Reports received from the Ogle Creek mines, in southeastern Clackamas county, state that the snow is still lying upon the ground to a depth of about 8 or 9 feet. The season is unusually late in the mountains this year, and snow was falling at Ogle Creek during the past week. Generally the snow has entirely disappeared at this time of the year at Ogle Creek. Its presence upon the ground is causing no little trouble in transporting supplies.

SICK, PENNILESS, LAD WINS DEGREE

University of Oregon, Eugene, May 9.—Starting for college afoot, without money, but seeking an education, David Pickett, of Prineville, came to the University of Oregon four years ago. This June he will be graduated with honor. He won the oratorical championship of the state last year, and helped Oregon win the debating championship of the coast this year. His education has been earned by daily toil—chopping wood, sweeping halls, and picking up odd jobs whenever he could. He did it all with a frail body, on the verge of sickness much of the time.

Pickett first worked his way through high school in Prineville by serving as janitor at the school. Then his ambition turned toward a higher education and he started on foot for Eugene, 160 miles across mountain and desert. A friend, however, happened to drive to Eugene with a team and the long walk was avoided.

Pickett's freshman year was hard, for sickness, which sent him to the hospital a few days ago in Salt Lake where he had gone with a collegian to win for Oregon the forensics championship of the Northwest, kept him out of college much of the time. He struggled through his freshman year without glory.

His sophomore year was another year of working by day and of cramming late at night upon his studies.

This last year his work has not been that of chopping wood or dollars chores, but of tutoring his fellow students. Pickett charges 50 cents or a dollar an hour, according to the nature of the subject.

"Working one's way through college sounds romantic," admits Pickett with a smile, "but if a fellow has no other way to get to college, working one's way may be all right—college is worth it."

LAWYER'S OFFICE BECOMES STAGE

HOWARD BROWNELL CRITICAL AUDIENCE OF ONE BEFORE TAKING DAMAGE SUIT

VAUDEVILLIANS CHARGE UNFAIRNESS

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Allege Contract Broken and Violence Threatened by Manager of Show House

Howard Brownell, prominent as a member of the local bar, has rather out-classed King Solomon as an arbiter. To do this he transformed his office into a theatre, and had staged for his special benefit a vaudeville sketch which may be the basis of a suit for heavy damages. Things came about in this way.

Last week the Portland agent of a local moving picture house, that runs vaudeville acts as added features, engaged Mr. and Mrs. George Fleming to come to Oregon City and put on their sketch. The Flemings arrived, bag and baggage, and put on their sketch. After its initial performance the manager of the local house went on the stage and ordered the two vaudevillians out of his theatre. The Flemings wanted to know why, and were informed that their show was not up to Oregon City standards. This remark was reinforced by the threatening presence of the leader of the orchestra in the house, and as the leader was a big and burly man, the actors decided to go.

They went to Mr. Brownell's office. There they said they had been engaged at $50 a week to brighten the stage of Oregon City, told of their summary dismissal and its alleged cause, and asked if they could not bring suit.

Mr. Brownell said he could hardly judge, from their bare statement of the case, whether or not they really had valid grounds on which to recover damages. He suggested that the best thing to do would be for the actors to put on their act for his judgment, and his suggestion was at once acted upon. Entering an ante-room, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming got into their wardrobe, and then gaily tripped forth into the attorney's office, singing something about "Any little auto, that's a fast little auto, is a nice little auto for me." This was climaxed by the vociferous tooting of an automobile horn, and then followed some "patter" and the other features of the Flemings' sketch.

After it was all over Mr. Brownell said that he thought their act was as good as many other acts he had seen, and added that he believed the Flemings were satisfactorily arranged, and Mr. Brownell is now drawing up papers for damages in a considerable sum to provide balm for the "humiliation, mental anguish, loss of prestige, waste of time, breach of contract and expense" sustained by the Flemings.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN HAS JOYOUS TIME

The Deutsche Verein of this city held its regular monthly meeting at Knapp's hall Sunday afternoon, and despite the inclemency of the weather, was largely attended by members and their families.

The following musical and literary program was well rendered: Opening address, Hon. Gustav Schnoerr, president; instrumental quartet, Miss Bruner, piano, and Messrs. Gustav F. Flechtner, George Kiemen, Carl Bruner and Lyle McCoy, violinists; recitation, Frank Weinert; violin solo, Gustav F. Flechtner; recitation, "Die Burgschlacht," Miss Augustus; vocal duet, "Keep the Horse-shoe O'er the Door," Mr. Peter Winkel and Miss Clara Winkel, Mrs. Winkel, accompanist on piano; instrumental selections, Flechtner's quartet; recitation, "Des Deutschen Kaeben Fischgobet," Frank Rotter; address, vice-president; D. M. Kiemen, vocal solo, "Die Lieber Duetsche Land," R. Petzold; violin solo, George Kiemen; "Lorelei," Verel; closing address, president, Schnoerr; closing song, "Traute Liebe," Verel. Mr. Frank Rotter and Mrs. P. Winkel, the program committee were highly complimented at the close of the exercises.

The members and families and invited guests then assembled in the banquet hall, which was in charge of Mmes. Buse and Treutler, committee on refreshments, and partook of a sumptuous German dinner to which all did full justice, after which a social hour was passed in music, songs and games.

The main and banquet halls were tastefully decorated with dogwood blossoms, flags and evergreens. Over the presidents' chairs were portraits of President Wilson and Kaiser Wilhelm.

The next meeting of the Verein will be held at Schnoerr's Grove June, next.

81 YEARS OLD AND HAPPY

Mrs. E. Summers celebrated her 81st anniversary Sunday at her home on Seventh and Washington streets, an entertaining dinner for her daughter, Mrs. Annie Leary, Mrs. Nellie Landenech, Mrs. Park Hunter and Mrs. J. W. McNamara, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Little. Mrs. Summers will be a pioneer of 1852, is hale and hearty, and often attends St. John's church twice on Sunday. Her father, M. Mooney, lived to be 107 years of age.

TALKED IN SLEEP, WIFE SAYS CRAZY

Because W. C. Parker, of Milwaukee, talked in his sleep, and because the prayers of an evangelist did not break him of this habit, Mrs. Marie Parker, his wife, Monday swore to a warrant for his arrest on the grounds of insanity. Deputy sheriff took the man into custody late Monday night and lodged him in the county jail until Tuesday morning, when he had his hearing before County Judge Beattie.

In court Parker gave no signs of insanity. His breath smelled strongly of garlic, and on being asked to account for it he said his wife had given it to him so that he would sleep better. She also used the powerfully scented food as a sleeping potion, he added; and this fact was evidence to court officials. Parker was able to meet all the psychopathic tests submitted to him, even bettering the records in this line made by some of the court officers. He was able to find the tip of his nose with the tip of his index finger when his eyes were blindfolded, touching the exact spot required. Nobody else in court could do as well.

Judge Beattie discharged the man, and he left in haste, saying that his wife was the person who should have been brought up on charges.

CHURCHES TO HOLD GENERAL MEETING

Several members of the First Congregational church of this city are planning to go to Hubbard in the near future, where they will attend a meeting of the East Willamette Association of Congregational churches. The meeting is an annual event and will be attended by a large number of persons. Events of interest to the church will be discussed, and a number of addresses will be delivered. Among those who are planning to go are Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dye.

NEW LOCAL CHURCH BEING CONSIDERED

The Rev. John Oval, of the Methodist church, who has been appointed missionary among the Scandinavian people in Oregon and Southern Washington, spent all day Thursday in the city looking over the situation here with a view of opening a regular church for the Scandinavian people in this city. Rev. Mr. Oval is well known in this part of the country, having traveled as district superintendent of the Methodist church in the Northwest for several years.

Mr. Oval is greatly interested in the subject of starting a new church here, and believes that Oregon City has a great future. He believes that the Scandinavian people by the thousands as soon as the Panama canal is completed, and that they are a number of the Scandinavian steamship lines that will run ships direct to Portland as soon as the canal is opened.

WOMEN CONDEMN PARKINSON PLAN

Meeting in the Commercial club rooms Thursday afternoon, the Women's club went on record as opposed to the Parkinson referendum proposed to the appropriations for the state university and agricultural college; and also discussed at some length the matter of the appointment of a woman market inspector for work in the city. No decision was reached in regard to the inspectorship, and while the club is heartily in favor of having a voice in this matter of municipal reform, definite action was postponed until the next meeting.

The regular program of the day was in charge of Mrs. Duncan Shanks who read a most interesting paper upon the work and plans of the railroad commission. There was a good attendance, and the interest in the program and the discussions was pronounced.

COLLEGE GIRLS VISIT PORTLAND STOCKYARDS

A party of 12 senior home economics students of the Oregon Agricultural College visited the Portland stock yards, the domestic science departments of Washington and Lincoln high schools, the trade school, markets and bakeries and the house decoration departments of several large stores recently under the guidance of college professors to gain a general view of the commercial side of home making problems.

A BURIED BIBLE

As to how it got buried and how recovered, the story will be told at the memorial church Sunday morning by Mr. Edwards, assisted by a number of boys and girls of the Sunday school. It will be a kind of a sermon, the kind that Jeremiah once preached by action, a story that by whom comes may read. Children are reminded that it is their Sunday, but it is the day when the old folks go with them.

FRANK MCGINNIS SHOT TO DEATH

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT OF PAPER MILL MURDERED BY DISCHARGED EMPLOYEE

E. T. DAULTON WILL FILL VACANCY

Crown-Columbia Company Man is Target for Bullets on Street—Dies Early Sunday Morning from Wounds

News has been received here of the murder of Frank McGinnis, superintendent of the Crown-Columbia Paper mills at Floriston, Cal. Mr. McGinnis, who was formerly an employee of the local mills of the same company, sometime ago was sent to the California department of the concern, and placed in charge. According to information reaching this city, Mr. McGinnis last week discharged the physician who has been looking after the employees of the mill, and Sunday this doctor shot him down on the street.

Mr. McGinnis died at two o'clock Monday morning from his wounds. His body will be brought here for interment, his brother Joseph McGinnis having left Reno to bring the remains north.

In this city Mr. McGinnis was well-known, being at one time chief of the fire department, and also being identified with other public matters.

E. J. Daulton, who has been superintendent of the Crown-Columbia mills here, has been ordered to Floriston to assume charge of the California plant of the concern.

As an expression of the regard in which he was held by the employees of the Crown-Columbia Paper mill, E. J. Daulton, who left Monday night for Floriston, Cal., to assume charge of the company's plant at that place, was presented with a handsome gold watch in the afternoon. Mr. Daulton was to have severed his connection with the local mill this week, and had it not been for the unfortunate death of Frank McGinnis, would have retired to private life upon half pay. The sudden need of a superintendent at the Floriston mills, however, makes his further service with the company necessary.

M. E. Clancy acted as spokesman for the men at the mill, and in presenting the watch said: "It is my pleasure, Mr. Daulton, to present this watch to you on behalf of the employees, as a slight token of the esteem and regard in which they hold you for your many acts of kindness and consideration. In giving you this remembrance we all want to assure you of our hearty good wishes wherever your future plans may call you."

Mr. Daulton was visibly affected, the gift coming to him as a complete surprise. In thanking the donors he said he was glad to know that his efforts be fair and honorable with them were appreciated, and added that he would always retain and greatly prize their valuable present.

MUSIC RECITAL PLANS DRAW MUCH ATTENTION

Of interest to the music lovers of this city is the announcement that Mrs. Delphine Marx of Portland will appear in the Bithiah concert in this city next Wednesday evening, May 14th, at the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Marx, who has a wonderful dramatic contralto voice, is soloist at the Temple Beth Israel in Portland, and the past few years has been one of the popular soloists in this part of the Northwest.

One of her numbers at this concert will be an aria from the opera Samson and Delila, a program in detail appearing in a later issue of this paper. Mr. Oscar Lawrence Woodfin will be the baritone soloist and Oregon City may well be proud of this promising young musician. Miss Sadye Evelyn Ford is directing this musicale and her friends will be glad indeed of an opportunity of hearing her in a few piano numbers.

SCHOOL CHILDREN RUSH TO "EXAMS"

Over 400 grammar school students in the county have applied for eighth grade diplomas at the end of this school term, and examinations to determine to whom the graduation papers shall be issued are now being held.

County Superintendent Gary has received the examination questions from the state board, and says that this year's questions are extremely fair, and that the answers to them should reflect the progress made by the pupils in their work. Examinations prepared by the state in some previous years have been criticised as being either too severe, or else as containing "catch questions."

Of the children taking the examinations, or about to take them, the great majority have signified their intention of continuing studies in the various high schools. Only a small proportion will leave school and enter other fields. As it is expected that only a very few will fail to get the necessary marks for passing, there will probably be a large entering class to be cared for in the high schools, which are already comfortably filled. Room will be found for all who desire to continue their studies, however.

With every $5.00 Cash Purchase we will give you a 6 foot Buggy Whip.

ASSAULT HEARING LONG DRAWN OUT

The case of Stanley Rice, of Portland, who is being sued by Joe Hedges for assault and battery, was begun Thursday afternoon in Justice of the Peace Slevers' court at 1:00 o'clock. Considerable difficulty was encountered in securing a jury, and the case was not begun until nearly four o'clock. Joe Seahan was the only witness examined, and simply stated to the jury the story of the assault as he saw it.

His story was to the effect that Joe Hedges, who is the son of J. E. Hedges, had returned from Portland on a late car, after having witnessed a show in that city, and had stopped at the Falls confectionery shop, this being about 1:00 o'clock a. m. Seahan, who was working at the Falls at the time, stated that he and Allie Levitt, who was in the place, got into an argument, concerning the make of an automobile which was outside. To settle their dispute they went out to see what make the machine was. Hedges and several other boys following them.

Seahan said two women were in the car, and that one of them tossed a bottle out at the boys. One of them kicked it up and put it back into the machine. A young man who was driving the car became slightly "peevish" at this, and told the boys that if they did not look out "they would get the can knocked off of them."

At this time Rice came out and heard the remark. Thinking one of the boys said it, he lit into the first one he saw, the unlucky person being Seahan. He was knocked to the ground in an unconscious state, and as a result sustained a cut cheek. On Friday.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Licenses have been issued by the county clerk to the following: C. A. Chambers, of Portland, and Miss Marie Getman; Roy Danielson and Miss Elsie Dodd, both of Boring; Clarence Johnson and Miss Annie Reynolds, both of Clackamas.

$25 FINE, COSTS, IN ASSAULT CASE

After being out from six o'clock in the evening Friday to two o'clock Saturday morning, the jury that tried the assault and battery case preferred against J. Stanley Rice, of Portland, by Joe Hedges, the son of J. E. Hedges, prominent Oregon City attorney, returned a verdict of guilty in Justice Slevers' court. Rice was arraigned for sentence Saturday morning, and was fined $25 and costs, the latter amounting to $62. Westbrook & Westbrook, Rice's attorneys, gave notice of an appeal to the circuit court.

The case concerned an attack said to have been made upon young Hedges, who is but 19 years of age, by Rice, while the latter was obtaining midnight refreshments while on an automobile trip with a friend and two women in this city early in the week. Rice's companion alleged that Hedges threw a beer bottle at her foot, and Rice knocked the boy unconscious as punishment for the act. The case consumed two days in trial, and was hotly contested throughout.

MRS. L. A. ALEXANDER CALLED BY DEATH

News of the death of Mrs. L. A. Alexander, who died at her residence in West Oregon City, Monday morning at 5:45 will be a surprise to her many friends in this city, who believed that she was improving from her recent illness. Mrs. Alexander was taken suddenly worse Sunday. She had been sick for more than a week and the latter part of last week she showed a marked improvement.

Mrs. Alexander has been a resident of Oregon City for many years and had a wide circle of friends. She was an active member of the Baptist church. She is the mother of six children, all of whom are living. There is also one adopted child, Miss Florence Reisenberg, of Portland. The children are: William Alexander, Lebanon; Ross Alexander, Lebanon; Mrs. Edward Leveall, of Hubbard; Mrs. G. Aronson, of Newport; Vern Alexander, of Astoria; and Cyril Alexander, of Newport. Mrs. Alexander's husband, George Alexander is living at present in Wisconsin.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is believed the funeral will be Wednesday in Oregon City, and that the interment will be in Lebanon. Mrs. Alexander expressed a wish before her death that she be buried beside her mother and father in Lebanon, and this wish will probably be carried out.

W. H. DEDMAN DIES AT BEACH RESORT

County Recorder E. T. Dedman received word Saturday of the death of his brother, W. H. Dedman, at Long Beach, Wn., Friday afternoon. Mr. Dedman left for Portland immediately to be present at the funeral services at Holman's undertaking establishment at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon. Interment will be at Multnomah cemetery.

W. H. Dedman was the owner of the Sunset hotel at Long Beach, and was deeply respected in the community, where he was always regarded as a business man of sterling character. His hotel was known favorably to all visitors to the coast. For some time Mr. Dedman had been suffering from Bright's disease, and this was the cause of his death.

Mr. Dedman was the son of E. C. and Sarah Dedman, and is survived by his widow and one son, W. H. Dedman, Jr., who is in business in Portland. Aside from Recorder Dedman, he is also survived by H. A. and George Dedman, brothers, and by two sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Paddock, of Gladstone, and Mrs. J. W. McKensie, of Portland.

CLACKAMAS WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Cornelia Bryant, a pioneer of the Clackamas valley, died at her home at Clackamas Heights late Friday afternoon. Mrs. Bryant was 92 years of age, and came to the Oregon country from Ohio when a little girl. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed.

LITTLE CHILD DIES

Mr and Mrs. Frank Grossmiller, of Beaver Creek, are mourning the loss of their infant son, who died last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Mayfield. Mrs. Grossmiller's mother, Burdette of a heart valve was the immediate cause of the little tot's death.

EDGAR L. CAMP'S FATHER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Edgar L. Camp, well-known in this city, Friday attended the funeral of his father, John J. Camp, who passed away in his 78th year at the home of H. L. Camp, another son, 319 East Salmon street, Portland. Services were held at half past one in the afternoon at Mr. Camp's residence, and interment followed at Mount Scott park cemetery.

Mr. Camp is survived by a widow, Mrs. Katie Camp, and the following children: George J. and Herbert L. Camp, of Portland; Edgar L. Camp, of Oregon City; Mrs. Anna Haup, of Freewater, Oregon, and J. Otis Camp, of New York.

CHILDREN RECEIVE SACRAMENT

Forty-four children—17 boys and 27 little girls—received their first communion at St. John's Roman Catholic church Sunday morning, services being conducted by the Rev. Father Hillebrand. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion, and special music was a feature of the service. The little girls, gowned in white, made a pleasing picture as they received the sacred rites. There was a large attendance to witness the ceremony.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS

Brenton Vedder, for the last five years principal of the Gladstone school, has tendered his resignation to become effective at the end of the present school year in June. Mr. Vedder was recently re-elected for another year by the board of directors. He has not yet decided as to his future work.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by restoring the inflamed membrane to its normal condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflated you have a running sound or ringing in the ears, and if it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Our special method is guaranteed to cure or to refund your money. Write for our circular and book. We will give you the Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness if you cannot be cured by our special method.
