SCHOOLS TO OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 21

SUPERINTENDENT TOOZE EXPECTS LARGER ENROLLMENT THAN LAST YEAR

HIGH SCHOOL COURSES CHANGED

Agriculture is Added to Work in the Freshman Year and Household Chemistry in Fourth Year

The Oregon City public schools will open September 21 and Superintendent Tooze said Thursday evening that he believed that the enrollment this year would be larger than ever before.

The high school will probably have 250 students this year and the three schools together slightly over one thousand. In order to accommodate the increased enrollment at the high school the room formerly occupied by the manual training department has been moved to the Barclay building and a new class room opened which will increase the capacity of the building about forty students. No other change has been made in the school buildings for the coming year.

Sixty-six pupils graduated from the grammar schools of the city last spring and Superintendent Tooze expects that about sixty of this number will enter the high school. Catalogues have been sent to the graduates of rural schools and it is expected that the freshmen class will be near the hundred mark. The tuition in the high school is $20 a year to those students who live outside of the local school district.

A one year course in agriculture has been added to the high school work in the first year. The course includes a brief, comprehensive study of soils, plant life, field crops, livestock, and specializes on such subjects as the improvement of plants and animals, farm management, the care, classes, products and values of farm animals. Such problems as labor, roads and markets are studied in correlation with the economic phases of agriculture. The laboratory plays an important part in the course and tests are made of soils, seeds, milk and various food products.

In the senior year household chemistry has been added to the course. The work for the greater part will be done in the laboratory and the course takes up three double recitation periods a week. Several other changes have been made in the high school courses but they all are minor in nature.

Four new teachers: James West, B. S., head of the department of science; Carl F. Anderson, of the commercial department; Carrie Stevens, of the English and domestic art departments; and Maude E. Horton, B. S., of the domestic art and science departments, have joined the faculty.

SCHOOL AT BOLTON WILL BE IMPROVED

The Bolton schoolhouse is to be completely remodeled and its capacity doubled. At a recent meeting of the school board the definite step was taken and improvements outlined which will cost the district $1800.

The building is now one story high and it will be raised and a story put underneath. Two large class rooms will be constructed on the lower floor and they will be so arranged that by moving large doors they can be made into a large assembly room.

Through the offer of B. T. McLean, of the Willamette Pulp & Paper company the company architect will prepare the plans for the improvement, in this way saving the district a large sum.

RUNAWAY SPEEDER DASHES THROUGH CITY

A runaway gasoline speeder, belonging to the Southern Pacific, dashed through Oregon City Thursday at a 30 mile an hour clip and narrowly missed several persons at cross streets. It was stopped at the depot when an employee of the company threw a box on the track, ditching the machine. No damage was done.

The speeder started on its wild trip at Parkplace when it suddenly raced away from an employee of the company who was oiling it. As it crossed Sixteenth street a little girl was almost struck and several other persons narrowly dodged it.

WALKER COMPLETES FIRST DAY'S HIKE

The first day's journey of a hike which leads over a thousand miles along the Pacific coast, was completed in Oregon City about noon Monday by Harold Card, of Portland.

He is on his way to San Diego, Cal., to see the fair there which opens January 1 and when he has viewed the wonders of the exhibition at San Francisco as well as San Diego, he will walk back along the same route he took in going south. Card is an expert on roller skates and plans to meet his expenses by the sale of postcards and by performances in moving picture theatres.

Woodburn is his goal for the second day out and on the third day he plans to reach Salem, where he will spend three days. He says that he sees no need to hurry at first and plans to make the trip in easy stages.

Hook River News: Opening of the Panama canal Saturday and announcement of a new steamer plying on the Columbia from Portland to The Dalles both mean increased shipping facilities for Hood River. Such advantages will go far towards contributing to the economical marketing of the local crop.

CURTIS GIRL FREE IN PORTLAND-BELIEF

WHEREABOUTS OF GIRL PUZZLES OFFICIALS AND NO TRACE IS FOUND

Marjorie Curtis, age 16 years, who was sentenced Monday by Juvenile Judge Anderson to an intermediate sentence in St. Elizabeth's home in Portland, has escaped the Clackamas county officials and all attempts to locate her so far have failed to even bring out one substantial clue.

This much is known: She left the courthouse after her hearing before Judge Anderson at about 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and went to her home. She told her parents that she was going to Portland to get clothes which were with her sister, Gladys, and said that Juvenile Officer Frost had given his consent. The parents protested but the girl went, taking the 6 o'clock car out of Oregon City.

Monday afternoon Gladys Curtis came to Oregon City to see her parents and left early in the evening in an automobile. Late Monday night Officer Frost obtained a description of the car and telephoned it to the office of Sheriff Ward of Multnomah county. A deputy was sent to watch all automobiles coming into Portland on the west side road but the car was not located.

Officer Frost is working on the theory that Marjorie Curtis will go to her sister, who is living in Portland. It is known that when the younger girl left Oregon City she did not have much more than carfare and it is thought probable that the two sisters met sometime Monday night.

The location of the home of Marjorie Curtis is not known to the officials here and it was with the hope that she could be followed to her living place that the Multnomah county sheriff's office in Portland is now working on the case although the authorities confess that all traces of her whereabouts are weak.

Another belief which held by Clackamas county officials is that Marjorie Curtis will return to her parents and to friends here. In case she does, the officers can easily pick her up again.

Marjorie Curtis has figured prominently in a number of adventures during the last year. In December she made a trip to Aurora with a number of young persons, in January she was picked up in Astoria with a party of four, and since that time she has spent part of her time in Portland and part in Oregon City. Her latest adventure was to Canby last Friday as one of a group of five.

She has been before the juvenile court several times and for months has been under the watchful eye of Court Matron Church. Monday she pleaded guilty to a charge of being a delinquent child and was sentenced by Judge Anderson.

IN CANBY AFFAIR GIVEN SENTENCES

Four of the five involved in the affair at Canby Friday night were taken before Juvenile Judge Anderson Monday where they entered a plea of guilty. Robert Culver, the boy who was arrested Saturday here by Constable Frost, was fined $100 which he is serving out in the county jail. Mable Martholmew and Irene Abbott were each given a fine of $50 which was remitted, and Marjorie Curtis, the youngest of the party, was sent to the St. Elizabeth home in Portland.

According to the claims of the officials, the party, which was composed of three girls and two boys, went to Canby from here where they registered as relatives and obtained rooms in two Canby hotels. The Curtis girl has been before the juvenile court several times before.

CONTRACT LET FOR BIG TRUNK SEWER

As the first step in the plan of the council in giving the Kansas City district an adequate sewer system, the contract for the construction of a large sewer for two blocks on Fifteenth street has been let to Moffett & Parker by the council.

This sewer will connect with sewers leading down Sixteenth, Jackson, Monroe, Madison, and John Q. Adams streets and, if the plan of the council is carried out, be extended to the river. Over seven thousand dollars are represented in dead sewers in that part of the city and the council now plans to bring them into use.

ELEVATOR WORK TO BEGIN MONDAY

CITY EMPLOYEES WILL INVADE CHASE PROPERTY WITH PICKS AND SHOVELS

NO ACTION TO HALT WORK—SCHUEBEL

Authorities Backed by Council Take Stand That Offer of Compromise Should Come From Mrs. Chase

City employees working under Street Commissioner Charles Babcock will invade the Chase property Monday morning and begin to construct the approaches to the Seventh street elevator. Commissioner Babcock has received instructions from the city council directing him to follow this course. The work will continue until completed or until another injunction is secured. Walks, 12 feet in width, leading from the proposed landing place around the edge of the bluff to Sixth and Seventh streets, will be graded and concrete walks laid. At its present time there is no suit pending in the circuit court and the only undecided case before the courts is in the state supreme court.

"Every action which has been brought by Mrs. Chase to stop the construction of the elevator has been defeated by the city," said City Attorney Schuebel Tuesday evening. "Their last action to secure an injunction was knocked out of court by a deceiver which was filed by the city and sustained by Circuit Judge Campbell. The decision of the supreme court which will probably be handed down as soon as the members of the court return from their vacation, concerns the ownership of the bluff, and I am personally satisfied as to the outcome of that case."

Both attorneys C. D. Latourette and J. E. Hedges, who represent Mrs. Chase, are out of town at the present time so that it is impossible to learn how the situation will be met. Mr. Hedges will return Monday and Mr. Latourette the latter part of this week. Mr. Latourette has submitted a letter to the council and mayor asking that the city grant a compromise to end the long legal fight, but the city authorities are inclined to fight it out and the council back their stand. Mayor Jones and City Attorney Schuebel believe that the offer of a compromise should come from Mrs. Chase and are willing to recommend a compromise under such conditions only.

In the letter Mr. Latourette suggested that the city grant Mrs. Chase's request that the parking on High street be placed next to the property line, that the approaches to the landing place be eight feet instead of 12, and that certain other grants be made by the city.

MAYOR JONES ASKED TO NAME DELEGATES

Mayor L. E. Jones has been requested by A. H. Fletcher, president of the Fourth American Road Congress to name three delegates to attend the sessions of the congress at Atlanta, Georgia, during the week of November 9.

Forty-seven great organizations are taking part in the congress under the leadership of the American Highway association and the American Automobile association. In his letter to the mayor, President Fletcher calls attention to the fact that practically every state highway commissioner will be present and take part in discussing the important problems of road construction and maintenance, and that some of the foremost men in public life will devote their attention to the great question of federal aid to road improvement, in an endeavor to work out a policy which may be submitted to the congress of the United States with the support of the organized road movement of America.

Finds Cure for Epilepsy After Years of Suffering

"My daughter was afflicted with epileptic fits for three years, the attacks coming every few weeks. We employed several doctors but they did her no good. About a year ago we heard of Dr. Miles' Nerville, and it certainly has proved a blessing to our little girl. She is now apparently cured and is enjoying the best of health. It is over a year since she had a fit. We cannot speak too highly of Dr. Miles' Nerville."

Thousands of children in the United States who are suffering from attacks of epilepsy are a burden and sorrow to their parents, who would give anything to restore health to the sufferers.

Dr. Miles' Nerville

is one of the best remedies known for this affliction. It has proven beneficial in thousands of cases and those who have used it have the greatest faith in it. It is not a "sure-kill" but a reliable remedy for nervous diseases. You need not hesitate to give it a trial.

LOCAL TRAVELERS ARE HOME SAFE

EVENTS IN EUROPEAN WAR ARE RELATED BY PHYSICIAN WHO SAW CONDITIONS

AMERICAN DOLLAR WORTH 40 CENTS

Wealth Families Find That Notes and Letters of Credit Are Valueless—Ocean Trip Back is Eventful

A long tale of the confusion in Europe and the adventures of an unusual journey across the Atlantic, is told by Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Mount, who returned to their home here Sunday night, after spending several weeks in France, Germany, Belgium and England. They left the continent for England July 27 and sailed for the United States on the White Star liner, Celtic, August 6, arriving in New York city August 13.

Met Refugees.

Dr. and Mrs. Mount met many of the refugees from Europe during their stay in London. "Many of the refugees were forced to walk from the interior to the coast to get to London," said Dr. Mount Monday afternoon. "Automobiles were taken away from American tourists with no delay. I heard of one English army officer high in command, who was touring Germany in a brand new car. He was boastful that he would keep his machine despite the order of the German government, and when a German officer commanded him to get out of the car he pulled out his card. 'Oh, that's alright,' said the officer, 'your driver will run the car to the barracks and then you can go to your hotel. You had better take your hand bags before the car leaves.'

Wealthy Men Moneyless.

"There was one wealthy southern banker who was making his first trip through Europe. He and his wife had bought many expensive articles and had five trunks filled with goods. They were driving through Paris to their hotel when an officer stopped them, took their automobile for government use, and threw the trunks on the street where they were left. The banker has a letter of credit for $10,000 but no cash and was unable to raise a cent. Finally he found another American who loaned him $20 and the husband and wife bought tickets to England. They arrived in London with nine cents and several Americans gave the two enough to get to Liverpool when the banker had no money. They crossed the channel in a boat which had a carrying capacity in ordinary time of 500, but which was loaded down with over two thousand. Men and women slept on the decks and all were ill for the trip was rough.

"In several cities streets were blocked with trunks, deserted by Americans, and I heard of one town who they were piled up to the second story of the houses.

Dollar Worth 30c.

Dr. and Mrs. Mount were in England before the $2,500,000 was sent on its way from the United States for the relief of Americans in Europe. "An American dollar was worth from 30 to 40 cents and letters of credit on American banks, notes, and express drafts were almost valueless for a time. Many Americans in London were absolutely broke, and I saw one wealthy woman in Liverpool, who in her home in this country had everything she wished, who was without one cent and had no hope of securing money for some time. "Americans were willing to sacrifice almost anything to get out of England and back to their home. I was offered $5000 for my stateroom on the Celtic, but refused the offer. Wealthy men and women came in the steamer and were glad of the chance. Everywhere there was a spirit of democracy and a total lack of selfishness. The refugees who had money was willing to loan it to the one who did not.

Tricks Resorted to.

"There were many tricks resorted to to secure cash. One of the favorite ones was to buy money orders at one substitution with notes or checks and then go to another station and cash it. I know one man who secured $200 in that way. We landed in Europe before the financial crisis in this country reached the critical stage and I was fortunate in cashing several express orders before it became too late.

"The real crisis was reached Wednesday, July 29. We were stopping at the Hotel Cecil in London at the time and all the waiters and cooks, who were French, were summoned home. Some did not even have time to go to their rooms, so sudden was the call, and I remember that over one thousand French reservists were marched from London to their country's defense before 3 o'clock in the morning.

"After the cooks and waiters left, our meals did not come regular and we were forced to wait until the crippled force which was gathered could reach us.

Trip Home Eventful.

"The trip across the Atlantic was rough and certainly quiet. There was no light on the deck after dark and canvas was draped over the side of the ship to hide the light from the ports. After we sailed from Queenstown we sailed for two days straight north and during those two days the ship was tossed constantly. At times the bow of the ship would be thrown from the water and then the propeller. At the end of the second day it grew very cold and a fog settled down, but the ship did not sound her fog horn or light one deck light. The fog lifted suddenly one morning and we found that the Celtic had missed a British tank steamer less than 150 yards. At one time the ship did strike an iceberg but we were going so slow that no damage was done. As soon as we crossed the ship stayed within the three mile limit of neutrality."

TWO FINED

Joe Wilson and "Red" Carson, who were arrested Friday night by Officer French, were tried before City Judge Loder Monday. Wilson was fined $25, which he paid, and Carson fined $10 and given a sentence of 25 days in the city jail. Carson was unable to furnish the money and will serve out his time. Both maintain that they secured their liquor from "friends," who identify their refuse to reveal.

BIG SHOOT OPENS AT CLACKAMAS RANGE

The Oregon State Rifle and Revolver shoot opened at the Clackamas rifle range Wednesday. Two hundred men, members of the Oregon National Guard and the Oregon Naval Reserve, are camped on the grounds and will take part in the match.

The Butterfield trophy match, which is a skirmish match, was the first event Wednesday and was won by First Sergeant J. H. Wolford, of the Fourth company Coast Artillery. He secured 93 points out of a possible 100.

C. H. Myers, a seaman in the Oregon Naval Reserve, took second place and V. F. Howard, quartermaster sergeant of the Third infantry, third place.

The National Rifle association match took place after the Butterfield event and was won by L. S. Spooner, an ensign of the Naval Reserve. S. W. Pearson, a sergeant in the Fourth company of Coast Artillery, won second place and C. H. Myers, third.

The 80 and 90 per cent medal matches occupied the greater part of the afternoon. Fifty-two on the 80 per cent medals and 23 the 90 per cent medals. The winners of the 80 per cent medals scored between 80 and 90 per cent in the contest and the 90 per cent medal men, over 90 per cent. The shooting was done at ranges varying from 600 to 1000 yards.

RIVER IS AT LOWEST POINT FOR 30 YEARS

NAVIGATION AS FAR AS SALEM NOT STOPPED BUT CURRENTS CAUSE TROUBLE

The Willamette river is at a lower stage today than it has been for the last 30 years, according to the opinion of old timers in Oregon City who have made a study of river conditions. W. E. Pratt, who was in charge of the Oregon City locks from 1882 to 1905, said Saturday evening that the only time which he could remember as being comparable with the present stage was in 1885, but he believes that the water is lower now than during that year. "I believe that the river is lower now than it has been for 25 or 30 years," said Mr. Pratt. "During the time I was at the locks I kept a close check on the condition of the river although I do not know its height now. At Salem the water is a foot and a half below low water mark."

River traffic as far south as Salem is not interrupted although the boats are delayed by the swiftness of the current in certain places. The government dredges worked on the upper river last spring and the dredging has greatly aided the condition of the river now.

MRS. FORSYTHE DIES AT CLACKAMAS HOME

Mrs. Sarah Forsythe, age 82 years, died at her home at Clackamas Heights Sunday evening. She had been feeble with old age for months preceding her death. The funeral will be held from the family home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and the interment made in Mountain View cemetery, Rev. E. A. Smith officiating.

Mrs. Forsythe is survived by two sons, William and Samuel Forsythe. Both live in the Clackamas Heights district and are well-to-do farmers.

She was born July 17, 1832, in Ohio and came to Oregon in 1885. Her husband has been dead for some time.
