Later it was feared that it would burn his house, it was traveling that way with a good wind behind it, but backfires were set and the wind shifted and now all danger is passed

Ora Slyter also has wood in that part of the country and it was feared at first that the fire would get hold of it, but after working most of Sunday night setting backfires the danger was lessened. George Kochler, the fire war-den of this district is directing the men. All the men of Canby and the surrounding country that can possibly get away are there fighting the blaze.

FIRE AT CANBY NOW BROUGHT IN CONTROL

CANBY, Ore., Aug. 17 .- Nearly 100 acres of timber and underbrush have been burned on the bank of the Willamette river, about three miles north of Canby, by a forest fire that has been raging there for the past week. The fire seems to have started from B. Beal's place, crossing to the O-Bryan and Stefant woods.

Late last night 200 cords of wood owned by E. Ctefani were burned, but the fir was checked as it started toward the house. Ora Slyter also is a heavy loser of cordwood. All danger now is believed past, George Koenler, the fire warden for this district, is directing the crews.
