PICKERS CROWD IN VALLEY HOP YARDS

10,000 LEAVE PORTLAND FOR YARDS IN WESTERN PART OF STATE

PROCESSION PASSES THROUGH CITY

On Boats, in Wagons, on Trains, Even Afoot Thousands Pass Through County on Their Way South

In trains, on boats, horseback, and in wagons of every description the army of hop pickers is progressing through Oregon City to the south. The march began almost a week ago when the first stout farmer's wagon rumbled through the town on its way south and it has increased each day since.

In the hop growing districts of Clackamas county, in Marion and other counties where the hop is the principal product, thousands are gathering to harvest the crop. Railroad men say that never before has the number left for the hop fields that are going this year and they even say that the number is one-third greater than last year.

Special trains on electric lines as well as steam are being run out of Portland in an effort to accommodate the crowds and the boats on the river are carrying their share to the fields.

Out of Portland alone it is estimated that 10,000 persons will go to the fields and some even say that the number will be greater than that. Until the number can be thoroughly checked over, however, there is no way to correctly give the number who will pick hops this season. It is agreed by all that the great number is due to the fact that many men are out of employment.

In towns down the valley which are in the center of the hop producing region, the increase in population has been most remarkable. Independence has grown from a town of less than 2000 to 4000 almost over night and the development of other places has been almost as rapid.

The building of supplementary defensive works is proceeding vigorously. Several of the gates of Paris were closed to traffic last night.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—A flight in the air over Paris took place tonight. Three German aeroplanes hovered over the capital and immediately two French machines were sent up to engage them.

Meanwhile rifles and machine guns mounted on public buildings kept up a constant fire. By this means one of the German machines became separated from the others and the French aviators flew swiftly in its direction. The Germans opened fire, to which the Frenchmen replied vigorously. The battle seemed to turn to the disadvantage of the German, who mounted speedily to a higher level, and holding this position, was saved from further attack. He finally disappeared in a northwest direction over Fort Romainville, after a vain pursuit.

The other German aeroplanes also escaped the fire of the guns and after circling about for a considerable time, disappeared from view.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Times' correspondent at Dieppe, France, has telegraphed his paper as follows:

"In the main northern theater of the war, the German advance appears to continue without slackening its pace.

"It must be indeed an over-weary army that the Germans are bringing toward the forts of Paris. They have made an effort which nearly deserves to be called superhuman. Nothing like it ever before was seen in war."

"The circle of the allies defending Paris is narrowing materially.

Two French Craft Put to Flight Three German-Zeppelin Makes Attack on Antwerp, Says Official Report

PARIS, Sept. 2.—A proclamation has been issued by the government announcing that the government departments will be transferred temporarily to Bordeaux.

The proclamation was issued by the minister of the interior, who said the decision had been taken solely upon the orders of the military because the fortified places of Paris, while not necessarily likely to be attacked, would become the pivot of the field operations of the two armies.

CLAUSE FRAMED TO COLLECT TAX

CITY ATTORNEY SCHUEBEL PREPARES AMENDMENT TO THE CHARTER

$18,000 IN DELINQUENT ASSESSMENTS

Engineer Rands Asks for Additional Money to Complete Second Survey of Pipe Line to South Fork

A charter amendment which will give the city power to foreclose on all delinquent street assessments passed first reading at the council meeting Wednesday night in the form of a resolution and will be voted on by the people if the resolution passes its second reading at the next regular meeting.

The amendment was prepared by City Attorney Schuebel and presented and recommended by him to the council. "This amendment will provide a way to collect $18,000 in delinquent street assessments, some of which are of long standing," he said. "Some of these assessments are due since 1903, 11 year ago. The taxpayers of this town have been paying interest on this money for these lay property owners who refuse to pay their legal street taxes." He declared that the method used to foreclose on the property was the same as used by the counties. If the amendment is adopted it will give the city the power to take a clear title to all property on which the assessment is not paid.

Councilman Hackett opposed the proposed amendment and called it an attempt to "rob the poor property owners."

Engineer H. A. Rands, who has charge of the survey to the south fork of the Clackamas, was present and asked the council for $1000 with which to complete a second survey which would save the city a large sum. A motion was made and passed which will comply with his request.

The second survey would slightly increase the length of the line but would provide much greater pressure so that the size of the pipe could be decreased, in this way, saving the city a considerable sum. The route upon which Engineer Rands is now working has an intake further up the south fork, goes over the ridge, through the Schuebel and Beaver creek districts and to the reservoir near Oregon City.

Councilman Templeton recommended that the city extend the Fifteenth street sewer, which is now being laid, on to the river so that the Kansas City district may be drained. A system of dead sewers now covers the district from John Quincy Adams street almost to Division street.

A bid for the improvement of Division street, submitted by J. W. Shea, was opened. He offers to do the work for $7320.70, which is under the estimate of the city engineer. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Mrs. Green, Spurning $10,000,000 So She Could Marry, Now Seeks Divorce. Boston.—Although it was but two years ago that she gave up the income from an estate of $10,000,000 left her by her first husband, declaring she was doing it for "love," Mrs. Marie Tudor Garland Green now is seeking divorce from the man she married at that time. He is Francis C. Green of New York, who was superintendent of the big estates of James Garland, the former husband of Mrs. Green at Bourne.

"I am marrying for love. Money isn't everything, and love is pretty nearly everything," Mrs. Green is quoted as saying just before her wedding at the Buzzards bay estate in 1912. The ceremony was performed with a few relatives and the five children of Mrs. Green present.

Romance has taken strange twists in the life of Mrs. Green. After marrying her first husband, James A. Garland, she was divorced.

Barton Bridge. Work has already commenced on the new Barton bridge over the Clackamas river. Fifteen men are at work on the excavating for the piers and the driving. They expect to have this bridge completed by November 1st next. This bridge will be 210 feet long with an approach of 1100 feet on the north side and will be about 40 feet above the water. The contract price for this structure is $12,240.00 and the work is being handled by A. C. V. Berry of Portland.

When this bridge is finished Barton people will probably want all of the people to come over and celebrate its dedication and opening, as was done at George.—Estacada Progress.

Clean-Up Planned. Let us show our visitors a model city. There will be prize winners by the scores and hundreds at the fair grounds, so why not show the prize winners and their admirers a prize winning city. Let everyone get busy at once, so the work will be done before the rush of fair week is upon you.—Canby Irrigator.

New Plan Urged. Taking salmon eggs at the big dam for hatching purposes has been stopped for the present and the racks taken out and fishway opened up, but as no water is going through the fishway salmon cannot get to the upper river to spawn and most of them will themselves to death against the dam trying to pass the dam. There should be a better arrangement some how.—Sandy News.

Bernier Knocked From Track---Newest Theory of Sheriff E. T. Mass

Although Sheriff Mass and Acting District Attorney Hicks are satisfied that Mrs. Bernier did not attack her husband on the night of Tuesday, August 25, and that injuries which may have caused his death were caused by a headlong plunge from the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. trestle to the ground below where the blood was found, they are not convinced that he was working on the theory that he was knocked into the culvert, although no motive for such a crime has been found.

Sheriff Mass learned Friday afternoon that Henry Brand, living at 1618 Main street, within a block of the Bernier home, saw two men walking down Main street who were quarreling. They were making so much noise with their conversation that the dogs of the Mass home were awakened. Sheriff Mass had not had an opportunity to discuss the matter with Mr. Brand personally, but will do so early today.

Bernier probably left his house a few minutes after 9 o'clock. His wife saw him at 8:45 o'clock, according to her own statement, but she believes that he did not leave until after she had gone to bed a few minutes before 9 o'clock. His watch stopped at 9:45, which is considered the time of the fall as a large dent in its back stopped the movement.

Mrs. Bernier told Sheriff Mass at the hospital Thursday that she and he had been drinking from a whiskey bottle, which the officials found in their search through the house. Sheriff Mass then advanced the theory that Bernier started out for a walk in the fresh air to free himself from the effects of his drinks before retiring. While outside he met the person who shoved him into the culvert, believes the sheriff.

The finding of the print of a bloody hand on a telephone post 200 feet beyond the trestle further complicated the situation Friday and leads the officials to believe that after the injury Bernier wandered for hours before he found his way home.

Mr. Bernier's condition is greatly improved although his physicians declare that he is not yet out of danger. Up until late last night, he was not able to give any satisfactory explanation of the events of Tuesday night.
