Miss Thompson, of Salem, came out Saturday. She formerly lived here. She is a dressmaker in Salem. Doc Logan is having some grubbing done. Mr. J. H. Bolton, one of the merchants here, just received a two car shipment of wire fence. Mr. Andrew Bentley, of Oregon City is up to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bentley. Miss Myrtle Larkins and her brother, Glen, of Meadow Brook were visiting at their uncle's, J. D. Larkins, Saturday and Sunday. There was a large crowd at Mrs. Jack's funeral last week. Several went over from here to pay their last respects to her. Mrs. John Barth has made another road drag. We all hope it will be a success this time. Rev. Mr. Childs is going over to Greenham to meet his family this week to be gone a few days. Mr. C. L. Sheppard, of Meadow Brook, passed through town Monday on his way to Scotts Mills. Quite a lot of grain is being sowed this fine weather and some early gardens are being planted. Quite a sensation occurred recently. A man was missed and could not be located. The telephones began to ring about 9 or 10 o'clock at night, making inquiries about a certain individual, and behold, they finally located him two miles from home in an old bunk house with other parties. Then peace reigned at home. You can say goodbye to constipation with a clear conscience if you use Chamberlain's Tablets. Many have been permanently cured by their use. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City, Hubbard and Canby.

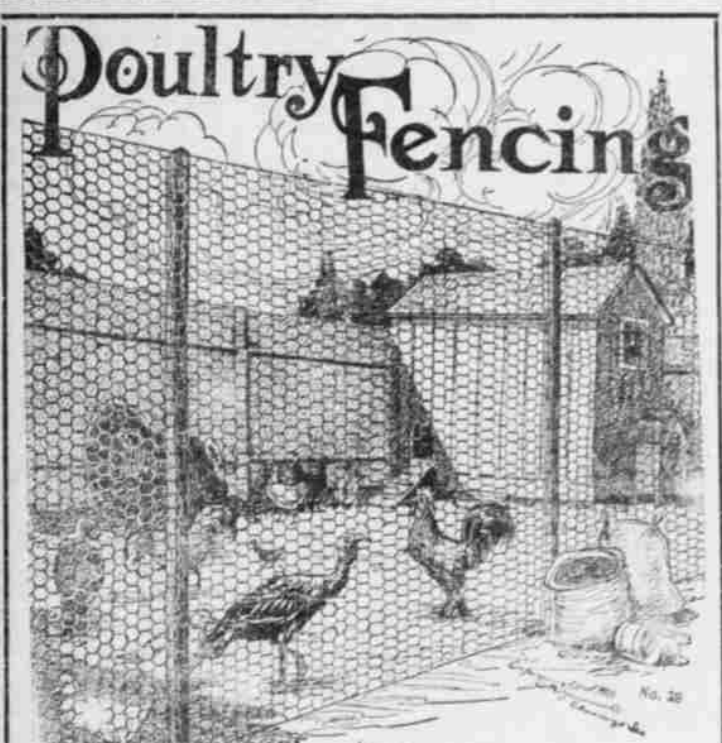

MEADOWBROOK.

P. O. Chindgren attended church at Portland last week.

One Or Two Generations Ago Most Farm Animals Roamed At Large But We Have Gradually Found That This Did Not Pay

The barn yard fowls have been the last to feel the effects of business methods on the farm but at last they have to get in their place (in the poultry yard) and stay there. The farmer who reads the magazine knows that today many a chicken farm of a few acres pays a huge profit than a big farm did a few years ago. Every farmer keeps chickens because it pays and it will pay lots better and the farm will look better if they are kept in the poultry yard. They are about the most profitable animals on the farm and it takes less space and less expense to keep them.

Enough of our poultry fencing to keep your fowls properly will cost very little and will be the best investment you ever made on the farm. Ask for prices.

Arretts, but he lost one in his first experience with a gray diver. Not to be out done he sent for two more and when he gets them well trained there will be grinding and washing of bones. Miss Polly Marquam will return to Wasco county soon to finish her spring term of school where she has been teaching. Mrs. J. Milsted of Tye Valley, Wasco county, James Nicholson and wife of Willert took dinner last week at J. D. Larkins. Peace Olson of Wapinitia, Wasco county is here visiting his brothers, Alford and Olof Olson. J. K. Quinn and wife of Oregon City, were Sunday guests of Wesley Yorler and wife. Mrs. Catherine Jones is some better at this writing.

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but by what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City, Hubbard and Canby.

MACKSBURG.

The bright skies for which February 21st will, in this region, line to be used, are still unclouded. The ground is getting in fine condition for the plow. Many of the ranchmen are ploughing now. Summer days and wintry nights still hold sway. The cold of the night occasionally retarding the otherwise too rapid advance of vegetable growth. The bright sunshine acting upon the moist soil has started the grass and the clover, rendering the pasture luxurious once more, as the cattle plainly show, by grazing industriously throughout the day, and eating less for their hay at night. An increased output of cream is a pleasing result of this new impetus given to the herbage. The children are bringing in handfuls of the wild bluebell, a fitting accompaniment to the bluebird, whose rich melody and plumage are showing us again. The buzz of the saw mills, the sound of the hammer and saw in the new buildings and the clang of sledge and wedge, varied at intervals by an explosion of dynamite

The Oak Grove school gave a pleasing and profitable entertainment on the evening of Friday the 21st. A fine program was rendered by the pupils and the remainder of the evening was occupied by a basket social. The affair was well attended and enjoyed. The receipts were $28. Ed Gibson, Will Wallace and Lloyd Powers are cutting wood for Al Leung. Raleigh Powers is at home for a short visit. Glen Little is working for Al Larson. Frank Hilton is ploughing Mr. Baddwin's eight acre lot. Already the children are planning for the juvenile fair. The announcement of prizes as seen in the recent papers, has awakened an enthusiasm on this subject, that bids fair to result in an exhibit far in advance of the one they made last year.

Many sufferers from rheumatism have been surprised and delighted with the prompt relief afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. This liniment is for sale by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City, Hubbard and Canby.

W. hall, was well attended, and the young folk report a very enjoyable time. Miss Kruss received a prize for the most unique costume, she being dressed as a shepherdess. Mr. Daballa has been very ill and has been under the care of two doctors and a trained nurse, the latter being in attendance by the I. O. O. F. fraternity, of which order Mr. Daballa has long been a faithful member. Mrs. Howard, of Portland, visited at the homes of relatives here this week. Mr. and Mrs. Reed Graham entertained delightfully at their home on Friday evening, February 21st, in celebration of the sixth anniversary of their marriage. The rooms were artistically decorated in yellow flowers and ferns. 500 and Pitt were played, and the prizes for the highest scores awarded to Mrs. Marion Young and Mrs. Harry Say. The host, who is a talented musician, entertained with musical selections, which were much appreciated by the guests. A dainty collation was served by the hostess. The guests departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Graham many more happy years together. Mrs. Dorward died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. McConney, in Wilsonville, on Monday night, February 17th. She was eighty-one years of age. Mrs. Dorward was a native of Scotland. She was born in Montrose, and has a twin sister, who still survives her and is living in Green Bay, Wis. Before coming to Wilsonville about two years ago, Mrs. Dorward had resided for a number of years in Milwaukee, Wis. She was a woman of strong christian character and had endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact by her cheerful, kindly disposition. She had been sick about six months, after having had a stroke of paralysis, and had

George Haldorf, one of our popular merchants, had a accident Sunday, in trying to open a can of spray in some way it flew up in his eyes and he is in a very bad condition. His many friends hope his eyes can be saved from a blindness. Miss Oona Hyatt has been on the sick list and your correspondent was down with the grip for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Cross celebrated their golden wedding at their home here Saturday. A number of friends made a pleasant time for them. Mrs. Mont Peters of Stafford, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Shipley. Vesta Bennett, enlisted in the U. S. Cavalry for seven years. Mrs. E. M. Lyons was in Portland Tuesday.

An old friend of Miss Jessie Howland's from Toledo, Ohio, is visiting her. There was the town flag on the Washington's birthday. A few private residences displayed flags but no business house or the town flag. There were Washington birthday programs in the three lower rooms at school, but the two upper ones had theirs together and had a long and interesting program and a new silk flag and a portrait of George Washington occupied a prominent place on the walls. The literary society Saturday evening was largely attended and a very fine program given in keeping with the day. A splendid drill by ten girls and boys of the seventh grade was warmly applauded. The Misses Nellie Capen and Beatrice Oliver gave a piano selection. There were a number of amusing dialogues. In the recitation class there was one by Lydia Benker in German, Nora Highsmith with her doll. The girls of the third grade gave the "Children's Hour" by Longfellow in concert, other recitations, a petty song was "The Red, White and Blue" by Evelyn Courtney Verda Andros and Hazel Kennedy.

What We Never Forget according to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrival for piles, corns or cold-sores. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

Maple Lane

The Maple Lane Improvement Club have purchased twenty-eight dollars' worth of planks for sidewalks which is a great aid in getting to the school house. The residents of Maple Lane have purchased road planks enough for about one thousand feet of road with $150 from the county commissioners which greatly improves travel over the mud holes near Granite Hall. The entertainment given at Orange hall February 22nd, was a great success. All seemed to have a good time. Pie sale netted over $22.

been under a physician's care and all was done to relieve her suffering.

The remains were taken to the Portland crematory on Wednesday, where services were held in the chapel, officiating. The deceased was the mother of five children, all of whom survive her. The funeral services were numerous and beautiful, paying a just tribute to the esteem in which this noble woman was held by her many friends. After cremation, the ashes were sent to Milwaukee, Wis., where services will be held at the chapel in Forest Home cemetery on March 2nd, and interment made there. Mrs. McKenney, the daughter with whom Mrs. Dorward has resided here, has kept loving, faithful vigil over her mother during her long illness, and the sincere sympathy of her many friends is extended to herself and husband, and the sorrowing relatives, in their sad bereavement.
