Mrs. R. W. Clarke, aged 61 years, of Gladstone, was hit by a Willamette Valley Southern train at Glen Oak and instantly killed a few minutes past 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

The first church services will be held Sunday in the new Gladstone Baptist church. The auditorium, which will accommodate 300 when completed, will be in the basement in a large room which will be used for church services until the upper part of the building is completed.

GLADSTONE BAPTIST CHURCH OPEN SUNDAY

NEW BUILDING NEARS COMPLETION AND BASEMENT WILL BE IN USE WITHIN WEEK.

The building is 47 1/2 by 72 feet and will be one of the most modern church buildings of its size in western Oregon, when finished. In the basement is a large Sunday school room, a primary room, kitchen, furnace room and several smaller classrooms. Opening from the main auditorium, which occupies the greater part of the second floor, is a nursery where arrangements will be made to take care of children while their mother attend the services.

The church will not be dedicated for some time, Rev. Broomfield said Wednesday. It has now 50 members although it has been organized only about two months. Forty of the 50 members formerly belonged to the Oregon City church.

And Now We See Through Price Brothers Fire

TAILOR WHO GOT MARRIAGE LICENSE FORGETS TO TURN OUT ELECTRIC IRON.

The story of how a bridegroom-to-be forgot himself Friday night and almost set fire to Price Brothers store, Sixth and Main streets, is being whispered around Oregon City.

Friday afternoon Helen Smith and Arthur Soebe took a brief trip to Portland and secured a marriage license. Soebe is employed by Price Brothers as tailor and presser and late that afternoon went to the store to put the finishing touches on some work. When he left the building, he left the electric iron on and at 10:15 o'clock Friday night Patrolman Woodward noticed that the store was filled with smoke.

Mr. Soebe said Saturday that he did not know when he and Miss Smith would be married although there is a persistent rumor here that they will be married today. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith and Mr. Soebe came here from Mel-drum. The marriage license is a distinct secret, the couple warns—don't tell your friends.

RANDS IS NAMED COMMISSIONER ON THE WATERBOARD

VOTE OF COUNCIL IS SEVEN FOR SOUTH FORK ENGINEER AND TWO FOR J. E. JACK.

JUNK ORDINANCE IS LAID ON TABLE; DISCUSSION LIVELY

Ordinance Appropriating $3150 to Lay Special Main from Reservoir to Elevator is Ordered—Miller's Recommendation Accepted.

H. A. Rands was elected water commissioner, the junk ordinance was laid on the table and an ordinance appropriating $3150 to connect the elevator with the reservoir was ordered prepared at a council meeting Wednesday night when a dozen important matters came up.

H. A. Rands, recently elected member of the school board and engineer for the South Fork water commission, was selected water commissioner over J. E. Jack with the vote 7 to 2.

The operation of the elevator caused one of the warmest discussions of the evening. City Engineer Miller read his report in which he recommended that the big hoist be connected direct with the reservoir by a special main at an estimated cost of $3150.

Albright, when Engineer Miller completed his report, declared that it was time the elevator was running and moved that the city ask for bids to lay a main from the reservoir to the elevator. The Oregon Engineering & Construction company, which has a contract to lay a main through the city for West Linn, has offered to install a six-inch steel pipe with a Matheson or Dayton joint for $3000. If this offer is accepted by the council, the pipe will be laid in the same trench with the West Linn pipe, making a saving, Engineer Miller declared, of about $3000.

Budget is Mentioned. Albright's motion that the city call for bids met with opposition and several councilmen asked "Where will you get the money?" and "Get the money first."

Meyer contended that the laying of this main would not be a loss. He declared that at some time in the future the city would need this pipe for a service main and that now it could be installed at a saving of $3000. He described the situation as a "saving in the long run."

Albright, Metzner, Long, Meyer, Andrews and Van Auker voted to call for bids on the pipe and Templeton, Hackett and Cox voted against it.

Albright then moved that the city attorney be instructed to prepare an ordinance appropriating $3150 to lay the special main to the reservoir and to install an air chamber at the elevator.

Hackett brought to the mind of the council the budget. "Have you forgotten your pledge to the people in the budget?" he asked. The vote showed that Albright, Metzner, Long, Meyer and Andrews were for the appropriation of the money and Templeton, Hackett and Cox against it while Van Auker did not vote.

W. H. Clark is Sexton. W. H. Clark was elected sexton of Mountain View cemetery over Henry Brandt, the present sexton, and James Gillette. Petitions asking that each of the three men be appointed were presented to the council. Clark received five votes, Brandt four.

City Attorney Schuebel asked that the recorder be instructed to prepare a complete list of all unpaid city liens which have not been bonded, explaining that he needed this list to carry out his plan of straightening out all unpaid sewer and street assessments.

The junk ordinance, which would compel all buyers of junk to keep a list of purchases and to hold articles five days before making a sale, was laid on the table on motion of Albright who denounced the measure as "radical and rotten" and declared that it was a "company ordinance" fathered by local mills.

Life of Streets Declared. Owing to a mistake made by the city in the copy of the measure prepared for publication, the junk ordinance was brought up again for first reading Wednesday night and will come up for final passage at the September meeting.

An ordinance declaring the life of all side streets off Main street below the bluff and as far north as Eleventh passed on first reading. The purpose of the measure is to prepare the way for hard surface of these streets. The life of the streets is declared to expire September 1.

A petition asking for the improvement of Tenth street from Jackson to John Q. Adams street was presented to the council and laid on the table. The estimated cost of the improvement was $1053.55.

A petition, signed by the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, asking for the vacation of an alley in block two was referred back to the street committee, following a speech by Albright who demanded that all the property owners in the block sign the petition.

CHURCH COOPERATION IN OREGON SOUGHT

CONFERENCE AT EUGENE PASSES RESOLUTION FOR INTERDENOMINATIONAL MOVEMENT.

The creation of a state-wide interdenominational church commission to consider the whole field of country life and church work, as a basis for a greater cooperation in resolutions passed by ministers attending the conference at the summer school of the University of Oregon.

A sort of church federation for the support of small churches in rural communities, where one or more denominations may unite in support of a small church that should then be made the center of religious life of the community, is proposed.

Each denomination is asked to appoint one member of the commission, which is to make such surveys as may be necessary, through denominational societies, as a basis for interdenominational cooperation.

The resolutions approve the giving of credits in the public schools for Bible study in the Sunday schools, and declare that better rural conditions must be worked out from the village center.

The standardization of villages and towns by law, the construction of good roads, the establishing of public markets and other conveniences for the farmer are advocated.

The resolutions follow: "Whereas: We, as Christians, citizens, ministers and teachers are called upon to face and to solve, with the cooperation of the people, the many-sided problems of our advancing civilization arising in the changing social order, in urban and rural life, and

"Whereas: The varied and varying problems cannot be solved in a satisfactory adjustment of complicated relations and interests by religion or education, the church or the school, alone, and

"Whereas: The church and the state are alike interested in and responsible for the development of a citizenship embodying the best results of religion and education, in intelligence and morality, therefore be it resolved: "First—That we appreciate the importance of the religion of churches and education in the betterment of the individual, family and community life of our state;

"Second—That we welcome with profound satisfaction the new movement under the auspices of the University of Oregon to bring together these forces and agencies in closer cooperative relations, and thank President Campbell and his associates for the interest shown in this work and the forward step taken;

"Third—That we are under special obligation to Dr. Joseph Schafer, of the university faculty, who has had special charge of the work of promoting the interdenominational conference, and arranging the program; and to Dr. Douglas, Professor Bricker, and Dr. Morse for their instructive and inspirational addresses on themes intimately related to our work, particularly in the country village and smaller town; and to those professors in the summer school whose classes have been open to the members of the conference;

"Fourth—That we approve the plan proposed by Professor Alderman and endorsed by the State Teachers and Sunday school associations of giving credits in the public schools for Bible study carried on in the Sunday schools and we pledge our cooperation in the promotion of this plan;

"Fifth—That under the present conditions in Oregon it is probable that the better rural conditions must be worked out from the village center, and urge all community leaders, teachers, ministers, editors and business organizations to co-operate in carrying out this plan. In this connection we urge good roads, public markets and other conveniences for farmers, and we favor the enactment of a law providing for the standardization of incorporated villages and towns;

"Sixth—That these annual conferences may become most effective in their results we recommend that a committee be appointed representing the participating churches to co-operate with the university in their promotion, and propose the following persons to constitute that committee for the ensuing year: Dr. J. H. Boyd, Dr. T. B. Ford, Rev. G. N. Edwards, Rev. H. W. Davis, Rev. C. S. Swander.

"Seventh—That we ask each denomination to appoint a delegate to form a state interdenominational commission to consider the whole field of country life and church work, and this commission secure, through the denominational societies such surveys as may be necessary as a basis for interdenominational cooperation;

"Eighth—That we express our thanks to the local press and to the other papers in the state that have aided in the publicity of our conference work, and to the railroads for courtesies extended."

The members of the committee on resolutions were: Rev. T. B. Ford, Rev. Mr. Dunham, Rev. A. M. Spangler, Rev. C. F. Aue, Rev. F. E. Billington.

RIGHTS OF CITY ALONG THE BASIN WILL BE TESTED

FRIENDLY SUIT WILL BE FILED BY POWER COMPANY SAYS CITY ATTORNEY.

TRIANGULAR STRIP AT SOUTHERN END OF STREET, POINT AT ISSUE

Action May Be Important Owing to Riparian Rights Affected by Property—Suit Will Follow Instructions of City Council.

A friendly suit will be filed in the circuit court here soon by the Portland Railway Light & Power company against the city to determine the ownership of a triangular strip at the southern end of Main street, said City Attorney Schuebel Tuesday. The filing of the suit will follow instructions given City Attorney Schuebel by the council several weeks ago.

The property at the present time is being used by the Hawley Pulp & Paper company. The city, Mr. Schuebel said, will notify the Portland Railway Light & Power company, which claims ownership, to clear the land and the power company in turn will file a suit asking for a permanent restraining order to prevent the city from clearing the so-called street end.

Mr. Schuebel said that he expected the suit would be filed within a short time, although he was not able to give the approximate date. He has been working on the matter with attorneys of the Portland Railway Light & Power company.

The contention of the city is that the triangular strip is part of Main street and therefore it is municipal property. The property is situated west of the jog in the carline at the northern end of the basin. While a small area is involved in the case, it may have a value owing to riparian rights in connection with it.

The rights of the city at the southern end of Main street have been discussed by city officials for many years and at one time, L. Stipp, while recorder, prepared a lengthy report on the subject but the issue was dropped at that time. Early in this year the council showed a determination to settle the matter and City Attorney Schuebel was instructed to carry the matter into the courts for a settlement.

Council Stands Behind Firemen For Tournament

TWO HUNDRED FIFTY DOLLARS APPROPRIATED—HACKETT WOULD MAKE GIFT.

The members of the Oregon City council to a man stand behind the fire department and the tournament of the Willamette Valley Volunteer Firemen's association which will be given here the first of next month.

At the meeting Wednesday night City Attorney Schuebel was instructed to prepare an ordinance appropriating $250, the estimated surplus in the fire department for the year, to be used in the tournament and Mayor Jones appointed a committee composed of Cox, Long and Metzner to work with the firemen and the Commercial club.

It was Long's suggestion that the surplus in the fire department be given to the firemen for the tournament and every member of the council voted for the plan.

Hackett made a suggestion that each member of the council give $5, but Templeton's motion for adjournment prevented the council from accepting the suggestion.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

Concerning Automobiles, Etc.

CLACKAMAS, Ore., Aug. 2.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—The automobiles are fast taking the places of the old horse teams and while the farms are still using the horses on the farms, there is not so much demand for horses as there was a few years ago.

Most of the automobiles used are in the towns and the garages are doing a good business along the way and whenever people can afford to get an auto, they are certain to do so. That is alright and is a good way to get money in circulation but our financiers must look to it that all the money is not turned into automobile shops while all other business is depressed.

There should be money enough to keep the automobiles also other labor-saving machinery up to the top notch. We don't send our men to the legislature to just fix up their own families but we expect them to straighten out the finances of our nation and get money enough in circulation to carry on all business, both public and private. The people are complaining every time when there is no money and no demand for any kind of work.

Now what is the matter with the finances when everything is paid into the treasury for public use. Why not have men or women who wish to build a factory or any other business sign up a contract of what the money is for and how much it will take to build the factory and as the work progresses draw on the treasury for the money. Now all such contracts would have to be signed by not less than three people and, of course, approved and put on file at the treasurer's office so that an account of all money paid out could be kept.

COUNTY COURT CONSIDERS PLAN TO REVISE ENTIRE HIGHWAY SYSTEM

The county court is displeased with the supervisor system of road construction and may adopt a plan of dividing the county into four districts and appointing an experienced and practical road man for each, said Commissioner William Mattoon Wednesday.

He described the supervisor system as extravagant and wasteful and said that he was convinced that the county was losing money from the road fund in large amounts annually.

The county court was seriously considering this plan, he said, and wished to learn the sentiment of the taxpayers of the county before finally passing on it. The county would be divided into four districts and a thoroughly experienced man put in charge of each. Each one of these district road masters would have charge of road work in his

PEDDLER WITHOUT LICENSE ARRESTED

CHIEF SHAW ASKS COOPERATION OF RESIDENTS IN ENFORCING ORDINANCE.

Heff Hasen was arrested, convicted and fined $5 Tuesday afternoon by Recorder Loder on a charge of peddling without a license. He was forced to take out a license following his arrest, bringing his total contribution to the city up to $5.

Chief Shaw noticed Hasen going from house to house with a rick, and stepped up to the peddler. "What are you doing?" the officer asked.

"I'm going to see a friend," Hasen answered but Chief Shaw led him off to jail where he found a suit case carried by Hasen was filled with laces and table linen. Hasen entered a plea of guilty when taken before the recorder.

Chief Shaw asks the cooperation of housewives in his effort to enforce the peddler's ordinance. He requests that whenever a peddler calls on a house, word be sent to the recorder's office so that he can learn if the man has a license.

VEDDER IS ELECTED WILLAMETTE PRINCIPAL

Brnton Vedder, who was school supervisor for several years and is well known throughout the county, has been elected principal of the Willamette school to take the place of Frank I. Paul.

Mrs. J. R. Rowland, of this city, who for several years has been music teacher, was re-elected and was also given the position of teacher of domestic art and domestic science. P. D. Forbes, for the last four years manual training teacher, was also re-elected.

Among the other business of the evening was a plan of installing more play ground apparatus, consisting of another section of swings and another section of rings. If these are added the play ground will equal, if not exceed, any play ground in the county.

All of the teachers have been elected now and the fall term will open September 20.

Before the meeting adjourned the clerk was notified to advertise for bids for the laying of a cement walk from the entrance on either side of the building to the gate. This walk will take the place of a board walk.

OREGON CITY SCALES INSPECTED, APPROVED

No prosecutions will be made in Oregon City under the state weights and measures statutes, said A. E. Ball, district sealer of weights and measures, Tuesday after spending several days in this part of the county. He will thoroughly inspect scales and measures in Gladstone, Clackamas and Parkplace before leaving for another part of the state.

District Sealer Ball has been instructed by Deputy Sealer Buchtel to pay special attention to the clause regarding the sale of wood, coal and ice. The state law now prescribes wood, coal and ice must be sold by measure and not by the load. He is instructed to notify the firms of his district of this interpretation of the law and hat after proper notification necessary legal steps shall be taken to secure the enforcement of the section.

ALEXANDER INDIGNANT WHEN SHOWN PAPERS

MAN HELD AT INSTANCE OF THACHER MAINTAINS INNOCENCE OF HILL MYSTERY.

Frederick Alexander, also known as Edward Ramsey, who is held in the county jail here until George Thacher, of Portland, completes his investigations into the Hill murders, expressed considerable indignation Wednesday when shown newspaper stories concerning himself. He vigorously denied that he had any connection with the Ardenwald mystery.

Neither District Attorney Hedges or Sheriff Wilson have heard from Mr. Thacher for several days and the latter tried to get into communication with the criminologist Wednesday night but was unsuccessful.

At the time of hearing before Justice Kelso of Milwaukee, Thacher is said to have asked that Alexander be let out only three days when he would produce his evidence which would connect the prisoner with the Hill crime.

The Clerk Guaranteed It. "A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'Have you anything that will cure Diarrhoea' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'If this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said he was cured," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere. (Adv.)

VETERANS TAKE OUT HUNTING LICENSES

"I'M GOING AFTER DEER" ONE 72-YEAR-OLD HUNTER TELLS DEPUTY CLERK.

Age is no bar to Clackamas county Civil war veterans who wish to enjoy hunting and fishing in Oregon forests and along Oregon streams for Wednesday. John T. Apperson, aged 81 years; Edwin Scruton, aged 72 years, and Nelson D. Crockett, aged 72 years, secured hunting and fishing licenses from County Clerk Harrington under the new state law which gives free licenses to Civil war veterans.

"I'm going out into the mountains and get a deer," Mr. Scruton, who was a member of an Iowa regiment during the war, told Deputy Clerk Miller when he had secured his license.

Mr. Apperson, who was a member of the First Regiment of Oregon Volunteers, will take a hunting and fishing trip to Yaquina bay.

A large number of veterans have taken advantage of the new law in this county.

He will pay special attention to the sections on nervous and mental diseases. Officially, Dr. Van Brakle will be the secretarial delegate to the convention from Oregon.

L. D. WALKER OFFICER IN NEW COMPANY

LeRoy D. Walker, president of banks at Estacada and at Canby, is secretary of the recently organized Bankers' Mortgage company, with offices in Portland. Other Clackamas county bankers are interested in this company the purpose of which is to meet the needs of Oregon farmers for small long-term loans. The company has loaned over $150,000, most of which is in small amounts on first mortgages on property which has been carefully appraised by local appraisers. The loans to farmers draw from 7 to 8 per cent but officers of the company look forward to the time when they can put out money at a lower rate.

METHODIST PLAN PICNIC

CITY OFFICIALS MEET TO CONSIDER COMPLAINTS AGAINST CAMP MEETING

Mayor Jones, Chief of Police Shaw, City Attorney Schuebel and Councilman Van Auker held a conference Wednesday to consider the complaints made by residents of the Mountain View section against the camp meetings now being held in that part of town.

Complaints have been received from a number of persons in the Mountain View district that they are disturbed by loud voices from the camp meetings late at night.

City Attorney Schuebel informed the others at the session Wednesday that the only action which could be taken would be an attempt to declare the meetings a public nuisance. The city will wait for some resident of the Mountain View district to sign a complaint before action is taken against those who conduct the meetings, said Mayor Jones.

The trouble arises principally from after-meetings, attended by converts, say the city officials.

The complaints considered Wednesday are not the first which have been received by Mayor Jones and the other officials. Sheriff Wilson, Chief Shaw and other officers made an informal visit to the meetings several months ago but no arrests were made as the officials could find no law violations.
