THE LAST OF A RACE

Because it compels a comparison between the conditions which he witnessed in his closing years and those which he saw in his early prime, the death of Crazy Snake, the aged Creek chief, will be of interest to the country.

When, in 1908, Crazy Snake raised his little rebellion against the acceptance of his tribe of the conditions drawn up by the white man for land allotment and government under white man's law, he found that the situation had changed since the days when he could go on the warpath with a powerful hand behind him whenever the whim seized him.

In Crazy Snake's own State of Oklahoma, which was making its advent just as the old Creek reactionary was starting on his last year foray, are 1,700,000 people. Among them are 17,000 Indians, all except 15,000 or 16,000 of which belonged to the five clans—Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and Seminoles—which he tried to array against the new order.

SILVERTON IS GOAL

The officials of the Clackamas Southern Railway Co. have greater game to bag than simply build a line of road from Oregon City to Molalla. The first 15 miles are assured and the road will be in operation as far as Molalla by fall.

BOOSTER DAY

Booster Day is near. Our business men are doing their part and the Publicity Committee promises a greater event than last year. Saturday, April 27th, has been set as the date, and it is noted with interest by many of our people that the Carnival company is a thing of the past.

only for railroad transportation to reap the golden harvest. Think of the vast areas of our County within reasonably short distance that cannot now be reached by wagon road, pack horse transportation being the only mode of conveyance.

Estacada continues to knock at our door for permission to leave our fire-side and to start a home of its own. Of course, this is Leap year, and like the girls, she feels she has the right to propose.

While the spirit shown by our friends in the eastern part of the county, is along the right line, they have not yet shown proof of their contention, and until they show us that they are working along business lines, for the good, not only of themselves but of the county at large, we cannot get out and boost for them.

A committee from the Commercial Club of Oregon City, will visit Estacada next week, possibly Tuesday or Wednesday. Possibly we will then learn why and that we will then see matters in a different light.

ROADS SHOULD BE IMPROVED
The roads in Clackamas County are not exactly a credit to a district so rich in nature's gifts, resources and scenic beauty.

It is a good move on the part of our people to hard pave our main thoroughfares, Main street down town and Seventh street on the hill being about ready to go ahead.

SURPRISE NEAR IN AUTO CONTEST

ENOUGH BALLOTS MAY BE POLLED BY HARD WORKER TO PLACE HIM IN LEAD

GETS VOTES WHILE OTHERS REST

Leader Has Big Advantage For Many Persons Have Idea That They Should be With Winner

Declaring that he held enough votes in reserve to place him in the lead in the big automobile contest, one of the contenders in the race visited the contest manager Wednesday. He was not only confident, but jubilant and said there was no question that he would be the winner.

This man has been a hard worker. The Enterprise has learned that he works far into the night, and has added to his list of votes when others were asleep. When asked if he worked at night, the young man in question refused to make a positive statement. He, however, said:

"I am doing my utmost. I expect to win, and the reason I expect to win is that I am overlooking no opportunities. I am working hard now, but when I get that automobile, I will have fun day and night if I want to. It is hard sledding now, but it will not be so long. I don't think I have any more ability than some of the other candidates, and if I win, which I hope to, it will be because I have worked harder than the others."

RELATIONS WITH MEXICO CRITICAL
WARNING LIKE THAT SENT TO CUBA BEFORE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR
CONDITIONS MUST BE REMEDIED
Administration, However, Believes That Note Will Have Sobering Effect Upon Belligerents

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The State Department's foreboding note to the contending factions in Mexico, warning them against any mistreatment of Americans, is believed to have brought the relations between the United States and Mexico to the critical point.

It is recalled that such warning as this preceded the Spanish-American War, culminating in the famous message of President McKinley which referred to "intolerable conditions existing at our doorway."

It still is hoped and believed by administration officials, however, that Saturday's notes will have a sobering effect on the contending factions in Mexico, and that it will not be necessary for the American Government to consider drastic steps regarding Mexico.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—In a sweeping decision handed down today the interstate commerce commission ordered big reductions in rates on wool, hides and pelts from every point west of the Mississippi river to every point east.

Under certain restrictions the decision gives the railroads permission to charge a lower rate on wool from the Pacific coast to the east than from the intermountain district. The commission ruled that the present "blanket system" of freight charges on wool is unjust and prescribes lower rates for baled wool. The ruling also allows wool growers to haul their own products and in addition to establishing cheaper carload rates, it gives immediate cities the privilege of cleaning and treating wool in transit.

UNION HIGH SCHOOL IS URGED FOR SANDY
An effort is being made to establish a union high school at Sandy, combining school districts number 33, 42, 45, 46, 52, 55 and 83 for high school purposes only.

Four of the districts above mentioned are teaching the ninth grade and have only one teacher, which works a great hardship on the teacher as well as the pupils as it is impossible for a teacher to justice to a graded school where nine grades are taught.

By taking advantage of the union high school law it is possible and convenient to have a high school education within reach of every home in the rural districts with a very small additional outlay in taxes and the taxpayer gets a chance to see and receive direct benefit for his money.

Just before the House of Commons convened a caucus was held by the Irish nationalists. Following Premier Asquith's presentation of the measure, Sir Edward Carson, planned to attack the bill, while John Redmond, leader of the nationalists, was to speak in its defense.

of regret at not being able to attend the banquet from William Jennings Bryan and Woodrow Wilson.
Dr. Lane and Mr. Coshov spoke pretty much along the same lines as Mr. Pierce. They urged the regulation of the trusts and tariff revision downward. Dr. Lane declared the tariff had been made use of in a way to justify it being called thievery.
