THE GROW OF PROHIBITION and its adoption by more states each year is one of the most promising features of the present generation.

The next step is national prohibition. Each year more states approve the plan than in the year preceding.

National prohibition is the natural and logical remedy for the liquor evil. The federal government can enforce an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting the sale and manufacture of liquor much better than can the individual states.

Already the cry, "national prohibition in 1920" has been raised and dry campaigners are preparing for the battle when they predict that their cause will sweep the country.

MANY THEATRICAL COMPANIES have been cancelling their dates this fall owing to poor receipts. This is the age of moving pictures, and of the repertory companies that play "ten, twenty, thirty."

Certainly there were never so many poor actors on the road as now. A player may come on the stage in a dress suit, undertaking to present the part of a finished society man.

Every press agent advertises his play as the greatest success of the season. The dictionary is exhausted to find adjectives to describe its sparkle, force and charm.

There is still, however, an enormous public of intelligent people who know a real actor when they see him.

Many leading newspapers hand their theatrical criticism over to mere boys, who are susceptible to the seductions of a favorite actress, or to liberal distributions of passes.

FOUR OR FIVE YEARS AGO through November, newspapers and magazines were publishing articles on the abolition of football.

This feeling was voiced by a prominent educator, who said: "The boys are trained to consider as the hero, not the moral champion or the mental expert, but the successful tackler or heavy rusher."

This fall no more is heard of the proposed abolition of football than of the abolition of July Fourth, county fairs or any other recognized American institution.

Perhaps our educators are coming to realize that colleges are a democracy, in which the student body has an important voice.

The scholastic may think the ideal boy is the one who sits in the gloom of the college library, reading "Paradise Lost," while his mates are piling up in a heap out on the gridiron.

These are vital values. The only question is, are the physical risks too great? Probably an increasing number of parents feel that they are, and that other games would give good training at less cost.

PETITION IS OUT FOR G. B. DIMICK

FRIENDS OF W. V. & HEAD ASK HIM TO BECOME CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

THREE RIVALS ARE STILL POSSIBLE

Mayor Jones and Councilman Hackett do Not Announce Intentions—Three Weeks Left for Nominations

A petition, asking Judge Grant B. Dimick to become a candidate for mayor, was put into circulation Tuesday and liberally signed.

No new candidates have come out yet, neither Mayor Linn Jones, Councilman E. C. Hackett or Judge Dimick have announced their intention of running from the race.

Judge Dimick is known to favor an economical policy and said Tuesday evening that he believed that a charter amendment with some of the features of the measure defeated Monday should be put before the voters.

Judge Dimick is known to be very busy owing to his many duties as president of the Willamette Valley Southern and the demands made upon him by his law practice.

Friktion with the council characterized the last administration of Judge Dimick as mayor, but none of those who strongly opposed him are now in the council and among the first to sign the petition for Judge Dimick Tuesday was one of the former members of the council who opposed Judge Dimick.

All nominations for city offices must be made within the next three weeks as the time expires Wednesday, December 2.

BOTH JONES AND HACKETT ARE OUT

JUDGE GRANT B. DIMICK WITH HOLDS DECISION UNTIL HE SEES PETITION

ECONOMY IS KEY OF ALL PLATFORMS

Pipeline Promises to Become Issue Although Out of Hands of Mayor—None of Three Oppose New Pavement

Both Linn E. Jones and E. C. Hackett will be candidates for mayor at the city election December 7.

Mayor Jones' petition was filed with Recorder Loder Wednesday evening and the petition for Councilman Hackett will probably be filed within a few days.

Judging from Mr. Hackett's stand in the council and from statements he has made during the last week, his platform will be based on economy.

Mayor Jones also favors a policy of economy and retrenchment. He made the following statement Wednesday evening:

"After being urged by a great many business men and taxpayers of the town, I have concluded to become a candidate and my petition has been filed with the recorder.

"I feel that so many issues of vital importance to the taxpayers are yet unsettled that it would be a poor time to change administrations.

"The vote on the amendment last Monday shows clearly to me that the taxpayers are demanding an economical policy of a more rigid nature and, without being radical, I shall recommend to the council that the city expenditure in the future will be kept down as nearly as practical to the income.

"The streets have been improved, it will be possible by working in harmony with the council to retrench and economize in every department of the city.

"The council is now working on a budget which, after being submitted to the voters and adopted by the council, will, I believe, attain this result and I intend to use every effort in my power to enforce the same."

Of the three possible candidates, Mayor Jones, Councilman Hackett and Judge Dimick, the latter two are opposed to the pipeline from the south fork of the Clackamas.

The expense of the project in relation to the size of Oregon City is given by both as the reason for their stand.

Although the pipeline project will be approved or rejected by the voters and the council and the mayor will be forced to respect their will, the issue promises to play a part in the campaign for mayor.

Councilman Hackett is opposed to the Seventh street elevator and believes that it should not be operated unless it can be made financially self-supporting from fares, while Judge Dimick has taken no definite stand, giving as his reason the fact that he is not familiar with all the circumstances surrounding the public hot.

None of the three men are opposed to the repavement of Main street.

Mayor Jones has always been an ardent supporter of a new pavement and both of the other two believe that an improvement is necessary.

PROHIBITION EFFECT ON HOPS DOUBTFUL

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—For 48 hours there has been an absence of business in the hop market pending the result of the wet or dry campaign in Oregon, California and Washington.

No orders have yet been received from the east. There is much speculation among the trade as to the probable effect that the dry victory will have upon the hop market here and in Washington.

In some quarters there is a belief that brewers in the east will no longer purchase Oregon and Washington hops if supplies are obtainable elsewhere but this idea is not generally held by the trade.

The general belief is that brewers will purchase hops where they can secure them on the most favorable terms. It is known positively that some of the big dealers have been selling heavily short to eastern brewers and will be compelled to cover.

On the other hand there were many Oregon growers who refused to sell prior to election under the belief that a wet result would have caused brewers to buy more freely.

These are now likely to offer their supplies to the trade and may force values down although none are in a position to state definitely what the results will be.

All along this season there has been far too great a difference between the price of New York hops and those grown on the Pacific coast.

For instance latest reports from New York quoted best stock there at 32c to 35c a pound compared with best sales here at 19c to 19 1/2c.

This is explained by some by the fact that many brewers who have been in the habit of using German hops for their bottled stock, were forced to purchase New York's as a substitute.

The latter are said to be closest to German hops and on account of the shortage in supplies in the empire state, are able to command a big premium over the general market.

Oregon-Dry

Alcohol has been dethroned. His kingdom swept away. All his state-wide army has been routed in a day.

CHORUS: Hurrah, hurrah, we'll bring the jubilee, Hurrah, hurrah, the flag that makes us free!

So we sang the chorus from Snake river to the sea, While we were voting the state dry.

Oregon's true, fearless sons and daughters gave the word They'd vote out the whisky traffic on November third.

All for manhood, clean and pure, We raised our banner high, That temptation be removed, Nor men as drunkards die.

"All for God and home and native land," our battle cry, While we were voting the state dry.

CATTLE QUARANTINE NOW IN 13 STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Colder weather, with rain, in states infected with the foot and mouth disease was hailed by department of agriculture officials today as a powerful ally in their campaign to suppress the rapidly spreading livestock epidemic.

News of more affected districts caused the department to extend the federal quarantine to include Delaware, New Jersey and Rhode Island and to bar cattle shipments from Canada.

Thirteen states now are under quarantine. While no cases of the disease have been found in Canada, the quarantine against the dominion is to prevent the return of infected cattle cars to the United States.

It will stop shipments of cattle into the United States valued at approximately $5,000,000 a year.

Figures compiled by the department of commerce show that for the nine months, ending with September, imports from that country aggregated 11,792, valued at $5,950,491.

For the month of September last 26,796 head of cattle were imported, valued at $1,076,216.

The effect on the meat situation in the United States of the Canada quarantine cannot be estimated immediately, according to department officials.

It will depend upon whether imports from Canada have been for immediate slaughter or for fattening purposes.

There's no such work as failure in connection with the forbidden fruit crop.

Old English Slaves. Before the conquest and for a long time after at least two-thirds of the people of England were denuded of all the substantial attributes of freedom.

The lords had the absolute disposal of them. They might be attached to the soil or transferred by deed, sale or conveyance from one lord to another.

They could not change their place or hold property—in short, they were slaves under their obligation of perpetual servitude, which the consent of the master alone could dissolve.

The system was not fairly abolished until the reign of Charles II., and so late as 1775 men were bought and sold in Scotland with the estates to which they were bound.

CLACKAMAS, Ore., Nov. 7.—The public school gave a Halloween entertainment and social at the Grange hall here.

The programme consisted of recitations and songs, fairy drill, darkey and ghost stunt, skeleton dance, jack o'lantern drill, witches, phantasy and special Halloween exercises.

Bobbing for apples furnished considerable amusement for the boys.
