LARGE MACHINE GOES TO CAMAS

We are to lose the new 184 inch machine of the Crown-Columbia Paper Company on account of our propensity for laws hard on the employer.

Our water power will produce the pulp but it will be transported as to be made into paper, at great loss to the paper manufacturer in freight, but considered a good investment as insurance against defeat at the hands of some of our politicians.

We stand for equality to employer and employee; for laws which will govern them to this end, and the strict enforcement thereof. We must sit up and take notice.

We have now lost an addition to our pay roll of about $100,000 per annum. Who knows but what our delay may cost us part of that we now already have? We are optimists generally but the condition cannot be for the best.

COLORADO LIKE INDIA

Two babies, one 16 years and the other 12 years old were married in Denver, Col., Sunday with their parents' consent. While the first thought would probably bring that idea of spanking children with such ideas in their hands, a second consideration leads us to believe that the parents of both parties to the contract should receive the chastising for allowing them to follow out their dream.

Congress is considering reducing the appropriation for forest patrol from $560,000 to about $275,000 per annum. While the Forestry Department is doing a great work along the line of fire prevention, the amount appropriated in former years has not been sufficient for the proper handling of the enormous task this department has before it, and it is to be hoped that our Congressmen will not agree to this false economy, for in the preservation of our timber, especially from loss of fire, lies our future success.

Oregon Daily Journal editorially says: "Here is the Willamette valley in its springtime robes. It is a beautiful and wonderful color study in green." While we agree on these points with our contemporary the language reminds us of the Irishman who was about to have his house painted and when answering the painter's question as to the color he wanted used, stated, "It makes no difference what color you use, as long as it is green."

We have had our chicken show, and horse show and a good one, and the horseless carriage has had its turn. Why not have a general animal show with cows of all breeds, pigs, sheep, goats, etc., as the drawing card. More money can be made out of animal breeding than many of us imagine. Someone suggest this to the Publicity Committee. This is a dairy, wool and hog raising country and such a show would no doubt stimulate the breeding of thoroughbreds.

It is said that a feather on a log is no sign of a duck's nest, at the same time 10,000 people, one-fourth of the population, visiting the county seat on one day and everyone looking for and having a good time is a pretty good sign of prosperity.

CANDIDATES DISCUSS PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

The Republican nominees for county offices met in the office of Lity Stipp, chairman of the County Central Committee, Saturday morning. The candidates have no fear of the outcome but they do not intend to overlook any opportunities to obtain votes for themselves and the other Republican candidates. Chairman Stipp has called a meeting of the County Central Committee for 10 o'clock at Willamette Hall next Saturday when the candidate will be present and discuss with the committee plans for the campaign. Mr. Stipp will be reelected chairman of the committee, unless he should urge the election of another. A secretary also will be elected.

RIGHT TO REGULATE CAR FARE ABROGATED

PORTLAND, April 29.—After a battle of many months' duration the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. today gained a decided advantage over the city, when the street committee of the city council, by a vote of 5 to 2 adopted an amendment to the company's proposed blanket street car franchise eliminating a clause whereby the council had reserved the express right to regulate fares over 15 miles of traction lines. The action of the committee was a great surprise, as a previous attempt to strike out the fare regulation clause last Thursday afternoon resulted in a tie vote.

The committee at that time stood evenly divided on the question, Councilmen Burgard, Baker and Dunning being in favor of the amendment to strike out and Councilmen Mongs, Joy and Schmeer being opposed to it. Councilman James A. Maguire, the seventh member of the committee, was absent at Thursday's session. He was counted upon, however, to cast his ballot in favor of the council's reserving the specific authority to regulate fares.

COLLEGE UNION PLAN APPROVED

THREE HUNDRED CITIZENS AT BIG MASS MEETING VOICE SENTIMENTS

MERGER CALLED ONLY SOLUTION Governor West is Asked to Appoint Commission to Work Out Details of Union

DALLAS, Or., April 25. (Special.)—Calling on Governor West to appoint a commission to look into all phases and plans broached for the consolidation of the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College, a resolution was unanimously passed here tonight at a mass meeting, presided over by E. B. Piper, president of the Portland Commercial Club.

The meeting immediately followed the banquet at which Dallas was host to the Portland excursionists who left Portland early this morning.

Over 300 people attended the meeting held at the Courthouse. The resolution was introduced by W. K. Newell, of Portland, and the sentiment voiced was in effect that the appointment of such a commission probably would put to an end criticism often heard and which has caused resentment at both institutions.

Among those who spoke at the meeting were J. D. Lee, G. F. Johnson, William Hanley, Rev. E. W. Miles, Dallas; George Hyland, W. E. Prudhomme, W. J. Kerr, president of the Oregon Agricultural College; P. L. Campbell, president of the State University and Mr. Newell.

Mr. Newell and Mr. Lee, who seconded the resolution's passage, talked for the commission plan.

When the matter was put to the vote both President Kerr and Campbell voted in favor of the commission.

Following the meeting President Campbell said: "I think it a wise move and the plan for the commission is the only logical way to get at a feasible solution of the problem which has been uppermost in the educational progress of Oregon."

Citizens of McMinnville, Sheridan and Dallas extended an enthusiastic welcome to the business men of Portland, who are en route to Corvallis and the Oregon Agricultural College.

THE MAN WITH THE HOE

(By Andrew Franzen) See him a-field while fades the gold of morn. And brighter rays more deep the shadows mark! Hear him among the rows of dewy corn—The blithe companion of the warbling lark! In God's own workshop roofed by summer skies, Moves light his figure that no toll can bow. The hope for autumn's fruitage in his eyes, The lordship of the land writ on his brow.

Heart to Heart Talks

By EDWIN A. NYE WHAT MADE HIM GREAT? The celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birthday brought up the old query, "What made him great?" Henry Watterson says in his lecture on Lincoln that the man was inspired just as Moses was inspired. Which sounds well, but is rather indefinite. Was it heredity, environment or will power that made Lincoln great? He had something from heredity—a great mother—and something from environment—hardships, obstacles, opposition. But— He also had much from his own strong will power, and his will power was shaped by his ideals. Where did he get his ideals? Let's see. When Nancy Hanks Lincoln was dying in that rot cabin in Spencer county, Ind., she put her hand on the head of her wilderness boy, eight years of age, and said: "I'm going away, my boy, but I want you to remember that your mother wants you to be a good and useful man." There's the beginning of Lincoln's ideals. How many times in his after life that boy felt upon his head the hand of his dying mother and heard her words we may not know, but we do know that in his boyish heart he made the high resolve to make his mother's dream of him come true. because he said: "All I am in life I owe to my angel mother." Pluck, spirit of endurance, application, plus a mother's hand, made Lincoln great. When Nancy Hanks Lincoln died Thomas Lincoln cut down a poplar tree and sawed out by hand the lumber which he nailed together for her coffin. And— Standing by the side of the grave when the form of that woman of the hazel eyes and melancholy face was lowered by the few neighbors stood Abraham Lincoln, barefooted, freckled, ungainly, holding his little sister by the hand. Sorry beginning for a great life? Yes, but— The sound of a voice that was still and the touch of a vanished hand helped to fashion the rugged boy into what he afterward became. A mother's hand, a mother's voice—don't forget to look for these in every life.

TROUT "TRESPASS" SIGNS NECESSARY

Trout will not be planted in streams which are plastered with trespass signs so as to prevent the public from fishing, said State Game Warden William L. Finley. It is expected that there will be between 6,000,000 and 10,000,000 trout fry released in the lakes and streams of Oregon this year, and that the number of trout planted will be increased yearly. "A great many streams suitable for planting trout, and for fishing, are practically bottled up by the people who live on them because they insist on treating city fishermen as trespassers," said Mr. Finley. "Many people have the idea that because they own the land they also own the water and the fish, but they are wrong. The fish belong to the public. Every person has as much ownership of the fish in the lakes and streams as every other person. "If the people living on these streams line them with trespass signs, making the waters practically private property for themselves, this office cannot in fairness and will not, stock the streams with fish that belong to the public. The money which enables us to stock streams with trout comes from anglers' licenses, and most of it from anglers who live in the cities. It is unfair to take this money and hatch trout to place in streams which are no better than private preserves. "The 2,000,000 trout eggs we have just ordered from Montana are to be paid for with anglers' license money, and we will plant those trout where every angler will have a right to fish for them. "I expect to rely on the Multnomah Anglers' Club and similar organizations in the state, for much information in regard to streams which are fenced and lined with trespass signs. The members of these clubs are constantly fishing all over the state, and they know where the trespass signs are, and on what streams the residents forbid them to fish. I want every angler to inform this office of these facts and we will see to it that none of the millions of trout that are to be released this year are placed in such streams. "In short we are using the angling public's money to equip hatcheries and maintain them, to buy eggs and hatch them, and to distribute the fish, which belong to the public; and we are going to see to it that the trout we hatch are placed within the reach of the public." Warden Finley also announced this intention at the last meeting of the executive committee of the Multnomah Anglers' Club, and it was met with enthusiastic approval. It was urged that care be taken in stocking waters of which the bottled up streams are tributaries.

WOMEN! Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramlin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.

PRESIDENT TAFT RAPS ROOSEVELT

COLONEL ACCUSED OF NOT PRESENTING FACTS IN TRUE LIGHT LARGE CROWD CHEERS EXECUTIVE

Speaker Declares Election Of Rival Might Place Him in White House For Rest Of Life

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 25.—Bitter denunciation of former President Theodore Roosevelt by the man whom he put into the White House today featured President Taft's first appearance in the present campaign as a fighting man, and he brought forth hearty cheers from a big audience, who fancied him in that role.

President Taft declared flatly that he believed Roosevelt if again elected would be almost impossible to dislodge from the White House and that another term for the "Rough Rider" might result in a lifetime dictatorship.

Answering Roosevelt's charges, Taft recited the former president's third term statement in 1904, and again in 1908. He gave Roosevelt full credit for electing him in 1908, and then said:

"Neither in thought, word nor act, have I ever been disloyal to the friendship I had for Theodore Roosevelt."

President Taft went at length into Roosevelt's announcement of his candidacy and his "charter of democracy" delivered at Columbus. He continued:

"His 'charter of democracy' was ineffective, and so he attacked the administration and myself. Ever since then he has been abusing the administration and accusing me. So far as my personal feelings are concerned, I would not have replied, but I represent the cause of that element of the Republican party which believes in the sacredness of the constitution. Mr. Roosevelt has misled many honest people to believe his charges, the cause which I represent is entitled to defense."

President Taft then went on to answer Roosevelt's charges. He said: "He says," declared the president, "that I favor the oligarchy of bosses, or represent the special interests, and that my administration has produced nothing progressive, that I am a reactionary—and other charges too numerous to mention."

Seeing the president for the first time as a fighting man the crowd cheered him throughout his speech of one hour and thirty minutes, which practically anticipated the address he delivered in Boston.

"The renomination and reelection of Roosevelt to a third term," said President Taft, "would be dangerous. He has forgotten the standards of the square deal. He says the bosses are supporting me. His definition of a boss depends upon whom the boss is supporting. If he is supporting Roosevelt, he is a leader—if he is supporting me, he is a boss."

With his voice trembling with emotion the president concluded with a warning to his hearer that in Roosevelt they are "in danger of a dictator who, once he received the third term would cling like a leech to the White House and never leave it until death removed him."

The president added: "I'm sorry I can't say it but Roosevelt is a man of such strong personality, a man of such strength of purpose and who has so little regard for the constitution for legal procedure, or for the courts, that he is not to be trusted with the presidency. I am sorry to say it, but I believe it in my soul, and I must state my convictions."

JAPANESE TAKE OVER GRANT IN MEXICO

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Present conditions at Magdalena Bay, Mexico are reported as follows in a special dispatch to the Examiner from an expedition of three staff correspondents: "An extensive concession of timber and agricultural lands, accompanied by a grant of fishing rights for 700 miles from Manzanilla to Salina Cruz was obtained through the Japanese Ambassador to Mexico last year. Thirty Japanese scientists are now on the ground, making elaborate surveys, among them Katsuyo Tago, official representative of the Japanese government. The concession was made by a private company backed by Soichiro Asano, president of the Oriental Steamship Company, and a wealthy banker. "It is explained that an expedition of three men was sent to Magdalena to investigate reported purchases of Mexican lands by Japanese interests, after the matter had been brought up by a resolution in the United States Senate asking President Taft for full information regarding the supposed purchases. The dispatch is printed as a report of the findings of the expedition, and declares that the explorations of the Mexican coast are being made under the direction of men directly connected with the Japanese government. The account continues: "This scientific survey is under the personal direction of Ipeyo Yokoyama, a member of the Japanese Parliament, vice-president of the Japanese-Mexican Fishery Association, incorporated in November to develop the fisheries and colonize the islands of the concession. In the party is Katsuyo Tago, as the official representative of the Japanese government. Soichiro Asano, the Japanese Morgan president of the Oriental Steamship Company, is the financial backer of the colonization and fisheries enterprise. The concession was obtained through the Japanese Ambassador to Mexico, Kumaji Horiguchi.

HENDERSON FOR SUTER IS PROPOSED DEAL

PORTLAND, May 1. (Special.)—Today's game between Hogan's Tigers and McCredie's champions was postponed on account of wet grounds.

When asked if he would trade Benny Henderson, his star twirler, to the San Francisco Seals for Harry Suter Manager McCredie said, "Sure, and in a minute."

Henderson has not been going right this season with the Beavers and probably a change would do him good. Danny Long has been trying to sell McCredie Suter for $2000, but the Beaver manager thinks that Long's price is too high.

Suter would come in handy with the Beavers right now and Henderson would add a great deal of strength to the Seals pitching staff if he remains "on the wagon."

Whether McCredie will trade Henderson for Suter remains to be seen but it is doubtful whether the local fans would agree to the trade as Henderson is a big drawing card here. McCredie did not say whether or not the trade would take place.

The results Wednesday follow: At San Francisco—San Francisco 7, Sacramento 1. At Los Angeles—Oakland 7, Los Angeles 7.
