W. A. Beck, familiarly referred to by his friends as "the founder and booster of Molalla," was a county seat visitor Wednesday.

City Attorney W. M. Stone has been selected as orator for the Fourth of July celebration at Sandy. He will have a place of honor in the parade that is to be a feature of the day.

William M. Putter and wife, of Pendleton, were in the city on business matters Thursday. Mr. Putter has purchased a ranch near East Clairmont, and will make his home there.

J. Q. Finucane and Mrs. Finucane, of this city, are at present in Chicago, on their way home from visiting the national meeting of the Catholic Knights of America. Mr. Finucane was a delegate from Oregon to the meeting, which was held in Washington, D. C. En route they have visited most of the big Eastern and Southern cities.

OREGON CITY ELK PLANS LONG TOUR

William R. Logus, esteemed leading knight of Oregon City Lodge No. 1189, B. P. O. E., who left this city with Mrs. Logus some weeks ago for an automobile tour in California, has decided to extend his trip to a trans-continental tour, and is now en route to Rochester, New York, where he will attend the grand lodge reunion of Elks this summer.

Mr. Logus was seen recently in Reno, Nev., by E. J. Daulton, of the Crown Columbia Paper company, and was enthusiastic about the prospects of his trip. He will not try to break any records making his way across the country, but expects to visit many of the leading cities, and to have a thoroughly enjoyable time of it.

ELKS WILL HONOR NATION'S EMBLEM

Annual flag day exercises of the local lodge of Elks will be held next Saturday, at eight o'clock in the evening, when public services will be held in the Elks' home on Water street. At that time the full and impressive ritualistic services will be put on, and the beautiful ceremony will be enhanced by the presence of Meade Post, G. A. R., the famous veteran drum corps, and a chorus.

This celebration of flag day each year is one of the most beautiful of all Elks' customs, and is well worth attending. A deep patriotism is taught by the ritual, and the impressive ceremony is one of the finest pieces of lodge-work ever originated. Room will be provided in the main hall of the Elks' building for all who desire to attend, and if former years are regarded as a criterion, there will be a large audience on hand.

MEMBERS OF THE LIVE WIRES, AT THEIR WEEKLY LUNCHEON, HELD TUESDAY NOON IN THE COMMERCIAL CLUB ROOMS, LISTENED TO A REPORT BY COUNCILLMAN TOOOZE UPON THE WATER SUPPLY SITUATION, AND AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE REMARKS DETERMINED TO TAKE A HAND IN THE MATTER THEMSELVES. THE SPECIAL WATER COMMITTEES OF THE COUNCIL OF WHICH MR. TOOOZE IS CHAIRMAN, WAS COMMENDED FOR ITS ACTION AND INTEREST IN THE MATTER OF SEEKING A NEW, CLEAR AND ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF WATER FOR THE CITY, AND ITS WORK IN CONNECTION WITH THE TEST WELL DRIVEN ON THE LADD TRACT AT MT. PLEASANT WAS ENDORSED.

In talking of the work, Mr. Tooze said that the council had appropriated in all $1,885 for the various phases of the water inquiry that has led so far to a thorough investigation of the territory surrounding Oregon City, to the securing of a report upon the matter by Robert Dieck, of Portland, and to the drilling of a test well at Mt. Pleasant. In regard to this well, Mr. Tooze said that the bore had been driven 315 feet without the anticipated result, and that the special water committee had decided not to seek a supply at any greater depth.

Mr. Tooze then took the floor for the offer of Mr. Scott, who has done the drilling at the Ladd tract, to drill other wells elsewhere for one dollar a foot, the city to pay for the cost of piping. This is a considerable reduction from the price charged for the Ladd work, which was $5 a foot for much of it, and $2.50 per foot, with the city buying the piping, for the balance. Mr. Scott is making this offer, Mr. Tooze said, because he was interested in locating a water supply, believing that if one was found he would not get the work of drilling the permanent wells. The rate of a dollar a foot, Mr. Tooze said, was hardly sufficient to cover actual cost of operation.

As it is proposed to limit all further test wells to a depth of 150 feet, it is believed that the cost can be easily cared for. The Live Wires, after hearing the report from Mr. Tooze, decided to circulate petitions calling for offerings to be applied in raising a fund to carry on the search for pure water. As each well will cost but $300 to drill, and as it is not expected that more than two will have to be sunk before water is found, it is believed that the funds will be readily raised. In paying for the pipe the city will be standing a good share of the expense, as piping costs 65 cents a foot. The Live Wires will start seeking funds for the work Wednesday.

NO BALOON TRAGEDY; MERELY VOYAGE !!! AIR

Reports current in this city last night that a captive balloon in Portland had broken loose, and carried aloft four people, and which created considerable excitement when the balloon was seen in the western sky opposite Bolton, proved to be incorrect when later word was received from the metropolis that the air craft was purposely freed, was in charge of an experienced pilot, and was on an expected trip to Tacoma. When the gas bag reached the upper currents in the air, it was carried south off its course. Late last night the balloon was almost directly over Portland again.

ROSE SHOW LURE LEADS TO WRECK

Mrs. H. M. Stoahe and Miss Beulah Humphreys, of Pendleton, and Mrs. T. T. Nelson, of Vale, who have been visiting friends in the southern part of the state, arrived in Oregon City Saturday evening, glad to be alive, but too late to see the festivities of Rose Show day. They came here to be the guests of Miss Bidwell, and expected to reach the county seat soon after ten in the morning. Unfortunately they traveled on the Willamette Limited, and were caught in the wreck near Salem.

Though not seriously hurt, they were imprisoned in their car, and after recovering from the shock of the derailment, found it necessary to crawl out of the windows in order to escape from the coach in which they had been riding. After gaining their freedom, they spent the rest of the day watching the wrecking crew at work, and endeavoring to obtain transportation to Oregon City.

OREGON CITY BABE STOLEN BY TRAMP

MARSHFIELD, Or., June 5.—The 15-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, formerly of Oregon City, was found early this morning in the woods about a mile and a half distant from the home. The child was unharmed. It is believed the child was carried into the woods and left there by a half-witted tramp named Bill Miller, who is now in custody. Miller had been refused food by Mrs. Smith. He denies his guilt, but is recognized as the man who visited the Smith home. Nearly 300 men had been engaged in the search. D. L. Stanley, neighbor, who found the baby, says he was guided to the spot by a falling star. The child was lost since yesterday afternoon.

WEB-FOOT SUIDAE HARD TO CONTROL

Justice of the Peace Sievers is of the opinion that a web-footed Suidae vulgaris cannot be kept in confinement by chicken wire. He has tried Thursday evening his honor capured one in his garden, shortly after it had emerged from the Clackamas river, severely tethered it in his poultry yard, and went blissfully to bed, expecting to get up in the morning and feed the brute. When he arose there was a hole beneath the chicken house, and indistinct tracks in the general direction of the east, showed that the web-footed Suidae vulgaris had gone.

The animal was one of two young ones, and was but four months old. They were purchased by Mr. Tipton, who lives across the Clackamas river from Gladstone, and were brought down from Eagle Creek, where they were raised. Thursday night they escaped from their pen on Mr. Tipton's place, and entering the river, emerged on the northern shore half a mile below. It was here that Justice Sievers captured one, but the other got away, and it is supposed that both animals are now making tracks for their native haunt.

Having definitely identified the animal, Justice Sievers says that they are not uncommon in Oregon, and are more generally known by the name of "pig."

FIRE THREATENS SHIVELY THEATRE

Fire threatened Shively's opera house Wednesday morning when a blaze broke out in the furniture store, underneath the auditorium. Passerby on the street were attracted by the smoke pouring out of the building, and turned in an alarm, which was sounded from headquarters at about half past nine.

The department promptly responded to the call, making the hard run up the hill, but before the apparatus arrived on the scene the blaze had been put under control by citizens attracted by the excitement. The arrival of the firemen served to extinguish the last vestige of the fire.

Damage resulting from the fire was slight, and will soon be repaired. The fire, however, created a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood, and called forth a mob of people.

OREGON CITY BOY COLLEGE EDITOR

The city of Gladstone has determined to erect and maintain a road-riding plant of its own, and will shortly purchase oil and water sprinklers, which will be used upon its streets and roads.

"It is believed that in this way the thoroughfares of the town can be kept in better shape than if annual contracts for the work are let, and that the oiling can be done more economically."

GLADSTONE WILL OIL ITS OWN HIGHWAYS

Members of the Oak Grove Progressive club met at the home of Mrs. J. B. Evans for the last meeting of the season, and an attractive and interesting program was arranged. Mrs. Herrington gave a reading dealing with the lives of George and Martha Washington, and Mrs. Hedley presented an amusing sketch entitled "Our Free Country." Roll call was followed by quotations, and then an afternoon tea was served to the dozen of the 14 members who were present.

ANNUAL CUSTOMS ALL OBSERVED

Tree Planting, Awarding of Coveted "Letters" and Many Features of Commencement Attract Many Hundreds

Class days and graduating exercises of the Oregon City high school were held Friday, and were featured by much excellence of program, superb weather and a tremendous crowd. Everybody in the city seemed to be interested in the proceedings at the fine new building on the hill, and throughout the afternoon crowds kept going in its direction. In the evening still others made their way, on foot and in automobiles, to the structure, and one of the most notable gatherings of the year was on hand to see the graduates receive their diplomas, and to cheer the lads and maidens upon their advent into the really serious years of life.

In the afternoon the annual tree-planting was held upon the campus. A Russian maple, which it is hoped will later develop into one of the finest trees on the grounds, was put in place, various class officers and members assisting in the ceremonies, which were opened by an address by Elsie Telford, president of the class. City Superintendent Tooze, County Superintendent Gary and Mr. Schueler addressed the boys and girls, and at the close of the exercises all joined in singing the class song.

Following this "letters" were awarded for work in the various athletic teams. These much sought honors in school life were given as follows:

For basketball—Wilson, Green, C. Beatie, J. Beatie and Dambach.
For baseball—Nelson, Dungey, C. Beatie, Lettenmaier, Holmes, Griffin, Dambach, Cross and J. Beatie.
For track team—Wilson, Dambach, Holstone, Cross, Farr, Gault and Kellogg.

The commencement exercises in the evening were held in the auditorium, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The stage was banked with flowers and ferns, and intermingled with the floral pieces the pretty dresses of the girls and the natty suits of the boys added materially to the gaiety of the scene.

The program was opened with a selection by the high school orchestra. The balance of the program was as follows:

WELL KNOWN BOYS' SCHOOL TO REOPEN

Bishop Scott Grammar School for boys will be reopened in September, on the new site near Yamhill, formerly known as North Yamhill. The new home of the school consists of one hundred acres of rich land near the head of a little valley looking out on the valley of the North Yamhill. There are a number of substantial buildings on the property, and in addition to these the school board will erect a new building for school and dormitory purposes.

This school was founded by the late Bishop Morris in the year 1874, at Nineteenth and Couch streets, Portland. Nine years ago it was found necessary to close the school for financial reasons, but since that time the lots have increased in value, and now bring in a good income on a ground rent basis.

The Yamhill county farm was bought three or four years ago, Springs on the place supply pure water. The school has its own electric light plant, modern plumbing is being installed, sanitation will receive strict attention, and adequate provision will be made for heating. The school will aim to give a thorough grammar school education at very moderate cost. It is to be a practical home school, under moral and religious influences, where every boy, whatever his means or his social position, will be on the same basis as every other.

MISS IRENE MOORE NOW BRIDE OF ELLIS POULTER

With about 75 friends and relatives in attendance the marriage of Miss Irene Moore and Ellis Poulter was solemnized Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. L. L. Picken, in West Oregon City. Miss Moore is a niece of Mrs. Picken, and is one of the most popular and attractive members of the younger set.

The Rev. Father Hillebrand, of St. John's Roman Catholic church, officiated at the ceremony, and Miss Mary Picken and Miss Alice Moore acted as bridesmaids, while the best man was Earl E. Grant, of Portland. The home was beautifully decorated for the ceremony, and many beautiful and valuable presents were bestowed upon the happy pair, who will later on make their home in Portland. Before setting down the bride and groom will take an extended wedding trip.

RIVER GIVES BACK J. F. ARKIN'S BODY

The body of James F. Arkin, who fell from the suspension bridge at midnight on June 3, was recovered Tuesday morning at five o'clock by members of the crew of the steamer Bulch, of the Willamette Navigation company. The corpse came to the surface at practically the same place where it went down, just north of the west tower of the high span.

Arkin, who was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges of Manistee, Michigan, will be buried Wednesday morning in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, the local lodge holding services over the body. As far as is known he has no relatives in this section.

On the night that Arkin disappeared he had been drinking heavily earlier in the evening, and shortly before midnight wandered out onto the suspension bridge. There pedestrians saw him pursuing his hat, as inebriated folk sometimes will; and it is presumed that in his efforts to "stalk" his headgear he knocked it over the bridge railing, and then went over after it. People on the west bank of the stream heard a splash in the water, and on going down to the bank found his hat lying on the rocks near the water's edge.

Arkin came to Oregon City about two years ago, and invested a part of his money in a rooming house. Later he quit this business, and since then has not been identified with any particular line of activity. At times he was employed in the local mills. Coroner Wilson held an inquest Tuesday morning, but found no grounds to suppose that death had been other than accidental.

ANCIENT VESSEL TO PLY ON RIVER

The Willamette and Columbia rivers will soon be churned by one of the oldest stern-wheel steamers on the Pacific coast, as the "State of Washington," long on the Hoods Canal run from Seattle, has been sold to the Inland Navigation company to the E. H. Dodge Lumber company, and will be converted into a towboat.

The vessel left the Sound on her run down the coast Saturday, but will only go as far as Nehalem Bay on the first stage of her run, and will wait there until weather forecasters pledge her a smooth sea for the trip to the bar. The State of Washington has been reinforced for the trip, and her sides braced and panelled, but at that it is not the intention of her owners to take any chances with her.

The craft is of wood, and has two decks, which later will be cut down to but one. The vessel was originally built for the run between Seattle and Bellingham, but with the advent of more powerful and speedier craft was relegated to the Hoods Canal route. She made the trip from Seattle to Hoodport in a day, returning the next. During rough weather the old boat used to make heavy work of her voyage, and it is said by those having traveled upon her that she was no lumber she bent with the waves.
