

EASIER FEELING IN POULTRY MARKET

The week closes with a generally easier feeling in the poultry market, supplies in all lines being more or less in excess of the demand, and dealers, while admitting that prices the coming week were still a matter of some uncertainty, inclined to the belief that at Thanksgiving time practically everything in the poultry list would sell at figures somewhat under the predictions of the past week or two.

On account of the blight in the potato this year a great many potatoes are being left in the fields and, in fact, some fields have not been dug at all. Will this leave any disease that will contaminate the tubers next year or will it in any way be injurious to other crops? If you will kindly give your opinion on this matter, please give it with your consent to be used in a way that we can best get the information to the farmers?

BOUNDARIES OF WARDS ARE GIVEN

For the benefit of the women of Oregon City, who will vote at the city election to be held December 2 at which a city treasurer and three councilmen will be elected, Recorder Stigley Friday called attention to Section 4 of the city charter, which gives the boundaries of the various wards. The section follows:

M'LOUGHLIN PAINTING IS ARTISTIC WORK

OREGON CITY, Nov. 27.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—The picture of Dr. John McLaughlin, at present an exhibition in the McLaughlin Memorial Home, Seventh and Center Streets, is one which every lover of Oregon City should see. It has been lent to the association by the artist, for exhibition purposes, but it is understood a merely nominal sum would secure it, the balance of its monetary value being donated by the painter. There are at least a hundred men in Oregon City, and not rich men at that, who should be eager to secure the painting for the city.

HARVARD DEFEATS YALE IN ANNUAL GAME

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 23.—Harvard had little trouble in winning the championship game with Yale, 29 to 0. Two touchdowns, and two field goals were the scores. The crowd was early on the scene and at 1:30 half the stands were filled. The cheering sections of the two colleges were directly opposite each other, armed with blue and red megaphones. The Harvard section also was equipped with red flags to be used when the crimson sang their famous "Stand and Wave Your Banners High", to the tune of the French National anthem. The Yale cheering section had a number of new songs but the leaders expected to rely on "For God, For Country and For Yale", sung to the tune of the German National hymn. Harvard—Felton, L. MISS ALLDREDGE TELLS OF ESCAPE

FORMER OREGON CITY GIRL ONLY PERSON IN BUILDING THAT COLLAPSED

YOUNG WOMAN HAS CHARMED LIFE

Near Death in Three Accidents She Escapes Without Injury—Visits Relatives Here

Miss Eva Alldredge, daughter of Frank Alldredge, of this city, who was the only person in the part of the Marquam Building, Portland, that collapsed at the time of the accident, bears a charmed life, according to her friends. She has been nearer death three times in the past two years, and only once suffered injury. While she was visiting her grandfather, W. W. Myers, two years ago, a horse ran away with her, and although she fell from the saddle and was dragged more than a block, she was only slightly injured. When the horse was stopped and she was carried into the home of a neighbor it was found that she had sustained only a few bruises. Miss Alldredge was warned before the accident that the horse was wild, but said she did not care, and was proceeding finely when the saddle turned. Her foot caught in a stirrup and her head dragged on the pavement. While visiting her mother, Mrs. Abner Dillman, at Powell River, British Columbia, last summer, Miss Alldredge, devoted much of her time to fishing and canoeing on Powell Lake. One day while alone on the lake she was caught in a storm and her craft was driven several miles in the direction of an Indian reservation. It finally caught in bushes and she was forced to swim to shore. A squaw at the reservation acted as her guide to the home of her mother. "I don't know whether I bear a charmed life or not," said Miss Alldredge, who was visiting her father Friday, "but I do know if I had remained in the building much longer I would have been killed." Miss Alldredge, who is night telephone operator for the Equitable Hospital Association, was answering a telephone call when she heard a terrible crash. She looked out of a window at the northwest corner of the building and was almost instantly blinded by what she thought was smoke, but was in reality dust. "I called up the manager of the company and a physician who had an office in the building," said Miss Alldredge, "I asked them what I had better do. At this time I could feel the floor giving way under me. They advised that I get out as soon as possible. There were several more telephone calls, however, and the floor kept slipping. Finally I went into my sleeping room and gathered up some of my clothing and hurried from the building. When I got down stairs I saw that the three floors under the one where I was working had fallen and the fourth floor was sagging. I watched the building for awhile and then went to the home of a friend. After getting several hours sleep I went back to the building intending to go to my room and get some more clothing. The police, however, refused to let me enter, and while I was arguing with them the remainder of the northeast section fell. I was lucky I was not allowed to go to my room." Miss Alldredge returned from a visit to her mother about two months ago and at once obtained the position with the Equitable Hospital Association.

GIRL LEAPS 20 STORIES TO DEATH

FEARED THAT SHE WAS BEING PURSUED FOR DISHONORABLE PURPOSES

TIES NEW TESTAMENT AROUND NECK

Formerly School Teacher in Humbolt, Neb. Goes to Chicago to Seek Position; Bears Banner Death Before Dishonor

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Obsessed by the idea that she was pursued for dishonorable purposes, Miss Eva Van Deusen, 25 years old, leaped today from the 20th story of the McCormick building and was crushed to death on the stone pavement of an alley at the street level. She jumped from an alley fire escape, nearly 250 feet from the ground, in view of many pedestrians. Her body struck another fire escape at the first floor and bounded into the alley, nearly every bone in her body being broken. Miss Van Deusen, according to papers found in her pocketbook, was a schoolteacher in Humbolt, Neb. From her papers it appeared that she had been seeking a position here and had been obsessed with the idea that she had been in danger from white slavers. She wrote that she had been driven to appeal for protection to Chief of Police McWormy, to the Federal Government of Justice and to social settlement workers. She had prepared for her death by pinning across her bosom a strip of white linen which had been stained crimson at either end and on which she had painted in large letters "Death! Before Dishonor." She had tied about her neck a copy of the New Testament in which she had marked passages in St. John. "It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been satisfactory." For sale by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City, Hubbard, Molalla and Canby.

WOMEN TO VOTE AGAINST SALOONS

THIRTY AT CHURCH MEETING IN-DORSE MEYER AND HORTON FOR COUNCIL

OTHER CANDIDATES ARE CONSIDERED

Members of Fair Sex Take Interest in Coming City Election—Ward Boundaries are Explained. More than thirty women of this city met Friday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church parlors to discuss the question of voting at the next city election, which is to be held December 2. That many of the women did not know what wards they live in was soon discovered, and the ward boundaries were given. The purpose of the meeting was to consider the fitness of the candidates for office. The women insisted that candidates must stand for purity, and that they must enforce all of the laws of the city. The women were urged to wait quietly their turn at the polls. It was agreed that before those present could endorse a candidate, he must stand against the saloon. Only two candidates received the endorsement of the meeting. They were F. J. Meyer, candidate for reelection to the council from the third ward, and L. F. Horton, candidate for councilman from the second ward. The women decline to endorse any man for mayor, declaring that they would only endorse a candidate opposed to the saloons. A meeting will be held next Friday, when it is thought that other candidates will be endorsed. In the British arctic expedition of 1875 one of the chaplains had a file of the London Times twenty years old, containing the Crimean war reports. One copy was given out to each ship daily. The officers had it first, then it went to the fore-castle, and then every one was as keen about the news as if the war had been proceeding. The clergyman in control of the press was brought to issue an evening edition, and when Sebastopol was about to be taken excitement ran so high that the newspaper office—a locker—was almost stormed. The editor, however, was firm and continued with his daily issue, the interest being kept up to the end of the expedition.

HERBERT S. HOCKIN RETURNED TO JAIL

BOND IS INCREASED FROM $10,000 TO $20,000 WHICH HE WAS UNABLE TO RAISE

COURT HOLDS HIM TO BE DECEIVER

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Imprisonment of Herbert S. Hockin, one of the chief defendants, in default of an increased bond which was required by the court "because he had deceived every one" the denouncing by the District attorney of a woman writer in the courtroom as an "anarchist" and the reputation by attorneys for the defense of some of the acts of the defendants, were among sensational incidents at the dynamiting conspiracy trial today. Hockin was declared to have been in the employ of detectives soon after the Los Angeles Times explosion. He was also accused of having told a witness of overhearing John J. McNamara talk to President Lynch, of the International Typographical Union, about "an explosion on the Pacific Coast." United States Senator Kern was among the counsel for the defense who disavowed an article published by some of the defendants. The 45 men accused by the Government of complicity in the McNamara dynamite plots by abetting for four or five years in the illegal transportation of explosives, sat in silence while the testimony and the action of the court brought in unexpected changes. Herbert S. Hockin, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was taken to jail in default of his being able to increase the $10,000 bond to $20,000, ordered by the court after a witness had said Hockin was in the employ of a detective and had been since soon after the Los Angeles Times explosion, "and was not to be trusted day or night by anyone."

OPTIMISM

The essential tendency of life is toward happiness. Optimism is the only true condition for a reasonable man.—Phillips Brooks.

THE THREE HEAVIEST MEN

The three heaviest men of whom mention is made in history were Miles Darnley of Tennessee, Lewis Cornelius of Pennsylvania and Daniel Lambert of England. Darnley died in 1867. When in health he was seven feet six inches in height and weighed over 1,000 pounds. There is no record of the date of the death of Cornelius, which occurred in Pike county, Pa. but the account says that he was born in 1704. When in his prime he measured eight feet two inches around the waist, was six feet tall and weighed 6,154 pounds. Daniel Lambert was an English freak who died in June, 1800. He was of average height, but weighed 739 pounds.

BUTTER PRODUCTION IN OREGON LARGE

The production of butter in Oregon this season is fully 60 per cent greater than a year ago. This announcement was made today by an official of one of the leading creameries which has various branch creameries throughout the state. Therefore the company is in a position to safely estimate the total output of the state. The production of butter in the state for the first six months of this year showed an increase of 35 per cent over the same period a year ago owing to favorable conditions as well as an increase in the number of cows held by dairy interests. Since then the increase over a year ago has been very materially widened by reason of very good weather. As a rule there is a very heavy decrease in the output of butter here during the fall months but this season the decrease was small, therefore making the total increase for the season that much greater. So liberal is the output of butter in this section at the present time that there is not enough stock being brought in from the east to consider as a factor. The recent advance of two cents a pound in the price of butter on Puget Sound is not likely to have any immediate effect upon the trade here as Sound prices have heretofore been that much below Portland prices while at present both sections are quoting uniform values. The market for creamery butter is in rather good shape here at the present time so far as the better known brands are concerned, although some slight showing of weakness is indicated for the lesser known article.

SUPPLY OF LIVE STOCK IS LARGE

The run of cattle Monday was heavy at the North Portland yards and a large number of steers changed hands. The Baker district sent in five carloads of cattle and several came from Western Idaho. Central Oregon, too, was well represented. At South Omaha the cattle market was 10c higher. North Portland cattle range: Heavy fed steers 7.00 Common steers 6.75 Choice steers 6.90 Fancy cows 6.25 Ordinary light cows 6.00 Fancy light cows 6.50 Heavy calves 5.00 to 6.50 Best milks 4.00 to 4.75 Ordinary milks 4.00 to 4.25 The run of hogs too, was heavy, and a couple of hundred head were bought at the morning sales. The market remained steady. At South Omaha the hog market opened strong, but closed down 5c to 10c lower. North Portland hog market range: Best light 47.50 Medium light 7.50 Best heavy 7.50 Medium heavy 7.75 Heavy 7.75 The run of sheep was about normal, and included two carloads from Montana and three carloads from Idaho. At South Omaha the sheep market was strong and active.

ALBERT T. PATRICK IS PARDONED

SERVING LIFE SENTENCE FOR MURDER OF MILLIONAIRE IN NEW YORK

'AIR OF MYSTERY IN CASE,' SAYS DIX

Governor of New York After Considering Case for Year, is Convinced That Defendant is Entitled to Have Full Pardon

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh, an aged millionaire, in New York City on September 23, 1906, was pardoned tonight by Governor Dix. Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Governor Higgins, in December, 1906, has made a remarkable fight for freedom. A lawyer by profession, he protested when Governor Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring the Governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment. Governor Dix announced that he had pardoned Patrick, just as he was about to leave the capitol for the executive mansion. "There has always been an air of mystery in this important case," he said. "Quoting from the opinion of the Court of Appeals: 'The atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible.' "I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence. "During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon." Governor Dix said Superintendent of Prisons Scott and a score of prominent persons appealed to him in Patrick's behalf. The pardon was mailed tonight to Warden Kennedy, of Sing Sing, and Patrick may be released tomorrow upon its receipt.
