KELSO SCHOOL CLOSES.

The Kelso school near Cottrell, closed for the year Friday. Saturday evening Judge W. N. Gatens, formerly of the Portland juvenile court, lectured to the parents of the district on the work of the juvenile court of Portland. He pointed out that the responsibility for the misdeeds of children largely rests on parents, and that with them rests the question of doing away with the juvenile courts in this country. He commended the work of the Parent-Teacher association, and said that every district should have an association of parents. Refreshments were served. The meeting was the last for the school year. Promotion exercises will be held for the eighth grade students on June 5. Mrs. J. Barnum, residing in the district, was re-elected principal, and Miss Erickson assistant. Mrs. Barnum plans to conduct half day school sessions for another month, without pay for the benefit of children who want the extra instruction.

NESTUCCA.

Your Stafford correspondent left home on the ninth inst. and came with a Ford car through Sheridan, Willamina, Grand Ronde and over the mountains to couch. Three Rivers, Claverdale and here, at our son's, arriving at 9 p. m., a distance of 78 miles. As far as Grand Ronde the road was good, and better over the mountains than we expected to find them, but still quite rough.

Since arriving on the coast it has rained nearly every day an night, although we have had a few pleasant hours and two or three ideal days, but the continued downpour has rendered the mountain road almost impassable for even a Ford, therefore we are roomed here, enjoying a visit with relatives and friends, and horses and carriage are at our disposal if we wish to venture off the traveled roads.

With others, we attended the State Grange at Tillamook City. Tillamook county is very enthusiastic about the Grange and all were received with open arms. Places were provided for all. The keys of the city were delivered as usual into our hands, and every effort made to make the week long to be remembered as one of the pleasantest of the year's meetings of the State Grange. Saturday, May 15, they claimed to have ordered a day of sunshine for our run down to Bar View, where a clam bake was arranged for our especial pleasure, and as myself and others had never seen a clam bake, or partaken of the succulent bivalve cooked in that manner, we enjoyed it all. The live-saving boys gave us an exhibition of the manner of shooting a line and taking people to safety in a breeches buoy, and explained the use of the boats. We walked out a long distance on the jetty being built there, and saw the trains loaded with huge rock mined a few miles south of there, being hauled and dumped in their places by the aid of three men, some of them as much as eight feet high and half the length of a car.

As the tide came in the view of the bay was beautiful. After the clam bake, those who wished, took the ex-ing on well, and small fruits. Apples are not a success although almost every rancher has them growing. Good buildings, fat cattle, good main roads and the best butter and cheese in the world are to be seen and enjoyed here, and a hospitable wide awake people.

The Enterprise comes to this house every week and seems quite like a message from home every time, although they claim in miss Staffed items when some appear.

TRADING IN HOPS IS LIMITED IN OREGON. PORTLAND, Ore., May 26.—While in some quarters there is more or less talk about his business offering in the hop market, not a single item can be confirmed here. Dealers assert that there is absolutely nothing doing. Efforts of growers to sell contracts have failed. One local broker, who is neither bullish or bearish, because he sells on commission entirely, asserts that he has an option on a prime lot of hops at 9 1/2c but has thus far been unable to secure a buyer that would admit of movement. He also stated that growers were anxious to contract but the best offering was 10c a pound. While this was not accepted by the growers, it is said to be the extreme top.
