GIRLS LOCKED IN COURTHOUSE

YOUNG WOMEN EMPLOYED BY SHERIFF JUMP FROM WINDOW

PASSERSBY THINKS THEM ROBBERS

Janitor, Not Knowing Girls are in Building, Locks Door and Goes to His Home

Pedestrians on Eighth Street were given a mild sensation Sunday evening when peculiar sounds were heard coming from the court house. Several of the pedestrians stopped, and in a few minutes one of the rear windows was slowly raised and a shadowy figure peered into the fast growing darkness and scanned the court house yard in all directions.

About this time one man became excited at the thought that he might become a hero and was about to make a rush for the chief of police and announce that housebreakers were in the Temple of Justice. As he was catching his breath he heard a girlish voice from the court house say: "Come on girls, the coast is clear."

Recovering his composure, he saw several young women slowly crawl over a window and jump to the ground.

Upon investigation he found that about six of the young women employed in the sheriff's office had been working upon the tax roll Sunday and had become so interested in their work that when 5:30 o'clock came, the janitor went out the building and not noticing that the girls were still at work, locked the door. At half past six they found this out and as a result were forced to climb out of the window and jump six feet to the ground.

FROCK COAT LOSS HALTS WEDDING

The best man, who is a brother of the bridegroom, having left his frock coat on a Portland streetcar, the wedding of Miss Hilda Toose, daughter of C. T. Toose, an Oregon City capitalist, and John Porteus Cooper, a rich rancher of Parkdale, Hood River, was delayed two hours Tuesday. The wedding was to have been solemnized at 12 o'clock, but George Cooper, brother of the bridegroom, upon arriving in Oregon City, discovered that he had left his dress suit case containing his Prince Albert coat on the Portland car. Although urged by his brother and bride-to-be to accept the situation in good nature and appear in his street garb, he declared he would do nothing of the kind. He accordingly boarded the next car for Portland and found his suit at one of the car barns. He returned with it at once and dressing hurriedly, was sick and span when the wedding was solemnized at 2 o'clock. Rev. G. K. Barry, pastor of the Mount Tabor Christian church, officiated.

"WIFE NEGLECTED ME," SAYS HUSBAND SUING

Alleging that his wife treated him cruelly, George W. Robeson Wednesday filed suit for a divorce from Nellie Robeson. They were married in Oregon City September 27, 1899. The plaintiff says that his wife frequently remained away from home for hours and neglected him and their two children. He asks the custody of the children. R. Gouge seeks a decree of divorce from Texie Gouge. They were married December 24, 1905, in North Carolina, the defendant deserting her husband September 25, 1906.

MINORS FINED FOR ENTERING SALOONS

Chief of Police Shaw has notified the saloonkeepers that they must observe the law regarding the serving of drinks to minors. Frequent complaint that minors were obtaining liquor has been made to the chief.

Albert Bernert, 18 years of age, was fined $25 Tuesday by Recorder Stipp for entering a saloon. Frank Udderman, accused of selling the lad liquor, will be given a hearing today. A. Estes, 19 years of age, was fined $25 by the recorder for entering the saloon of D. M. Kiemsens. Kiemsens was fined $40. The saloonmen declared that he did not know his customer was not of age and had no way of finding out. The saloonkeepers say the law regarding their selling to minors is unfair and it is not improbable that a test case will be made.

FRUIT INSPECTORS DOCTOR OLD ORCHARDS

O. E. Freytag, fruit inspector for Clackamas County, returned Thursday from Aurora where he had been in company with Fruit Inspector Constable, of Marion County. The fruit inspectors cleaned a number of trees in some old orchards of the section that have been in a bad condition. Freytag stated that some of the worst trees he has seen were in that section of Clackamas and Marion Counties. Most of the orchards in this section are very old and in a great many instances had been allowed to grow without any pruning or spraying. It was necessary to have many of the trees cut down because they were so covered with disease that they were a menace to the good orchards for miles around. The work that was done Thursday was entirely along the county line.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND MADE HER LABOR

Alleging that her husband has continuously found fault with her and compelled her to earn a living for herself and him, Edith Tucker Monday filed suit for divorce from Hiram Tucker. They were married in Hammond, Wis., January 24, 1898. The plaintiff left her husband in September 1909 and remained away from him for three years. She avers that she had a chance meeting with him on a Portland street and that he induced her to return to him. In a few weeks, according to the plaintiff, her husband "threw her out to a family of 10" and she says her health soon failed. Circuit Judge Campbell has granted decrees of divorce in the following cases: Marion D. Lindsey against Josias A. Lindsey; Nora Blanch Baker against Nick B. Baker; Julie Elics alias Julie Sarlandt against Edward Elics, alias Edward Sarlandt, plaintiff's maiden name, Julie Elics, being restored and Amelia Schultz against Carl Schultz, plaintiff's maiden name, Amelia Prater, being restored.

THREE WIVES ASK COURT FOR DIVORCE

Alleging that her husband treated her cruelly and sent her to a hospital a nervous wreck, Ida E. Hamilton Friday filed suit for a divorce from George B. Hamilton. The plaintiff avers that they were married in Portland January 26, 1892. She says that after she left the hospital her husband refused to go with to visit relatives. She asks the custody of their child, Helma G. Phillips asks a decree from George E. Phillips, desertion being alleged. They were married in Portland December 22, 1911. Elizabeth Steep has filed suit for a divorce against Walter Steep. They were married May 25, 1912, in Portland. The plaintiff avers that her husband choked her February 24, 1912, while they were living in Portland. She asks that her maiden name, Elizabeth Spady, be restored.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND DRINKS TOO MUCH

Ollie Matheson, through her attorney, Dimick & Dimick, Friday filed suit for a divorce against William M. Matheson. The plaintiff says that she and the defendant were married at Davison, Alaska, August 14, 1906. She further alleges that ever since the marriage her husband has been a user of alcoholic beverages to excess and has squandered his salary in riotous living. She avers that he has neglected her and their children and she has been compelled to obtain aid from neighbors. The plaintiff says she left her husband in 1910 because of his habits. She asks the custody of the children. Orrin C. Davidson asks a decree from Bethany V. Davidson. They were married in Dayton, Wash., September 4, 1906. Cruelty is alleged and the plaintiff asks that she be given the custody of their child. Dimick & Dimick represent the plaintiff.

FALSE TEETH ESCAPE IN BIG EXPLOSION

A gasoline lamp which Dr. Nehrbas, a dentist, who has offices in the Anderson Building, was using Friday afternoon exploded, causing a blaze. The fire department was summoned and the fire extinguished with small loss. Dr. Nehrbas explained that he was making a set of false teeth when the lamp exploded. The laboratory was scorched from top to bottom, but the dentist said that he was delighted that the teeth were not injured. They will adorn the mouth of a prominent Oregon City resident this afternoon.

JUSTICE OF PEACE SAMSON IS DEAD

END COMES SUDDENLY AFTER PATIENT IS THOUGHT TO BE IMPROVING

SHERIFF OF COUNTY FOR TWO TERMS

Official One of Best Known Men in State, Having Come Here When Boy—He and Homer Daven Port Friends

W. W. H. Samson, justice of the peace, ex-sheriff, and one of the best known men in Clackamas County, died at his home 816 Main Street, at 11:45 o'clock Thursday night after a lingering illness. Mr. Samson was partially paralyzed the latter part of August, but after receiving treatment for several days, was able to return to his work. He, however, did not have a complete recovery and his friends were alarmed over his condition. He complained late Monday afternoon of severe pains in his heart and went home a little earlier than usual. Dr. H. S. Mount was summoned and announced that his patient was in a critical condition.

Mr. Samson, however, rallied and early Thursday morning said that he would be at his office as usual in a few days. His condition apparently improved all day and in the afternoon he walked about his home. About 5 o'clock there was a turn for the worse, and Dr. Mount declared that the end was near. Death came peacefully with Mrs. Samson and other members of the family at the bedside.

Probably more marriages have been solemnized in the house in which Mr. Samson died than any other house in the state. Long before he became justice of the peace Mr. Samson opened his home to couples desiring to be married and wishing to escape the notoriety of going through the ceremony in a public place. After he became justice of the peace all couples applying to him to perform marriage ceremonies were asked if they preferred going to his home or having the ceremonies performed in his office. He said just before he was stricken that about 120 couples had been married in the house. The old home also has another distinction. In it lived Generals Grant and Sheridan when they were stationed here before the civil war.

Mr. Samson was born in Somerset County, Penn., January 1, 1842. He came with his parents to Oregon in 1853, the family settling near Needy. He attended school at Silverton, and for many years taught school in Marion and Clackamas Counties. He and Homer Devenport, the famous cartoonist, were friends for many years, and Mr. Devenport never came West but he came to Oregon City to see Mr. Samson.

Mr. Samson was elected sheriff of Clackamas County in 1888 and served two terms. He was elected justice of the peace for the third term at the last election. He is survived by his widow, who, before her marriage, was Joanna Porter, of Silverton, a daughter, Mrs. Echo McCorr, of Portland; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Hardisty, Mrs. John B. Jackson, Mrs. Ethel Spangler and Miss Lottie Samson and one brother, F. M. Samson.

BROWNELL PAYS MEED OP PRAISE TO SAMSON

The funeral of the late W. W. H. Samson was held at the Congregational Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The building was crowded with friends of the deceased, who listened with marked interest to the splendid story of Mr. Samson's life, told by George C. Brownell, a lifelong friend of Mr. Samson. Mr. Brownell told of his early meeting with Mr. Samson and of the splendid reputation that Mr. Samson had in the community and of the many positions of trust that he had filled. Rev. G. N. Edwards opened and closed the services with prayer. Music was furnished by the Congregational Church choir. At the cemetery the services were brief and without music according to the wishes of Mr. Samson. The pall bearers were F. A. Miles, D. E. Frost, H. E. Cross, William Stone, S. Walker and J. E. Jack.

JOSEPH PETTY DIES IN N. Y. HOSPITAL

James Petty received a telegram Monday announcing the death of his brother, Joseph Petty, at the Home for incurables in New York City. Mr. Petty was paralyzed about 16 years ago and has lived at the home ever since. He was born and reared in Oregon and 25 years ago was the champion heavyweight pugilist of the Pacific Coast. He won distinction in the ring by knocking down Charles Mitchell, the English champion, in an exhibition contest in Portland and subsequently went to San Francisco where he had phenomenal success. Mr. Petty was a circus performer for many years, being a ground and lofty tumbler. He was one of the few men on the coast who could turn a triple somersault from an incline run over the backs of horses and elephants. He lived in Portland a number of years and has many friends here. Soon after he was stricken Mr. Petty inherited about $100,000 from an uncle who had large real-estate holdings in the Bronx, New York City, and during his long illness he received the best of attention. The funeral will be held in New York.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AT SON'S HOME

The death of Atwell Martin occurred in this city Sunday morning at the home of his son, H. E. Martin. Mr. Martin, who was 75 years of age, had been suffering for about three weeks from an attack of paralysis and was unable to regain his strength. Mr. Martin was born in Kentucky September 2, 1838. He moved to Tacoma, Wash., many years ago and two years ago he came to Oregon City to live with his son, H. E. Martin, and has since lived in this city. He served three years in the Union Army during the civil war and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He had many friends in this city. Besides his son in this city, there are six other children: F. W. Martin, Van Martin, and Charles Martin, of Cle Elum, Wash.; Robert Martin, of Spokane; Lee Martin, of Seattle; and Mrs. J. N. Tracey, of Seattle. All of the children were in this city during Mr. Martin's illness.

ROD AND GUN CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

The Clackamas County Rod and Gun Club was organized Monday night in the rooms of the Commercial Club and 125 enthusiastic members were enrolled. T. J. Myers was elected president. E. Schwab was elected vice president and Charles Bollinger was elected secretary-treasurer. The following were elected on the executive board: T. Osmond, Ralph Parker, Dr. V. G. Ice, Charles Wright, John Clark, George Pusey and J. Pollanz. A constitution and bylaws were adopted, that part pertaining to fishing being taken from the Multnomah Anglers Club's constitution with changes to fit the needs of the local organization, and the part that pertained to the Gun Club was taken from the American Field Rules which are accepted as standard all over the country.

REED COLLEGE MAN SAYS "LIVE RIGHT"

The Congregational Brotherhood and the public in general, were treated to a splendid lecture Tuesday night by Dr. Edward H. Sisson, instructor of education at Reed college. Dr. Sisson, who is a forceful and interesting speaker, declared that the need of the American schools today was men. He stated that boys in their adolescent period needed contact with good clean men, which they are seldom able to get at present. He stated that the teaching profession should be more attractive to men because boys needed the association of men in the classroom which they did not receive and were not able to receive from the hands of women. Dr. Sisson spoke in glowing terms of women and of their work and the interest which they take in school affairs, and said that the men should display as great interest. He also urged that fathers associate more closely with their sons, and stated that if this were done, there would be few boys go wrong.

VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN VISITS IN CITY

With 75 years behind him, and a record of 39 years and seven months of service on the Portland Oregonian, C. H. Hill, now at the Soldiers' Home in Orting, Wash., was in Oregon City Friday. He is active for a man of his years and tells interesting reminiscences of the pioneer days when he was in the newspaper business in Portland. Mr. Hill worked in Oregon City in 1856 for W. L. Adams, who was proprietor of the Oregon City Argus. Dr. W. Craig was the foreman.

Mr. Hill carried the Weekly Oregonian and put the first issue of the paper on a doorstep in Portland. He was a carrier boy on that newspaper in 1852 when Thomas J. Dryer was the editor and was employed on the Oregonian when Henry L. Pitcock, now the owner, was first given prominence as a compositor. Hill was a resident of Oregon City so many years ago that he knows very few of the present residents of the city.
