POTATO QUARANTINE IS ADVOCATED NOW

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 12.—Latest reports from California seem to have justified local produce interests in asking that a quarantine be established against the sale of potatoes from that state in this or other Pacific northwest markets.

At first it was generally believed that the ravages of the tuber moth were confined to but a few growing sections of California, but latest reports from there indicate that few sections are exempt. It is stated that the situation is so bad that unless aggressive steps are taken by the states of the Pacific northwest there will be no potato industry here to speak of within the next year or two.

It is stated that the United States department of agriculture is heartily in favor of the quarantine because it is believed that only by this step will California growers take warning and endeavor to clean up their seed.

California has some very rigid quarantine laws to bar out the outside states whenever there is a chance that too much outside stuff will be shipped there and the industry of California threatened. Nurserymen especially are strong in their denunciation of the methods of California interests. It is stated that only a short time ago an Oregon nursery sent a shipment of fruit trees to California and they were quickly condemned and returned to the state. The disease claimed was, if any such existed, so rare that even the leading horticultural authorities of this state were unable to find it in any of the standard references.

PORTLAND EGG TRADE HAS A WEAK TONE

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 7.—Further weakness and another loss in the price is shown generally in the local egg market. Sales of candled extras are reported in large lots down to 32c a dozen, although some interests are still obtaining 33c in a limited way. Receipts of fresh eggs continue to increase. There is likewise additional supplies of ice house stock coming from the east, a fresh car being reported in yesterday. Another big shipment of old Chinese eggs is also reported.

With the egg market generally depressed and with stock of storage goods unusually heavy, the outlook is for the fresh price here to drop to 30c within the immediate future. At that price the market will be on debatable ground for awhile as is usually the case at this period of the season. When eggs reach 30c a dozen during January, weather conditions have a tendency to stiffen or weaken values from that point.

McKALVEY GETS JUDGMENT.

Mudge McKalvey won a judgment for $125 against Mrs. Lulu Pamblin in the circuit court Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Pamblin several years ago leased her farm about five miles out on the Abernathy to McKalvey for a period of three years and the latter paid $600 for the entire period of lease, $200 after a year and a half, the McKalvey family left the place and Mrs. Pamblin took possession. McKalvey then sued to regain rent. Earle Latourette appeared for the plaintiff and C. Schuebel and L. Stipp for the defendants.

HEAVY DEALS MADE IN ONION MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8.—Better movement and a steadier tone in the trade here is shown for onions.

Sales in carload lots by the Confederated Oniengrowers' association are increasing. Transactions have been shown during the last 24 hours with both the south and north. Puget Sound being quite a fair buyer. With the better demand from various sections along the coast, the association continues to maintain its minimum price of $1.25 a rental f. o. b. country shipping points.

Growers are showing a general disposition to feed the present market at this price and the trade is therefore in a healthier state than for some time previous.

Local onions are showing unusually good quality this season, there being an unusually small per cent of stuff that does not show excellent keeping quality.

HOG RECEIPTS ARE HEAVY IN PORTLAND

Receipts for the week at the Portland Union Stock Yards have been: Cattle, 1846; calves, 14; hogs, 10,323; sheep, 5156. With the exception of Monday's run the receipts have been slack. Prices continue on a par with Monday's market. Best steers brought $8.00; cows, $6.85; heifers, $6.50. Outlook is steady. Hog receipts were particularly heavy this week, over 10,000 head coming forward, prices accordingly dopped slightly. Tons being at $7.15 today.

All offerings in the sheep section are quickly taken, every thing available going at good prices. Lambs bring $7.50 while yearling wethers sell readily at $6.50.

30,000 VOICES AND Many Are The Voice of Oregon City People.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women, who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Oregon City people are in this chorus. Here's an Oregon City case: Mrs. Jane Blanchard, 1102 John Adams St., Oregon City, Oregon, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney and bladder trouble that annoyed me for years. I had great relief. In all, I have taken less than two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, but that amount was enough to convince me of their merit." Mrs. Blanchard is only one of many Oregon City people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the name that Mrs. Blanchard had—the remedy backed by home testimony, 50c all stores.
