ANSWERS ORIGINAL IF NOT CORRECT

CIRCLE ANYTHING ROUND OR THAT HAS APPEARANCE OF BEING ROUND, SAYS PUPIL. The wisest teachers were never able to originate such answer as those given by Clackamas county pupils in the eighth grade examination papers which are now being corrected. Supervisor McCormick, who is assisting County Superintendent Calavan, has collected the following gems: A fraction means a hole number and then something over. A circle is a round thing which is perfect round. The quotient is the name of some number in which you divide by. A polygon is a square or rectangle which has more than four sides. A fraction is a part of a number. A circle is a continuous line that has no end. A polygon is a bar that has three sides or more. A circle is anything that is round or has the appearance of being round. A circle is a round figure having no corners nor ends. A quotient is what is obtained by from adding number together.

J. E. Mathews, Charles Lakin, Jr., and Frank Brakau, of Milwaukie, were arrested Wednesday on a charge of gambling, following a secret indictment returned by the grand jury which ended its work Tuesday. Remington Kelly, alleged to be connected with the other three, is held on a similar charge. He was arrested early Sunday morning in a shack near Milwaukie by Deputy Sheriff Riley, of Milwaukie. The four will be taken before Circuit Judge Campbell to enter a plea.

VAN BRAKLE OPENS SCHOOL AT BOLTON

After being closed for about two weeks on account of a mild epidemic of smallpox, the Bolton school was opened Monday morning. The last quarantine was lifted Friday by County Health Officer Van Brakle. The Bolton outbreak of smallpox is the last of a number of minor epidemics that have kept Dr. Van Brakle busy since early last fall. The spread of the disease, at Willamette, where other ailments complicated the situation, presented the most serious problem to him. Oswego, Jennings Lodge and Milwaukie have all been visited by the disease and at one time a number of cases were reported in Oregon City, although the situation was not considered serious enough here to close the schools.

CHANGES MADE IN SATURDAY PROGRAM

HOURS OF RIVER EVENTS AND FIREMEN'S RACES TRANSPOSED BY COMMITTEE.

Word has been received from the Oregon Agricultural college that instead of Professor Kennedy, who was to have judged horses and cattle in the stock show on Ross Festival and Booster Day, Professor E. B. Pitts has been delegated for that work. It has also been announced by the committee that the firemen's races originally scheduled for 11:15 a. m. will be changed to 4 p. m. This will better accommodate some of the men who are entering for these events. The firemen's races will be held on Main street directly in front of the courthouse where they can be witnessed by the greatest possible number of people. The river events will be changed to 11:15 a. m. in order not to interfere with the firemen's events. Every indication now points to the biggest booster day Oregon City has ever witnessed, and all that is needed to ensure a complete success is weather. The Mt. Angel band, the local Moose band, and Beaches Boys' band have all been engaged for the day and music on the streets will be a prominent feature. This will be the first appearance of the boys' band in their new uniforms.

Carl Anderson Will Become Principal of Oak Grove School.—Three Do Not Apply For Places Here Next Year. Only three positions remain to be filled in the public schools of Oregon City. The board of directors Wednesday night selected nearly all of the teachers who are applicants for re-election, and put over the election of a grade teacher in the Eastham building, instructor in the commercial department of the high school and principal of the high school. It is probable that the entire corps will be chosen within a week, for the board adjourned to meet next Wednesday night, when vacancies will be filled. At the meeting next week, the directors will probably pass upon plans for the construction of the proposed addition to the high school building. The three janitors of the city schools were re-elected Wednesday night: George T. Johnson, high school building; Herman Biermann, Eastham building; Fred Erickson, Barclay building. JUDGE E. H. REDMAN IS PLACED IN JAIL

The impeachment proceedings brought in the Indiana Supreme court against Judge E. H. Redman, of the Vigo county circuit court, who is now a federal prisoner at Leavenworth for election fraud in connection with the famous Terre Haute case, will be heard tomorrow. Mayor Don M. Robert of Terre Haute, the ringleader in the frauds, has already been impeached. A summons for Judge Redman was left at the "usual place of residence" of the judge at Terre Haute, there being no provision for serving a summons on him in the federal prison. A suit is pending at Rockville, Ind., to contest the election of Judge Redman, and should he be ousted from office by the supreme court, Governor Ralston will appoint a successor, to serve until the Rockville suit is determined. Judge Redman was elected by a majority of ten votes last November over Charles Pulliam, the Republican candidate, for judge of the circuit court. A considerable portion of the federal indictment was devoted to the alleged frauds practiced in the Taylorville precincts of Terre Haute.

A jury in the circuit court Tuesday night returned a verdict for W. T. Tull in the suit of W. E. Hutchinson, of the Molalla district, to collect $2070. The jury was out only a few minutes. WHITE SERGE PICKED FOR NEW CLUB'S SUITS

UNIFORMS FOR MARCHERS IS SELECTED—FIRST APPEARANCE IS PLANNED.

The new uniforms of the marching organization of the Oregon City Commercial club were selected Tuesday night by a committee, with the aid of about 20 members, who were present to examine the various fabrics submitted by local dealers. The material is serge, the color is white, with a fine pin stripe. The coat will be made up in Norfolk style, and white crush hats and white canvas shoes will be worn. On the arm will be the emblem of the organization, which cannot be selected until next Monday when the club will meet to adopt a name. The uniform is natty, reasonably conservative, yet attractive and distinctive, and was the unanimous choice of the committee. Price Bros. was awarded the contract and all members are expected to call at the store of this firm promptly, so that the uniforms may be manufactured in time for arrival here to be worn at the coming Rose Festival at Portland. Captain Williams has called the members together to meet at the Commercial club rooms next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock sharp for the first drill. The club will practice spiffily to become proficient in a few simple evolutions in order to make a good appearance when they first appear at Portland, June 9.

GRAND JURY INDICTS FIVE; FREES FOUR

Five indictments were returned by the grand jury a few minutes before 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The grand jury, after investigations, found the charges against Moy Lee, Louis Hinner, Bertha Sandstrom and Herman Halbach not sufficient to result in a trial in the circuit court. Among the indictments returned is one against Otto Wiseman, of the Clarks district. Wiseman, it is alleged, shot at two small sons of Charles Scriber, of Clarks. The formal charge against the man is threatening to commit a felony. Others indicted and the charges are: M. F. Talley, obtaining money under false pretenses; Remmie Kelly, gambling; Hansen Brothers, contributing to the delinquency of minors, and Matt Jaghm, burglary. Kelly was arrested near Milwaukie early Sunday morning.

OTTO WISEMAN CHARGED WITH THREATENING TO COMMIT A FELONY.

Mr. and Mrs. Lear moved to Beaver Creek about a week ago from Monroe, a town near Seattle, Wash. At one time in her examination by the sheriff and chief of police, she said that she was troubled with "spells," resulting from a severe pain in the back of her head.

POSITIONS IN HIGH SCHOOLS NOT SCARCE

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 17.—Changes in high school staffs, or additions to them, are uncommonly numerous this year, according to the requests so far made by the boards of directors for candidates whom the University of Oregon appointment bureau will recommend. "More requests have come this year than during the whole of last year," said Fred A. Ayer, professor of education and director of the bureau. Professor Ayer suggests two reasons for the numerous openings: Oregon boards of directors show increasing tendency to look for state trained teachers; and the new union high schools are providing numerous teaching places.

The property is divided into 48 lots, the majority of which are five acres.

DAZED WOMAN FOUND WANDERING STREET

SHERIFF AND CHIEF OF POLICE PUZZLED BY CONDUCT OF MRS. JOHN LEAR.

Completely dazed and bewildered, Mrs. John Lear, who settled in the Beaver Creek district a week ago with her husband, was found wandering the street of Oregon City late Sunday afternoon and given into the custody of Sheriff Wilson and Chief of Police Shaw. The two officers, after getting in touch with Fred Wourms, a neighbor of the Lears, sent the woman home on the 6:30 o'clock Willamette Valley Southern train. Her husband met her at Lone Oak station, near their home. She is about 55 years old. Mrs. Lear started for St. Johns early Sunday morning. As nearly as can be learned she went to Portland and returned about noon. She attended church either in Portland or Oregon City. Her peculiarities were first noticed here when she stopped men and women on the streets and asked the location of her husband. She had come to town with him, she declared, but they had become separated. In an effort to secure some trace of his whereabouts, Chief Shaw and Sheriff Wilson tried to secure a story of their parting from her but each answer, instead of clearing the situation, only added to the mystery. Her pocketbook was opened by the officials and her name and address found on two letters. Sheriff Wilson communicated with Tom Smith, mail-carrier on route No. 3, and learned that the Lear home was near the farm of Fred Wourms. Mr. Wourms was told of the situation and informed Mr. Lear who had spent the entire day at home.

GRAND JURY INDICTS FIVE; FREES FOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Lear moved to Beaver Creek about a week ago from Monroe, a town near Seattle, Wash. At one time in her examination by the sheriff and chief of police, she said that she was troubled with "spells," resulting from a severe pain in the back of her head.

JURY "HAND-PICKED" CHARGES JUDGE M'GINN

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—"I do not hesitate to charge that the 1915 jury list was hand-picked," declared Judge Henry E. McGinn from the bench this morning, when Attorney I. N. Smith appeared before him with a plea for a new trial in the damage suit of Birdeane Wallingford against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. Judge McGinn immediately followed up his statement with an investigation to determine if the entire jury list of nearly 3000 names cannot be thrown out and a new panel drawn. "This jury panel was drawn improperly in the first place," said Judge McGinn. "It was drawn by D. G. To masini, who is not a legally constituted jury commissioner. He was not legally appointed. He was not responsible to the taxpayers of this county, and yet he was given a task of the gravest responsibility."
