FEAR OF TROUBLE CAUSE OF DEATH OF H. E. WERNER

STOREKEEPER HANGS SELF ON DAY SET FOR WEDDING TO PORTLAND WOMAN.

DEATH COMES AFTER LONG WALK ACROSS BRIDGE TO COURT HOUSE

Letters Found on Body Show Man Tried to Prevent Friction Between His Children and Those of Woman.

Fear of domestic trouble in case of his marriage to Mrs. Elsie Delaney, of Portland, developed at the corner's request as the cause of the suicide of Herman E. Werner, the Lents storekeeper who hanged himself Wednesday morning on the day set for his wedding to Mrs. Delaney. It was in the testimony of Frank Baker, of Willamette, a son-in-law of the dead man, that the cause of his death was most strongly brought out. Baker testified his father-in-law had been "going with a woman" at Lents and added that she wanted him to marry her. He said that in his opinion Mrs. Delaney's and Werner's children probably could not live together. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Werner came to his death by hanging with suicidal intent.

L. Wilcox for stealing 30 cords of wood. Testimony introduced by the defendants, represented by Attorney William Stone, showed that Fred Williams, who originally owned the wood, owed the Andrews brothers $30 for meat and it was understood that the meat bill would be settled by letting the Andrews take 30 cords of wood. Williams, however, sold all his wood to Wilcox who found 20 cords missing when the time came to move it.

Campbell home on the Molalla road near Oregon City was robbed. After quietly working on the case for several days the officers traced some of the plunder to the Proffitt home and the arrest of the two boys, the sons of Mrs. Mary Proffitt, followed. The Gillett boys were arrested upon information given by the first boys. The four boys told the county judge that they broke into the Campbell home by prying up a window. SEMI-ANNUAL REPORT OF POLICE COMMITTEE REVEALS SUM SPENT IN CLEAN-UP.

The two detectives employed a month ago by the city to investigate alleged illegal handling of liquor cost the city $198, according to the semi-annual report of the health and police committee which was made public at the council meeting Wednesday night. The detectives were paid in cash with money raised by allowing bills for $99 at three council meetings. The council can spend sums up to $100 without an ordinance, so by spreading the cost of the work over three meetings, enough was raised to meet the cost of the work without an ordinance. The report shows that in the first six months, the police department kept within $425 of the amount allowed for the half-year in the budget. Eight hundred and sixty-five dollars were collected in fines in the first six months. Chairman Albright of the committee estimates that the heavy fines collected in the six months is largely responsible for the surplus of his department. The department spent $198.20 in the first six months of the year while the budget allowed $310 for that period. The heaviest items of expenditure are salaries for the two night officers, $780, and the chief, $540.

TRUE NEWS PAYS

Present day newspapers are a better advertising medium than ever because they have a more gripping national power—a power that should be studied by every thinking advertiser. Joseph H. Finn of Chicago told delegates attending the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in Chicago last week. Finn said there was nothing closer to the hearts of the reading public than the "live news" concerning buying opportunity. "It is the paper which publishes the true news that pays the advertiser best," the speaker said. "I have seen almost overnight, newspaper advertising and merchandising successes that would have been deemed incredible 10 years ago. And these successes were solid—they stayed put." "Undoubtedly the greatest thing that newspapers can do for advertisers — for the business world, for humanity — is to spread the gospel of optimism, to chart a straight course of confidence. A newspaper that deals in unquieting rumors, that dispenses gloom and that is always on the hair trigger of uncertainty, defeats the advertiser and defeats itself. "It is the truth that good times and bad are each largely a matter of psychology. In this respect the power of the newspaper is almost beyond reckoning. Boost and keep on boosting."
