HAZELIA.

June is here, June roses, June sunshine, June showers, how fine they all are. Let's not spoil it all by saying, "Yes, but it will soon be over." Just store away the memory of these things in a good warm heart and live them all over again next December.

It certainly was worth seeing, and reflects much credit on the several teachers. There was a fine exhibit of needle work from second graders up.

A pastory table and the manual training class under their excellent young teacher, Mr. White, had a good exhibit of solid sensible articles. Walter Larson's big porch chair and set of book shelves took first prize. Willie Elliott came second with his bookcase and Wilbur Ross won third prize.

The judges of the needle work found it hard to choose when the exhibit was so uniformly excellent. Miss Hilda Keiser won first prize, in eighth and ninth grade and Frances Boland second. GLAD TIDINGS.

The house of Syd Cordilla, now under course of construction, when completed, will be modern, up to date, and commodious. His well-tiled farm and serviceable buildings, good fencing and general indication of thrift, were not brought about by chance. A poor boy forced to go out in the world and make his own way, at the age of 15 years, the many trials and temptations, met with on every side, by a boy of that age, and that he chose the path of duty, sobriety, temperance and economy, and with clean morals, believing in and living a Christian life, we look on him as one of our best citizens. A kind and obliging neighbor, a man to whom great credit should be given for what he has accomplished.

Mrs. Boldon and mother, who recently went back to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the burial services of brother and son, will return home the latter part of the week.

Geo. Wooster will take 28 fat hogs to market in a few days. Thom Drake has made a start delivering strawberries.

Farr, of Oregon City, brought out a band of sheep, which he will pasture on the Madison place. Allen, who returned for things he had left on the place found a plow, log chain and some other tools missing.

Geo. Newsome is busy these warm days splitting and ricking stove wood. The humid atmosphere causes perspiration to a marked degree, but the appetite it creates, and the restful sleep produced by said exercise well repays him for time and labor expended.

LOGAN.

Some want rain, some want shine, old satan himself can't please all of us all the time.

While the rain does a great deal of good, benefitting gardens and late grain, it has hindered the early cut hay. Mr. H. W. Hageman has about thirty acres of clover hay cut.

The Logan boys came home from Damascus smiling Sunday. The score was 14 to 9 in Logan's favor. Next Sunday, W. R. Heale's team, the Wolves of Portland, will play the Logan boys at Logan.

Saturday, May 31, was Mr. H. S. Anderson's birthday and a very pleasant surprise was planned and successfully carried out by Mrs. Anderson and the other ladies of the household, who presented him with a handsome oak office chair. In the evening a number of neighbors filed in to offer congratulations and spend the evening. The time quickly passed with games and music, the finale being delicious refreshments, ice cream, cake, etc. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Riehoff, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hageman, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hutchins, Miss Ethel Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hutchins, J. A. Byers, Misses Mabel and Olive Byers, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Kirchner, Misses Winnie and Ruth Brown, Thomas Brown, Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Fleet of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Anderson and Misses Grace and Lillian Anderson.

Saturday last, was the regular monthly meeting of Harding Grange. Two dozen members and four visitors were there. A pleasant day was enjoyed by those attending. The 4th of July committee have about perfected their plans for the picnic the 4th, which will be a general good time affair all around for all, if the weather permits. The Woman's Work committee (and we have a good one) reported the net proceeds from the stand on children's day to be nine dollars, and the money will be spent for awnings and amusements for the children in the Park, so the children may have the benefit of it.

A ball team to play with Logan on the 4th of July is being looked up. N. E. Kirchem with a crew of men will start to work on the Logan and Barton road today, opening it up and putting it in condition. This road will be an outlet to a large area of country. Eagle Creek will then have a cream route to the creamery when the bridge is built.

Miss Marie Friedericks is expected home soon. Mr. and Mrs. Lindbork, of Redland, were visitors at Grange Saturday. The latter favored the audience with two vocal selections, she being an artist in that line and a graduate in music. She is on the program for July 4.

F. W. Foster is reported on the sick list with heart trouble. His many friends hope for him a speedy recovery.

MACKSBURG.

In Sunday's ball game the Macksburg Browns took the Molalla Stars into camp on the Molalla grounds, to the tune of 7 to 1. The star playing of the game was done by Smoky Simpson, Macksburg's third baseman, who had three hits, four broken bats and several sensational catches of difficult fouts to his credit. Pitcher Vick, of Molalla, won the distinction of four strike-outs in one inning. Hat tricks, Macksburg, Norris and Gribble; Molalla, the Vick brothers; Umpire, Gribble and Cox. Macksburg has won the last four games played and their percentage is .714 for the season.

The rain of Saturday and Sunday has impaired the freshness of early spring to the Macksburg landscape. Indeed there is little except the advanced state of the grain and of vegetation generally to remind us that we are no longer in the vernal season.

LOCAL SCHOOL FAIR AT MULINO.

An interesting and unique entertainment was held at the school house at Mulino at the close of the term, June 6. The school house was decorated in a manner that showed artistic design. In the center of the room, just over the heads of the people, hung a bell forty feet in circumference, made of yellow and white ferns, made of yellow and white ferns, made of yellow and white ferns. For the clapper a large bunch of white roses hung in the center suspended by a rope of scotch bloom. A rope covered with scotch bloom was festooned all around the room. Over the blackboard was a border of hedge of holly twigs, with the tender, light-green foliage from a fringe on the upper edge. Live wires hung from the top of the bookcase, and the teacher's desk and organ in the opposite corner were like a miniature flower garden with terraced background.

The school was equally divided into two sides, the "Red Roses" and the "White Roses." The day's program consisted in part of contests between these two sides, in ciphering, spelling, map drawing, stories, etc., so arranged that the youngest pupils had equal chances with the older ones of winning blue ribbons for their own sides. Five judges were elected to award the prizes: Superintendent Gary, Mrs. Gary, Mrs. Oscar Hull, Rev. F. Piper, Mrs. Howes. The contests were sometimes close and difficult to decide, but the judges' decisions were in all cases accepted without a murmur. The pupils were divided into three divisions: Class A consisting of the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades; class B, of the 4th and 5th grades; class C of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

After the Greeting Song by the school the Geography-History game was played to a draw, each side scoring one point by asking a question that the other side could not answer. An exhibition of Nature Study class work had been planned, but had to be omitted because of the absence of Miss Alice Walker, who had promised to take charge of this feature. Readings, songs and recitations were interspersed throughout the program. Two clove original stories were read by Miss Jessie Porter and Roy Graves. The judges awarded a ribbon to each. The song, "Why Don't Parents Visit the School?" closed the morning session.

Luncheon was served in the church yard grove. Superintendent Gary

COURSE OF THE STARS. Measuring How Fast and Far They Go Whirling Through Space. Away out in space millions of miles distant is a star. To the eye it remains, year in, year out, a fixed point of light. Even through the telescope it does not appear to move, so slight is its orbit compared with the enormous distance that separates it from us.

Yet it is whirling through space as we are about some sun which it obeys, as we do ours. How do the astronomers learn this? Through the spectroscope.

Every one is familiar with the fact that when a whistling locomotive is approaching the pitch of the whistle rises and as the engine recedes it falls. This is because the sound waves are crowded together by the onrushing engine and shortened as it approaches and are drawn out longer as it goes the other way.

The same thing happens to the light of an onrushing star. The eye cannot detect it, but the spectroscope does. The astronomer allows the light of the star to come through a slit and be broken up by the instrument. He selects a single line of the spectrum of the star, chooses a guide line beside it and watches it.

If the star is approaching the light waves will be shortened and the light will become slightly nearer the violet. If it is receding the waves will be longer and the light will approach the red.

Red is low pitch in light and blue is high pitch. As the star swings about the curve at this end of its orbit the light gradually returns to normal, because the star, while moving just as fast, is not approaching us as much. As the star turns back the line goes the other side of the normal.

By continued observation the astronomer finds how fast and how far the star goes each way and how often it does so. In the case of some stars he discovers that what appears to be one star is really two, which is shown by the fact that a line will divide into two and one part move up and the other down the spectrum at the same time. Such stars are known as spectroscopic doubles. —New York Sun.

SIBERIA'S RINGED BREAD. Makes Good Soup After Being Used in a Game of Quaits.

No homemade bread in the world can vie either in indigestibility or usefulness with the small ringed bread of Siberia, probably the most extraordinary bread in the whole world.

When the Russian engineering parties were constructing the Siberian railroad this white ringed bread was their chief food. As its name implies, it is made in the shape of a ring. It is cooked without salt or yeast and is first steamed and then lightly baked to expel the moisture. It is eaten and used in a wonderful variety of ways.

During the intensely cold winter months it is soaked in hot tallow for a few moments and then eaten with soup or dipped in tea and swallowed. This tallow bread is considered to be one of the most heat producing foods in existence.

A curious use to which it is put is as a lamp or stove. Half a dozen or eight holes are bored in the "tallow ring bread" and wax tapers are placed in them and lighted. This bread stove will burn slowly for about an hour, giving out sufficient heat to boil the necessary water for tea or coffee for half a dozen people.

During the day, when time hangs heavily, the Siberians present play quaits with their ringed bread, the same bread appearing in the soup at the evening meal. Peterson's Weekly
