ODD FELLOWS ARE SIXTY YEARS OLD

WONDERFUL HISTORY OF LOCAL LODGE TOLD BY SEVERAL SPEAKERS WEDNESDAY CELEBRATION ENDS IN A DANCE

Peculiar Incidents Are Related by Those Long Familiar With Work of Order and New Members Learn

The sixtieth birthday of the Odd Fellows lodge was celebrated Wednesday night at Busch's hall with a program and a dance. A large crowd attended the speech-making and fun that followed. The lodge is one of the oldest in the west. It has a long history, full of disasters by fire and flood. Speeches on the history of the order and the work that had been accomplished during its years of work were made and many interesting facts brought out of how the lodge here has spent money and time in carrying out the principles of the organization.

Following is the program of the evening: Opening Ode... Prayer by Chaplain Address of Welcome... by G. B. Dimick Song... Falls City Quartette History of Lodge... by Judge Ryan P. G. M., P. G. P., P. Current Happenings of Interest in and About Oregon City

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harrington in Gladstone was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, when their daughter, Miss Pearl E., became the bride of Thomas Swan Rawlins of Arizona. The double ring service was used by Rev. W. T. Milliken of the First Baptist church in performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a blue tailored travelling suit with large picture hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses, which she afterward presented to her mother.

She entered the parlor on the arm of her father where she was met by the groom under an arch of ferns, Oregon grape and cedar, intermingled with a profusion of white carnations, tied in the center with a huge bow of white tulle and from which a number of white ribbon streamers were hanging.

Miss Madge Hollowell played Lebegren's wedding march and Garland Hollowell sang "I Love You Truly," preceding the ceremony.

The color schemes in the parlor was white and green and in the dining room and living room red poinsettia and green ferns were used effectively.

After the wedding a small reception was given, only immediately relatives and friends attending.

Mrs. Rawlins was born in Clackamas county and has spent most of her life here where she has a number of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Rawlins is a business man of Arizona and met his bride, as Miss Harrington a number of years ago in Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins left for San Francisco and other California points Saturday afternoon on the Steamer Beaver, they will spend several months travelling and will then take up their residence in Southern Alaska.

Family United.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Moehke was the scene of a family reunion Christmas day, when a number of the members of the Moehke family were in attendance. This is the first reunion for a number of years.

At noon a large dinner was served by the hostess and in the evening a Christmas tree was an attractive feature. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Moehke, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moehke, Mr. and Mrs. William Bluhm, M.M. and Mrs. Virgil May, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Mr. and Mrs. George Priester, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglas, Robert, John, Charles and Fred oehke, Floyd Benson, Maurice Priester, Elmer Priester and Lester Davis and Misses Iva Bluhm, Evelyn May and Rose Hat.

Parkplace Party.

A delightful little birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McNamara at Parkplace Monday afternoon from two to five o'clock to celebrate the thirteenth birthday of their son, Thomas. The afternoon was spent in playing games after which Mrs. McNamara served refreshments to the young people who included: Misses Thelma McNamara, Frances Preuschoff, Irene Hastings, Harriet Brecht, Esther Freeman, Lucile Case, Edna Butts, Pauline Hastings, Zurne Minger, Emma Brecht, Laura Brunner, Rosa Jones, Mable Minger, Delia Carr and Ella Carr and Donald McNamara, Kenneth McNamara, Ira Freeman, Lake Smith, Norman Dunmore, Harrison Lucas, Cecil Green, Leslie Monger, Leslie Leuax, and Webster Lucas.

MOOSE ALSO BANISH BUFFET FROM LODGE

Following in the footsteps of the Elks, the local order of Moose has decided against the drinking of "booze" in the club rooms and all wet goods and are now put in boxes and crates ready for shipment. Hereafter, the buffet in the lodge rooms will be supplied with tobacco, coffee, tea, hot soup, and light lunches.

This action follows several weeks of discussion and debate on the part of the members of the order. At every business meeting since the recent election, the matter has been brought up but it was not until the last meeting, held in the fore part of this week, that the final action was taken which will bar all liquors from the club rooms.

As soon as the matter was settled, the buffet was closed and men were set at work preparing the goods for shipment. All the fixtures will remain in the rooms but, by the end of the week, the thirsty must content himself with soft drinks.

The voters of the city have determined that Oregon City shall be dry and, although the law probably gives us the right to keep a stock on hand, we will do everything in our power to keep the spirit of the law, as well as the letter, and will close our buffet at the first step," said a prominent member Wednesday.

WILSON WOULD BE SHERIFF

William J. Wilson, corner of Clackamas county, will probably announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff in a short time, to succeed E. T. Mass, now serving his second term. Mr. Wilson is a business man of Oregon City and has a clean record as a public official. He is well fitted to occupy the office he is seeking.

OREGONA GETS A FATAL BLOW

CAPTAIN TRIES TO AVERT LINE STRETCHED TO SHORE AND STRIKES BOAT

CALLS FOR HELP FROM PORTLAND Sister Ship Arrives in Time to Aid in Getting Freight Off of Ship and Little Damage Will Be Sustained

The Oregon, belonging to the Oregon City Transportation company, ran into the government dredge at Magone's bar knocked a big hole in her hull and sank.

Saturday night, four feet of water washed over the decks of the floundered ship as the Grahomona labored to raise the freight that the boat has carried that far on its way to Portland. Through the day, officers came from the Willamette Navigation company to aid the sunken ship and the steamer "Ruth" went to the scene of the accident offering to assist in raising the boat but her aid was not needed.

On to Portland. The Oregon was under full steam going down the river to Portland with its regular cargo of freight. It rounded the Magone bar where the dredge was at work. A wire cable tied the dredge to the shore. In the heavy fog that settled upon the river, the presence of the line was not discovered until too late to avert the collision. Just as the heavy laden vessel rounded the point, the hull struck the point of the dredge. A great hole was punctured in the side of the vessel. For a moment, she floundered in the river, making an effort to right herself in spite of the impouring of the water that rushed through the sides of the boat in torrents and that resisted all efforts of the crew to bring her back into line.

Within a few moments from the time that the blow was struck, the vessel dropped beneath the waters of the Willamette. The captain and crew were escaped and made for the shore.

Company is Notified. Shortly after the accident, the company was notified of the disaster and the Grahomona was brought up from Portland under full steam to retrieve the cargo. All through the day, the cranes of the Grahomona were busily lifting the freight from the store rooms of the ship through the water that steadily washed her decks and managed by hard work to save the larger portion of the freight. The steamer belonging to the Willamette Pulp & Paper company were placed at the disposal of the stricken ship but they were not needed and the officers assured the visitors that they would be able to get most of the cargo out without any further aid.

Freight Saved.

Because of the rapid work on the part of the crew of the Grahomona, the damage that will be done to the freight will not be large and the great part of the goods can be saved. The ship was on its way to Portland. It has a regular cruise between Portland and Oregon City and travels as far south as the water in the river will permit. At times, it makes the trip to Albany and to Salem with cargoes for those points.

MANY WANT COURT TO CUT DISTRICTS

Throughout the county where the subjects of roads is a vital topic, the suggestion made to the county court that the number of road districts be reduced to four or five has created a great deal of interest.

It is impossible, however, for the court to make such a change until the October term as the law prescribes the time at which the district boundaries may be altered. The matter was brought to the attention of the court at the budget hearing was a good one changes had been so rapid that it was impossible for anything to be done at that time.

Many of the people of the county, however, are interested in such a change and believe that the suggestion made by several of the farmers at the budget hearing was a good one and that the county could materially improve conditions by making the change. Nothing can be done until next October, however, under the law as it now stands on the statute books.

WHO WROTE ONE LONESOME "NO"?

ONE VOTE PREVENTS WEST LINN FROM GETTING UNANIMOUS CHARTER ELECTION

SALOONS ARE DRIVEN OUT OF TOWN

Ballots Show Sentiment of People on Question of Prohibition and Fight is Made All to No Real Purpose.

One little lonesome vote was cast against the city charter of West Linn at the election Monday. The proposition was submitted to the people and carried by a vote of 153 to one. Four defective votes were thrown out by the judges.

The new charter makes the city of West Linn as dry as Oregon City, unless the people, at a special election, vote to make the town wet, no saloons will be allowed within the city limits. The charter contains a special provision to this effect and this was the basis upon which the liquor element of Oregon City was said to be making its fight against the measure.

Statements that the liquor interests of Oregon City were planning to locate in West Linn were freely made during the campaign for the charter. In the fight that Oregon City waged against the interests here, the statement was also made that the saloons planned to move across the bridge and to make their headquarters in West Linn. The people on that side of the river hotly denied the assertion and declared that they would vote the booze dispensers outside of their city limits when they got the chance and were as good as their work. At the election Monday, the people voted solidly against the saloons and in the support of the city charter.

Several saloonmen of the city have taken options on tracts of land in the new town. It is said, with the idea of moving over there as soon as the prohibition law goes into effect here. For these options, they are said to have paid down real money and to have made several expenditures in order to hold their property there until the result of the election was known. All of this they have now lost.

JUDICIAL MILL GRINDS FAST

MANY ACTIONS ARE HEARD BY COURT DURING BUSY DAY FULL OF TRIALS

CUPID'S MISTAKES ARE RECTIFIED

Some Families, Torn By Strife, Are Reunited and the Kiss of Peace Seals Fate of Several Suits

Suit for divorce was filed in the circuit court by Elmer Waldrip against Della B. Waldrip on the grounds of desertion. The complaint alleges that they were married at Pasco, Wash., April 13, 1906 and that she deserted him and refused to return.

The following decrees were granted in the circuit court by Judge J. U. Campbell: Ethel Fredericks against Charles; Sidney Nuttall against Jesse; A. L. Levy against W. F. Wigand; Francis Levy and others.

The following cases were dismissed: Mary Elizabeth Egleton against George S.; Lewellyn Schwartz against Myrtle; Lucy L. Odell against Charles; Lena Macho against John; John A. Cook against the North Coast Engineering company and others; J. K. Muir against L. P. Harlow; P. Putnam against J. J. Crawford and others; W. E. Samuels against Florence; Ors-weld G. Hibbard against Marion; Elizabeth A. Bradley against C. S. Mabel E. Crawford against Byron; Roy E. Van Wormer against Alta E.; Lillian M. Zoller against William T.

CHRISTMAS PLAYS HAVOC WITH MARKET

Receipts for the week at Portland stock yards have been: Cattle 1117, calves 6, hogs 2477, sheep 4023. Christmas week with its round of gaiety played havoc with the general run of stock so that while the run was very short, the quality of stuff was to some extent good, the feature of the cattle market being a lot of good steers which sold at $3.10, the highest price for some time, range being from $2.25 to $3.10; bulk around $2.50.

A short run of hogs and an off market were the main factors in the week's business. Beginning with Monday the tops were $7.75, closing at $7.65, quality not good. The market may be expected to take a better turn beginning with the new year's activity.

Lambs selling at $6.50 beginning of the week and still in good strong demand at this quotation. For good strong stuff ewes and wethers are quoted proportionately for the same quality.

LOCAL BRIEFS

E. Kuppenbender, of Mohler, Ore., was a local visitor Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Claude Peters, of Stafford, was in the county seat the fore part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Leichthner arrived from Molalla Monday for a stay of a couple of days.

Mrs. Alice Lovell, a teacher of Bor-ing, is visiting at the home of friends in the county seat.

Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Portland, but formerly of this city visited friends in Oregon City Wednesday.

H. A. Kayler, F. E. Day, and Alex Smith, all of Molalla were in Oregon City over Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robbins and their daughter, of Molalla, were in the county seat Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Hall, of New Era, passed through Oregon City Tuesday on her way to Sandy, where she will visit friends.

Mrs. Nelson McCord, of Grays Cross-ing, was in the county seat, Mrs. J. E. Sampson of this city, are in Silvertown visiting at the home of relatives.

D. R. Dimick of Canby, is visiting friends and relatives in Oregon City. J. T. Powers, a farmer of Redland, was in the county seat Wednesday.

John Munzer arrived recently from his home in Iowa and has spent the past few days looking over Clackamas county land. He will probably settle near Woodville.

Mr. and Mrs. Poe Lafollett and children arrived Tuesday from Crook county. They will move on a farm near Clarks which was recently purchased by Mr. Lafollett.

Rev. A. H. Mulkey, of Castle Rock, Wash., former pastor of the Gladstone Christian church, is visiting his son, John Mulkey. He will return to his home the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. U. B. Taylor are spending the few days preceding the new year with Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, of Clarks. The visitors are residents of Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. L. George Schultz, of Lakeview, Ore., were in Oregon City for a short time Monday visiting friends. They are on their way to Molalla, where they will stay several weeks.

Harold Malsey, of Klamath Falls, Ore., was in western Clackamas county the fore part of the week. He is considering the purchase of a small farm on the river between Bolton and Oswego.

Mrs. Margaret White, of Liberal, passed through this city Saturday on her way to Portland where she will receive treatment for her eyes. She will probably remain in that city for several weeks.

George Henderson, who fell from the roof of the new Commercial club building December 11 and broke several bones and received a number of minor injuries, has returned to his home from the Oregon City hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Harrington, former residents of Highland, returned to their old home after an absence of several years. Their present home is in Sedro Woolley, Wash., where Mr. Harrington manages a grocery store.

Louis Kadow, of Portland, is considering purchasing a farm near Redland which is now the property of F. M. Maden. Mr. Kadow has made several trips into that part of the county and is enthusiastic about the condition of the soil.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ingram and children, of Haina, passed through Oregon City Wednesday on their way to Redland where they will visit friends. Mr. Ingram is slightly ill and it is thought that the low altitude of Western Oregon will prove beneficial.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bankey will move shortly after the New Year to a tract of land on the mouth of the Molalla river, belonging to the Willamette Pulp & Paper company. Mr. Bankey will have charge of a tree farm of several hundred acres.

TWO USELESS ALARMS CALL FIRE FIGHTERS

Because she saw a heavy cloud of smoke coming from the next door house, a woman living in the Cliff House on south Main street, rushed from that building and in the Wood-bine hotel with a cry of fire. Several men were in the front part of the hotel and one ran to the nearby fire house and rang the bell. A general alarm was turned in and several companies responded to the call.

It was about 8 o'clock in the evening and the streets were filled with people. They ran down the street, most of them in advance of the fire fighters. By the time the first company had arrived, several hundred persons were in the street and on the opposite side walk.

It was soon discovered by the first men who arrived that the alarm was false and the companies returned to their respective stations.

A chimney fire was also discovered at the home of Mrs. Sarah Chane on Seventh street but no damage was done. Chief Michael Long investigated both alarms.

UNHAPPY FAMILIES APPEAL TO COURT

Evelyn Lewis Horton brought a divorce action in the circuit court of the county Monday against Eugene Charles Horton on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide the common necessities of life.

They were married at Honolulu September 7, 1906 and the plaintiff alleges that he deserted her on November 15, 1912, and has since remained away from home. In the meantime, he has made no provision for her support and has not met the current expenses of the home, she says.

Della Hankken asked for a divorce from Stephen Blaken for his alleged cruelty and inhuman treatment. She says, in her complaint, that he called her vile and abusive names and that he threatened to shoot her. They were married at Chehalis, Wash., and lived in Oswego when the trouble is said to have occurred.

Suit was brought in the same court by O. W. Peterson against Lenore Peterson, asking for a decree of divorce. The complaint recites that the defendant deserted the plaintiff after their marriage in Vancouver, Wash., November 7, 1899. He now comes into the circuit court and asks for the decree of divorce and the custody of the minor children.

EAGLE CREEK WOMAN DIES; LONG ILLNESS

Miss Emma Forrester died Monday evening at her home at Eagle Creek, at the age of 60 years. She has been ill for some time, her condition slowly growing worse despite the efforts of the doctors.

She is survived by three brothers and three sisters. She was the sister of the late Mrs. S. F. Scripture of this city. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence of B. F. Forrester and interment will be made in Forrester cemetery.

PORK TAKES SLUMP IN LOCAL MARKETS

There are but few changes in the local markets reported in the past few days. Prices have remained about the same with one or two exceptions. Pork has gone down a notch while potatoes are now selling from 75 to 90¢ a sack instead of 60¢ to 75¢.

The local markets are rather quiet, according to the general prevailing opinion among dealers. It is thought that soon after the first of the year trading will increase.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

LOCAL RAILROAD IS SUED ON ITS NOTES

The Clackamas Southern railroad company is made defendant in a suit brought in the circuit court of the county by the East Side Mill & Lumber company of Portland.

The action is based on a note issued by the company by the manufacturers for $285.91 for material furnished and services rendered. The defendant is the local company and has just received a franchise through the city along Water street for its line into the town.

A great deal of what passes for dignity is nothing but genuine laziness.

COURT LISTENS TO CASES IN ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Circuit Judge J. U. Campbell Saturday granted a decree of divorce in the case of Ethel Friedrich against Charles Friedrich. The parties were married at Chicago, Ill., on January 9, 1906 and on September 16, 1912 the defendant deserted the plaintiff. The plaintiff was granted the custody of the two children.

In the case of Sidney Nuttall against Jessie Nuttall the plaintiff was granted the decree of divorce. The parties were married at Menominee, Michigan, in 1908, and testimony was introduced showing that the defendant pre- and upon his return, found that she had left and was visiting her parents in Hood River county, and would not return. Clarence L. Eaton appeared as attorney for the plaintiffs in the two suits.
