GROWERS ASK 26 CENTS ON CONTRACTS

Hop growers are now freely offering contracts on the 1912 crop at 26c a pound at Willamette valley points, A number of contracts were signed up at this figure during the past 24 hours, although most dealers say that they have no orders that would admit of payment of more than 25c. With the lack of outside competition Lutheran Immanuel Congregation land for contracts, American brewers are in section 13, township 2 south, range playing their usual game of delay to influence prices. The same sort of W. P. Dibble to T. L. Dibble, land in affairs was shown last season and everyone knows what happened to the procrastinating buyers.

The present outlook for the hop crop is for a good production in the Willamete valley. While some reports indicating that quite a number George Gregory, land in section 8 and of missing hills are shown, these are said to exist principally in those yards that some time ago outlived their term of usefulness.

While the season is still too young Horses 18. to make any forecasts of probable hop was born in Michigan, March 8, 1842, United States of America to James production, the outlook at this time is better everywhere than it was a year ago. For that reason brewers are laclined to look with more favor upon the bear side, although their judgment this season must be fully as poor as during previous years.

Spot hops are very quiet. Trading is limited with only an occasional purchase between dealers. Remaining hops in the hands of the independent growers are being held for a rise, but grower-dealers are letting go.
