MOLALLA BAND HALL OPENED TO PUBLIC

MOLALLA, Ore., Nov. 10.—For the past 25 years Molalla has had a band. One year ago it took on a new life and Professor O. K. Cole was engaged as director.

The business management has been progressive. It has just completed an auditorium which is said to be the largest and most complete in Clackamas county. It will seat comfortably 1600 persons and 1500 can be crowded into it. It has an artistic exterior. Inside it is attractively finished and has a large stage.

Saturday night it was formally dedicated to the public. The band gave a concert and G. J. Taylor, editor of the Molalla Pioneer, delivered an address. He attributed the rapid development of Molalla to the fact that its people had found the proper use of the hammer. Instead of using it in destructive knocking, it was being used in constructive building.

A dance followed in which several hundred persons participated.

MILWAUKIE ADOPTS NEW STREET PLANS

MILWAUKIE, Ore., Nov. 11.—The city council last night passed an ordinance providing for the establishment of a house and building numbering system and the renumbering of the city streets. Numbering will commence at once and street signs will be put up the first of the year. The council committee last night amended and approved the 25-year franchise of the Portland and Oregon City Railway, Stephen Carver's road, in Milwaukie. It was passed and will be acted upon at a special meeting in about three weeks.

The franchise includes several different routes, which are over private right of way for most of the distance. Within 30 days of the approval of the franchise by the mayor, Carver must file a written acceptance naming the route to be traversed. The franchise will then be void for the other routes.

The numbering and street naming ordinance was planned by City Engineer J. W. Morris with the assistance of Councilmen Ray Albee and Herman Loeding. An explanatory map is made a part of the ordinance. Most of the streets running east and west will retain their present names. Streets running north and south will be numbered consecutively with the same numbers as if the north and south streets of Portland were extended in to Milwaukie.

COUNTY'S PRINCIPALS WILL MEET SATURDAY

MILWAUKIE, Ore., Nov. 10.—Judging from the favorable replies received by Principal Robert Goetz of Milwaukie high school in response to letters, a large number of the 12 high school principals of the county will attend the meeting of the Clackamas County Schoolmen's club at Oregon City high school Saturday to make definite plans for re-establishing the Clackamas county high school debating league in operation three years ago.

At the meeting Saturday, the domestic science class of Oregon City high school will serve dinner at 7 p. m. and 8 p. m., a program, arranged by Superintendent Calvan and Supervisors Vedder and McCormick, will be presented. Each teacher attending will give a five minute talk on his hobby or plans for the year at his school.

Mrs. C. E. Goetz, of Sellwood, has been appointed music teacher at Milwaukie high school to succeed Miss Minnie E. Emmel, of Milwaukie, Miss Emma E. Cummel, to teach the third grade.

PATRICK HAYES BURIED

MILWAUKIE, Ore., Nov. 10.—The funeral of Patrick Hayes, aged 60, a Milwaukie gardener, who died here Sunday, was held this morning from the Catholic Church at 7th and D streets. A requiem mass was held. Mr. Hayes had resided in Oregon 25 years, and was a member of the Woodmen of the World. His widow, Mrs. Mary Hayes, and one son, John, both of Milwaukie, survive him. Interment was in Mount Calvary cemetery.

WELSH HELD TO DRAW

MILWAUKIE, Wis., Nov. 8.—Fred Welsh, of Wales, lightweight champion of the world, was held to a draw in a fiercely fought 10-round contest here tonight with Charlie White.

Under the law, a referee's decision could not be given, but it was the opinion of the newspaper experts that the Chicago boy evaded up honors by his whirlwind finishing move.

Welsh was six pounds heavier than the Chicagoan when they hopped on the scales at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The champion, stripped, weighed 141, while White, in fighting togs, scaled 135. The men had agreed to box at catch weights.

TRACTION OFFICIALS HEAD BOOSTER FAIR

SANDY, Ore., Nov. 11.—A public agricultural booster meeting, along the lines of a farmers' institute, will be held at Sandy Saturday under the auspices of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. After noon luncheon, J. E. Wierman and F. W. Green will explain the plans of the company for developing the agricultural resources of the country tributary to its lines. Mrs. Helen Brooks of Oregon Agricultural college, will speak on "Domestic Art," and Frank McAllister of the Union Meat Co. will speak.

F. D. Hunt and R. M. Townsend of the railroad company have arranged the meeting. A local reception committee will be assisted by Mrs. T. W. Cross, Miss Carrie Bush, Miss Genevieve Stinson and Stanley Stinson.

The Misses Elizabeth and Mary Brobst, assisted by Mrs. Frank Brobst gave their friends a unique Halloween party out of doors, where the guests roasted wienies in a bon-fire, and everything looked weird and mysterious, while the lean hands of a ghost occasionally poked the fire.

Robt. Graham and family have moved back to the farm, much to the delight of their friends here.

Andy MacConnell spent a few days in Portland and Oregon City last week. Reed Graham went to Portland on Tuesday, on business.

Wilsonville turned out en masse to vote on election day and went dry by two votes, but Pleasant Hill precinct from which Wilsonville has recently been divorced, held her old record of going "wet" three to one.

STAFFORD

In 1851 the editor of a newspaper (possibly the Enterprise) at Oregon City, expressed a wish that the time would come when there would be more than a semi-weekly mail between Oregon City and Portland and in the same year the total vote of Oregon was 237, and that included the entire Pacific Northwest. The wages of carpenters in 1850 in Portland were from $5 to $12 a day and flour was $14 a barrel. Let us not sigh for the good old times for they never in those days met at Frog Pond Grange hall, 50 men and one woman and spent an entire afternoon instructing the County Court how to do its business, as these 50 men and one woman did last Saturday. One man after some demur on his part took the chair, another acted as secretary, two tellers were appointed, and everyone put down a name for the office of road supervisor for the coming year, the present incumbent receiving two more votes than any other on the second ballot, so now the County Court is at liberty to appoint whom it pleases as petitioners by the district never seem to have much effect. It was rumored that we were to meet to vote upon a special tax to repair the Hayes hill and a few other bad spots, so as to make the roads good for winter travel, which idea accounted for three-fourths of the attendance as no one seemed to be opposed to a tax for that special purpose.

Fred Barnes, of Frog Pond, was stricken with paralysis of his side on Monday, the second, and his condition is still reported as uncertain.

A little girl, whose clothes caught fire from an out door fire, built to cook feed for hogs, was burned to death last week. Her parents are Austrians. The mother was prostrated and thrown into convulsions with the shock.

Mrs. Brink, who called the doctor last week for a painful attack of rheumatism is better.

Eggs are in good demand, and bring a good price.

Some growers are digging late potatoes, but the most of the fields are green as summer.

Henry Baker finished a field on Tuesday, Nov. 10, he put into winter oats on the Gage place, and Mr. Nussbaum is plowing another field on the same place.

Mrs. I. Q. Gage and children and Mrs. O. Z. Holton and two girls left for home and school on Sunday after a vacation spent at Mr. Gage's.

Mrs. Oldham is better, and the ladies are to remember the Circle is meeting with her next week, Thursday, Nov. 19. All bring needles and thimbles and prepare to spend a busy day.

POTATO TRADE WEAK IN PORTLAND MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2.—Further weakness is showing for potatoes in the local market and the extreme price in the wholesale market today was $1 a cwt. Even this price was reported shaded for fair sized lots of best quality, with ordinary stock being freely offered down to 85c per cwt.

Offerings of potatoes from the home section continue to show an increase. The result is that with no outside demand except for an occasional car of something extra select for San Francisco shipment, the wants of the home trade are being over-supplied.

Idaho continues to offer potatoes in the local market, but so far as known the trade has made no recent purchases from there, because of the more free offering from the home territory.

Better quality and more favorable sizes are now coming from the home section, and at this time there is prac-

UNION TRADE DROPS; LOW PRICES OFFERED

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.—Onion market is showing considerable weakness here although a very slight improvement is noted in the California situation. California growers were recently receiving an average of 22c a bag for their onions and even at that price were free sellers.

Locally, there is little doing in the market. W. L. Swank, general selling agent for the "Confederated Onion Growers' association, says that he has been offering No. 1 association stock

PORTLAND HOP TRADE HAS SLUGGISH TONE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 10.—Trading in the hop market locally has been at a standstill since the election. The only recent sales included a lot of 442 bales by Krebs to Bishop & Key of McMinnville at 10 1/2c a pound. These goods were reported as nearly choice, indicating that the market is slightly weaker as well as very dull.

Low quality goods is an extreme drag on the market. Harry L. Hart Hop company purchased about a carload in the valley during the last 24 hours at 7 1/2 to 8 3/4c a pound, but this seems to be about the only transaction reported in that line.

According to hop buyers there are practically no orders now coming in from the east. Indications are that eastern buyers, if they purchase at all here, will wait until the last of the month before taking hold.

Business also seems to be practically suspended in Washington sections and dullness is likewise reported in eastern markets.

Hop business abroad is stagnant, with prices reported somewhat weaker.

PORTLAND TRADE IN CATTLE VERY LIGHT

Receipts for the week at the Portland Union Stock Yards Co. have been: Cattle 550, calves 11, hogs 3205, sheep 405.

Receipts have been so light this week that there has been no real test in prices. Most of the offerings are best characterized by the term "near beef," while there has not been any quality stuff offered so doubt well finished steers would bring $6.75 to $7.

Hog run has been about 50 per cent less than it should have been. Prices were well maintained during the week, bulk of offering going around 7c. The market in finishing strong at 7.10 to $7.15 for best quality porkers.

A light week in the sheep section, all lines maintaining good strong prices. Lambs of good quality are bringing $6.25, ewes are selling well at $4.50 for tops, wethers remaining at the $5.50 mark.

The following sales are representative:

24 steers	1151	$6.65

WAR IN EUROPE HAS EFFECT ON OAT TRADE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6.—Interest in the oats market is at fever heat throughout the Pacific northwest, on account of the heavier calls for supplies from Europe. While prices here have recently shown but little response to this enormous call, the situation is unusually strong and the prospects for the future are very bright.

There is likewise increasing interest in the barley trade, although it is somewhat less pronounced than for other cereals.

While much strength is displayed locally in the market for first class butter, there is practically no call here for the cheaper grades. For city creamery and for the best outside make, values in general are being maintained at recent figures, but there is absolutely no call for the poorer stuff.

This is especially evident in dairy stock. California is usually a very heavy buyer of dairy butter in the and other Pacific northwest markets, but at the moment there is an entire absence of demand from the south for this product.

VOTERS LUNCH AT POLLS

CLACKAMAS, Ore., Nov. 5.—A luncheon and dinner was served at the polling place in the Oddfellows' hall here yesterday by the women of the Congregational church. Voters from out of town and town folks patronized it well. One hundred and twenty votes was cast by noon, which is about one-third of the entire vote of the precinct.

Line Being Rebuilt.
The Molalla Electric Co., supplying Hubbard and other adjacent towns with electric service, has been having its share of grief the past three weeks, according to Manager G. H. Bentshader. About three weeks ago lightning struck the wires and followed into the plant burning a hole in a field coil on the generator. Had the damage been done on the outer edge of the coil the machine would have been put out of commission at once, but as it was in the center the damaged coil did not heat sufficiently to cause serious trouble for several days. Then it was found the generating and field windings would have to be put in new. To do this the available force at the plant worked continuously until the work was ready to test out, using 1140 pounds of copper wire. The generator was tested out at 11900 volts although 6000 volts is all that is ever used.—Hubbard Enterprise.

Library Opened.
The formal opening of our new public library was held last Wednesday evening, the occasion being a reception to the citizens of Woodburn, arranged by the library board.

After three days' hard work, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, moving into the building and arranging the books systematically on shelves, at 8 p. m. the doors were thrown open to the public for inspection, and over two hundred interested spectators piled into every nook and corner, from the boiler room to the room upstairs. All displayed great satisfaction at the conveniences provided for the use of our reading public. Shortly after 8 o'clock all were invited into the lecture room, which was far from large enough to accommodate all, where an interesting program held the attention of the guests for over two hours, Mayor Lively acting as master of ceremonies, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Poorman, chairman of the library board.—Woodburn Independent.

Automobile Accident.
An accident occurred Friday night which resulted in but slight injuries and little damage, though the possibilities of both were averted through pure good luck. An automobile, driven by Clarence Scheurer, collided with a heavy wagon driven by John Kraus, just across the North bridge. The team broke loose and ran away. Kraus was pitched out of the wagon, but not hurt. John McNeal, one of the automobile party, had one finger badly bruised, and the other members of the party, A. H. Will and George Wurster, were "well shaken."

The accident was due to the blinding glare from a big Studebaker automobile, which contained a party of ladies returning from a party in the country. The powerful headlights cast the rays from the grade above the coming vehicles and made it impossible for those in the auto to see anything ahead. The ditches on either side made it impossible to get the team and wagon entirely out of the way.—Aurora Observer.

Molalla Street Work Rushed.
Carl Ritter has a gang of men putting in a tile underdrain on Main street from the schoolhouse. The tile is ten inches in diameter on the street east of Molalla avenue and twelve inches west of that point.

While not properly a sewer it will answer the purpose for many years. It has a good fall and if people on the abutting property are compelled to use septic tanks it will give satisfaction for a long time.

This costs thirty cents per foot and the property owners on the south side of the street pay one-half and the north side one-quarter and the school district pays the other quarter.

This drain was made absolutely necessary at this time to give drainage for the septic tank at the school house.—Molalla Pioneer.
