

Prohibition Amendment

Initiated by Joseph H. Albert, 245 N. Winter St., Salem, Oregon; G. H. Billings, Ashland, Oregon; P. J. Bris, 152 Exchange St., Astoria, Oregon; Leslie Butler, Hood River, Oregon; R. C. Coffey, M. D., 789 Gilliam St., Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Frederick Eggert, 265 14th St., Portland, Oregon; William T. Foster, Reed College, Portland, Oregon; Alfred C. Schaefer, 726 W. 5th St., Albany, Oregon; J. R. Wilson, 524 E. 24th St., N., Portland, Oregon. Prohibition Constitutional amendment—Its purpose is to prohibit after January first, 1916, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the state of Oregon, except upon prescription of a physician, or for scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes. The ballot numbers are 332 and 333.

Affirmative Argument.

This bill would prohibit the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors in the state of Oregon, except for medicinal, sacramental and mechanical purposes. It would wipe out an annual payroll of approximately $4,000,000. It would destroy or cripple the hop crop, worth $6,000,000 annually. It would depreciate the value of thousands of acres of land now devoted to the raising of hops fully 50 per cent. It would throw 4,000 persons out of work. It would affect 15,000 women and children dependent on the earnings of men now employed in the liquor traffic and kindred industries for their bread and butter. It would reduce the revenue of the state $900,000 annually. It would increase taxes. It would cause a commercial loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. It would cut off a large revenue to the business interests of the state now received from exports. It would ruin the tourist trade. It would destroy police supervision and control of the liquor traffic. It would be an infringement of personal liberty and destroy self government.

Negative Argument.

State wide prohibition would destroy millions of dollars' worth of taxable property. It would wipe out an annual payroll of approximately $4,000,000. It would destroy or cripple the hop crop, worth $6,000,000 annually. It would depreciate the value of thousands of acres of land now devoted to the raising of hops fully 50 per cent. It would throw 4,000 persons out of work. It would affect 15,000 women and children dependent on the earnings of men now employed in the liquor traffic and kindred industries for their bread and butter. It would reduce the revenue of the state $900,000 annually. It would increase taxes. It would cause a commercial loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. It would cut off a large revenue to the business interests of the state now received from exports. It would ruin the tourist trade. It would destroy police supervision and control of the liquor traffic. It would be an infringement of personal liberty and destroy self government.

85 BABIES ENTER FARMER'S WIFE IN SHOW AT FAIR TOO ILL TO WORK

EXHIBIT DRAWS LARGEST CROWD OF FOUR DAYS TO CANBY SATURDAY

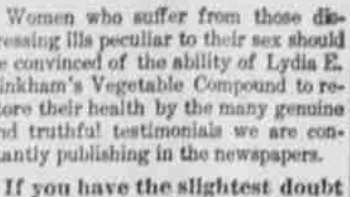

GOOD TIME IS MADE ON RACE TRACK

Macksburg Defeats Oregon City, 11 to 0, in Only Game of Session—Many Go Through Exhibit Buildings

Thoroughbred poultry, farm produce and other exhibits at the Macksburg fair drew a record crowd of four days to Canby Saturday. The show, which was divided into classes, the beauty and the eugenic shows, was not completed until late Saturday evening. Dr. Madigan of Portland, assisted by Dr. H. A. Dodman, Dr. Orest Welch, Dr. R. L. Wang and Dr. A. T. Murdy, examined the children entered in the show. Many of the women of Canby and Oregon City assisted in the work, among these being Mrs. Kaupisch, Mrs. Charles T. Wait, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. John Kid and Miss Charlotte Baker. The judges in the baby beauty show were: T. J. Thornton, of New York, N. Y.; Mrs. A. C. Warner, of Oregon City; and Mrs. E. J. Melind, of Portland. Mrs. H. F. Hoffman, of New Era, was judge of the eugenic show. There were 45 entries in the eugenic show and about as many in the baby show.

SCHOOL RECORDS BROKEN MONDAY

IN OREGON CITY AND WEST LINN OVER 1200 PUPILS REGISTER ON FIRST DAY

HIGH SCHOOL SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

About 100 Enrolled in the Freshman Class—McLoughlin Institute Will Probably Equal Last Year's Mark

Vacation ended for over twelve hundred pupils Monday when the three Oregon City and one West Linn school opened. Although the exact number of pupils who turned out for the first day will not be known until later in the week, it was evident Monday night that all previous attendance records were broken.

As roughly estimated by Superintendent Toosa, 1150 pupils registered at the three city schools on the opening day. Jerome W. Howard, principal of the Sunset school in West Linn, places the number in that building at 90. The Bolton school will not be opened until extensive alterations are completed which will be in about three weeks.

Thirty-one teachers are employed in the local schools and seven in the two across the river, making a total of 38. The number of teachers in Oregon City is the same as last year although the enrollment has increased about one hundred pupils.

The high school will probably show as great an increase as any of the three city buildings. Monday 250 students registered for work, which is equal to the number last year when the term was well advanced. The freshman class at the high school is about 100. The eighth grade of the two grammar schools is unusually large this year, over 100 being in the two institutions.

It was evident Monday night that the high school building would be well filled this year although a room had been added by moving the manual training department to the Barclay school where better accommodations were secured.

McLoughlin Institute is the only private school in the city, and Father A. Hillebrand, the head of the school, said that already his school has enrolled 160 pupils. Last year 260 boys and girls studied at the institute and this year, last year's mark will be equalled.

Non-Partisan Judiciary Bill

Initiated by authority of W. M. Davis, 623 Lumbermen's building, Portland, Oregon. Non-partisan judiciary bill prohibiting party nominations for judicial officers. Its purpose is to prohibit nominations for judicial offices including county judges, justices of the peace or district judges, circuit and supreme court judges, and permitting any person desiring any such office to be a candidate by filing with the proper officer, a petition signed by one per cent of the legal voters of the state or district in which such officer is to be elected. No nominations to be made at primary elections; no name to be placed on the ballot at general election except those filing petitions. The ballot numbers are 324 and 328.

Affirmative Argument.

This bill is the non-partisan judiciary bill, which provides for the nomination of all judicial officers in the state of Oregon, from the highest to the lowest. This act provides that persons eligible to a judicial office, after getting the proper number of signatures, can have their names placed upon the ballot at the regular election without the necessity of entering the primaries, and there is to be no political designation after their names; in other words, no political party or organization can nominate or suggest the name of any one for a judicial office.

Negative Argument.

The basic principle of American politics from the beginning of the republic has been party elections. Our methods of electing our plans of campaign, and in many respects even our system of government is based on party control. Even though the judges of the state were no longer nominated at the primaries, it would in no way separate the bench from politics as champions of the bill contend. A mere enactment of this measure will not force a voter to forget the fact that John Jones, candidate for judge, belongs to a party. This bill cannot prevent a party from giving a candidate for the bench its unofficial endorsement even though that party's name cannot follow the name of the candidate on the ballot. It would be impossible to imagine a Republican paper supporting a Democrat who was running for a high judicial post merely because this act would separate any definite connection between the man and the party. Likewise it is true that the voter would first learn the political views of the man and naturally vote accordingly.

Denistry Bill

A measure initiated by John T. Corcoran, 232 East 78th St., N., Portland Oregon. Dentistry bill.—Its purpose is to allow persons who have graduated from any reputable dental college, requiring at least two years' course of study of six months each year, and persons who have been licensed to practice dentistry under the laws of any other state, to practice dentistry in the state of Oregon and requiring applicants to file diploma or previous license with affidavit of at least two citizens attesting to applicant's good moral character with secretary of state and repealing all laws in conflict. Prescribes penalty for violation. The ballot numbers are 340 and 341.

Affirmative Argument.

This proposed law is intended, and if voted for by the people, will regulate the practice of dentistry on such a basis as to best protect the public, more fully than under the law as it now stands, and at the same time let enough licensed dentists come into the state to practice, so that the prices for professional work will not be so high. The evil of the old law is that it permits any clique or organization of dentists now in the state to get control of the state board of dental examiners, as is now the condition, and prevent dentists who are declared competent in other states from coming to Oregon and practicing.

Negative Argument.

This act a person by the name of Parker seeks to foist upon the people of Oregon. He is not even a citizen of Oregon. Having twice failed to pass the regular examinations of the state board of dental examiners of Oregon, he thinks he has a grievance against the state. This man naturally objects to the high ethical requirements in Oregon of the profession he seeks to enter. What is meant by ethical conduct is defined in Section Five of the Dental Law of Oregon.

U. S. SURVEY ISSUES 2 CLACKAMAS MAPS

PLAN IS BEING CARRIED OUT TO COVER ENTIRE WILLAMETTE VALLEY BY 1916

During the past few weeks the United States geological survey has issued two new topographical maps, on a scale of one mile to an inch that cover a large part of Clackamas county and also small portions of Multnomah and Washington counties. These sheets are known as the Oregon City and the Horning sheets, and are very fine examples of map-making, each one embracing an area of about 2210 square miles, and printed in several colors, with all details shown, including paved and unpaved roads, and all houses. They may be secured from the director of the geological survey, Washington, D. C., for ten cents each, or from survey agents in Portland.

These maps are issued as part of a general scheme to map the whole of the Willamette valley by the geological survey and State Engineer John H. Lewis. Up to the present time the Portland, Eugene, Halsey, Doring and Oregon City sheets have been issued, and in addition the Albany sheet is being engraved, and also the Cazadero map. The maps are so made that they may be fitted together and thus provide maps of larger areas. During the present summer the Redville sheet, which is west of Oregon City, is being completed in the field, and also parts of the Salem, Dallas, Corvallis, Lebanon and Astoria sheets. It is believed that by the end of the field season in 1916 that all the Willamette valley will have been completed. These maps are considered to be among the finest gotten out by any government, and when the Willamette valley sheets are finished, they will include practically all of Clackamas county.

The geological survey has also issued bulletin 556 which covered spirit level work in Oregon, most of which was done in cooperation with State Engineer Lewis. This bulletin, which is distributed free by the geological survey gives the exact elevations of over 3000 points in Oregon, determined instrumentally from sea level. The book described the survey's standard bench marks, and tells how the elevations are established. In addition to the exact elevations, the bulletin also gives the approximate elevations of many prominent peaks and lakes in Oregon and other places of interest.

CARVER DESCRIBES WORK ON P. & O. C. LINE

PROMOTER IS SURPRISED AT PORTLAND OFFICIAL FOR HIS OPPOSITION

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—Expressing surprise at the action of City Commissioner Brewster Monday in demanding a reconsideration of the Portland & Oregon City railway franchise, Stephen Carver, president of the company, issued a statement today, which follows in part: "Last fall the city commissioners (including Commissioner Brewster) voted unanimously for the East Seventeenth street franchise for the extension of P. & O. railway into the city of Portland, and again voted on passing present ordinance to advertising after it had been held up and amended at Commissioner Brewster's request eliminating practically all of Mr. Brewster's objections, and inserting a clause giving to the city council full power of regulation as to lengths, type and size of cars to be operated upon the city streets.

"The P. & O. C. company has already expended over $100,000, in grading and track construction as follows: The grading is completed to Baker's bridge from Milwaukie with the exception of about one and one-half miles. Bridges are all but one, which will be finished within 30 days. They are on the ground for completion from Portland city limits to Baker's bridge. "The construction of this road to Viola, the proposed terminus, a distance of 25 miles, will open up and develop a new virgin territory, and bring new business to the city of Portland amounting to over $500,000 annually.

"I do not understand Commissioner Brewster's objection at this late time since the council is given full power of regulation as to length, size and type of cars to be operated, and besides the P. & O. C. railway will give any needed city service within the city limits as well as interurban service, subject again to the regulation of the council. "To defeat this franchise at this time would cause the company not only a great financial loss but would discourage others from attempting to build additional either urban or interurban lines into the city of Portland and thus give present street car company an absolute monopoly."

Redland Band Plays. Redland band furnished the music for the day. There was a good crowd from Redland accompanying the band. During the races on the race track the band played in the grandstand, which was well filled with spectators.

After the races there was a game of baseball near the track fronting the grandstand, and much enthusiasm was manifested during the game. The teams playing were from Oregon City and Macksburg the teams which played during the chautauque assembly. The result was 11 to 0 in favor of Macksburg. The game was continued until after 6 o'clock.

The horse races came off in good time, but it was necessary to postpone the same until 2:30 o'clock owing to the steady downpour, which cleared off about that time, and remained so until the visitors had left the fair grounds.

Good Time Made in Races. The track was slow, but better time was made than on the previous day. During one of the races Mr. Fortune dismissed Mr. Gamlin on account of his behavior, giving the latter a fair chance, and at that time the horse and driver were withdrawn from the track, and the races continued without further confusion.

The following was the result of the afternoon's races: County horse race—"Pat Lovelace," 1:11; "Lady G," 2:3; "Hal W," 3:2; "Benton Boy," 4:4, the latter being owned by David Williams, of Oregon City, the first time that their horse had been driven on the Clackamas county fair race track. The first heat was made in 1:21; second heat, 1:18. 2:30 race—"High Ho," 44:11; "Tillamook Maid," 21:22; "Lady Hal," 13:33; "Acme," 52:4 draw. Time made in 2:20.

Exhibits Draw Many. All day the throng of people passed through the building viewing the fine display of fruits, vegetables, exhibits of every kind, and out into the livestock and poultry yards. One of the judges of the poultry exhibit stated that the exhibit at the Clackamas county fair is the best of any county fair he has visited this year and the visitors state that it is the best ever had on exhibit in the pavilion or in the barns since the organization of the association.

Pope Protests to Kaiser. LONDON, Sept. 22.—The pope has telegraphed to the kaiser a protest against the destruction of the Rheims cathedral, according to a Rome dispatch received today by the Central News.

COURT NOTES

The two Jennings Lodge school directors who are the object of recall agitation, have filed a demurrer to the circuit court against the attempt of the recall backers to force a special election. The demurrer alleges that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause and that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue under such circumstances.

Laura J. Judd has been appointed administrator of the estate of Jeremiah J. Judd, which is valued at $16,000.

A. A. Hughes Crowe has filed a suit in the circuit court to collect $450 in back salary from the Automatic Call & Advertising Clock company. He also asks for $45 attorney's fees.

The Bank of Oregon City has filed a suit in the circuit court here to collect on a note for $177 from William and Henry Shannon which was signed April 5, 1912.

Mrs. Mae Bottler is defendant in a suit for divorce filed here in the circuit court by Charles Bottler. The grounds for the action is cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Nina Louise McIntyre, of Portland, has filed a suit for a divorce from Robert E. McIntyre. They were married in Portland May 7, 1893. The wife charges that the defendant has not only failed to support her but has forced her to raise money to support him. She claims that in the daytime she worked in a Portland factory while until midnight and sometimes later she worked in a rooming house.
