plain view of all who care to stop and look. This exhibit won the first prize an award of $25 for the best working exhibit and display at the fair. Crowds stood about the booth all day watching the transformation of raw leather into serviceable boots and shoes.

School Children Rivalry.

Considerable rivalry has developed among the school children who have giant pumpkins and squashes on display. There are over an acre of these big gourdlike vegetables, all of which have been "fattened" on milk and other special "waterings;" and the judges were in dispair as to which should have the prize. It was finally determined to have some special expert pass upon the big exhibits, to determine the relative merits.

Much rivalry has also developed among the individual exhibitors as to who shall win the magnificent $50 silver cup offered by the Northern Pacific railway. This cup is at present reposing in the place of honor of the Molalla booth, and is finely set off by its surroundings. Always before it is to be found a gathering of farmers and ranchers, each of whom hopes to gain the trophy, and all of whom are figuring whether or not it will look best in the parlor or in the dining room. The cup is to be awarded the exhibitor who, in the eyes of the judges, has the best general display of farm produce of all kinds. It is to be competed for each year, but if won three years by an one man, will become his property.

Cup For Fruit.

The Southern Pacific has also offered a silver cup for the best display of fruits, and this is also eagerly sought by the exhibitors. Both cups will be awarded on Saturday, the last day of the fair. Saturday, in fact, will be a sort of gala day all around, and exhibitors expect to have their winning displays decorated with ribbons and trophies at that time.

Friday will be "Molalla Day" at the fair, and in anticipation of a record breaking crowd from the upper part of the country, special preparations are being made to entertain all comers. A program of attractive events has been prepared, and several of the displays will be rearranged, so that the exhibits may be shown to the best of their advantage. This was done in many instances between the first and second days of the fair, and the change in position ond grouping of the displays not only added to the interest of the showing made, but also served to keep people who visited the fair the second time from finding things monotonous.

Use New Road.

Molallans will turn out strong at the fair, and will make the journey down to Canby over their new railroad, the Portland, Eugene & Eastern, which inaugurated its service just in time to catch the holiday crowds. Holliday crowds is quite the correct term, for people who visited the fair on the opening day have found its attractions so alluring that many of them have not only returned, but have gone camping in the grove to the northeast of the grounds, there to spend the remainder of the week.

CROWDS BREAK ALL RECORDS

MOLALLA DAY BRINGS IN THE POPULATION OF WHOLE TOWNS TO SHOW

STOCK PARADE BEGINS THE EVENTS

Grand Display of High-Grade Animals Attracts Throngs and Holds Attention of Crowds—Today's Program

CANBY, Ore., Sept. 26.—(Special to The Enterprise)—All day long, from the stock parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, until the last train left the grounds at night, the 3600 who visited visited the Clackamos County fair today—Molalla day—passed from feature to feature, from exhibit to exhibit, until the day slipped by almost without the knowledge of the flight of time.

Today was Molalla day and two great special trains were run from that town to Canby over the new rails of the P., E. & E. Those acquainted in that section say that fully two-thirds of the visitors were from the Redland and Molalla sections.

M. J. Lee, the secretary of the fair association, reported that all records were broken in attendance. More than 3600 visitors passed the gates. This is more than double the crowd on opening day and excells, by far, all records of previous seasons.

Stock Parade Starts Day.

At 10 o'clock this morning the day started with the grand stock parade, which passed from the barns through the admiring crowd, around the grounds and back to the stalls. The stock is considered the best in the county and representative the best in the state.

From 11 o'clock until 1:30 o'clock an opportunity was given the hungry mass of people to eat. Some went to the Elks' barbecue, some to the cafeteria, which is conducted by the ladies of the Canby Methodist church, while hundreds of others retired to the beautiful shady grove next to the grounds and ate luncheons prepared at home.

Racing Events.

The races started at 1:30 o'clock and continued until late in the afternoon. First came the horse races with all the romantic feeling and the quicking of the pulse that goes with them. And then came the motorcycle races where the remarkable time for two miles of 3:04 was made by "Sait" Marsh.

Ball Game.

After the races there was an exciting and close baseball game between Molalla and Canby teams with the result that the latter won to the tune of six to seven.

No time all day did the music stop; from the morning until late at night there was the continuous blare of the bands, of the thrilling music of the war veterans' fife and drum corps while the merry-go-round never ceased except to let on and off the crowds of merry-makers. The Redland and Molalla bands, stationed in the band stand and grandstand, respectively, played almost without stopping. There was some surprise expressed concerning the color of the uniform of the Redland band, some saying that it would be red. However, all prophets were mistaken as the uniforms were a decided blue. The players explained that while in the grounds of a blue-ribbon fair, they should wear blue.

Home Firms Win.

There are a number of Oregon City firms among the prize winners in the big display building. The Western Stock Journal booth, in charge of Miss Nan Cochran, won first prize as the most original of all the displays. L. Adams took first as having the best working exhibit, in his display of the manufacture of Daughtery shoes. Bannon captured second prize because of the artistic qualities of his booth.

Visitors from Molalla were particularly interested in the juvenile display, on the second floor of the main pavilion, and presided over by Mrs. M. C. Young. Mrs. Young has been particularly successful in keeping her display in the best of form, and has from day to day rearranged the displays, so as to present all subjects in her department with equal prominence. Mrs. Young has general charge over the entire second floor exhibits, and the excellence of all displays in her department is proof of her deep interest and executive ability.

Announcement of Prizes.

Awards of prizes in the juvenile and textile departments were made Thursday and Friday, and will be tabulated in time for announcement Saturday, which is to be known as "Juvenile Day" at the fair. All children under 14 will be admitted free on this day, and it is expected that there will be a host of youngsters on hand to see what success they have had with their displays, and to gloat over the prizes awarded them by the judges.

Biggest Yet.

Saturday, which will be the closing day of the fair, promises to be the biggest day of all. Among the novelties scheduled for then are a eugenics show, in which awards will be made to the finest babies of Clackamas county; a track meet on the athletic field for school children; special races for the youngsters, and a pony and farmhorse race upon the track, as well as the regular racing card. Early in the morning there will be a livestock parade, and special bills will be put on at the various shows for the benefit of the youngsters.

Kids to Have Elephant.

And speaking of shows, the Frank Adams outfit has been persuaded by the management of the fair to lend their pet elephant to the children Saturday. This animal, Jumbo Junior, will be fitted with a fancy, decorated platform Saturday afternoon, and youngsters who feel sufficiently daring and so disposed will be permitted to ride about the grounds on the back of the huge beast. Though only a young elephant, Jumbo Junior is of sufficient size to loom above everything else except the pavilions at the fair grounds, and the kiddies who journey around upon his back will have a ride such as they will probably remember for many years.

Helped Raise Tent.

Since its arrival at the grounds Jumbo Junior has been the recipient of considerable attention. Thursday night it attracted notice by its sagacity when employed to aid in raising the big tent in which the Adams shows are given, and after that its playful tricks kept visitors exclaiming helped boost trade for the peanut venders, and scared many of the horses on the grounds into startling attempts to bolt.

Teams Play.

To add to the interest of the closing day of the fair, a baseball game between the teams of Oregon City and Canby high schools has been arranged to decide a ten-inning tie played last spring, when the score stood at six to six. The Oregon City team will go up on the morning train, spend the day at the fair grounds, and meet their old rivals on the big diamond in front of the grand stand at three in the afternoon. The team will be under the management of "Tub" Gault, and the line-up for the county seat champions will be as follows:

Holmes, catcher, Thomas, pitcher; Mass, shortstop; C. Beatie, firstbase; Griffin, secondbase; Letteumeier, thirdbase; J. Beatie, right field; Green, center-field, and Dungey in left field.

The game promisess to be "for blood," and there will be a big bunch of fans out from each city to cheer on the contestants.

CLACKAMAS FAIR ENDS IN GLORY

SEVENTH ANNUAL COUNTY EXHIBIT REGARDED AS HUGE SUCCESS BY ALL

OREGON CITY BABIES WIN PRIZES

Motor Cycle and Relay Races Furnish Thrills For Last Day Crowds—N. P. Cup Goes to Mt. Pleasant

"We regard the seventh annual Clackamas County Fair, which closes tonight, as one of the most successful we have ever had," said Grant B. Dimick, president of the board of directors Saturday evening. "Financially the exhibition leaves the association with a large surplus on hand, and for this we are grateful to the people who have so liberally patronized the fair during the past four days. We are also grateful to the exhibitors, who by their loyal and generous contributions have helped to make the annual event a success. In short, the 1913 fair has exceeded our expectations in every way, and the directors and all concerned are gratified and thankful for the results, and for the interest shown in the exhibit."

CANBY, Ore., Sept. 27.—(Special to the Enterprise)—With all records for attendance broken, and with over 10,000 admissions recorded at the entrance stiles, the seventh annual Clackamas County Fair closed this evening in a burst of glory and bustle. In spite of the fact that sunset was the signal for the commencement of moving exhibits, many of which will be sent to the big state fair at Salem, crowds thronged the grounds until late in the evening, and lingered over the various displays.

The last day of the fair was replete with features. The motorcycle race, and the relay race for horsemen, were perhaps the most spectacular, and were witnessed by crowds that overflowed from the grandstand, and hung three deep along the railings of the homestretch. The motorcycle race was postponed from earlier in the week, and was won by Rose, of Portland, who tore around the half-mile track on a stock Excelsior machine in 39 seconds. Previously Rose had set a track record of 37 seconds for the distance, but in the race was unable to equal this speed, owing to the fact that the track had been torn up by horse races.

The relay race was exciting throughout its six laps. Three riders entered F. Ferris, O. Johnson and R. E. Neal. Horsese were changed at each half-mile lap, saddles being unslung and cinched on anew before the next half-mile was negotiated. Not until the last lap was reached was the race decided, and in this Ferris swept in frist with Johnson and Neal bunched a short distance behind for second and third places. The winner's time for the three miles was eleven minutes and 45 seconds. Johnson would probably have given Ferris a closer brush had his steed not dashed into the crowd on the last start, delaying him in getting away. Fortunately nobody was hurt when the animal galloped through the paddock and among the spectators.

Late in the afternoon the Oregon City high school baseball team tried conclusions with the Canby high school players, to settle a dispute that begun in a 6 to 6 tied ten-inning game in the spring. Canby won the game at the fair grounds by the overwhelming score of 11 to 3. Wild playing and a lack of control on the part of Oregon City's pitcher, coupled with heavy batting and good team work on the part of the Canby boys, was responsible for the score.

The beautiful silver and gold loving cup, offered by the Northern Pacific railroad as a trophy for the best general display of farm produce grown by any one man, was captured by E. E. Kellogg, of Mount Pleasant, who had a magnificent showing of grains, grasses and vegetables. The trophy will be held by Mr. Kellogg until next year, when it will be placed in competition again. It must be won three times to become the property of the holder.

Mount Pleasant showed up extraordinarily well at the fair, the Mount Pleasant Civic Improvement association capturing eight first prizes and two seconds for its display of grains, fruits and other farm produce. The booth of the association also won one of the big prizes for mass-showings, and Saturday was decorated with the Northern Pacific trophy, which added much to the beauty of the display.

Another exhibit that has attracted great attention throughout the fair was that of C. T. Howard's mill, at Mulino. This enterprise, which "is running all the time," as Mr. Howard says, turns out probably the only flour milled in the county. The mill is located on the line of the Clackamas Southern railroad, and on the completion of that line will ship its entire output over the Oregon City line.

The big feature of Saturday morning was the eugenics exhibit, at which over a hundred Clackamas county babies, as well as some from Marion and Multnomah counties, competed for awards. For the purposes of judging the youngsters were divided into several classes, and after careful examination by physicians and others skilled in the lore of infants, prizes were announced as follows:

Judging in the various classes of exhibits at the fair was not completed in time for tabulation of awards Saturday evening, but a complete list of prize-winners will be ready the first of the week, and will then be made public.

Throngs Pass Through Gates to See Displays of Products That Are Raised in County—Premium List

CANBY, Or., Sept. 29.—(Special to The Enterprise.)—Approximately $3,000 was taken in from admissions alone at seventh annual Clackamas County fair, held here last week. Tabulation of gate tickets made today shows that $2,750.50 was paid at the two entrances during the four days of the exhibition, and about $250 more was paid before the fair opened for season tickets. Concession fees and admissions make up the balance of the total sum.

The $2,750.50 taken in at the gates eclipses anything in local fair history and is taken by the directors as a proof of the poularity of the annual showing of the county's resources. Much of the money will go to pay the heavy premium lists, warrants for all of which were mailed out today.
