

Enterprise News Service Covers Clackamas County

JENNINGS LODGE.

A number from this place attended the spelling bee at Gladstone on April 18th. There were twenty-eight contestants representing seven schools.

John Jennings was a business visitor at Prineville during the week, returning on Monday.

Mr. and Miss Ogden visited their father at Liswin, on Monday.

A number of matrons enjoyed a trip to Vancouver on Thursday, going over to spend the day with Mrs. Harry Painton.

Mrs. Edd Roethe has recovered from her recent illness.

Mr. Will Jennings is bedfast, threatened with pneumonia.

Rev. E. D. Hornschuh, of Portland, delivered an Easter sermon on Sunday April 19th, at the Grace Chapel.

Rev. G. W. Plumer, of Salem, President of the River View Camp meeting Association, was a lodge visitor on Friday.

Mr. Miller of Portland, is visiting with the Abbey family.

The young son of C. E. Warner, who fell thirty feet from a tree some two weeks ago, is improving and again able to be in school.

Mr. Unberman's new cottage is about ready for occupancy.

A ball game between the Oak Grove and Jennings Lodge teams was played on the ball ground at the school house on Saturday afternoon.

Doris I. Painton, of Vancouver, was a week-end visitor at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nason, of Wallace, Idaho, have returned home after visiting with the Brigham and Sinclair families.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Mr. C. E. Warner has purchased a motorboat and made his first trip to Portland on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nason, of Wallace, Idaho, have returned home after visiting with the Brigham and Sinclair families.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

Mrs. Nora Shashal, of Portland, and Brenton Vedder, of Gladstone, have been recent visitors at our school.

Commencement exercises are to be held by the 3rd grade graduates of the Jennings Lodge school at the Batdorf hall on May 15th.

A petition to the County Superintendent and members of the District Boundary Board to take necessary steps to consolidate all of school districts No. 48, Parklaine, No. 64, Clackamas, No. 111, Jennings Lodge, and No. 115, Gladstone, into one district for high school purposes only, is being circulated.

STAFFORD.

Miss Lydia Aerni and her sister, who is to be an April bride, were home for the Easter holidays.

John Q. Gage returned to his home in St. Helens on Saturday last, after spending three weeks at his father's, helping about the place, and with the help of Albert Schatz put up quite a string of wire fence.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Aden attended the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Eiler, on Saturday evening.

Prof. Vedder visited the local school during the week.

The sum of $38.50 was realized at the basket social at Corral Creek school, on Saturday evening.

Hops are being trained at present, and indications seem good for the coming year.

A large number of young people, evidently belonging to some biking club, took the train at Wilsonville on Sunday evening, after walking several miles.

A number of residents are planning to attend the Champagne celebration, on Saturday, May 2nd.

Mrs. A. E. Say, Harold Say and James Say came home from Newberg to attend the Corral Creek basket social.

Don't fail to attend the play entitled "Home Ties" to be given on Saturday evening, April 25th, in the A. O. U. W. Hall at Wilsonville.

The Ladies' Aid had an entertainment at the Family theatre last evening.

H. M. Looney, who spent the past year visiting relatives in West Virginia, returned home last week.

A very pleasant time is reported from the meeting of the Garfield Dances Society at the home of Mrs. Dunning.

A track meet is to take place at the school house this afternoon between the four classes of the high school.

Some of the local baseball sports got busy last week and circulated a subscription paper to raise money for Estacada.

Mrs. C. F. Lowe and little son were among the Portland visitors last Saturday.

The Ladies' Aid had an entertainment at the Family theatre last evening.

H. M. Looney, who spent the past year visiting relatives in West Virginia, returned home last week.

A very pleasant time is reported from the meeting of the Garfield Dances Society at the home of Mrs. Dunning.

A track meet is to take place at the school house this afternoon between the four classes of the high school.

Some of the local baseball sports got busy last week and circulated a subscription paper to raise money for will celebrate the 55th anniversary of the founding of the order, next Saturday evening with a supper and a social time.

People over in road district No. 4 are going to observe Good Roads Day by cutting down a hill near Currsville.

A big dinner will be furnished the men who work by the ladies of that section. They expect to have a jolly time as well.

Rev. Roy attended District Conference of the M. E. church at Forest Grove last week.

The Junior class of the High school will play "A Junior," at Boner's theatre Friday evening, May 1.

Leroy D. Walker, of Canby, was an Estacada visitor Wednesday.

Franz Krawberger, Republican candidate for the nomination for representative, was calling upon voters in Estacada and vicinity Wednesday.

The Estacada library is becoming a popular place as a reading room as well as being well patronized for reading matter.

A. J. Chapman was the dinner guest of Mrs. Howlett last Thursday.

Mrs. Roy Douglas last week took a trip to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Mookne, for a few days.

Dick Gibson is the delighted possessor of a fine colt. His brother, Herman, is also the possessor of a young colt, of which he is very proud.

Carl Douglass was a Barton visitor Sunday.

Mrs. Clester is working for Mrs. Howlett.

Mrs. Pessie Douglas was a Portland visitor the first of last week.

Mrs. McMillan returned from Portland Sunday afternoon, accompanied by a lady friend.

The regular session of Eagle Creek Grange was held last Saturday with about fifty members present.

The feature of the program planned is a speech by Governor West. There will be recitations and songs, also music by the Currsville band.

The evening at Cogswell's hall. A Woman's Work Committee was organized with Mrs. Dick Gibson as chairman and Mrs. Linda Hoffmeisters and Miss Ethel Hale as assistants.

The Grangers are planning to have their ball painted before the May picnic.

The Eagle Creek comedy was a mud-buckling Dick Gibson got when the horse he was riding stepped on one end of a broken rail, which flew up and bit the horse, causing his heels to fly up and set Dick Gibson in the middle of a stream of water at least two inches deep, with fully two feet of soft ooze at the bottom of the

STUART CONVICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

DEFENCE WILL SEEK WRIT OF REVIEW IN CIRCUIT COURT.

ACCUSED PHYSICIAN IS FINED $100 Recorder Loder in Decision Reviews Evidence Offered at Trial Monday—Prosecution Unconvinced, He Says

City Recorder Loder returned a decision of guilty against Dr. C. A. Stuart who was tried before him Monday.

The defendant was charged with giving a liquor prescription to a person not in need of it. Dr. Stuart was given a fine of $100. City Attorney Schuel represented the city.

Gordon E. Hayes, attorney for the accused doctor, said Wednesday evening that the defence would seek a writ of review in the circuit court, as, according to the city charter, no appeal can be made from a decision in the recorder's court.

In rendering his decision City Recorder Loder said: "The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey."

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink. After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands. This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

STUART CONVICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

DEFENCE WILL SEEK WRIT OF REVIEW IN CIRCUIT COURT.

ACCUSED PHYSICIAN IS FINED $100 Recorder Loder in Decision Reviews Evidence Offered at Trial Monday—Prosecution Unconvinced, He Says

City Recorder Loder returned a decision of guilty against Dr. C. A. Stuart who was tried before him Monday.

The defendant was charged with giving a liquor prescription to a person not in need of it. Dr. Stuart was given a fine of $100. City Attorney Schuel represented the city.

Gordon E. Hayes, attorney for the accused doctor, said Wednesday evening that the defence would seek a writ of review in the circuit court, as, according to the city charter, no appeal can be made from a decision in the recorder's court.

In rendering his decision City Recorder Loder said: "The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey."

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

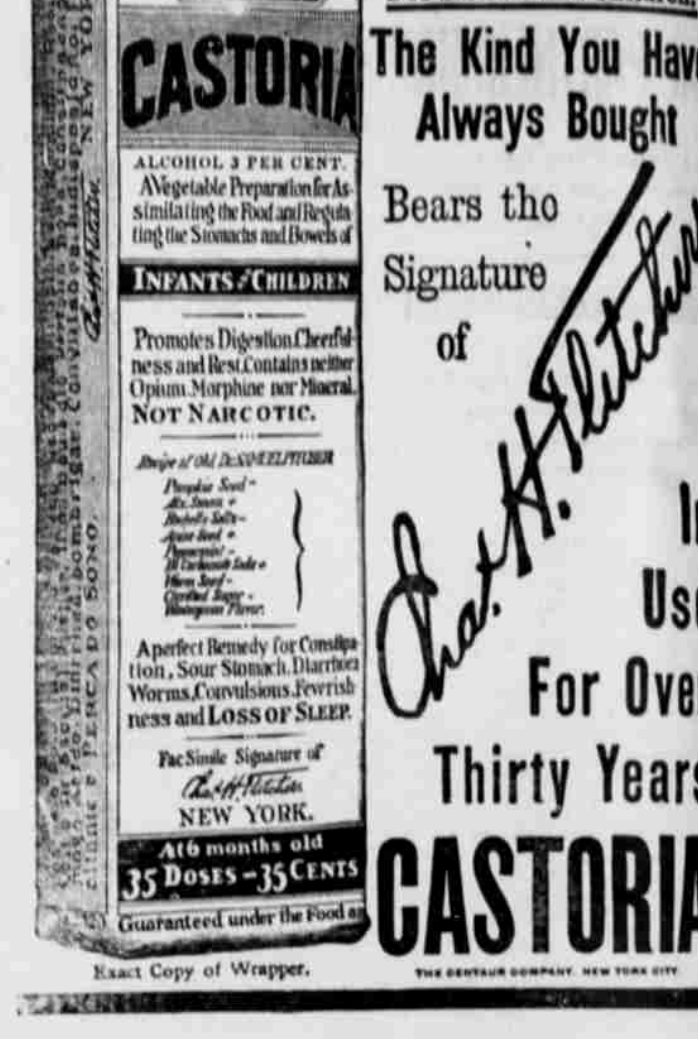

The testimony of C. Layton was to the effect that on April 15, 1914, Dr. Stuart at Layton's request wrote a prescription for one pint of whiskey.

Layton further stated that he told the doctor that he was not sick and didn't want to pretend that he was sick in order to get the liquor, but merely wanted it to drink.

After getting the prescription from Dr. Stuart, Layton had it filled at the drug store and returned to the doctor's office with the filled bottle and gave the doctor a drink of it; after taking a drink of it the doctor scratched off the number of the prescription, stating that there was a plain clothes man operating in town and the bottle might get into his hands.

This testimony of the witness remains uncontradicted except that the doctor in his own defense testified that Layton represented that he was nervous and needed a stimulant."

CASTORIA For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Dr. J.C. Williams In Use For Over Thirty Years CASTORIA

as practicable, parallel with the Southern Pacific to the city limits of Barlow; thence from the south boundary of Barlow to intersect Westmandel and Aurora Road, thence to intersect Marion County line. Minimum amount to be expended, $32,000.00.

Road No. 4. The Canby and Seely road leading generally south from the city limits of Canby on the south, following present road from Canby to Seely; thence east from a point where it intersects sections 15 and 22 T. 1 S. R. 1 E. on the Liberal and Mackburg road, to cross roads one mile east of Mackburg store. Minimum amount to be expended, $64,000.00.

Road No. 5. Molalla Road, beginning at city limits of Oregon City to city limits of Molalla. Minimum amount to be expended, $80,000.00.

Road No. 6. The Beaver Creek road from intersection of Molalla road leading to Beaver Creek store. Minimum amount to be expended, $30,000.00.

Road No. 7. The Redland Road from its intersection with Grays Crossing road easterly to the Abernethy road a distance of eight miles. Minimum amount to be expended, $48,000.00.

Road No. 8. Road leading generally eastward from Clackamas to Logan from its intersection of Grays Crossing road and Oregon City road to its intersection with Oregon City and Logan road near the south approach to Baker bridge; thence easterly to Logan road to a point on the line between the Arthur and Wheeler claims near the Reilhoff store where the lower road intersects the Logan road, thence along said lower or river road to Barton via proposed bridge over Clackamas River. Minimum amount to be expended, $67,000.00.

Road No. 9. Damascus road, from point of intersection of road from Clackamas to Baker bridge along present line as near as practicable for a distance of three miles from said intersection point. Minimum expenditure, $18,000.00.

Road No. 10. Boring and Sandy road from point where road crosses the line of P. R. L. & P. track at Boring to point where the road intersects the city limits of Sandy, said road as near as practicable the present line of road east and south from Boring via Kelso. Minimum amount to be expended, $36,000.00.

Road No. 11. Stafford road leading west in general direction from city limits of Willamette on the west to cross roads at Stafford. Minimum amount to be expended, $24,000.00.

Road No. 12. Oregon City and Oswego road, beginning at a point where present road from Oswego to Portland intersects the north boundary line of Oswego and leading northerly along present road to Multnomah County line. Minimum sum to be expended, $6,000.00.

Road No. 13. Milwaukie and Sellwood road, beginning at a point where said road intersects the north boundary of city limits of Milwaukie and leading north in a general direction along present road to Multnomah County line. Minimum amount to be expended, $10,000.00.

Found A Cure for Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." For sale by all dealers.

Gentlemen are necessarily concealed because a gentleman never forgets himself.