OAK GROVE

A marriage license was issued to Owen Walsh, of Milwaukie, and Miss Beale Kelley, of Milwaukie Heights, Tuesday in Portland.

Mrs. Charles Turck is quite sick and may go to the hospital in Portland for a slight operation.

Mrs. Dedrick's mother and sister, of Silverton, has been visiting here for a few days.

Mrs. Jessie Durban has a bad case of poison oak, and is confined at her home.

While Mrs. E. O. Allen and three children were attending the chautauqua Saturday and Mr. Allen and baby son were in the garden the house caught fire and burned down in a few minutes. The origin of the fire is unknown as there had been no fire in the stove since noon. Mr. Allen did not carry any insurance so the house was a total loss. Only three chairs and a desk were saved besides the clothing they wore. Mrs. Allen lost some valuable keepsakes. An alarm was phoned in and every man available, went, but could not save anything. The piano was taken out, and ten feet away but it was too hot to handle and had to burn with the rest of the furniture.

Mrs. Myra Moody left Sunday for Victoria, B. C., to spend the summer with her two sons, Frank and Len. Mrs. Moody expects to come back here this Fall and look after her property here. Mrs. Moody may make her home in Britla's Columbia if she likes the place.

Clayton Coleman, of Baker, Oregon, is visiting relatives here.

Ralph Brandt returned home last week from a three years' absence in the army. Ralph was glad to get home again after being gone so long.

Mrs. Stromer returned home from a trip of several weeks to Newport, much improved in health.

"CHICK" GANDIL A STAR.

Washington's First Bacter Has Strengthened Senators' Infield.

Gandil, the Washington's first baseman—his first two names are Boudier and Arnold—seems truly a discovery. The price tags on his uniform are blurred. Some say that he cost Griffith the three players sent to Montreal and a bonus of $9,000, and others aver that "Chick" was marked down to $15,000. Also the Washingtonians say that the Cubs offered $15,000 and no players and the Boston Red Sox $8,000 and two players. The Montreal manager said that any one of these offers would be acceptable and gave Gandil his choice. Joe Yeager, the Montreal third baseman, advised him to go to Griffith, and so he did.

Gandil is fast and plays almost as deep a field as McInnes or Chase. Jack Knight's fault at first was that he was altogether too slow. Gandil has been achieving wonders with the bat as well. Griffith says that he has strengthened the senators' infield by 40 per cent.

HIGHER BERTH FOR GANZEL.

Successful Manager of Rochester's May Be in Major's Next Season.

John Ganzel, who as manager of the Rochester team of the International league, has won three pennants in succession and seems to be in a fair way to capture another this year, probably will handle a major league team next season. He didn't come up to expectations when he managed the Cincinnati Reds five years ago, but he didn't have much of a chance to prove his worth.

Ganzel has shown real merit in Rochester, however, and it is said that he has received offers from several major league clubs which are searching for managerial timber.

FAVORS HIT AND RUN PLAY.

Griffith Firm Believer in Aggressive, Dashing Style of Attack.

Clark Griffith is a firm believer in the hit and run play and will use it nine times out of ten in preference to employing the sacrifice hit. The record of sacrificing by the Washington team shows this.

The Nationals' manager believes in an aggressive, dashing style of attack, with plenty of base running and as much hitting with the runner as his team can deliver. At times pursuit of this style is disastrous, but it will win more games than it loses, according to Griffith.

RICHARDS HAD HIS DOWNS.

Olympic High Jump Winner Failed to Win Point Two Years Ago.

Alma Richards, who won the running high jump at Stockholm, breaking the Olympic record, is twenty-one years of age. He was born in Provo, Utah, and has been a student at the Brigham Young university for four years. Two years ago he failed to score at the track meet. The following spring he won every event in which he entered.

Tennis Tournaments at Night.

Cleveland is meeting with success in conducting tennis tournaments by electric light. An electric company of that city makes the announcement that it has perfected a method of scientific tennis court illumination for night play and that the tests of actual use have revealed not a single flaw in the plan.

Will Larned Defend Title?

Speculation is rife as to whether William A. Larned will defend his title of champion lawn tennis player of the country by working through the national championship at Newport in August, which he must do if he elects to go after the laurel this year.

CREAM LINEN FOR A GIRL OF 10.

The French, always particularly happy in the designing of children's frocks, have produced one of the prettiest in the garment shown above. This is of cream linen with blue and white plaid linen effectively introduced as trimming. The blouse and tunic are of cream linen, while the plaid is used for the circular yolk underkirt, the bib effect on the waist and as a band across the bottom of the tiny apron portion. A narrow band of the stitched linen belts the waist and pearl buttons are used as trimming. Hat of white neapolitan straw trimmed with a garland of cream roses and foliage.

BLOUSE FOR WEAR WITH SUIT.

In spite of the fact that the one-piece dress has apparently become a fixture in Fashion's wardrobe, the separate blouse still holds its own. The blouse shown in the drawing is intended for silk or linen material and has originality of design which recommends it. It is cut in peasant style with an inserted band of lace on either side of the front and on the bottom of the sleeves. It closes on the left of the front under a graduated frill of pleated net. Small buttons covered with the material are used as trimming. A great many of these are used.

GINGHAM FROCK.

There is an air of sweet simplicity about this smart little forenoon frock which is increased by the material used for its development—a dainty checked gingham in pink and white. The kimona blouse has a neck finished with a double ruffle of white net. The sleeves terminate in a band of lace edged with a similar frill. The bottom of the tunic is finished by the net ruching and the plain underskirt is bordered by a band of lace. A black velvet girde and ends add a strengthening touch to the dainty costume.

A Hint of Plainer Possibilities.

For many years the return of the pannier and hoop skirt has been predicted. From present styles one feels safe in the conviction that hoop skirts are still far distant, but panniers have every evidence of reality. Of course they are still confined to ultra-fashionable gowns, but their prevalence there presages their ultimate popularity. Today's sketch shows a quaint gown of soft grey silk with puffed and gathered under blouse and plain skirt over which is worn a tunic of figured silk voile in shades of blue and gray. This is draped into a pannier and trimmed with bias ruffles of blue silk.

STRAWBERRY SERGE FROCK.

In the drawing today is shown an unassuming but noticeably pretty little suit of strawberry serge with trimmings of black. The bodice closes surplice style, the overlapping portion being cut in two scallops which button over the slightly draped under portion. The bottom of the sleeve is also finished with these scallops and buttons. The chemise is of self-toned silk with the and rings of black satin. The skirt closes to the left of the front and here also to the left side is caught in a slight drape under two buttoned-trimmed scallops. The sash is of black satin and the buttons of the same.

MAKES GOOD AT LAST.

Mattick Was Tried Out by Chicago For Several Years.

Looks as if Mattick, the western league outfielder, had at last gained a big league berth—the Chicago Americans are going to try him thoroughly. How many years has this Mattick been on the White Sox list and how many spring training trips has he taken with the team? Comiskey surely keeps some of them on the card a long, long time. Some of them come in each spring for the training trip, fall out again and reappear next spring, perhaps never to make the team. Others are farmed out each season, come back again and again and finally get their chance to stay. How many years did Louis Fene and Frank Lange do the bobbing up and down act, anyhow?

Perhaps the cruelest joke in this connection was on the Old Roman when he carried Bub Hart so many years. Bub was a fine young catcher when he first joined the team. He was kept on the bench for years, waiting for the time when he should replace Billy Sullivan, and Billy stuck in the harness so steadily that when he was finally disabled and the time of need had come to both the club and Hart, poor Hart had grown so rusty he could hardly catch at all.

Angelo's Verdict.

Once a painter notorious for plagiarisms executed a historical picture in which every figure of importance was copied from some other artist, so that very little remained to himself. It was shown to Michael Angelo by a friend, who begged his opinion of it. "Excellently done," said Angelo, "only at the day of judgment, when all bodies will resume their own limbs again, I do not know what will become of that historical painting, for there will be nothing left of it."
