratches."

"But, sir, I can put on a few spikes that will keep them off."

"No. To me a thousand scratches on my carriage would be more welcome than one on the hand of a footstool to whom a stolen lift might be a god-send."

Woman's World

Mrs. Helen Britton, Owner of Big Baseball Club.

Mrs. Helen Britton

Mrs. Helen Britton of Cleveland, O. has the distinction of being the only woman owner of a big baseball club in this country and possibly in the world. This legacy—the St. Louis National league baseball club—she inherited from her father and uncle. And she is the first woman entitled to sit in a meeting of the National league, an organization devoted to the interests of men.

The feminine manager of a baseball team, according to preconceived ideas, should be a heroic specimen of womanhood, one of the man-talk-kind, with stiff cuffs, a four-in-hand and a stride. But Mrs. Britton is of an altogether different type, for her gown carries the last word in smartness, and she carries them with a grace to do them full justice. The owner of the Cardinals is a clear-skinned, dark hair, symmetrical little woman, with sparkling eyes and a wealth of vivacity.

When asked how her club got its name Mrs. Britton replied "that red was her favorite color. I love to wear it and do most of the time just as a touch of allegiance. But my father selected the name Cardinals because it was his pet color. My husband is fond of it too. Indeed, we might be called a cardinal croquet, especially when a Cardinal knocks a home run."

Although Mrs. Britton never misses a ball game unless staying away is absolutely necessary, she is nothing of an all around "sport," but extremely domestic in her tastes, and her strong, handsome husband says "that when it comes to keeping home comfortable and happy the presiding genius of the St. Louis team is a pennant winner."

Two healthy, wholesome children, a boy and a girl, attest her skill in mothercraft. The boy, his mother says, is a regular child leader, and to show that he is going to follow in the family footsteps he has already organized a league with his playmates and captained the winning team. The wee dandee is too tiny to be entered as a "fan," but certain tendencies point toward her becoming a baseball girl through and through, like her mother.

Mrs. Britton is a fine example of how it is possible for a woman to pursue beauty, business, homemaking and pleasure at once and be a success in all the roles.

Season's "Smart" Color is Pink Red. At last the season's smartest color has been settled on. It does not happen once in a decade that the women of the so called smart set and the women who set the fashions for the inner circle of society's exclusive few agree upon the season's color. They have done so this year, however, and it is a pink red. It runs through a gamut of shades from deep coral down to palest flame, almost yellow. It may be bright cerise or old fashioned "light red," but it must escape being a regular red by several shades. It is becoming alike to blonds and brunettes, and it adapts itself to the modern wonders of frock making where layer of gossamer, heading embroidery, fringe and metal thread shimmer through soft grays and cream and silvery blues in startling places. It can be wrought into wonderful sunset and dawn effects, and it has the advantage of combining with black to a dot to give distinction. Without a doubt the season's favorite color has been well chosen this year.

Mrs. Browning's Sonnets. They say Mrs. Browning showed her husband with much diffidence the sonnets she had written in celebration of her love. "Sonnets From the Portuguese," she called them, incorporating in the title a love name he had for her, for he termed her the Portuguese because of her dark skin and eyes.

Fauly, it must be confessed, these sonnets are, hardly finished here and there one might be tempted to say, but they are as spontaneous as the song of morning birds, as essentially true as the word we speak at unexpected meeting.

Trunk Trays. Trunks have improved along with everything else in this progressive age. The trunk with one tray is a rarity, and most trunks are made with five or six trays. There is such a demand for trays that they are sold separately and can be added to any trunk when ever wanted.

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF and ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO, a clean, refined, penetrating scalp tonic that goes right to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the surface and destroys it.

A shampoo with ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate to get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it. Sold and endorsed by the Huntley Bros. Drug Store.

The Firwood people who are interested in the proposed creamery plant have held several meetings for the purpose of adjusting the contract, which contained about twenty signatures, which contained about twenty signatures.

The contract was gotten up by the Hastings Industrial Company, of Chicago. Forty-seven signatures at $100 each was to be obtained before action was started; the Hastings Company to build plant and collect the $4,700. The Company's work in other places was looked into and found to be unsatisfactory. It was learned that the plant could be built for much less, consequently the people stood for their rights and insisted on the old contract being dropped.

A new contract has been made which gives the stockholders the privilege of erecting the plant as they see fit with E. F. Hogmer to act as promoter at 10 per cent. Mr. Hogmer is a first class promoter but the people of this vicinity will stand for nothing short of a square deal. A committee was appointed to visit the Clear Creek Co. cooperative Creamery to learn what they could of their methods, construction of plant and success. Accordingly E. D. Hart, William Bosholt and A. Malar made the trip Monday. The result was very satisfactory as much valuable information was obtained. The buttermaker of the Clear Creek Creamery has been with them for several years and was formerly employed by the Hastings Industrial Company. It hence was prepared to give them valuable information.

Gibson; lady assistant steward, Miss Minnie Steiman; J. D. Chitwood and Homer Glover acted as installing officers.

Mr. Stone, of Portland, accompanied by his wife, arrived at the hall about 2:30 and gave a fine talk on single tax. Almost every one liked his talk very well.

Louis Kirechem, of Logan, M. T. Thomas, of Sandy, and Mrs. Haas Tracy, of Garfield, were among the grange visitors Saturday.

Miss Bline Douglas spent Monday night and Tuesday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howlett.

Bad news was kicked on the lips by a cold Monday, cutting them quite severely. He went to the doctor and had them sewed up.

FIRWOOD.

On account of the heavy roads the mail carrier has been somewhat delayed, and the items from this district have not reached the office in time for publication the last two weeks.

The F. P. A. held its regular meeting last Saturday evening, although a number of the members attended the party at Mr. Cupp's, of Dover. Those present report a very enjoyable and profitable meeting. It is to be hoped that people will give some thought to the time set for parties, etc., as there is not much going on in a country community. It is best not to have it all on the same evening. The third Saturday of each month is the meeting of the association and everyone is cordially invited to come and have a good time. At the next regular meeting, February 17, a debate will be one of the important features, the question to be "Resolved, That the present honor and parole system is the best means of reforming the prisoners and settling the question of state support of the prisoners." This question is one we are all interested in and a lively debate is anticipated. There will be a short program also, and a valentine box. The valentines are to be in blank envelopes and they will be drawn free. All are invited to come.

A Cruel Question. Skeezick's car had turned turtle, and as he sat gloomily contemplating the situation Uncle Silas reined in his nag and stopped outside.

"Turned over, ha'n't she?" he observed.

"Yep," said Skeezick shortly.

"Want to sell?" asked Uncle Silas.

"Yes," said Skeezick. "I'll sell 'em cheap."

"What's your upset price?" asked Uncle Silas, with a grin. Skeezick Weekly.

SAYS EMSLIE'S EYES ARE O. K.

Hank O'Day Ridicules Story of Empire Bob's Failing Sight.

When one desires to make former Empire Hank O'Day shake with laughter just mention to him in a casual way that it is said that Bob Emslie's eyes have gone back on him.

"Nothing seems so absurd to the new manager of the Cincinnati Reds as to have some one tell him it is time that the National league was putting Emslie on the pension list, as the American league did Jack Sheridan."

O'Day had him for a partner during two months of last season's schedule and found him as efficient in rendering decisions on the bases as any other man in the league.

"I stopped off at Toronto on my way back from the east," said O'Day, "and found Emslie in the shape He was just after winning a gun shoot and was wearing a classy diamond medal."

"I watched him shoot one day, and he killed forty out of forty-five birds. Now, that is some shooting. Then they say his eyes are bad. Do you know, I honestly think his work on the bases was the best of the league."

"While we were together there was less kicking made on his decisions than on any other man who worked with me. In fact, there was hardly any. Of course the players yelled, but they never objected strenuously."

"Bob is still a high-class umpire, and I do not think it is necessary to put him on the pension list. When they say his eyes are bad they do not know what they are talking about. His eyes surely cannot be bad when he wins a shooting match every fall."
