BIG SUM OVERLOOKED, PENNIES ARE TAKEN

WILSONVILLE STATION OF OREGON ELECTRIC BROKEN INTO—MAN FLEES SOUTH.

By breaking a hole measuring 14 by 16 inches in a window, a robber entered the station of the Oregon Electric at Wilsonville about 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning and stole between 10 and 15 cents in pennies from the till. About a hundred dollars hid in the building was not located by the robber. The building was thoroughly ransacked. The safe was opened and drawers pulled out and their contents scattered over the floor. No trace of blood was found although the man entered the building through a small hole that was fringed with broken glass. Deputy Sheriff Murry investigated the case Thursday. He believes that the robber ran south after breaking into the station. Late Wednesday he was told of a farmer's house across the river which had been visited and envelopes from the Oregon Electric depot were found on the trestle across the Willamette.

marriage has just been made. Dr. Thomas is a well known dentist and has resided in Molalla for a number of years. His bride is a school teacher and taught in her home town, Kansas City. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside at 142 South Molalla avenue, at "Oak Point Farm," Molalla. Mrs. Alice Cannon, mother of Miss Lizzie M. Hunter, formerly of this city, has sent out announcements of her daughter's marriage to James M. Melton. The marriage took place Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother in Gresham. Mrs. Melton is well known in this city and was connected with the military department of Bannock & company. Mr. and Mrs. Melton will be at home after November 1, at 1407 Jackson street, this city. Charles W. West, a prominent stockman of Oswego, who is in this city on Saturday, and while here visited friends. Mr. West was formerly conductor of the Portland Railway Light & Power company, but during the past four years has been engaged in dairying and stockraising at his farm. At the Oregon state fair he was awarded first prize on his corn. For individual display and on his O. I. C. swine he was awarded nine first prizes, three champions and several grand champions. He also exhibited at the Multnomah county fair at Gresham, and carried away many of the prizes on his swine.

A. DULL, AGED 82, DIES AT HIS HOME

A. Dull, who has been a member of the Methodist church for 45 years, died at his home Monday in his 83rd year. The funeral will be held 2 o'clock this afternoon from the funeral parlors of Myers & Brady, Tenth and Water streets.

Mr. Dull was born in Somerset county, Penn., December 3, 1833, and married Betty Miller when a young man. She died in January, 1866, and in July, 1868, he wedded Mrs. Louisa McCahey, who died in 1897.

Of the 15 children born to his two unions, 12 are still living. He is survived by 37 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren. The children are: Mrs. Rachel Reed, of Willamette; Mrs. Laura Smith, of Gladstone; Mrs. Grace Ingram, of Oregon City; Henry Dull, of Rusk, Neb.; Mrs. Uda Morhead, of Nora, Neb.; Mrs. Hattie Stewart, of Nora, Neb.; Mrs. Ethel Hummel, of Boswell, Neb.; Mrs. Etta Lewis, of Walton, Wyo.; Charles Dull, of Cokeville, Wyo.; and George Dull and Miss Verona Dull, of Kerdon, Kan.

PUBLICITY WORK FOR COUNTY IS AT STAKE

If the publicity work that has been carried on by the Oregon City Commercial club for the last six years is to be continued after December 1, the expense will have to be borne in a different manner than has been followed since the organization of the department, as seven prominent business men of the city on Tuesday night at a meeting of the contributors announced their unwillingness to contribute toward publicity work after December 1 next. Before that time it is likely that a plan will be evolved to continue the work through another channel. Many of the contributors feel that the burden should be equalized and not be placed upon the shoulders of a comparatively few citizens, as whatever results that may be attained are of general benefit.

A. L. RICHARDSON IS DEAD

Alonzo Linn Richardson, who arrived in Oregon City with his mother in 1843, died at Boise, Idaho, September 5. Though an Oregon pioneer, he had lived in Idaho since 1861 and had been a clerk of the United States district court in that state since 1891.

MOLALLA MERCHANT IS SUED FOR $2178

A complaint in the circuit court containing 49 pages and 48 causes of action was filed Tuesday by R. L. Sablin, of the Portland Merchants' Protective association, against A. W. Andrews, of Molalla, who is doing business under the name of Andrews & company. Forty-eight Portland merchants have claims against the Molalla merchant, totaling $2178.89.

COMMITTEE OF 9 AND COUNCIL AT WORK ON CHANGE

MEN WHO REVISE CHARTER ARE INVITED TO DISCUSSION IN COUNCIL CHAMBER.

AMENDMENT IS BEING FRAMED BY TWO BODIES TOGETHER

City Fathers and Committeemen Both Are Anxious to Divise Plan to Retire Indebtedness—Support is Expected.

Harmony between the city council and the committee of nine appointed by Mayor Jones to devise a plan to retire the city's indebtedness was easily obtained Monday night, when the council extended an invitation to the committee, which was in session at the Commercial club parlors, to meet with the council, and the two committees joined hands and speedily reached an agreement, which provides that a charter amendment will be drafted by Attorneys Schuebel and Rupp, acting for the council and the committee, and will be submitted at a special meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The terms of the amendment, which have been approved by both the council and the committee of nine, carry a provision for an annual tax levy of 14 mills, exclusive of the library tax of one-half mill, for the next 19 years. Of this levy seven mills, or exactly half of the whole, will be devoted to the payment of the interest and the retirement of the principal on an issue of serial bonds of $75,000, which will wipe out all of the warrant indebtedness of Oregon City in 19 years, and will leave a surplus of $22,546.98 at the end of the 19th year. The committee has carefully worked out a table for this accomplishment, based upon an average annual increase of 2 per cent in the assessed valuation of the city's property, and this is regarded as very conservative as the average increase in the last six years has been 5.2 per cent.

Under the terms of the amendment the council is limited to an annual levy of seven mills for maintenance. This will produce, under the assessed valuation of 1914 of $2,574,756, a revenue of $29,123.29, to which should be added an estimated revenue of $2900 from fines, licenses and miscellaneous sources, such as franchise fees, etc. The annual increase in the assessed valuation will naturally produce a corresponding increase in the revenue, until at the end of the 19th year the city's revenue from a 7-mill levy will amount to $54,733.82. It is provided in the amendment that the council must make a budget and must live within it, financially speaking, except that in cases of emergency and additional 10 per centum over the estimates of the budget may be expended. If extraordinary expenditures face the city at any time, the council must secure from the people at an election, any additional revenue.

Both the members of the council and the committee are extremely anxious to devise a reasonable plan for the retirement of the city's indebtedness. Under the new plan, a considerable saving will be made in interest alone, as the serial bonds will draw 5 per cent interest and the present outstanding warrants are paying 6 per cent. It is reasonable to expect that with the combined support of the council and the committee of nine, that the amendment will be heartily supported by the people at the December election.

DOG OWNER MUST PAY FOR 4 DEAD SHEEP

Dogs cannot kill sheep in Clackamas county without making their owner liable for damages, a jury in the circuit court decided Friday in giving George Schmidt and Kilian Schmidt a judgment for $125 against Jacob Grossmuller. Dimick & Dimick represented the plaintiff and George C. Brown and Charles T. Stevers, the defendant. A dog belonging to Grossmuller killed four sheep of Schmidt brothers and 10 others were injured. George Brown, of New Era, testified as to the value of the animals. Schmidt brothers live about 10 miles from Oregon City, beyond Beaver Creek.

LIMITED SLOWS DOWN TO SAVE DOG'S LIFE

The portbound Shasta limited train was brought almost to a dead standstill Monday morning in order to save the life of a dog. The dog was on the trestle near Fourteenth street and would have been killed had not the train been slowed down and then almost stopped. The animal jumped from the trestle and walked off. A gang of laborers saw the incident.

CLACKAMAS PROPERTY TRADED

By the terms of a trade concluded Thursday the three-story Terminus hotel building, located on the southeast corner of Third and Everett streets, Portland, was sold by Wallis Nash to Herbert Gordon, president of the Lawyers' Title & Trust company, at a valuation of $50,000. As consideration for the hotel building Mr. Gordon deeded Mr. Nash Eldred Acres and Webster Acres, comprising about 100 acres of land situated directly northeast of Jennings Lodge, Clackamas county.

HOW OLD IS BEN? YOUNG LADY OF GLADSTONE IS CURIOUS; HE TELLS HER. How old is Ben? Also, how old is Gertrude? Ben would like to know. Secretary of State Ben W. O'cott has received a letter from Gertrude Edwards of Gladstone who says that she and her girl friends believe that Mr. O'cott is a young man, while all the other girls in the school are doubtful about it. The letter asked Mr. O'cott to divulge his age and to safeguard his word the secretary was asked to enclose a photo of himself. In his reply Mr. O'cott thanked Miss Gertrude for keeping him young. He assured her that he does not walk with a can and enclosed a photo to prove that he is not beyond the attractive age.

DRY COUNCIL SHYS AT WATER WAGON

CITY DADS REFUSE TO HAVE PICTURE TAKEN ON NEW STREET FLUSHER.

Although urged by Jack Albright, councilman from the first ward, the Oregon City council Saturday afternoon refused to have its picture taken from the hurricane deck of the new water wagon and street flusher, furnished by the Studebaker company for demonstration. The council met early Saturday afternoon to give S. P. Davis, the photographer who is taking a series of pictures of the South Fork pipeline, a chance to add the photograph of the city dads to his collection. When they had assembled, Albright demanded that his colleagues climb onto the water wagon for the picture. "We're a dry council in a dry town, why not?" he asked. The council will go to Portland today to see various varieties of street flushers.

BEAUTY NO LONGER APPEALS TO MAYOR

When Miss Helaine Hult, pretty and astily bedecked in the latest fashions, tripped into Mayor Jones' drugstore Monday morning and attempted to sell him a year's subscription to Motorroad, the new automobile and good roads magazine, the executive declared that he had no time to discuss the matter with her. "When I saw him, I thought that I would be taken to dinner and shown a good time, but he just as much as told me to get out of his store," she explains. "The girl was too good looking," said the mayor Monday afternoon. "If she had been homely, I might have listened to her story, but I have no sympathy with business men who must send out beauty to get business."

BIG WALNUTS GROWN ON CLACKAMAS FARM

On the Clackamas county farm of Gerd Eilers Sr., a tree from an imported French Mayette stock, celebrated its 18th birthday this fall by bearing a 400-pound crop of walnuts. Not only is the tree remarkable for its large crop, but for the size of the nuts, which are about three times that of the ordinary English walnuts. For more than a week a quantity of nuts have been of display in the window of Eilers Music House in Portland. Eleven of the nuts laid alongside on a ruler measure more than two feet. The inside of the nuts is well filled and the flavor of the meat is equal to that of the best of smaller nuts. A number of the other walnut trees on Mr. Eilers' farm yielded heavily this season.

406 IN ATTENDANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL

The enrollment of the high school has increased to 406 at the end of the third week of school and City Superintendent Toose believes that the number will reach 425 before the end of the term. The total enrollment of the three schools is now about 1100, or about an even hundred more than the number a year ago. The new high school tuition fund law, under which students living in districts without high schools can attend a standard high school without paying tuition, has brought in scores of boys and girls from every part of the county.

JOHN PAYNE DIES DURING OPERATION

John Jerrett Payne, the 16-year-old son of Mrs. Ella Payne, of this city, died in Salem Wednesday. He underwent an operation for adenoids and died while under anesthetic. He lived in Oregon City and attended local public schools up to two years ago when he moved to the capital city. He is survived by his mother and one brother, Albert Payne. The body will be brought to Oregon City today and funeral arrangements made after its arrival.

CITY BUDGET IS PREPARED, HOIST TO RUN IN 1916

MONEY PROVIDED IN ESTIMATE OF EXPENSES TO OPERATE PUBLIC ELEVATOR.

SALARIES OF TWO EMPLOYEES ARE RAISED, THEN CUT TO FORMER SUM

Night Patrolman Get Only Increase Among Municipal Workers—Income of City for Year Estimated at $47,000.

After working for over two hours, making every possible reduction in the estimates of municipal expenses for the next year, the council at a special meeting Friday night was able to prepare a budget which included $1587.42 for the operation of the Seventh street elevator. The budget will be submitted at a taxpayers' meeting which will be held November 1. Under a new statute, the budget must be published twice, the first time 20 days before the taxpayers' meeting and the second time, 10 days previous before the taxpayers' meeting. The total income of the city is estimated at $47,000, of which $28,900 is secured from the city levy of 10 mills, $15,000 from the county road fund and $4000 from fines, licenses and other sources. To keep the expenses of the city within this figure was the problem of the meeting.

About the first matter which came before the council was the raising of the salaries of Chief of Police Shaw and Street Commissioner Babcock from $400 to $450. The council voted: Yes—Albright, Templeton, Metzner and Meyer; and no—Hackett, Cox, Van Aiken and Andrews. The mayor cast the deciding vote for a raise. Later in the evening, Mayor Jones brought up the matter again, declaring that it was imperative that the council make more reductions. The raise of salaries of the two officials was reconsidered and on a second vote was defeated. The only increase in wages paid by the city next year, if the voters approve the council's budget, will be in the wages of the two night patrolmen, who were raised from $63 to $75 a month.

Commissioner Babcock told the council, when the matter was under consideration, that he was willing to have his salary remain at $75, and asked that the council raise the chief of police. Of the $47,000 which will be spent by the city next year, $19,500 will be paid to take up interest on outstanding bonds and to call in general fund and road warrants. The office of the city engineer was cut from $1500 to $1500, when the council determined to operate the elevator and saw that decided reductions must be made to secure funds.

The discussion Friday night showed clearly that the council was divided on the question of charging for trips on the elevator. Hackett declared that the elevator must be made to pay for itself and Albright, answering, said that the lower part of town was receiving all the favors, and that it was understood at the election that the elevator would be free. At the opening of the meeting the two amendments to the charter proposed by Templeton, one of which would allow a 15 mill city tax, to lease a budget and allow the city to issue $250,000 bond issue to take up outstanding warrants and the other for stopping printing city ordinances, were read. The amendment providing for a 15 mill city tax was ordered by the council and the other referred back to the attorney. Two charter amendments, prepared by William Stone, one making the offices of city recorder and city attorney elective and the other giving the right of a jury trial in the recorder's court, were read and also ordered published.

MOLALLA CREAMERY IS SUED FOR SALARY

The Molalla creamery is made defendant in a suit filed by Delbert Howell, a former employee, who claims that $116.25 is due on unpaid salary. He worked for the creamery for five months. R. B. Beattie, A. L. Beattie and H. M. Robbins, doing business under the name of the Oregon Commission company, were sued Friday by the Pacific Portland Cement company for $1021.29, alleged to be due on a bill of $1384.44 for cement. Claiming that he tried to appropriate to his own use, $1200 of her own money, Mrs. Minnie Smith has filed a suit for a divorce against Set Smith. They were married in Oregon City, July 13, 1914. She makes the general charge of cruel and inhuman treatment.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of ORDERS GRAVES ROAD OPENED. The D. W. Greaves road in the Multnomah district has been ordered opened by the county court this month. The road is two miles long and reached a district which has been poorly supplied with roads in the past. The Viola B. Royley road in the Springview district, and the George Henderson road near Harmony were also finally approved.

MRS. CHRISTENSEN OF OSWEGO IS DEAD

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Margaret Christensen of Oswego, who died on October 14, was held at Oswego Saturday morning. Interment was in Riverview cemetery. Mrs. Christensen was a native of Denmark, aged 72 years, and had lived in Oregon for the past 26 years. She is survived by five children, Mrs. Charles Anderson, Mrs. Frank Dascomb, Mrs. Antone Neilson, Miss Andre and Peter Christensen.

PORTLAND BUSINESS MEN TO SEE W. V. S.

JUDGE GRANT B. DIMICK SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON OF PORTLAND CHAMBER.

Formal invitation to the business men of Portland to make an inspection trip over the Willamette Valley Southern line, which has just extended its through service into Portland, was given at the weekly meeting of the members' council of the Chamber of Commerce at noon Monday by Judge Grant B. Dimick, president of the "newly arrived" interurban system. Plans are already on foot for conducting a Portland business men's excursion out over the new line next Saturday, not only for the purpose of officially welcoming the new electric road into Portland, but also for the purpose of attending the second annual Poultry, Fruit, Corn and Educational fair, which will be held at Mount Angel Friday and Saturday.

According to these plans, this particular junketing trip will serve several purposes. In addition to celebrating the coming of the new trolley line and attending the Mount Angel fair, the Portland business men will have an opportunity of extending a personal invitation to all the various communities and towns along the Willamette Valley Southern to return this visit on some special day set aside for that purpose during the coming Manufacturers' and Land Products show. This proposition, it is figured, will fit into the excursion program, because the territory served by the new road is largely devoted to agricultural pursuits.

President Dimick, in his invitation, requested the Portland Chamber of Commerce to stand sponsor for this excursion for another important reason, namely, that the business men of Portland have never, as a body or in any large numbers, paid a visit to the country through which this electric line passes. Among the several progressive communities which are eager to act as hosts for the Portlanders are Beaver Creek, Mulino, Molalla, Montecito and Mount Angel, the present southern terminus of the line.

MISS BISAZZA NOW WITH SALEM SCHOOLS

Miss Charlotte Bisazza, formerly in charge of the art department of the Oregon City schools, has resigned to become supervisor of art in the Salem schools. She spent a year in Oregon City and made many friends here during her stay. She has charge of nine schools in her new position. Miss Bisazza's place here was taken without an interruption by Miss N. C. Spotts, of Seattle, a graduate of Pratt institute.

MISSING HUSBAND IS NOT FOUND HERE

In her efforts to find her husband, missing since August 12, Mrs. J. R. Johnston, 218 North 42nd street, Tacoma, Wash., has written to Chief of Police Shaw and conducted a search for the man Thursday. No trace could be found of him at any local hotel or boarding house or at the Oregon City hospital. Mrs. Johnston had heard that her husband had been seen at a hospital either in Portland or near that city. Mr. Johnston was ill when he disappeared according to the letter from his wife. She describes him as five feet, four inches tall, has black wavy hair, brown eyes and is slender, weighing not more than 130 pounds. He is a Spanish war veteran.

JEROME D. SIMMONS OF MONITOR DIES

Jerome D. Simmons, a prominent citizen, well known throughout the state, died Wednesday night at his home at Monitor of paralysis. He had been a member of the Oregon legislature from Marion county, was supervisor of roads for several years and took a deep interest in the "good roads" movement. He was also school director for over 18 continuous years at Monitor. Mr. Simmons was a native Oregonian. He was born in Linn county, September 23, 1857. He located near Monitor in June, 1883, where he owned a fine farm. A widow and two children, Raymond Simmons of Monitor and Mrs. Pearl Gault of Portland, survive him. He was a member of the Woodburn lodge No. 106, A. F. & A. M. Mr. Simmons was a brother of Fred Simmons, of this city. He was well known here and a number of his friends, including Judge Grant B. Dimick, O. D. Eby and E. L. Johnson, attended the funeral.

He was a heavy stockholder in the Willamette Valley Southern and was one of the original boosters for the line.

FORMER SANDY FARMER DIES

Funeral services of Nels Gabriel Hedlin, a pioneer of Sandy Valley, in Clackamas county, who died Tuesday at his home, 1407 Northwick street, Portland, were held Friday, Rev. Mr. Lindsey, of the Swedish Baptist church, officiating. Mr. Hedlin moved from his farm near Cottell to Portland several months ago so he might receive medical attention. He was born in Sweden 66 years ago and located on a farm near Sandy 15 years ago. He engaged in mining in Arizona and other states. A widow, Mrs. Alice Hedlin and several children survive him, N. G. Hedlin, of Lents; Miss Dorcas Hedlin, teacher of the Gilbert school; Frank Hedlin and Miss Hanna Hedlin, of Portland.

DEATH COMES 10 DAYS AFTER MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF

JOSEPH F. BACHMANN, OF CLACKAMAS, INJURED HIS ARM IN CLEANING GUN.

GANGRENE SETS IN AFTER EARLY RECOVERY EXPECTED BY DOCTORS

Shots So Badly Scattered That Left Arm Is Amputated—Mr. Bachmann Was Born in Clackamas County 24 Years Ago.

Joseph F. Bachmann Jr., the son of a Clackamas farmer, died at the Oregon City hospital Saturday afternoon following injuries received October 6 when he shot himself while cleaning a shotgun. He was brought to the hospital soon after the accident and was considered on the way to early recovery, when gangrene set in, causing his death.

Bachmann was cleaning his gun and had removed the shell from one barrel when the shell in the other exploded. He was struck in the left arm and shots were scattered so badly that the arm was amputated. The possibility of death was not considered until the latter part of the week when the gangrene was discovered.

Besides his parents, Mr. Bachmann is survived by one brother, George Bachmann, and seven sisters: Mrs. P. G. Lee, of Portland; Mrs. A. C. Larsen, of Portland, and Anna, Emma, Jessie, Laura and Jennie Bachmann, of Clackamas. He was born 24 years ago near Aurora in Clackamas county and lived practically all of his life in this county. The funeral will be held 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the family home at Clackamas and the interment will be in the Damascus cemetery. The body is now at Myers & Brady funeral parlors.

MRS. NANCY ENGLE, MOLALLA PIONEER, IS LAID TO REST

SISTER-IN-LAW OF LATE MRS. DUNIWAY DIES SATURDAY NIGHT.

Mrs. Nancy H. Engle, sister-in-law of the late Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, died Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas McFadden at Molalla. Mrs. McFadden became ill with a grippe about two weeks ago, but is now recovering. After Mrs. McFadden was ill for several days, her mother became ill and two nurses came up from Portland to take care of them. Mrs. Engle's death was expected since early last week. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the family home.

Nancy H. Duniway was born February 16, 1838, and crossed the plains with her father's family. Her mother died on the trip to Oregon territory. On this trip west, at Barlow's Gate, she first met Mrs. Bagby and her family who were to be their neighbors at the new home. The Duniway family settled near Needy.

In 1854 she was married to Samuel Engle and seven children were born. For 40 years the family lived upon one part of the Engle donation land claim and then moved to a new place on the Willhoit road. Mrs. Engle's sons and daughters settled nearby on different portions of the home place; Mrs. McFadden in the ranch house; Mrs. Len Harless on the adjoining 50, and Mrs. W. W. Everhart on the corner of the place which comes within the city limits of Molalla. Clarence, Albert, W. H. and D. Engle all have homes nearby and the Engle family is one of the most prominent in that section of the county. All of her children, excepting one son, Clarence, survive Mrs. Engle. Mr. Engle died March 1, 1902.

The entire town of Molalla and all the surrounding country knew Mrs. Engle. Most of the elder people of the district were her girlhood friends and many of the families are linked by marriage ties. To relatives and friends who came to her bedside a few days before her death, she spoke of the passing of her brother's wife, the late Mrs. Duniway. It was only a few weeks ago that she took down a picture from the wall, saying "that is Willis Duniway, who was state printer. He is dead now." Mr. Duniway was her nephew.
