OH! WHERE DID THAT LITTLE WATCH GO?

MAYOR JONES WOULD RATHER BUMP THE BUMPS THAN RIDE ON MAIN ST.

Mayor Linn E. Jones has always been of the opinion that Main street should be improved. In council meetings and in his store on Main street he has presented many brilliant arguments why the thoroughfare should be resurfaced but now there has been a change.

Perhaps it should not be called a change rather the thoughts running in the mayor's head have been increased, they have been made more decisive and "thereby hangs a tale."

Wednesday afternoon the mayor took his first motorcycle ride. Mounted on the tandem seat of the machine of Dick Roter, one of his employees, the head of the city government took a ride to the city cemetery and after spending a few pleasant moments in the cemetery (no one has been able to find out the attraction for the mayor at Mountain View) he returned, still riding tandem.

Now the mayor owns a watch; a highly valued present from his father. Under ordinary condition the watch reposed in the vest pocket of Mr. Jones but Main street was so rough that while going along that street (under the speed limit) the watch was jolted from the mayor's pocket and lost.

"I've roled the bumps-the-bumps, I have traveled on some of the Southern Pacific branch lines, I have roled over Clackamam county roads in winter and in summer, but never before have I experienced the sensations that were mine when we hunted in vain for the level spots on Main street. I had to hang on with both hands to keep from being bounced off."

It was suggested Wednesday by one citizen of Oregon City that Mayor Jones and the city for the loss of his watch on the grounds that the conditions of the city's principal thoroughfare was responsible for its loss. Other citizens are of the opinion that the city executive is merely trying to add to the list of broken automobile wheels, injured horses, and other incidents due to the condition of the street.

In the meantime Mr. Jones continues the hunt for his lost timepiece.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Ex-President Roosevelt came back today to the national capital, where he spent seven years as president. Into nine hours the colonel crowded a speech on his South American expedition, a call on President Wilson, a political conference of first importance with the Progressives in congress, a visit to the Smithsonian Institution to see the trophies from his African hunt of four years ago, a meeting with a few members of the diplomatic corps and a dinner with his old friends. Besides, there were a dozen impromptu receptions from crowds in the railway station, at his hotel, in the streets and wherever he chanced to stop for a moment.

It was such a hot and busy day that the colonel's collar rapidly melted away, but went through it all without showing evidence of fatigue. The crowds, the cheers, the struggles to shake his hand, the photographers and all the rest were like old campaign days. The colonel smiled and waved his hat continually and fired out "Bully" and "By George, that's fine," at everything.

The Progressive members of congress were at the party headquarters to meet him after the lecture tonight and go over the political situation with him.

It was understood that Colonel Roosevelt was desirous of sounding sentiment here, particularly with reference to the advisability of making an early attack on the policies of the Wilson administration. The members of congress wished to go over the whole field with him, learn his ideas regarding questions now before congress and if possible map out a tentative plan for the coming campaign.

Colonel Roosevelt protested, however, that politics was not the main object of his visit to Washington. "It was for science, not for politics," he said.

His Brand of English. At the Union Ironworks, San Francisco, a steamer was undergoing repairs. The chief engineer—a Scot, of course—requiring a hammer in a hurried moment, turned to a German mechanic and in his momentary excitement, lapsing into his native speech, said, "Gle us yer pelty, mon."

"Vat?" asked the Teuton in surprise. "Yer pelty—pelty!" "It's yer hammer he wants," interrupted another Scot, who was also working on the job.

"Thank the Lord there's one mon among ye who understands the king's English!" growled the chief engineer as he took the "pelty"—Argonaut.

FLEETING TIME. Make the most of the time allotted to you. Mark how fleeting and paltry is the estate of man—yesterday in embryo, tomorrow a mummy or ashes. So, for the hair's breadth of time assigned to thee, live rationally and part with life cheerfully, as drops the ripe olive, extolling the season that bore it.—Marcus Aurelius.

W. L. MULVEY, County Clerk of Clackamam County.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo. "I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had failing, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in a asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my nerves, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home." Mrs. JOSEF HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

SPEED BOAT GOES DOWN IN TRIAL

SLOATH, OF PORTLAND, SINKS WHILE MAKING TURN NEAR SUSPENSION BRIDGE

OWNER, IN CRAFT, FORGED TO SWIM

Accident Happens Just Preceding Motorboat Races—Damage Is Placed at $3500, Covered by Insurance

The speed boat, Sloath, belonging to Frank Atwell, of Portland, turned turtle while making a turn in a trial trip here about 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon and sank in over a hundred feet of water. The owner, who was in the craft, swam to the shore. The accident happened just preceding the motorboat races in the Rose Festival, Stock Show and Booster Day celebration. Atwell was taking his boat out on a trial trip and was making a turn under the suspension bridge. It was going about 35 miles an hour and made the turn altogether too short when the accident happened," said Atwell.

The damage to the boat is placed at $3500 by the owner, fully covered by insurance. It will be necessary to use grappling hooks to raise the boat and the boat will be thoroughly repaired and every part examined before it is put in use again, according to a statement made by Atwell Saturday. The insurance companies were notified and the boat will probably put back in commission as soon as possible.

On account of the sinking of the Sloath, the races were called off and the Oregon Wolf II, made an exhibition trip, going the round of the three-quarter mile course.

MARQUAM SCHOOL IS CLOSED WITH PICNIC

MARQUAM, Ore., May 22.—Marquam public school closed Thursday last by giving a community picnic, which was attended by many of the parents and Superintendent Calavan. The scholars served ice cream and lemonade to all present and in the afternoon the Marquam school ball team played Glad Tidings, being victorious by a score of 5 to 1.

Graduating exercises were held in the Methodist Episcopal church in the evening at which Superintendent Calavan spoke freely to the parents about improving the school room conditions and to the graduating class he left words of encouragement.

Professor Guy Larkins of Scott's Mills also took part in the exercises. The farewell talk of Professor Moore, who has just retired from his position in this section, caused tears to flow freely and many wishes from both his scholars and their parents for success proved that he has been a most efficient instructor.

Miss Ulen, the primary teacher, left for her home in Portland and Professor Moore to Monmouth, where he will take the summer work at the state normal.

SOLDIERS TAWN AND GOVERNOR THREATS

WEST SAYS GRATTON'S HOTEL IS NEXT IF CONDITIONS ARE NOT IMPROVED

All was quiet at the Friars' club Monday night. The two militiamen who constitute the army of occupation are still sitting around, yawning and looking at the clock. One-half of the force said over the telephone Monday that no one had tried to enter the club, though a good many machines stopped to let passengers see the club that is getting such widespread publicity. He added that his orders remained unchanged, and that they would continue to hold the club until told to withdraw.

SALEM, Ore., May 25.—Gratton's, another alleged "shady joint" at Milwaukie, is the next place upon which Governor West expects to land with the militia, if present conditions keep up, according to a statement made by the governor today. The governor said he had to use the militia in closing places because he had no more funds for the employment of special agents.

"In my opinion Gratton's is a worse resort than the one we closed up," said the governor, comparing Gratton's with the Friars' club, which is now closed and being guarded by members of the militia. "Until recently we have been unable to get inside information concerning it. We have been morally certain about the character of the place but owing to a lack of funds to hire operators or special agents, we could not get as much information as we wanted. However, we are gradually picking it up, and when we do get it we are going to land on them."

The three girls who have been taken into custody by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin in connection with the Friars' club dispute stated that it was to Gratton's that the men who took them to the club wanted them to go with them and get rooms.

It may be that the governor will ask the emergency board, which is called to meet Friday to authorize a deficiency in the state printing fund, to authorize the use of $1000 or $1500 more for the employment of special agents. The fund appropriated for this purpose is exhausted. The governor said, however, he was not certain he would ask the board for anything. It will probably depend upon the attitude the members of the board take in other matters.

MAN CONVICTED ON 'BLIND-PIG' CHARGE

JOHN HAYES, RECENTLY OF TACOMA, GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCE IN COURT

SOLD LIQUOR TO MINOR, SAY OFFICERS

Grand Jury May Investigate Case, Says City Attorney—Hayes Claims all is "Frame-up" by Officials

The first "blind pig" case in Oregon since the saloons were voted out resulted in the arrest and conviction of John Hayes Friday. He was fined $250 and given a sentence of 90 days in the city jail, the heaviest punishment allowed by the city ordinance, by City Recorder Lord.

Hayes was arrested early Friday morning after the entire police force with Chief Shaw had spent some time watching Hayes' room in the Brunswick rooming house on Main street between Seventh and Eighth streets. Five men and boys entered Hayes' room and secured liquor during Thursday evening and the first part of Thursday night, claim the officials. Among these was Matthew Storey, age 19 years, who appeared as the principal witness against Hayes.

In the trial of Hayes, the case narrowed down to the statements of Hayes against those of Storey. Hayes claimed that he had never seen the boy who appeared against him, that the entire procedure was a "frame-up" and that the liquor which was found in his room was for his own personal use. On the other hand Storey said that he had bought liquor from Hayes. The city introduced several character witnesses to testify concerning Storey's character and it was largely through these that Hayes was convicted. Earl Latourrette appeared as Hayes' attorney.

City Attorney Schuebel said Friday evening that Hayes could be held on two state charges and one federal charge as well as the city ordinance. Mr. Schuebel will probably examine Hayes further Saturday.

Hayes came down from Tacoma about 10 days ago and claims to be a printer. His mother and wife are in Portland, he says, but he expects that they will come to Oregon City. At the city jail Friday evening he claimed that he was innocent of all the charges made against him and made the statement that some one had "framed-up the entire case."

A Clock Case Made of Pennies. A novelty in clockmaking consists of a timepiece whose case is made of English pennies. The coins, of which there are ninety-six, all bear the date 1797 and were bent out to almost double their original size and then riveted together, while the figures were made of small strips of copper cemented on to the face. The clock stands fourteen inches high and is eight inches broad at the base. That "time is money" is an adage with which we all more or less agree, but this is a case in which the saying might be reversed and still remain true. The clock is owned by a resident of Laurel Bank, Ilkley, Yorkshire, England.

LARGEST CLASS TO LEAVE O.C.H.S.

37 STUDENTS WILL GRADUATE FROM LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL THIS YEAR

EXERCISES ARE SET FOR JUNE 11

Details For Night Not Completed—Fletcher Homan, President of Willamette University, to Speak

The largest class ever graduated from the Oregon City High school will leave that institution June 11. Thirty-seven students, a larger number by nine than the next largest class, are enrolled in the class of 1914.

The next two weeks will be weeks of activity for the members of the class. The class play, class day, graduating exercises, and all the events which go with the graduation of a large class will be crowded into that short space.

The program for the graduating night itself has not been definitely arranged, but it is certain that Fletcher Homan, president of the Willamette University, will deliver the principal address of the evening. The high school chorus will furnish the music and O. D. Eby, chairman of the board of school directors, will present the diplomas. The exact program and the order of events will be announced later.

Thursday morning will be class day; the time when the members of the class will gather at the school, go through a simple program, and renew the events of their school life. At this time it is probable that the two trees, planted by the class in the school yard recently, will be dedicated.

The class play yet to be selected. The play is the three-act comedy, "When a Man's Single," and the cast has been working for several weeks under the direction of Mrs. H. B. Cartledge. Those taking part are: Clyde Green, Charles Beattie, Joseph Hedges, Etta Long, Clarence Orem, Hazel Lankins, Norma Holman and Catherina Reitsma.

Oregon City High school will lose many of the most prominent students when the class of '14 leaves. Members of former baseball, football and basketball teams, debaters and other active in the secondary life of the institution are enrolled in the departing class.

The list of graduates follows: Norma B. Holman, Albert Allison, Charles P. Beattie, Elbert Charman, Ethel DeBok, Alice Downer, Everett W. Dye, Harless R. Ely, Roy M. Eaton, Hazel L. Farr, Alice P. Frink, Clinton J. Griffin, William Clyde Green, Lyle R. Gault, Joseph C. Hedges, Elton Hatton, John E. Haleson, Lyle Kellogg, Hazel C. At Wednesday's session a resolution was adopted asking for an amendment of all patent and copyright laws so as to make it possible for any one to manufacture any commodity covered by such laws by paying the inventor 5 per cent royalty or a granted royalty, in order to extend competition. The present laws were condemned as a monopoly.

Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to the legislative committee of the National Grange, to the Oregon delegation in congress and to all candidates for congress. Resolutions touching on the proposed $1500 tax exemption law, abolition of the state senate and good roads issues are among those proposed.

ROAD NEAR ESTACADA GREATLY IMPROVED

County Road Engineer F. E. Hobson returned from several days spent near Estacada Wednesday. With Commissioner Mattoon he inspected a number of the roads in the eastern part of Clackamas county and inspected some machinery which is offered to the county court for the gravel pit at Barton.

Mr. Hobson reports that the road leading from Estacada to the top of the hill on the road to Springwater has been greatly improved. Several large fills and cuts have been made and the grade has been greatly reduced in many places. The road for the entire distance is not 20 feet where formerly the width varied. The total distance of the improvement is about a mile and a half. A mile of the road will be surfaced with river gravel. The total cost of the improvement is about $3,500. (Adv.) 509.
