HOW INDIAN SIGN RUINS FIGHTERS Psychological Influence Has Changed Ring History.

SOME FAMOUS INSTANCES. Corbett Had Joe Cheynski Under the Ban in All Four Fights—Tommy West's Spell Over Joe Walcott One of Mysteries of the Prize Ring.

The "Indian sign" has doubtless played a more important part in the changing of ring history than any other force, excluding skill. It is a sort of hypnotic influence which we in this country have been aware of for some years. It is where one fighter exercises strange power over another he has once knocked out or decisively defeated.

Photos by American Press Association.

PACKEY McFARLAND AND FRANKIE BURNS first meeting was a six round draw. Their second fight was one of the most thrilling combats ever seen in the arena. It was stopped and declared a draw on account of the helpless condition of both men at the end of the eighteenth round.

Tommy Burns, the former heavy weight champion, had to put the K. O. three times over on Bill Squires before the latter realized Tommy had the fatal sign on him. Burns first sent Squires to slumber in one round at Los Angeles. In two sessions he repeated the dose in Paris and finally did the trick again in thirteen rounds at Sydney, N. S. W.

Tommy West in his prime certainly had the hypnotic influence over Joe Walcott, the "giant killer." Twice did Walcott gain decisions over the black terror and yet Walcott could not nullify big fellows that West would not think of clashing with. Joe and Tommy met five times without a K. O. on either side, but West most always led the way in their long fights. They always put up a hurricane battle with terrific wallowing.

A curious case is that of Frankie Burns, bantam. He has the Indian sign on three or four contenders for the title, but can't do a thing against many second raters. Packey McFarland, the mastery boxer, has the "Indian sign" on quite a number of fighters, but particularly Tommy Murphy, whom he has defeated with perfect ease at least three times. When Tommy gets in front of the Chicago wizard he seems to lose all confidence and knowledge of the game. He appears like a novice taking a box lesson from a professor of the manly art. McFarland, however, always manages to have ten or twelve pounds on such men as Murphy, which is hard by fair. Of course this extra poundage is a great advantage for Packey. McFarland is like many other star ring men. He has the hypnotic eye. Maybe it's this piercing optic that often causes one fighter to have the "Indian sign" over another.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN. The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is PAXTINE. A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed. As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE. Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Ida May Foster filed a suit for divorce from John W. Foster in the circuit court Thursday. They were married at La Ceter, Wash., December 13, 1896. The wife claims that he gave all his money to relatives and that she was forced to work for her living. She asks for the custody of their minor child, Kenneth E. Foster.

COW DEAL TAKEN INTO JUSTICE COURT. Sam Case was bound over to the grand jury by Justice of the Peace Sievers Monday on a charge of stealing a cow from N. C. Westerfield. The alleged stealing was done as the result of a trade in which Case claims he got the worst of the deal. Case, it is said, had confided in his neighbors the artful way in which Westerfield had secured his cow, which he claimed was worth $150. So on the morning of July 4, when Westerfield and his family were celebrating Independence day away from home, Case, Westerfield claims, went to his pasture and took the animal back to his place. Both men are farmers living near Oregon City.
