OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1914.

ESTABLISHED 1898

COUNTY APPROVES ONLY 3 MEASURES

CITY MERGING PLAN PASSES WITH MAJORITY OF ONLY THREE VOTES

HURLBURT'S ELECTION IS LIKELY

Count on Prohibition Shows Total County Vote to Be Over 11,000—Majority for Dry Amendment 2028

Clackamas county voters at the late election approved three measures: prohibition, the citizenship amendment and the amendment for the consolidation of cities. The first two of these three measures were the only ones to be passed at Tuesday's election.

Complete unofficial returns, which are now being made, show that the city merging amendment passed the county with a margin of only three votes. Official count may show that the bill was downed in this county. The stand of this measure, although the affirmative vote exceeds the negative by only a small margin, is a surprise to those who have been watching the results as it was generally conceded that Clackamas county only passed two of the measures.

The complete count in the county ticket has not been made but it is certain that there will be no change from previous announcements. Later and fuller counts show that Miss Harrington defeated her opponent, W. C. Green, by a vote of several thousand which is larger than was expected Wednesday.

The vote on the prohibition amendment probably shows almost the total number of voters cast. The complete official count on this amendment in the county is: yes, 6529; no, 4501, making a total of 11,030. The majority for the amendment by the unofficial returns is 2028.

C. M. Hurlburt, Republican, candidate for representative in the Multnomah-Clackamas joint district, has been elected over Roscoe P. Hurst, Democrat. Hurlburt was opposed by both the Republicans and Democrats, as he was found disqualified. Hurlburt seems to have carried Multnomah county by more than 1000, while he has received a majority of 1221 in Clackamas county.

It is probable that Hurlburt's seat in the legislature will be challenged, if he presumes to take it. He now is out of the state and may not return.

Hurlburt, despite the activity of all the county papers, received a substantial lead in this county. The vote by the complete unofficial count gives Hurlburt 5297, Hurst 4076, giving Hurlburt a county majority of 1221.

The complete unofficial count on United States senator, representative in congress, and governor shows that the voters of Clackamas county approved Hawley for the house of representatives, Chamberlain for the senate and Withycombe for governor. The count on these three places for the leading candidates follows:

House of Representatives.
Coe, Prob., 1400
Hawley, Rep., 3402
Hollister, Dem., 2959

United States Senator.
Booth, Rep., 3910
Chamberlain, Dem., 4929
Hanley, Prog., 1226

Governor.
C. J. Smith, Dem., 2280
U'Ren, Ind., 1922
Withycombe, Rep., 5013

The vote on the measures stands the same in the county as was previously announced. The prohibition city merging and citizenship amendments were the only ones to meet with the approval of the Clackamas county voters. The complete unofficial returns are:

Citizenship amendment—Yes, 7188; no, 2032.

LOCKS DEED ABOUT READY FOR SIGNERS

Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, who went to San Francisco in an effort to facilitate the elimination of certain objectionable features to a deed transferring the locks and canal at Oregon City to the war department, has returned and says that he thinks the new deed will be on its way to Washington by the end of the week.

There are yet some points to be adjusted, but the main provisions in connection with which issues were raised by the department of justice will be satisfactorily smoothed out, and there are prospects that by January 1 the plant making navigation possible between the upper and lower Willamette river will be under federal control. The new deed will be the third drafted, and this one is expected to be executed.

ERRORS CUT DOWN LOCAL DRY LEAD

VOTERS VOTE STRAIGHT PROHIBITION TICKET AND AGAINST ANTI-SALOON AMENDMENT

DISTRICT WINNERS SCORE BIG VOTE

Justice Slevers in District Four is Unopposed—Constable Frost Defeats Only Opponent by Wide Margin

Oregon City favored the prohibition amendment by a majority of over 200 votes, but it is the opinion of many of the election clerks and judges that the lead would be much greater if all the voters had properly understood how to vote. It is evident that many who voted against the amendment did so through mistake, probably thinking that its negative vote was against the saloon.

In precinct 5, 11 cases were found where the voter voted the straight prohibition party ticket and then voted against the prohibition amendment. Other cases were found where those candidates who came out in support of the amendment, received the approval of a voter who marked his ballot against the amendment.

Several cases have been found where church workers took unregistered women to the polls, secured free-hold status to wear in the vote only to learn after the vote was cast, from the voter himself, that it was against the prohibition amendment. One woman came from the polls after casting her ballot and announced to a friend that she had "voted against the saloons, 333 X no." Many ballots, evidently marked by women, recorded only the voter's opinion in regard to the prohibition amendment.

The vote recorded for the two successful candidates in judicial district number four, Justice of the Peace J. N. Slevers and Constable D. E. Frost, will not be known until the official count is completed which will probably be the first of next week. It is evident from the vote given these two that they received almost the united approval of the district which includes a large part of the population of the county.

Justice Slevers was not opposed, but Captain Blanchard held the Democratic nomination for constable, opposing Constable Frost. In many of the precincts in the district, the latter received a lead over his opponent of over a hundred votes. The Democratic nominee did not carry one precinct.

CASE OF RABIES IS FOUND AT DAMASCUS

County Health Officer Van Brakle made a trip beyond Damascus Saturday to investigate the case of a dog, which was suspected of being rabid. The dog was the property of J. W. Hennington and was bitten by the Hanson dog which was reported September 24. As the owner did not wish to take the risk of keeping the dog, Dr. Van Brakle ordered the animal shot.

It is thought that the infection was caused by a strange dog which ran through that section of the country last June. It had several animals before it was shot at Boring. Since that time, every five or six weeks, dogs have been found with anaplastic symptoms, but have always been shot before a diagnosis could be made.

"The chief danger seems to be to the stock which is readily bitten by these animals, but the state board of health is now giving the Pasteur treatment to a woman in Boring who was recently bitten by one of these animals," said Dr. Van Brakle Saturday. "Dogs that have bitten stock only should be shot at once. If a person is bitten, however, the animal should be kept chained up for at least a week so that a positive diagnosis can be made, as the use of the Pasteur treatment is needless unless the dog is suffering from the rabies."

POSTMASTERS NAMED

Following the recent civil service examinations, several four class postmasters have been appointed in Clackamas county. They are: Herman Liesman, Willamette; D. Purcell, Sandy; Walter T. Brown, Wilsonville; William A. Morand, Boring, and Ethel R. Mather, Clackamas.

MAJORITY IS 126 AGAINST MEASURE

AMENDMENT CARRIES IN ONLY ONE WARD; FINAL VOTE IS 562 TO 436

STRICT ECONOMY IS NOW URGED

Authorities Construe Vote to Indicate Wish of People for Drastic Cuts in All Municipal Departments

By a vote of 562 to 436, the voters at the special election Monday turned down the proposed charter amendment. Nine hundred and ninety-eight votes were cast which is about half of the registered vote of the city. The majority against the measure was 126. The amendment carried in ward two and lost in wards one and three. The vote by wards stands:

Ward 1	129	151
Ward 2	238	227
Ward 3	78	154
Yes	436
No	562

Authorities construe the vote to indicate a wish of the people for drastic cuts in all municipal departments. Voters in the down town section seemed to favor the plan, but those who cast their ballot on the bill pulled a two to one vote against the measure and easily overcame the small lead. The vote given the measure was a surprise to many of its supporters, who, during the day, expected even a worse defeat. The fact that the plan carried in one ward was a surprise to many.

The measure was framed by the city authorities and met with official sanction. Its object was to live the debt of the city by increased taxation and to provide other changes in municipal government.

The members of the council and other of the city authorities are now advocating the strictest economy to keep the city within the income under the 10-cent levy. A week previous to the election two budgets were prepared, one to be used if the amendment passed, the other, if it met with defeat.

The second budget is drastic in many of its provisions. Under its provisions, the seventh street elevator, now nearing completion, would not be operated unless a system of fares was devised; street and other improvement work would be stopped; the police force would be reduced; the office of the city engineer cut down; street cleaning practically stopped, and other steps taken which would effect every department.

One of the city officials who was active in support of the defeated measure was heard to remark Monday night that now the only policy left to the city was one of curtailment in every department. "The voters have shown by a decided majority that they did not approve of an increased tax and that they want the city to be run on a 'small basis,'" he said. "In the face of such facts, the only thing I can see left for the council is to cut expenses down to the lowest mark for surely no taxpayer can approve of the debt-bringing systems of the years past."

COUNTY'S DELEGATION WILL BACK DRY LAW

REPRESENTATIVE SCHUEBEL ADVOCATES DRASTIC STEPS TO STOP TRAFFIC

The Clackamas county delegation at the state legislature will vote for any measure which will justly carry out the prohibition amendment passed at the general state election last Tuesday.

This was evident when each of the four, Senator Walter A. Dimick and Representatives C. Schuebel, C. W. Risley and Guy T. Hunt, have promised their support to such a bill. The prohibition amendment merely states that after January 1, 1916, "no intoxicating liquors shall be manufactured or sold within the state" and provides no penalty for violation. It was the intention of the framers of the measure to secure an act from the legislature which would fill out the plan of making the state dry.

Since the election Representative Hunt has been heard to remark several times that he would support such a bill. He declared that the voters of the state were decisive in their opinion of the liquor traffic and that it was the duty of the legislature to listen to their wishes.

Senator Dimick at his home Sunday evening stated that although he had thought of no details for a bill, he would support any measure which would carry out the prohibition scheme of things. Representative Risley said Sunday night that he, too, would be with the Clackamas delegation in their support of a bill to supplement the amendment.

Representative Schuebel advocates drastic steps. He said Sunday night: "The people of the state have signified their wishes for a dry state, and I believe that the legislature should do its best to give them one. A bill to carry out in effect the plan of the prohibition amendment should be framed and violators of it should be severely punished. Anyone convicted of running a 'blind pig' should be given a severe sentence and I believe that drastic steps should have their license revoked if they dispense it too freely. The certificate of any doctor who will prescribe liquor to persons not in need of it should be revoked. I want the law enforced."

MILWAUKIE-PORTLAND ROAD NEARLY DONE

CLACKAMAS COUNTY SPENDS $12,000 ON SHORT TRUNK HIGHWAY

Clackamas county is spending more than $12,000 in rebuilding the Milwaukie road between Milwaukie and the Multnomah county line at Sellwood. When completed it will be a hard-surface road, the grade being not more than 2 per cent. Archie Mason, a Portland contractor, has the work well advanced, although it will be about a month before the job will be finished and the road opened to the public.

An entirely new road is being built, starting from the steel bridge over Johnson Creek and extending a distance of one mile to Sellwood. The heavy work consists of a deep cut through a rocky bluff just north of Johnson Creek, where the rock was blasted for about 200 feet for the roadway. There then is a fill north of this rock cut an average depth of 12 feet which reduces the level of the Milwaukie cemetery, where a cut of five feet is made to lower the grade. The fill is for about 500 yards, the material coming from the rock cut and the earth cut in front of Milwaukie cemetery.

A roadway of crushed and screened rock is being placed on the fill and a steam roller is working it into a compact mass. Just north of the Johnson Creek bridge a concrete retaining wall on the creek has been built for a distance of 200 feet to hold the roadway fill and prevent the water from washing out the earth.

When finished the roadway will have a hard surface to the Multnomah county line. This mile of road always has been one of the worst in Clackamas county, but is important, as it is used by practically all of Clackamas county stretching Portland. It is also a part of the east side Pacific highway between Portland and Oregon City. It was expected that the improvement would cost about $10,000 at the start, but the rock work proved more extensive than was figured on, and the cost may run up to $15,000 before the improvement is finished.

The county has improved the road south from Milwaukie to Oregon City at heavy cost last year, so that the east side road to Oregon City will be a well improved highway when finished. The Clackamas improvement ends at east Seventeenth street in Sellwood, which is unimproved and in a bad condition. Efforts are now to be made to have east Seventeenth street paved through Sellwood in order to meet the expensive improvement Clackamas county is making southward.

VALLEY EXHIBIT FOR 1915 FAIR PLANNED

The Willamette Valley Exposition association, representing Lane, Linn, Marion, Clackamas, Washington, Yamhill, Polk and Benton counties, met at the Chamber of Commerce in Portland Saturday morning to arrange final plans for placing the combined exhibit of the counties at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

It had been decided to send a car to San Francisco as soon as the Manufacturers' and Land Products show is finished. A large portion of the exhibit already has been assembled at Salem.

The counties involved are united to boost the Willamette valley with one big exhibit, rather than with smaller displays. The organization is permanent, being interested in smaller fairs and land shows as well as the San Francisco exposition.

O. E. Freytag, of Oregon City, represented Clackamas county at the meeting.

FIGHT MAY CAUSE DEATH

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 7.—Following a quarrel on the county road near Champoeg Friday, John Schultz hacked George Brown so severely with a hatchet that Brown is more dead than alive. Schultz is in the Marion county jail. Dr. Littlefield, who attended Brown, says he has small chance to recover.

Brown is a farmer residing near Newberg. Some few months ago he employed Schultz on a farm near Champoeg. Friday, the two men met in the road, when, after heated words, Schultz seized a hatchet from Brown's wagon and beat him severely about the face and body.

OFFICIALS HUNT FOR ASSAILANT

ITALIAN SHOTS AND THEN SLASHES MRS. OLIMPIA POLARMI AT KENDLE

DEATH MAY RESULT FROM INJURIES

Hounds, Put on Trail, Lose Track of Fleeing Man—Officers of Multnomah and Clackamas Are in Search

The officials of both Clackamas and Multnomah counties have united in the search for an Italian, named either Dominico Ornamano or Roman Padgin, who shot and critically wounded Mrs. Olimpia Polarmani, an Italian woman living on the Grays crossing road at Kendle, just south of the Multnomah-Clackamas county line.

The crime was committed about noon Saturday while the woman who was alone in her home. Neighbors watched the man run along the road into Ardenwald and disappear toward Milwaukie.

Deputy Bert Staats was the first Clackamas county official to leave on the hunt and he was followed by Sheriff Mass and Deputy Miles about 1 o'clock.

The woman was taken to the St. Vincent's hospital in Portland early in the afternoon where she is now in a critical condition. Her assailant shot her in the back and cut her face with a large knife.

Word was received here late in the afternoon that Mrs. Polarmani was dying and District Attorney Hedges left for Grays Crossing to get a statement from the woman. Upon his arrival there he learned that she had been taken to the Portland hospital and Attorney Hedges instructed Portland officials to get a statement, if possible. It was learned later that a statement was secured.

Investigation at the scene of the crime has brought out many details. The man who attacked Mrs. Polarmani has been seen in the neighborhood for several days and it is said that he insulted her several times earlier this week. The last time Padgin, or Ornamano, was at the Polarmani home, he threatened revenge and at noon Saturday, while the woman's husband was at work, he returned with a gun. Mrs. Polarmani ran to the home of Mrs. Porella, a neighbor, and the man shot her in the back while she ran and followed her, according to information gathered Saturday night. In the house, Mrs. Porella states, he pulled a large knife from his coat and slashed Mrs. Polarmani's face.

The sheriff's offices in both Clackamas and Multnomah counties were notified and men were sent out on the case. Bloodhounds from Kelly's Butte were put on the track, but they lost the trail after following it for a short distance.

Mrs. Polarmani is the mother of three children and has lived in the Grays Crossing district for some time. Her husband is employed at the Northern Pacific car barns.

ITALIAN WOMAN, SHOT BY COUNTRYMAN, DIES

SEARCH FOR ASSAILANT CONTINUES BUT WITHOUT RESULT

Mrs. Olimpia Polarmani, who was shot by an Italian last Saturday noon, died at the St. Vincent's hospital in Portland Tuesday morning. A widow, and a 20-month-old babe survive her. Her husband is employed at a railway carshops in Portland.

The assailant, Mrs. Polarmani is still free, despite the efforts of Clackamas and Multnomah county officials. In an effort to find the man, special detectives co-operated with the officials and a close watch has been kept in the former favorite haunts of the man, whose name is believed to be Dominec Padgin.

Sheriff Mass has spent considerable time on the case and is of the opinion that if sufficient indignation is aroused among Padgin's fellow countrymen in Portland, the man will be located. The sheriff believes that because of the feeling among the Italians in Portland, Padgin may remain hidden securely until the hunt for him is dropped.

641 MAJORITY FOR NOOSE IN ALL STATE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.—Returns today from Malheur county made the vote on the measure before the voters last Tuesday providing for abolition of capital punishment virtually complete and served to make sure the defeat of the bill.

Malheur returned a net majority of 69 votes against the bill. The total vote now stands 96,746 for the measure and 96,887 against it. The majority against it now is 641 and it is believed that fully 95 per cent of the vote in the state has been reported, inasmuch as every county is included in the available returns, the present figures reflect the sentiment of the voters.

The three other measures passed last week were: Prohibition, provision for merging cities and requiring voters to be citizens.

In Both State and County, Winners Score Large Lead Over Opponents—Auditors Work on Amendments

The total increase in the assessment of Oregon City for next year's taxes over this year will be about $61,000, according to figures prepared by County Assessor J. E. Jack.

The total assessed valuation of Oregon City in 1913, on which this year's taxes were based, was $2,795,337. Excluding the assessments made by the state tax commission, the assessed valuation this year, on which next year's taxes will be based, is $2,171,265. The state commission assesses property valued at about $655,000.

Assessor Jack denied Tuesday that he would raise the assessment of Oregon City as was rumored the first of the week. "Oregon City will be assessed on the same scale as the rest of the county and state," he said. "The increase in assessment follows actual increase in the value of Oregon City property."

CLACKAMAS DAY AT SHOW IS SUCCESS

SEVENTY-FIVE FROM OREGON CITY ATTEND BIG PORTLAND FAIR THURSDAY NIGHT

SPECIAL CAR CARRIES OVER 60

Brass Band Escorts Delegation From From Station to Armory—Clackamas Exhibit is One Feature of Display

A throng which filled the big Portland armory and its extensions until every aisle and corner of the building was crowded attended the Manufacturers' and Land Products show in Portland Thursday which was Clackamas County Day.

Sixty-two enthusiastic Clackamas boosters left Oregon City at 7 o'clock for the show on the special car. The car was so crowded by the good-natured delegation that only the aisle seats were filled. The party arrived in Portland before 8 o'clock and O. E. Freytag, who is director of exhibits of the big Portland fair as well as manager of the publicity department here, met the car. It is estimated that 75 from this city were at the Portland show.

Lead by a brass band, the Clackamas county delegation was guided to the armory where the show was in progress. The Portland armory covers an entire block and extensions which take up the 60-foot streets around the building were built to accommodate the crowds and the exhibits.

Oregon City and Clackamas county play an important part in the success of the show. The county booth, in which the best of the exhibit at the state fair is displayed, is one of the largest and most attractive and draws hundreds of visitors. In the county booth are two live pigs, the only live stock in the show.

The local woolen mill has a complete exhibit which is considered the largest in the building. Many specimens of the products of the plant are shown. The county delegation spent the evening in thoroughly inspecting every department of the show. Persons from Oregon City wore badges which were distributed during the ride to Portland. The return trip was made late in the evening and the car arrived in this city at 11 o'clock.

VOTERS KILL FREAK LAWS AT ELECTION

Summaries of Oregon election returns show that all of the 26 measures and amendments on the ballot affecting industries, taxation and investments have been defeated.

The press of the state was almost unanimously against these proposed laws, condemning many of them as radical and freak propositions and the result is defeat of a vicious system of legislation.

For some of these measures, campaigns were made and a great deal of money spent in advertising them, and strong organizations were put back of them, but the voters had made up their minds to check the system.

Some of the measures were endorsed by the state grange, labor organizations and the so-called People's Power league for direct legislation, that has been an effective combination in the past.

A number of the proposed laws that have all gone down in defeat were backed by the organized women's club of the state, but an educated public sentiment on the part of the general electorate doomed them all to defeat.
