News has been received by friends from John Ross, nephew of James Wilkinson of this city, who left for his old home in Ireland some weeks ago, of his safe arrival in County Antrim, Ireland. It was with him like it was with the man who asked "Is that the cat that was a kitten when I went away," because his young friends of former years had grown so much he hardly knew them.

BOY RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

ACCIDENT UPON SUSPENSION BRIDGE KNOCKS YOUTH UNCONSCIOUS

LAD'S TEMPLE IS CUT BY FENDER

Gerald Warner, Driving Car, Has Second Disaster of Similar Nature, Having Hit Man in Portland

An automobile, said by the driver to have been going at about ten miles an hour, an alleged by spectators to have been traveling at anywhere from eight to 20 miles an hour, struck the young son of Paul Schrader Saturday afternoon as the lad was crossing the suspension bridge, and knocked him unconscious against the railing of the span. The car was in charge of Gerald Warner, and riding with him was Miss Isabel Wallace.

The car was going west over the suspension bridge, and when about two-thirds of the way across, struck the boy, who had attempted to cross the driveway in front of it. The lad was knocked down, his temple slightly bruised against the railing, where he lay unconscious. Warner stopped within a few feet and hastened with the youngster to the office of Dr. Mount, where the boy revived. His wound was dressed, and an examination showed that he had sustained no serious injuries.

Chief of Police Shaw was notified of the accident, and secured the names of several witnesses, and later went to Dr. Mount's office, where he talked with the injured boy and the driver of the car, getting a thorough report of the accident. The boy was sent to his home later in the afternoon, the accident occurring about two o'clock.

This is the second time Warner, who is a young man, has run down a pedestrian while driving an automobile. The other accident was in Portland, where he struck and slightly injured a man who was crossing one of the streets. People who are familiar with Warner say that he is inclined to enjoy speeding, and he is not regarded as a particularly cautious driver.

BIRDS SEEK COURT, PERHAPS TO MARRY

Justice John Sievers probably holds the marriage record for Clackamas county, his office opposite the courthouse being the Mecca for loving twains that would fain be made one. But that his fame had spread even to the birds of the air was not dreamed of until Thursday when two twittering sparrows flew in the open window and fluttered excitedly about the court room.

The justice showed that his dignity was somewhat ruffled, until somebody suggested that the birds probably wanted to be legally wed. Before his honor could bring this about, however, Constable Jack Frost chased them out, mounting the window sill in his efforts to drive them through the transom.

"It may be all right," said Jack Frost, "but the groom didn't look to me as if he had any cash. His clothes, and I don't think anybody ought to be married here who can't slip his honor something for it."

BARCLAY SCHOOL CONTRACT IS LET

At a meeting of the school directors Saturday evening bids for the construction of an addition to the Barclay school building were opened, and the contract for the erection of a two-room annex to the structure was awarded to the Baker Contracting company, of Gladstone, their bid being the lowest of two submitted.

The addition to the building is designed to provide accommodation for the increase in school attendance, which has been considerable in the past year. The directors believe that the congestion is greatest in the district served by the Barclay school, and that when that is cared for the other buildings in the city will not be overcrowded.

Plans for the addition were prepared by Prof. Forbes, head of the manual training department of the city schools, and were accepted by the directors at the last previous meeting. Construction work on the addition will be commenced at once, so that the rooms may be ready for occupancy at the opening of the fall term.

CAPTIVES IN RAID FREED; REARRESTED

Following their arrest in a raid at Milwaukie, engineered by Tom Kay, of Governor Weyer's special staff, Adrean LeBeau, L. Lane, Julian Pelmasan and G. Massij, alias "Andre Gabot," were arraigned in Justice Sievers' court Thursday, and soon after the hearing opened were all dismissed from custody upon application of Deputy Attorney Livy Stipity, who called to the court's attention the fact that the alleged crimes with which the men are charged were committed in Multnomah county, if committed at all, and that therefore the local court had no jurisdiction. Justice Sievers agreed that the point was well taken, and at once dismissed the prisoners, who had been out on bail.

As the four Frenchmen left the courtroom with their attorneys, one of whom incidentally was a negro, Tom Kay and his deputies re-arrested the quartet, took them to a waiting automobile, and bundled the entire group off to Portland. The four men are charged with vagrancy, and it is alleged that they are parasites, living upon the earnings of fallen women who operate in Portland.

In Portland the prisoners were locked up in the county jail under $500 bail each.

PAROLE BREAKER IS CAPTURED HERE

That there are other places than the state penitentiary where the "honor system" is not a complete success was indicated Saturday when Sheriff E. T. Mass picked up and arrested Albert Lamp, 17 years old, who is a member of the reform school, who was permitted to leave that institution unguarded some time ago to attend his father's funeral, with the understanding that after the last rites had been performed he would return and finish his term.

Lamp went to the funeral as planned, but found freedom sweeter than life at the state institution, and after his father had been laid away, continued on his unrestrained way. Warnings of his break of parole were sent out, along with his picture, and Sheriff Mass got the boy when the fugitive's path crossed the ballistics. The sheriff has notified the state authorities of his capture, and is holding the lad for the arrival of state officers.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MAY MOVE ROOMS

The commercial club has been offered quarters in the new Busch building, at Main and E'eventh street, and officers of the organization are seriously considering moving. The new quarters embrace a banquet hall, lounge rooms and library, and a superb balcony overlooking one of the most beautiful stretches of the Willamette river; and it is reported that members of the organization are favorably impressed with the idea of moving from the present quarters in the Masonic block.

It was reported about the Commercial club Monday evening that one reason why the change of quarters might be considered advisable was that the local Masonic lodge had taken no action as yet towards renewing the lease of the present quarters, and in fact, was considering increasing the rental for them if a new lease was signed. E. A. Chapman, master of the lodge, would make no statement in regard to the matter beyond saying that it had not been determined to increase the rental.

MANY OREGON CITY FOLK ENJOYING CAMPING LIFE

Camping in the country has come to be quite a fad with Oregon City people, and the warm weather of the past week has sent several families out into the more or less wild country for vacation enjoyment.

At Clear Creek park the families of Messrs. O. D. Eby, Singletary, George Howell and W. J. Wilson are enjoying life; while at Pillar Rock, Washington, on the Columbia, Charles Schram, consisting of Mrs. Charles Schram, Misses Anna and Stella Hoseny, and Mrs. W. E. Burns and her two small boys. All report having the best of times.

ART VERSUS LOVE BREAKS UP HOME

Charging that his wife told him she was never meant to be married, and that she "preferred to be an artist to raising a family," and that on May 1 she had told him that she was going away to Canada and never coming back, W. E. Samuels, of Rainier, Oregon, has filed suit in the superior court here for divorce from Florence Samuels, to whom he was married in Centralia, Washington, October 29, 1911.

In his complaint, Samuels sets forth that there has been one child born of their marriage, and that four weeks after the child was born his wife left him and the child and went to Centralia. He complains that on account of this he had to stay away from his business and nurse the baby, and also had to employ a physician to keep it alive. On February 19, 1912, Mrs. Samuels returned to live with him, and the couple moved to Rainier, where they lived happily for one week.

Mrs. Samuels then expressed "a cold indifference to him and his child," and packed up her baggage and went to Chaballa. On May last Samuels followed her there and implored her to return and live with him; and it was then, he states, that his wife felt the combined call of art and Canada and left him, adding as a parting word that she "wanted to set where even his name would not follow her."

FAMILY ENJOYS PICNIC

Members of the Rakel family, of Canemah and vicinity, spent Sunday in a re-union and picnic at Rock Island, New Era. They party gathered early in the day, and spent the time cravfishing, playing games, and having a general good time. Those present were Mrs. George August Rakel, Mrs. S. L. Stevens, Rakel, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Winkle and Mrs. Dora Rakel and her twelve grandchildren.

FRED REAM SEES GUN

Fred Ream, of Willamette, who was shot by J. C. Ainsberry, the parole breaker and escaped convict employed by the Home Telephone company at the time of the strike riot at Oswago, visited Sheriff E. T. Mass Tuesday and asked to see the revolver that Ainsberry used when he shot him down. On seeing the weapon Ream expressed surprise that the wicked-looking gun did not kill him. The young man, though discharged from the hospital, is still badly crippled by his wound, and it is doubtful if he will ever again be able to follow his trade.

SUNNYSIDE WANTS ROAD TETHERED OFF ROADWAYS

The precinct election held at Sunnyside Tuesday upon the question of staking running at large resulted in a vote of 57 to 14 in favor of keeping all cows, horses and other farm animals tethered and off the public roads. The election was held under the "local option stock law" passed by the last session of the legislature and was the second of the kind to be held in this county. The first election resulted the same way.

MAY THATCH ROOF WITH OLD GRAIN

Vetch that is over eight feet in height has been harvested by T. C. McMonigle, of Gladstone, and samples of it have been sent to the exhibit department of the commercial club. Secretary Freytag has named the fodder plant upon the rear wall of the exhibition cottage to "vetch," and later will incorporate it with the Clackamas county display that will be sent to the various land shows, as well as to the state and county fairs. The vetch is unusually heavy in its growth, and is a fine example of the crop that can be raised on local soil.

The putting of the vetch on the rear of the exhibit hall has given Mr. Freytag an idea, and in the near future the roof of the little building may be thatched with grain that have been discarded from former exhibits. This old grain has been replaced this year with new samples, and Mr. Freytag thinks it will add to the unique appearance of the building and at the same time attract attention to the exhibits within.

THREE MILL LIMIT WEST LINN'S PLAN

Completing its labors Monday night, the charter committee of West Linn believes that it has achieved a point gained by no other city of the same size in the United States. The one feature which is calculated to make the proposed west side municipality a particularly desirable residence place for home seekers is the provision in its charter which keeps the city taxes for all purposes at a maximum of three mills.

At the assessed valuation of the property to be included in West Linn, the three mill maximum tax will yield from $7,500 to $10,000 annually for its many important business functions. It is expected that the election of August 14 will show the people of Clackamas county that there is one place where the people are of one mind. They have "Power, Prayroll and Prosperity," and mean to keep their slogan literally.

People of the proposed city of West Linn have already, at their mass meeting, voted unanimously to annex the city of Willamette to their territory as soon as the laws of the state will permit, thus making a solid economical unit on the west shore of the river from Sucker Creek to the Tualatin.

LEON DALY LEAPS INTO WILLAMETTE AS SPOUSE SINKS FOR SECOND TIME

WOMAN TRIES TO AID LAUNCH PARTY

Guests of Mrs. Daggert, of Naef Station, Witness Thrilling Rescue Off Eleventh Street City Dock

While pushing a log away from the Eleventh street dock Tuesday noon, so that a motorboat could land, Mrs. Leon Daly lost her balance and fell into the Willamette river. Mrs. Daly sank under the surface for the second time before she was rescued by her husband, who plunged into the stream from the porch of a houseboat nearby. The Dalys have made the houseboat their home during the summer weather.

The launching party, which was indirectly responsible for the accident, consisted of Mrs. Maris Daggert, of Naef Station, Mrs. H. H. Emmons, Mrs. G. F. McPherson and Mrs. Willa Gregson, of Portland; Mrs. Collins, of Chicago, Mrs. W. N. Leyman, of Clackamas, and Mrs. H. M. Landsdowne. All had been out on the river as the guests of Mrs. Daggert, who owned the launch, and who had earlier in the day cruised up from Naef Station.

Mrs. Daly was revived with some difficulty, but later in the day recovered completely from her sudden plunge into the river.

Muzzled Canine Killed by Auto

Thursday morning there were two dogs in Oregon City whose owners had obeyed the request of the city dads and these two dogs were muzzled. One of these dogs belonged to County Veterinarian W. S. Eddy, and the other belonged to A. J. Bell, formerly proprietor of the Bell theatre. Thursday night Dr. Eddy's dog held the distinction all alone. Mr. Bell's pup had been sacrificed to the new six-cylinder benzine DUREY recently acquired by Al Price.

Mr. Price was coming down Main street in the afternoon—"not more than eight miles an hour," he says—and the muzzled canine got in his way. Mr. Price was unable to avoid trouble, and the canine curled up and got under the big car. Mr. Price says it was all the dog's fault, and people who saw the accident bear him out in this statement.

The dog was a Spitz, and was much thought of by Mr. Bell, who has had it for some time as a pet.

SCHOOLMATE FROM EAST AND WEST MEET AGAIN

Dr. John S. Strassa, of Chicago, who is on a tour of the Pacific Northwest as a summer vacation, was the guest over Sunday of Judge Gordon E. Hayes. The Chicagoan congratulated his former playmate on having picked such a progressive city for his home, and spoke in the highest terms of this section of the country. Sunday evening he left for San Francisco, to continue his trip.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Fire late Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed the home of Elmer Lightbody, at Willamette. The only thing saved was a bureau. Lightbody's wife and two children escaped unharmed from the blazing building, which was a small shack, valued at about $300. There was practically no insurance.
