

HUGE MONUMENT TO MAINE'S DEAD

SAILORS KILLED AT HAVANA BY EXPLOSION OF MINE NOW HONORED IN MARBLE

MODERN NAVY THUNDERS TRIBUTE

New York is Scene of Unveiling of National Memorial to Crew of First Battleship of White Squadron

NEW YORK, May 30.—With a grand naval and military parade, with cheering crowds, and in the presence of a distinguished company, the National Shrine monument, erected by popular subscription in honor of the United States sailors who met death in the explosion of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor just prior to the Spanish-American war, was unveiled this afternoon in Columbus Circle, at the southeast entrance to Central park.

The unveiling ceremonies were of an impressive character, beginning with an invocation by Father Chadwick, who was chaplain of the ill-fated battleship. Other leading participants in the programme were Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Governor Haines of Maine, Governor Sulzer of New York, and Mayor Gaynor of New York City.

The principal part of the monument proper consists of a pylon 13 1/2 x 21 feet, and 40 feet high, with panels on its four faces. It is flanked by two colossal figures, representing the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, suggestive of the national scope of the memorial. The Atlantic is typified by a young man in the fulness of his strength, the Pacific by an old man half slumbering. The figures standing would be over fourteen feet high.

At the foot of the shaft and facing the circle is a course of sculptured antebellum in idea—Courage awaiting the flight of Peace, while Fortitude supports the feeble. These are figures nearly twice actual life-size. About the group is the following inscription: "To the valiant seamen who perished in the Maine—by fate unwarmed, in death unafraid."

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED AT LAST

MISSOULA, Mont., May 29.—That he assassinated General Thomas Francis Meagher, once Governor of Montana Territory, eminent soldier, author and statesman of international fame, whose death in 1867 has always remained one of the mysteries of Montana's early history, was the confession of Pat Miller, alias Frank Diamond, made on what he believed was his dying bed at Plains Tuesday.

Diamond was arrested this afternoon by Sheriff W. L. Kelley of Missoula county on information furnished him by the Sentinel, which has in its possession Diamond's confession. Diamond also confesses to two other murders near The Dalles, Or., in about 1874, and George Mitchell, whom he killed in 1883 and threw into the Willamette river in Oregon.

LONG WAR OVER; TREATY IS SIGNED

LONDON, May 30.—The eight months' war between Turkey and the allied Balkan states is ended. The "peace of London" was signed today in the picture gallery of St. James palace.

The only dramatic feature of the historic occasion was M. Popovitch's expression of keen disappointment that Montenegro had "been despoiled of her just share of the spoils of a triumphant war" and the hope that "England, which took the lead in the spoilation," would take every step to compensate Montenegro for her sacrifice.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."

Read What Another Woman Says: Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night."

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured."

"You may publish this if you wish."

ALBEE IS LEADER IN PORTLAND GO

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3.—Returns in the Portland election at 2:15 this morning showed that H. R. Albee will be the next mayor of Portland under the commission form of government. At that time indications were that he would win by 6,000 popularity. With Albee having more votes than all the other mayoralty candidates together, Rushlight is running second, but so far behind that there was no chance of a change in results. State Senator Dan Kellaher was running third, and McKenna, who ran as a democrat, was fourth on the list.

Late returns indicated that the commissioners would be Will Daly, W. L. Brewster, Robert Dieck and Ralph Clyde. Daly and Clyde have served in the council. Dieck is a municipal engineer of excellent standing, and has been in service for the government in the Philippines. Incidentally he has also been consulting engineer for Oregon City in much of its improvement work.

VETERANS MARCH IN BRAVE ARRAY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 29.—This was the spectacular day of the national reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, when gray-haired soldiers of the '60s marched again shoulder to shoulder. The parade was the feature of the day. Public offices, business houses and many business houses were closed, and the people made the occasion a holiday. The early morning trains poured hundreds of visitors into the city from nearby points in Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

During the night the final decorative touches were made, and this morning the streets through which the parade was to pass were one continuous line of flags and bunting. At nearly every available point along the route viewing stands had been built, while hundreds of roofs and windows had been equipped with chairs for the accommodation of spectators.

It was a few minutes past 11 o'clock when the signal guns to start were fired. The line was led by Commander-in-Chief Young and his staff. The first division was made up of the department of Northern Virginia, comprising the veterans of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the Carolinas. The old soldiers of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida marched in the division of the department of Tennessee, commanded by Gen. George Morrison. Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and the northwest comprised the department of Trans-Mississippi. Sponsors and maids, officers of the auxiliary organizations and many prominent citizens of Chattanooga and vicinity rode in carriages, as did also many of the veterans whose age or physical infirmities made it impossible for them to march on foot.

The veterans were greeted enthusiastically all along the line. The applause became a veritable tempest as the old soldiers marched past the official reviewing stand. At this point Commander-in-Chief Young left his place at the head of the procession and reviewed the line. Governor Hooper and many other notable occupied seats in the reviewing stand and joined in the enthusiastic demonstration that greeted what is likely to be the last grand march of the surviving veterans of the great army of the Confederacy.

DEMAND FOR STRAWS KEEPS PRICES UP

June, being almost here, people have gone strawberry-crazy, and so great is the demand for this favorite fruit that the supply is nowhere equal to the call. As a result, though shipments to markets are increasing daily prices still remain relatively high. State berries still rule from $3 to $3.50 per 24-pound crate, with Washington berries at the top price. California berries, owing to the demand, are being quoted at an advance, but their quality is not the equal of Oregon and Washington fruit.

Asparagus is coming in in good quantities, and prices are easier. Green peas are not any lower, and may go higher in the near future. First green corn of the year has come in from California, and is selling at $1 a dozen.

Other market features show little change. Eggs and potatoes are still in the doubtful column, the former being quoted at from 20 to 22 cents, with biggest offerings of "seconds" than of prime stock. Poultrymen seem market-bid. Potatoes are being sold for whatever is bid, but not much trading is being done, even in new spuds.

SOUTHERN OREGON BERRIES ARE POOR

Strawberries continue to be the feature of the market, with a sharp drop in price. Southern Oregon berries seem to be badly sunburnt, and are being quoted at about a dollar unit, with biggest offerings of "seconds" than of prime stock. Other state berries are holding well, but the varieties being from the lower Willamette and Clackamas valleys, and from Washington. Evergreen state berries are particularly good this year, and are topping the market.

Eggs continue to be one of the weird features of the Portland markets, though in local buying and selling centers they are holding in the neighborhood of 22 cents. In Portland much seems to depend upon the feeling of the buyer, and alleged "fresh" eggs are to be found quoted from 17 to 25 cents. Best eggs are being sold direct by poultrymen, as heretofore, to consumers and smaller stores.

String beans have dropped somewhat in price, asparagus is still ranging from six-bits to a dollar a dozen bunches, green peas are scarce and poor in quality, gooseberries are coming in with better form and are both larger and more sound. There is no appreciable movement of potatoes.

Other market features are about the same as last week. Butter is strong.

LIVESTOCK MARKET SEES SHARP DROP

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 853, calves 59, hogs 2014, sheep 4570, horses 26.

Cattle values suffered a severe cut during the week and the market is generally 25 to 50 cents lower. Steers received the brunt of the attack. Best hollers were selling steady $8.25 to $8.50 toward the close with good grass stuff around 8 cents, butcher stuff was slow to participate in the slump as heifers brought $5.09 and cows $7.50, although these prices are not in existence today. Good bulls and stags are steady to a shade weaker, while calves remain unchanged. Heavy liquidation from drought afflicted section in California and Rocky Mountain states, has hurried along the annual export of the grass cattle run. Beef is not as plentiful as in former years and the trade expects a comparatively steady market all spring and summer.

The hog market displayed strong "come back" qualities from opening to closing and gained approximately 25c. Best light swine sold steady Wednesday $8.50 to $8.55. Demand has been brisk and bid high enough to absorb receipts which have been better than the average. Uncertainty as to the market status the coming week prevents much speculation.

Sheep house proved an irregular affair up to Thursday and thereafter appeared to be steady. Killers are surfeited on poor mutton and lambs. Are calling for prime stuff which is fairly firm. Wethers at $6.00 and ewes at $5.25 and spring lambs $7.00 to $7.25 are price tops in the various sheep classes. Liquidation large and range of prices wide.

GROWERS GET $4 FOR FIRST BERRIES

Strawberry picking will start in the Willamette and Clackamas valley Monday, and indications are that there will be a good yield. The crop will be in fine shape for early sales, but indications also are that all fruit not at once marketed will be valueless to the growers, as the late rains and extra frosts seem to have effected the keeping quality of the berries. Those that have been picked so far, and left for 24 hours, have shriveled up and lost all their good points, not even being fit for canning. However, as the demand for berries is exceptionally heavy this year on account of the lateness of the season, local growers expect to get rid of their crop at good figures. Some few growers, who have been picking the last two days of the past week, have received $4 a crate for fruit. Asparagus, which has been one of the most varying of products this season, is down again, after a recent soaring into the class of luxuries. Week and prices in Portland ranged from 65 cents a dozen bunches up. Prices in local markets have been holding better.

Better eggs have been shipped to wholesalers lately by poultry fanciers, and the market has assumed a higher rate, and is firmer. Not much over 22 cents is being paid for prime stock, however, and much product is still being sold direct to consumers.

Other market staples are showing little change. Green vegetables are a trifle lower, and are more plentiful. Spuds are still at the bottom of the list.

BERRY SEASON ON IN SUMMER FORM

Warm weather of the past several days has done wonders for the strawberry crop, and has knocked the bottom out of market prices. Crates of the luscious summer fruit are being quoted at a dollar less than earlier in the week, and the retail market is tumbling like the stock exchange in a panic. Berries that sold for 30 cents a box Saturday were reduced to two boxes for a quarter Monday, and Wednesday were selling at ten cents a flat, with prognostications by local states that they would be selling at six for two-bits by next Monday, if not sooner. Efforts of Portland newspapers to bull the market by printing allegations that there is but a 40 per cent crop in this section are much resented by local dealers and by growers.

Eggs are quoted in Portland at 18 1/2 cents and up. Locally the best eggs are being sold at 20 cents a dozen, a dozen, either from stores or from poultry men. At this rate there is not much profit for the middleman. California raspberries are making their appearance in the wholesale markets, but are not of extra quality. Gooseberries are becoming more plentiful daily, and are increasing in size. Present offerings are of good quality.

Asparagus is now in its prime, and is reasonable in price. Wholesalers are paying from 60 to 90 cents a dozen bunches, and the "grass" is finding a ready market. Local prices are about the same as Portland.

Local lettuce is making its appearance in the stores, and is in fair condition. The heads are not closely packed, however, and there is less to each head than appears from the size. Butter is holding at the same prices prevalent for the past several weeks, creameries taking care of the surplus by storage. At that, however, the price is not high.

Conference of Students

MOHON LAKE, N. Y., June 3.—The conference of the World Student Christian Federation, which met here today for an eight-day session, is the largest and most representative gathering of its kind ever held. The attendance far exceeds that at the meetings held in previous years in London, Versailles, Tokio and Constantinople. England, Germany, Russia, Hungary, Sweden, Norway, Finland, China and Japan are among the countries represented by delegates.
