THE GOVERNMENT BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE has just published a descriptive list of fifty worst weeds in the United States.

The ease with which weeds root themselves and flourish is one of the mysteries of the government of the world.

The removal of weeds is the task that makes gardening unpopular with the majority of people.

To the good farmer, the absence or presence of weeds is the sign of efficiency or inefficiency.

But even the weeds have their friends. Probably no plant has been more of a favorite with the poets than the daisy.

SANE, LOGICAL AND BUSINESSLIKE is the assertion of the Oregon voter that many Oregon counties can save money for the taxpayers by bonding for the construction of hard surface highways.

The mileage should be small and should be continued to only such roads as are used most, that paper advises.

After the first mileage is built, thus demonstrating the serviceability and economy of hard-surfaced roads, only such roads should be built as can be constructed out of the current tax levy each year.

No county should permit itself to be "rushed" into a costly system of highway construction.

The problem is, which costs the most for a certain mileage? The macadam road or the hard-surface road?

It is up to taxpayers to take a hand in road matters. Do not leave road boosting to the enthusiasts.

Do not labor under the impression that any county can put its entire road fund into paving a few miles of road.

What is needed is a conservative, sane, well-balanced road improvement policy for each county.

THE ANNUAL EDITION OF THE ENTERPRISE, which will make its appearance about the middle of next month, is in reality not a private enterprise but a public institution.

The time for the edition is most opportune. Two thousand copies will be turned over to the Oregon commission at the San Francisco exposition.

These copies will not be handed to every visitor to the Oregon building but mailed only to those who display interest in the county and the state.

The Man Who Aims at Business Success Must Become a Master of System

Business success is not produced without the best system. Aiming at business success is fruitless, unless the best financial methods are used, then the accomplishment is comparatively easy.

THE BANK OF OREGON CITY 34 YEARS IN BUSINESS

the months of July, August and September, the period when The Enterprise annuals will be sent out.

But the foreign circulation of the annuals will not be confined to those sent to San Francisco. Hundreds will be sent out by regular Enterprise subscribers and many more from the office of this paper.

But the opportunity offered by the Panama-Pacific exposition is not the only opportunity that will make the 1915 annual distinctive from all others.

W. H. Dixon, who will have charge of the edition for the fourth time, now has many friends in Clackamas county and knows Clackamas county conditions.

The issue should meet with the approval and support of every resident of the county. It is to Clackamas county what the Oregonian annual is to the state; a medium for community advancement, an issue dedicated to growth, progress and development.

IF ANY CONGRESSMAN IN 1898 had moved that the sum of $47,377,070 be appropriated for the purpose of carrying mail around to the houses of farmers, he would have been thought crazy.

The enormous cost of this service causes criticism. The expense per route is much more than was thought in the beginning.

The people along the route are said largely to pay for it, by the stamps they buy and those that are bought to deliver mail matter to them.

As a time saver the service is very effective. It is cheaper for one many to spend a day taking mail to a hundred farmers, than for a hundred farmers each to spend an hour or two a day driving to the postoffice.

Country and city must each think broadly of the interest of the other. There are certain drawbacks of loneliness to life on the farms.

Rural delivery gives the farmer daily touch with the markets, so he can buy and sell intelligently. It brings the newspaper promptly to his door, so that he does not feel isolated.

IT IS PERHAPS NOT GENERALLY REALIZED how much is now being done to provide for the old age of teachers. The Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching made its annual report the past week, showing nearly $200,000 paid for pensions for college professors.

The effect of this idea, new in the United States, is becoming far-reaching, though it may not draw a great many young people into the profession.

But after a young woman has been teaching for four or five years, she begins to find the sharp limitations of her employment, looked at from the business view-point.

Hence many of them find their way into other employments. They find more attractive opportunities in business ventures of their own, as private secretaries, etc., and some are going into farming.

Realizing the growing scarcity of good teachers, and to hold in their positions many young women who otherwise would quit for more highly rewarded fields, the teachers' pension movement has grown rapidly.

THERE IS NO REASON in the stand taken by R. M. Standish, editor of the Estacada Progress, against all the southern and western part of the county.

The last issue of the Progress contains more than the usual amount of "peevishness." On the front page of the paper, over a column is devoted to a rabid discussion of the decision of the county court to spend $1600 on road oil on the north and south highway through the county.

The adage that honesty is the best policy was knocked into a cocked hat in a New York court recently in the case of a 22-year-old clerk, employed by a firm of contractors, was taken before a magistrate.

Forty-nine gold and silver medals and honorable mentions do not constitute the only awards Clackamas county will receive at the San Francisco exposition.

But the Estacada Progress is right at times, despite its stand against this part of the county. This is from the last issue: "Even a $1,600 application of oil will not cover up the defects in some of Clackamas county's poorly built roads."

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

Concerning Brotnery Love. OSWEGO, Ore., June 21.—(Editor of Enterprise)—The past few weeks have been spent by two or three persons in Oswego, seeing which can have the most insinuating remark printed in our county newspapers.

Not a field in which two or more parties may dispute each other's words by such radical force as professionally printed.

As the boy grows older he will find running through our life the Magna Charter principle, that no one can be condemned on suspicion, or in an irregular or informal way.

regular or informal way. Every accused person must have his chance in court to prove his innocence, before a jury if he wishes.

The sturdy disturbs the quiet of the streets and public conveyances. When a policeman asks him to keep quiet, he retorts "This is a free country, ain't it?"

The department of labor has just issued a statement of the cost of food for the past seven years. This investigation included fifteen different articles of food, and this represents approximately two-thirds of the expenditures for food by the average workingman's family.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY now confesses that it was wrong when it said that it could and would reduce the cost of living.

The duty of five cents per dozen on eggs was removed yet the price of eggs has increased over three per cent since this was done.

THE EUROPEAN WAR has served to teach this country some important lessons. It has demonstrated the need by submarines, torpedo-boat destroyers and fast cruisers for the navy; the need of aeroplanes for the army, and above all the tremendous demand for rifles, big guns and ammunition which war would involve.

In no previous war has there been such tremendous consumption of high explosive bombs, shrapnel, shells and heavy guns themselves and it is safe to say that prior to this war even our own military experts did not realize the extent of the demands which would be made on them in case of war.

For these reasons our military experts are grateful for the lessons of this war and are relieved at the extent to which American manufacturers are fitting themselves to turn out arms and ammunition for the European nations now, it is true, but their plants would be available for this country in case of need.

FEW MEN HAVE ENTERED upon the duties of secretary of state with so many political obligations as did Mr. Bryan and no secretary of state has ever repaid his obligations by the appointment to desirable office of so many of his proteges.

NORTHERN CLACKAMAS COUNTY HOMES have been the victims of an unusual series of robberies during the last three months. Daylight robberies, hold-ups and even one daring street robbery have kept the sheriff and his deputies busy almost constantly.

LEMBERG IS LOST BY RUSSIANS IS LONDON REPORT

REMOVAL OF WAR MATERIALS BY CZAR IS ONLY OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

HEAVY LOSS BY BOTH SIDES IS CONSIDERED PROBABLE

Only Narrow Strip Left for Eviction of Russians—4,000,000 Said to Be Fighting Now.

LONDON, June 22.—Lemberg has fallen, according to many unconfirmed reports that have been received in London.

Evacuation of the Galician capital by the Russians has been regarded as certain for the last few days by observers both in Petrograd and Berlin.

Russian dispatches say Grand Duke Nicholas' army has removed its artillery and supplies in good order, while German official reports say the Russians have been fighting only rear-guard actions recently to gain time to complete the removal of the main army to the Russian frontier.

Austro-German troops have been warning on every side of the city, with the exception of a comparatively small strip, through which the Russians likely had difficulty in extricating themselves without enormous losses in killed and captured.

The same terrific fighting that has characterized the eastern campaign for several weeks past continues in the vicinity of Lemberg and on the Danister, both sides having inflicted enormous losses, according to official reports.

One dispatch from Petrograd says the Austro-German troops on a 100-mile front, from the Tanne to Mikolajow, number 2,000,000, with another 400,000 on the Danister front. From the Baltic to Bukovina the Austro-German forces are estimated at 4,000,000 men.

BRILLIANT VICTORY CLAIMED BY RUSSIANS

PETROGRAD, June 22.—A brilliant Russian victory over the right wing of the Teuton army in Galicia was announced in an official statement issued by the war office here early today.

This success permitted the orderly withdrawal of the Slav forces from the Galician capital. Evacuation of Lemberg would have been made earlier in the week had not such a move been menaced by the Teuton army's right wing.

The statement adds that the enemy is retreating across the Danister river, and that its flight was so precipitate that it was unable to destroy bridges, four of which already have been crossed by pursuing Cossacks.

Explosive Coughs Fairly Rack You to Pieces

Foley's Honey and Tar is Just Like Oil on Troubled Waters for those Violent Racking Coughs.

They rasp and strain your throat, tear at your chest and lungs, congest the blood in your neck and head, almost strangle you, leave you weak and fairly exhausted. Often they are a symptom of such grave diseases as bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia—even tuberculosis.

Oh, for a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR to stop this awful coughing.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND spreads a healing, soothing coating as it glides down the raw inflamed throat. It loosens the cough, brings the phlegm up easily. Takes away that tight feeling across the chest, and eases stuffy, wheezy breathing and hoarseness.

A dealer in Toledo, Ohio, (name furnished) who has sold FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR for years, writes: "One of my customers came into store to use long distance telephone. He was coughing so violently that he could not talk. I sat him down and gave him a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, and in 10 minutes he had recovered. He had been unable to work for three weeks, due to this cough. He says FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR relieved him entirely of this trouble."

S. MARTIN, Bassett, Neb., writes: "I had a severe cough and cold, and was almost past going. I got a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and used it frequently, when having violent coughing spells, and am glad to say it cured my cough entirely and my cold soon disappeared."

Contains no opiates. Absolutely a pure medicine. Refuse substitutes.
