MACKSBURG.

The haying season is on, with perfect weather, dry, with bright sunshine and a breeze so cool that even that hard work can be done in comfort. The farmers are rushing the hay, shaking, tearing the hay, interrupted by rain. The hay crop is heavy and of good quality. A large quantity of oats has also been cut and seems to be excellent in yield, as well as superior in quality. Wheat is about ready for the reaper, and from appearance in general use, and are of the finest quality. Small fruits, including the wild blackberry are about all gathered, but the early apples are taking their place. The pasture holds its own to an unusual degree, for the season as is shown by the fine appearance of the cattle, as well as in the large production of butterfat.

Frank Hilton has begun cutting grain on Mr. Baldwin's ranch. Mrs. Vorse, of Astoria, who, with her son, has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Carl Roeseke, has come home.

Miss Bertha Boeseke is staying at the home of her aunt in Astoria, but is expected to come home in time for the threshing and the hop picking.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Frank Hilton with his party, returned from their outing, having caught over four hundred mountain trout.

With the rising generation of Macksburg, next in importance to the Jayvee Fair, comes the annual hop-picking. Not alone for the sociability they enjoy in each other's company, but also in view of the neat bank accounts that year by year are augmented by this industry. Thus are the children in our agricultural communities learning the true secret of honorable and substantial gain. Each year they get that their Mother Earth is ready to give them rich and sure return for all the labor they bestow upon her, and day by day, principles of integrity are taking root in their minds, leaving no room for that selfish cunning that many people are pleased to call by the agreeable name of "business act."

Mr. J. Gibson is enjoying a visit from her two daughters, Mrs. Ed Burgess, of Friend, Ore., and Mrs. Voegel, of Eureka, Cal., each attended by her two children.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint, and is then cured sound and well by one of two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

Practical.

Sound practical advice given by a misanthrope: If ever you should be attacked by night fever about "Murder" for no one will bother about you. Yell "Fire" and everybody will be out of doors in a jiffy.

The Turkish Mangal.

In most of the houses in Constantinople as well as in other cities of Turkey heating in winter is done by means of the so called "mangal." This consists principally of a receptacle for burning charcoal. A mangal may be nothing else than a simple brass or iron receptacle or may be quite an artistic and expensive article of most rare and valuable workmanship. The charcoal is first thoroughly burned through, and when it no longer emits any smoke or odor the mangal is brought into the room for purposes of heating. Sometimes it happens that proper attention is not paid to the burning charcoal, with not infrequent fatal results.

James and the children who had been visiting at Oregon City, returned home with him.

THE GREATLAKES COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The question of making some much needed repairs on the water works system at this place, is being agitated by the ladies of the Civic club. It is estimated that about a thousand dollars would put the plant in good shape and there are several prominent business men of the town who have expressed their interest in having some decent water to use, by offering to advance $50 or a $100 on their water rent so as to make the improvement. It is to be hoped that the good people of the town will continue to agitate this question so that something may be done before an epidemic of some kind forces people to discontinue the use of the city water. A party of men, consisting of Wm. Underwood, E. Simmons, Warren Bai, Neal Bronson, Clyde Schock, Chas. Bronson, Lee Bronson, Wm. Brown and Cushman left with a camping outfit for the mountains to be gone a couple of months.
