CHANGE LINES OF PRECINCTS

ADDITION OF WOMEN VOTES REQUIRES REDUCTION IN SIZE OF DISTRICTS

POLLING PLACES MAY BE DOUBLED

Oregon City Will Possibly Have Seven Sections Instead of Four and the Other Towns in Proportion

Before the county court is through with its work, there will be nearly 83 voting precincts in the county as against 44 at present.

All day Friday the court was busy with its work of redistricting the county for voting purposes in accordance with the provisions of the state law that require a precinct for every 300 voters.

In view of the provisions of the statute, the court has decided to draw the lines and establish a new set of polling places for elections. The lines in most of the precincts will be changed and the polling places will probably not be as they were.

As an example of how the redistricting will work out, Oregon City will probably have seven polling places, Gladstone three instead of one, Estacada two instead of one, Sandy two as against one, and the others in proportion.

COURT ASKS PEOPLE TO TALK EXPENSES

County Judge Anderson has called the attention of the voters to the fact that the county budget will be given a thorough public airing at a meeting with the taxpayers on December 24.

The budget carries appropriations totaling nearly $700,000 and the levy to meet it will probably be close to 21 mills. The law provides that these estimates must be published and that the people must be given a chance to object to the county court against the expenditures that are planned.

Following is the statement of the county judge: "Taxpayers and all citizens interested in the welfare of Clackamas county should remember that December 24 at 10 o'clock a. m. is the time to meet and discuss the tax budget for the year.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO USE ANNUAL

SEES GREAT CHANCE TO GET CITY AND COUNTY BEFORE PEOPLE OF EAST

MANY SPACE RESERVATIONS MADE

Business Men Recognize Opportunities and Flood Office With Their Requests—Edition to Break Records

Once more Oregon City's great booster organization, the commercial club, has in a most emphatic manner evidenced its appreciation of the value of the Enterprise Annual as a medium of community publicity for Oregon City and all Clackamas county.

Friday afternoon at a meeting of the publicity committee of the commercial club, a resolution authorizing the purchase of 1900 copies of the annual was unanimously passed and a contract to that effect entered into.

These copies will be used by the publicity department for distribution on their mailing lists to prospective investors and home-seekers all over the country.

Never before has there been as fine a reception given the Enterprise Annual by the business interests and others in Oregon City and Clackamas county as the January 1914 number is meeting.

At the close of five days of active solicitation thirty-six orders have been closed for space in the issue and numerous others have signified their intention of liberally supporting the big booster magazine.

With a very few exceptions the patrons of previous annuals are falling into line and giving the same or a greater measure of patronage to the present one and naturally there is a considerable volume of new business.

The prompt and cheerful response by those who are being called upon is highly gratifying as it gives that much more time in which to prepare the statistical data, arrange for illustrations and otherwise shape up the work in such manner as to make this the most attractive issue yet published, which the Enterprise is endeavoring to do.

WOMAN PIONEER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Robert C. Ramsby, widow of one of the best known pioneer ministers of the state and for many years devoted to the cause of his church in Oregon, died in Portland Saturday night, according to a report which reached here shortly afterwards.

She has been ill for some time and had reached the age of 85 years and six months—the same age at which her husband died some time ago. She has many relatives in Oregon City and Clackamas county and was well known throughout the entire section of the state.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT FILLS AIR AND ALL STORES ARE BUSY

With stores decorated in keeping with the holiday season, the shop windows filled heaping full with tempting goods, and the streets crowded with happy, hurrying people, Oregon City has entered into the spirit of Christmas in a way that would do credit to a much larger city.

Churches and schools are preparing programs; various orders and lodges are planning gifts to the poor and those in unfortunate circumstances; stores remain open in the evenings so as to give those who work in the day a chance to shop.

The Moose, the Elks, and the churches are preparing baskets for the poor. They will be filled with food and clothes. In case there are children in the family, toys and games will be given and many cases candy and other eatables that delight the heart of the children.
