STAFFORD.

A little child, ten months old, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, who recently bought the Gross place, died last Tuesday night after a brief illness, being sick only five hours. They phoned for Dr. Mount, who started with his car, but not stalling in the Slough of Dispond, which has been worse than the man of old encountered as told in Pilgrim's Progress, and again Mr. Tiedeman came to the rescue, but the doctor did not arrive where the sick child lay until midnight, and it died at one o'clock. The Angel of Death came so swiftly, perhaps the physician could have done no good anyway, but it is natural that the bereaved ones should wonder if the skill of the physician might not have saved the life so precious. They had the funeral on Friday afternoon, as they were expecting friends to arrive from Idaho.

On Monday of this week Geo. Van-Nortwick was quite severely hurt, but no bones broken, by a quantity of rock falling upon him while getting it out to put on this very piece of bad road. It is said he was buried to the neck and bruised in many places quite severely.

Mrs. Aeri and her two daughters went to Portland Wednesday to attend the wedding of her daughter, Amelia, who will be married at the home of a friend on that evening and start upon a short wedding tour, after which they will live at Trout Lake, up near Mt. Adams, Washington, where Mr. Pearson, the groom, has a general merchandise store. All wish them health, wealth and happiness.

The young people proposed getting a new flag for the school house, by giving an entertainment, but the directors very kindly forestalled any arrangement of the kind and bought the flag themselves, and it now proudly waves above the entrance gate.

as well as pleasing the audience with their dainties. We hope the young people will give their play in some of the nearby towns, as it seems too good to drop after one performance, when so much time and trouble has been spent upon it.

CANBY

On the evening of May 8th an oratorical contest will be held in the Union Hall school house, three miles east of Canby. The contest will be between eight students of the Union Hall school, who have been trained under the competent supervision of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Larson, both of whom are excellent elocutionists. A splendid musical program has also been arranged.

County Superintendent Calavan and Supervisor Vedder will act as judges. The third judge has not yet been chosen. The winner in the contest will be awarded a silver medal, the honor of which will entitle him to try for a gold medal and for other higher prizes. The others will compete again in June when the teacher, Miss Spence, will hold her school exhibit, and industrial fair, at the close of school. At that time exhibits taken from the regular school work will be shown, and prizes will be given on vegetables, needlework, manual art work, flower cooking, and baking, all of which will be products produced by the students solely. Miss Spence has already started the work for the exhibit.

All of these things have been made possible by the Parent-Teacher Association which was organized here this winter. Through it the teacher can get in closer touch with the parents and so can accomplish much more along both an educational and social line.

Beaver Creek Parent-Teachers' Club

A delightful session of the Parent-Teachers' Club was held in the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Lindsey at Beaver Creek Wednesday afternoon, April 29, this being the first meeting of the club in a private home, the other meetings having been held in the school house. Mrs. Talbot read an able paper on Sex Hygiene Taught in the School. Her argument being that it was too sacred a subject to be taught in the school with boys and girls together, and that such teaching should be given in the home, by the parents.

The sentiment expressed in Mrs. Zumalt's article, "A Funny Protest," in the local papers, was heartily endorsed by the club and it was recommended that the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Clubs Association ask for a censorship to be granted over the comic sections of our newspapers, as is over moving pictures.

A short article was read on teaching sewing in the public school, and as the school is so large, the teacher is already overburdened, it was suggested that the Parent-Teachers' Club take up that work during the summer vacation.

Our club had co-operated with the school when the latter gave an entertainment and basket social, April 15, net returns of the club from the sale of refreshments and popcorn balls, was voted to be turned over to the teacher, Miss Gilnes, which will be used together with the money from the sale of the baskets, to buy some single seats for the school.

Before the adjournment of the club, the hostess served delicious tea and cake.

The next meeting of the club will be held the last day of school, probably in connection with a school picnic when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.
