Woman Pioneer Visits Scenes Of Her Youth

Mrs. C. V. Crawford, of North Yakima, Washington, was in the city Tuesday and passed an interesting day visiting old scenes which she viewed first in 1847. Oregon City was then the Mecca of nearly all the pioneers who crossed the plains, and with her parents, Elder Isom Cranfill and wife, Mrs. Crawford came to the valley from Illinois by way of The Dalles and Barlow's gate, arriving in Oregon City in the autumn of 1847. Isom Cranfill took adonation land claim, shown on an old map at the county assessor's office as claim number 49, located near Clackamas Station. Mr. Cranfill operated a sawmill in partnership with Ben Simpson on the Clackamas river above Oregon City, and also conducted a general merchandise store in Oregon City for several years. He was one of the first justices of the peace for the city.

Elder Cranfill was a minister of the Primitive Baptist church and traveled over the Willamette valley for long distances preaching to those of his faith.

Mrs. Crawford has not visited Oregon City since 1878 and finds many changes. She is accompanied on the trip by her daughter, Mrs. Ellen Filloin, and son-in-law, J. M. Filloin, of Troutlake, Washington. Together they visited the old McLoughlin home and other places of interest.

DIMICK LOSES WARRANT CASE

CIRCUIT COURT HOLDS CHARTER PROVISIONS ALLOW CITY COUNCIL'S ACT

IS AN ECHO OF MANY OLD BATTLES

Chief Shaw Gets His Warrants and Money that has Been Tied up is at Last Paid by City. Treasurer

On the ground that the city council has the authority under the powers that have been given to it by the state legislature to make appointments and fix the salary of the city employes, the circuit court, Judge Eakin, presiding, Tuesday refused to grant a restraining order in the case of Grant B. Dimick against the city of Oregon. Chief M. D. Latourrette, its treasurer, and Ed. Shaw, chief of police.

The case is the outgrowth of the fight between the former mayor and the city council over the appointment of the chief of police. At that time, the council refused to confirm the appointments made by the mayor. The city fathers proceeded, after several such incidents, to appoint Ed Shaw, peace officer and keeper of the city jail and paid him $100 a month. For the last year, these warrants had been held up because of the suit that has just been decided in the courts.

The plaintiff contended that the keeper of the city jail was in fact the chief of police and argued that the mayor alone, under the provisions of the city charter, could make such an appointment. The court held that the city council had the authority to make the appointment as it did and to fix the salary.

The warrants were drawn and the chief received his money for which he has been waiting more than 12 months. Tuesday evening, William Stone and C. D. Latourrette represented the city while H. N. Hicks was attorney for the plaintiff in the action.

HAYLES-MORSE NUPTIALS HELD

LOVELY WEDDING CELEBRATED AT JENNINGS LODGE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. PAINTON

(By Meta Finley Thayer)

Unusually lovely was the wedding solemnized Thanksgiving afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Calvin Painton at Jennings Lodge, when their sister, Miss Mabel Evaline Morse became the bride of Mr. Harry Mark Hayles, of Portland.

The living room was elaborately decorated with white chrysanthemums and asparagus fern, tied with pink tulle. The bower under which the bridal party stood was formed of ferns, ivy, white chrysanthemums and ribbons. Pink roses were entwined with ivy. All of the appointments were carried out in pink and white.

Proceeding the ceremony Garland Hollowell sang "I Love You Truly" and promptly at the appointed hour, four o'clock, Miss Sadye Evelyn Ford played the first strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

Two of the bride's little nieces, Mary Jane Painton and Elizabeth Bruechert, were flower girls and were daintily gowned in pink and white. They carried baskets of pink roses, and tied to their arms were broad pink satin ribbons, which were held by the bridesmaids, Miss Adah Huriburt and Miss Ethel Thompson, and formed an aisle for the bride and her other attendants. Miss Huriburt's gown was a delicate shade of pink messaline, with a flowered chiffon over dress, and trimmed with fur. Miss Thompson wore a dainty pink crepe de meteor. Both of the bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of pink chrysanthemums tied with gold embroidered tulle. Following came the maid of honor, Miss Helen Painton, who was gowned in dainty shadow lace over pink messaline, and also carried pink chrysanthemums.

The bride then entered on the arm of her father, Mr. George Edwin Morse, who gave her in marriage. She wore a beautiful gown of white brocade charmeuse, and the full length tulle veil was arranged in mob cap fashion, caught with pearls. The gift pendant was her only ornament and she carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bride was met at the improvised altar by the groom, his best man, Mr. Calvin Porter Morse, and Rev. T. B. Ford, who read the service. At the reception which followed, Mrs. Painton was assisted by Miss Eva Moulton and Miss Nina Hollowell. Assisting in the dining room were Miss Mollie Rose, Miss Nettie Kruse and Miss Almee Hollar. Miss Irene McCown was in charge of the dainty boxes of wedding cake.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hayles will be at home to their friends at the Barker Apartments, Portland.

The guests were: Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Emmons, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Dill, Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin P. BROTHERHOOD TO CARE FOR POOR

EPISCOPALIAN CHURCH PLANS FOR PROVISION FOR NEEDY ON CHRISTMAS

CAREFUL INVESTIGATIONS ARE MADE

Organization Keeps Records of All Cases That Come to its Attention—Wants Names Sent to Officers

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, connected with St. Paul's Episcopal church is undertaking again this year the raising of funds and distribution of Christmas gifts for the poor in and about Oregon City.

For the past two years the brotherhood has tried to add some little Christmas joy to those who otherwise would be forgotten. So much good has been accomplished that the work seems now to be a permanent part and privilege of the brotherhood's Christmas work.

The aim is to supply every poor family with gifts, food, clothing and under certain circumstances, money. The children, however, are not forgotten. It is their innocent pleasure that prompts all the hard work connected with the matter; their joy is made complete with gifts of toys, candy, nuts, etc.

The first year the citizens, regardless of religious affiliation, responded most generously, and when they saw and heard of the good done, they gave the next year more bountiful still. This year Oregon City has many poor and has had much sickness, and the brotherhood feels sure that more good than ever will be done; for the simple reason that it is more needed. The condition of every family reported is carefully and considerably looked into and the proper help given, underclothing for the mother and little ones, boxes of groceries, meats, shoes and other necessities; sometimes book rent is paid and a new start given for the new year.

Careful Records Made.

Apparently the brotherhood from its past experience understands its business pretty well. It follows the simple style of giving where it is most needed and what is most needed.

The brotherhood asks the hearty cooperation of churches, societies, physicians, county officers and others in reporting the names of the poor and needy. Mr. Frank Barlow, the founder of this movement is chairman and other members of the brotherhood to whom contributions may be given or information gained are, John R. Humphreys, E. A. Chapman, Dr. L. A. Morris, Carl Joehnk, C. W. Evans.

White Plague Holds Man And Family In Grip

Down near Milwaukie there is a family of three, a husband, a wife, and a child. The man of the family has tuberculosis and has been out of work for some time with the result that the three are without any visible means of support.

To relieve the case, Mrs. Mary Shanks, president of the Woman's club, made a trip to their home Wednesday. This organization will either arrange for the invalid man to receive treatment at his home or send him to the state tuberculosis sanitarium. In either case the club would look after the mother and child and see that they were provided with the necessities of life.

It is to help such cases as that the money derived from the sale of Red Cross stamps is used. A percentage of the funds remains with the local organization but the greater part goes to the National Red Cross society which carries on the good work from coast to coast. Stamps are now on sale at many of the Oregon City stores under the direction of the Woman's club.

DIES SUDDENLY AT HOSPITAL

E. S. FOLLANSBEE FAILS TO SURVIVE SECOND OPERATION FOR HYDRO-THORAX

TURN FOR WORSE IS SURPRISING

Many Friends and Lodge Members Are In to See Him Within a Few Hours of Time When Light Goes Out

E. S. Follansbee, member of several local orders and a prominent business man of the city, died at 8 o'clock Saturday night at a Portland hospital where he had gone for treatment.

He has been ill for some time and has had two operations performed for hydro-thorax, but the physicians were unable to give him permanent relief. Only a few days ago, he went to the hospital for the last operation and seemed to be considerably improved after the crisis was past. Friends and members of the orders to which he belongs visited him in Portland several times during the days that he was there and a few of them were with him but a short time before his death. The end came suddenly and surprised all of those who had seen him and to whom he appeared in better health than he had been for some time.

He was keeper of the records of the Tualatin Tent of the Knights of the Macabees and a member of the local lodge of Elks, and of the Woodmen. He was about 45 years of age and had lived in the city for a number of years. He had served with the volunteer fire department and was a member of one of the companies. For sometime, he has been in business with Frank Champion in the Panitorium on Main street.

E. S. Follansbee, who died Saturday evening at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, was buried Wednesday afternoon in Mt. View cemetery, under the direction of the Oregon City lodge of Elks, Rev. C. W. Robinson, chaplain of the order officiating.

He was prominent in local affairs, being keeper of the records of Tualatin Tent of the Knights of the Macabees, a member of the local lodge of Elks, and of the Woodmen. He was also a member of the Oregon City Volunteer Fire department.

Each of the three lodges were represented by two pall-bearers: Clint Rutherford and R. D. Miller, for the Elks; F. McNulty and C. Walling, for the Macabees, and Gene Woodward and G. F. Johnson for the Woodmen. He has been ill for some time and has had two operations for hydro-thorax in the Portland hospital. It was but a few days before his death that he went to the hospital for the third time for relief but the physicians were unable to give him permanent aid.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Roy Tobin of Powell River, B. C., and Mrs. Vane Jefferson, of Chico, Cal. Mrs. Tobin is in the city on a visit to her parents while Mrs. Jefferson has been notified of her father's death.

POWER IN BACKFIELD

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 29.—A resume of the O. A. C. football season shows great power in the heavy driving quarterback. Doing away with the light quarterback Coach Stewart combined the weight and speed of his squad into a unit of strength which worked together as no backfield has worked here for many years. With Blackwell as a nucleus around which to build he shifted around Robertson from end to half, Everett May from end to half, and from end to half, Mackley never worked out in the backfield before, yet he handled the position like a veteran, going around the end for long gains in every context except the one Thursday against Idaho, where he was only successful a few times.

The officers-elect will be installed on January 9, 1914. A number of applications for membership were received and three new members were initiated, after which a smoker was given.

The degree team and members expect to make a fraternal visit to Multnomah, No. 77, of Portland, in the near future.

SANDY TO GET NEW FIREPROOF BUILDING

SANDY, Ore., Dec. 2.—(Special to The Enterprise)—Construction has been started on the new concrete building which is to be erected for Casper Junker on Main street. It will be one story high but will have foundations that can hold one or more stories later.

The building occupies a site which in the burned district and is the second building to be erected there since the fire about five weeks ago.

The structure will be 60 by 75 feet and will be of three or four stories. When completed it will be one of the most fire proof buildings in this city.

MAY BUILD BARN IN REAR OF POSTOFFICE

Now that the city is assured of a new postoffice, there is talk of a barn in the rear of the building for the accommodation of the rural mail carriers who run out of the city along all of the rural routes.

Seven men make Oregon City their headquarters and run out each day along the rural routes to all parts of the county. The scheme is now to provide a stable in the rear of the new postoffice for the accommodation of the carriers. It is estimated that a frame building would be inexpensive and would house the horses and carts that the carriers use while they are in the city and before they begin their trips into the country districts.
