Among those who secured marriage licenses in Portland Wednesday were P. W. Frank, of Milwaukie, and Mary Erl, of Portland. George and Jacob Adlers, formerly of the Estacada district, were in Oregon City for a short time Friday. Their present home is in Salem. The sawmill owned by W. A. Procter, of Sandy, has started into operation, after being closed for several years. Railroad ties will be made. Arlie and Harry Mitchell, of Sandy, were in the county seat Wednesday. They were the guests of their sisters, Misses Mary and Clara Mitchell. Elijah Coleman visited the county seat Wednesday. Mr. Coleman has resigned as guide up Mt. Hood for the winter months and will teach a class in Portland this winter. D. O. Anderson, a representative of the Western Stock Journal, is here from a three weeks trip in California. Mr. Anderson visited both the fairs in the interests of the farm journal. Born to the wife of William Frick, of Redland, a son, weight nine pounds. The little fellow has been named Arthur William Herman Frick. Mr. Frick and his family came to Oregon about a year ago. E. G. Gregory, of Greenwood, was among the Oregon City visitors on Saturday, having come to this city to meet his sons, Charles and Ray Gregory, of Portland, who are spending Sunday with their parents. Guy Graham, of Estacada, returned recently from Alaska where he was employed for the last six months in the salmon canning industry. He will leave in a few days for California, where he will visit the exposition. Mrs. Mary Jamlers, a Yamhill county school teacher, was in Oregon City Friday afternoon. She is on her way to Centralia, Wash., where her mother is seriously ill, but went through Oregon City in order to transact business, before her marriage Miss Grace Ingram. Mr. and Mrs. E. Schrader, who formerly owned a bakery in this city, have returned from Washington and built a home in West Linn where they will make their future home. They are accompanied by their daughters, Misses Marjorie and Rose. Miss Pearl Wright from Hopper passed through Oregon City Wednesday with her cousin, Mrs. Cassie Evans of Canby. Miss Wright has been visiting at Canby for a few days. She was accompanied as far as Portland on her return home by Mrs. Evans. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jewell have returned to Oregon City after spending several months on the southern Oregon coast. Mr. Jewell is a deputy state fish warden. He will remain here the rest of the fall and winter and during the fishing season next spring. Mrs. John Cross, of Netarts, Ore., was the guest at the home of her uncle, E. H. Cooper, during the last week. She is now in Portland. She also visited her brother, Edgar Ingram. Mrs. Cross was a former resident of this city and Molalla and she was born to C. H. "Jack" Payne, of this city, received word from his sister in England, that his brother Edgar, who had enlisted in the British army, was in a hospital in Egypt, suffering from injuries to the extent that it would be necessary to amputate his arm and a portion of his foot. His recovery is doubted. Frank Dodge, of Canby, arrived here on Friday afternoon with a crew of men, and now engaged in putting in place the fixtures for the new bank to be established in the Weinhard building. The fixtures arrived here on Friday morning from Seattle, and when they are in place other improvements will be made in the room to be occupied by the bank. Rev. Mr. Lucas of Stafford, Ore., was among those who attended the German Baptist State convention held in Salem the first of this week. He was one of the speakers on the Sunday afternoon program. The convention is considered one of the most successful held in the history of the German Baptist church in this state. The annual meeting in 1916 will be held in Portland on a date to be announced later. Asel Taber and sister, Miss Hazel Taber, of Portland, left Monday for Sheridan, Iowa, where they will join their mother, Mrs. G. E. Taber, who preceded them several weeks ago. Mr. Taber is now visiting in California and will soon go to Iowa where he will take up his residence with his family. Mr. Taber and his sister have been visiting at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. R. H. Taber at Glen Echo. Brenton Vedder, county school supervisor, has returned from a five weeks' tour through the county visiting the schools and noting their progress. During the past five weeks he visited 13 schools, going as far as Welches near Mount Hood. He says that the roads in that section of Clackamas county are in good condition for this time of the year. Among the sections visited were Damascus, Wilhoit, Boring, Bull Run, Estacada, Colton, Springwater, Welches and Marmot. Extensive alterations in the Estacada Methodist church are under way which, when completed, will make that building one of the most modern and largest churches in the county. Every department of the church is doing its share to finance the project, even each class in the Sunday school is donating cash toward the building. The work is in charge of Rev. Mr. Spies, pastor of the church, assisted by Owen Smith, A. J. Mills and J. P. Woodie, who has charge of the carpentry. A large part of the work is being done by the men and boys of the church. Gus Leach and Henry Seidler, two farmers of Redland, have leased the Stone ranch, one of the largest ranches in the county, and will devote their attention to dairying and livestock growing, as well as to the raising of fruit. Mr. Leach will attend to the livestock department, while Mr. Seidler will devote his attention to the fruit. There are about 90 acres of land under cultivation. Carl Mohaupt, who formerly was in charge of this farm, has leased the farm owned by Jesse Hazell, of this city, and is largely under cultivation. D. O. Anderson, who returned from San Francisco Saturday afternoon, where he had been attending the livestock show at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, states that this was a most successful show of its kind and Oregon as well as the state of Washington won their share of prizes for livestock. Among the Oregon exhibitors were A. Chalmers, of Forest Grove, who had Shorthorns; B. P. Inman, Ed. Cary, Harry West, C. P. Hembre, Frank Loughery, Walter Domes, E. E. Lynn, George Chandler, F. H. Porter, F. R. Steel and D. D. Warnock, who made a splendid showing. These stockmen competed with some of the finest stock in the northwest, and owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth disease in the east, there is a quarantine on, and very few livestock were entered from the eastern cities. The Oregon livestock as well as that from Washington attracted much attention during the livestock show.

FORMER OREGON CITY EDITOR AIDE DACTRESS

C. L. GOODRICH GAVE LOTTA CRABTREE EDUCATION—PORTLANDER RECALLS INCIDENT.

C. L. Goodrich, editor of the Oregon City Spectator 50 years ago, was the one who provided the education for Lotta Crabtree, the venerable actress, proclaimed by San Francisco as "Our Lotta," who after 50 years, returned to the city by the Golden Gate and called back memories of old-timers when she was in the heyday of her career. It was Joseph Buchtel, one of the foremost pioneers of Portland, who played a certain part in the recognition given the abilities of Lotta Crabtree, who recalled to mind the other day the incident. "C. L. Goodrich was editor of the Spectator, published at Oregon City, and he was called to San Francisco to be the associate editor of a paper there," said Mr. Buchtel. "He and I had always been close friends, and I went to San Francisco on some business, and while there we went to the theater where Lotta was then acting child parts. Her appearance struck me as remarkable, and the next day Mr. Goodrich and I called to see the child. Her family were in modest circumstances. Goodrich was so impressed by her appearance that he agreed to educate and train her for the stage. "I took her a nearby gallery and had some picture of her taken—the first she ever had. Goodrich made his word good and afforded her an education, and she became famous. "Lotta Crabtree visited Portland several times, but I never happened to see her. What because of Mr. Goodrich I have never been able to learn. It was due to him that she was able to make a start in a career that made her almost world-wide famous."

MILWAUKIE WATER INJUNCTION VACATED

FISCH INTERESTS ARE GIVEN 30 DAYS TO TAKE CASE INTO SUPREME COURT.

An order dissolving the restraining order granted a month ago in the suit of Theodore Fisch and B. M. Fisch against the town of Milwaukie was signed Wednesday by Circuit Judge Campbell. The Fisch brothers own the Milwaukie Water company and are attempting to force the city to buy their plant before the municipal water system, supplied from the Bull Run mains in Portland, is completed. The restraining order, which tied up all work on the uncompleted municipal system and prevented the use of water from the city's mains, will be in force for 30 days, and if at that time the water company has not instituted an appeal to the state supreme court, the city can complete its plant and deliver water to its customers. Under the restraining order, water could be delivered to the Milwaukie school by the city. The municipally owned plant is over half completed.

CANBY MEN ARE IN COOPERATIVE PLAN

Articles of incorporation for the Canby Cooperative Cheese & Produce company were filed with County Clerk Harrington Tuesday. The incorporators are Franz Kraxberger, W. H. Bair, F. M. Mathews, Charles N. Wait and John Samuelson. The capital stock of the new organization is $5000, divided into 1000 shares of $5 each. According to the articles of incorporation, the business of the company will be to manufacture dairy and farm products. The offices of the company will be located at Canby and the company will do business with farmers in the southern end of the county.

ELIJAH COLEMAN, GUIDE, LOSES CASE

Elijah Coleman, the Mt. Hood guide who recently narrowly escaped death in climbing the mountain, appeared as plaintiff Wednesday in a case tried before Circuit Judge Campbell. Coleman filed a suit against F. L. Mack, constable at Sandy, alleging that Mack attached property of his which was exempt. The case was non-suited on motion of Stone & Moulton, attorneys for Mack, who called the attention of the court to the fact that Coleman fled his claim for exemption too late. Four hundred and fifty dollars are involved.

INFORMATION ABOUT ROY HILL IS SOUGHT

CHICO, CAL., WOMAN HAS COUSIN BY SAME NAME LOST FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

Dr. W. E. Homestead, county coroner, received a letter Wednesday morning from Mrs. R. W. Russell, of Chico, Cal., requesting additional information about the late Roy Hill. She says she has a cousin by that name and has not heard of him for several years. Hill took poison in Portland, November 2, and his body was found later in a United Railways electric car. He left a note for Gertrude Smith, daughter of N. H. Smith, by whom he was formerly employed. Hill and the girl tried to elope, but were caught in Oregon City.

OREGON MILLS MAY SECURE WAR ORDERS

PORTLAND MAN ON RETURN FROM ZONE SAYS RESULTS ARE YET TO BE ANNOUNCED.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 16.—Portland may or may not secure some substantial war contracts as a result of the recent visit of B. C. Ball, manager of the Willamette Iron & Steel company, to England and France. "I did not go to Europe to get war orders," said Mr. Ball tonight, "although my trip had something more or less to do with the war. "There may be some developments later, but I can't talk about that now. When the time comes I may be able to tell more about it."

THREE MORE WANT DIVORCE

Three divorce complaints were filed in the circuit court Thursday. The cases were: Hallie Sutherland against W. O. Sutherland, charge desertion; Victor D. DuChateau against Marcia M. DuChateau, charge desertion, and Marian Longwood against Charles G. Longwood, charge cruel and inhuman treatment. Judge Campbell signed a decree divorcing Ethel Cox from Charles Cox.

TWO DECREES SIGNED

Circuit Judge Campbell Saturday signed a decree separating S. O'Brien from P. O'Brien and James Fields from Stella Fields.

WEST LINN'S WATER SYSTEM SOON IN USE

PIPE IS ALL LAID, BUT MUCH WORK REMAINS TO BE DONE ON RESERVOIR.

West Linn's new $75,000 water distribution system will be completed about December 1, said Engineer H. A. Rands Tuesday. The system includes about nine miles of the best grade of steel pipe, a reservoir with a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons and a standpipe which will hold 60,000 gallons. West Linn owns a one-third interest in the South Fork project and will secure one-third of the water delivered through the line. The town across the river issued $200,000 bonds, of which $125,000 has been used to buy an interest in the South Fork project. The remaining $75,000 is being spent for the new distribution system. Practically all of the town will be supplied from the reservoir, but in order to reach the higher section, a standpipe was built. There will be enough force in the water discharged into the reservoir to pump the rest of the water into the standpipe. However, to provide for emergencies, motor-driven pumps are provided. While the system is not complete, practically all of the mains are laid and a large part of the town is using the water, the distribution system being supplied direct from the South Fork pipeline. The principal cause of delay is the reservoir, on which much work remains to be done.

MRS. E. B. LOWE DIES WHILE TAKING DRINK

Mrs. E. B. Lowe, aged about 50 years, died at her home on Thirteenth and John Q. Adams street Monday afternoon after an illness of 20 months. Death was due to a complication of diseases, principal of which was dropped and heart trouble. She dropped dead in her bed while taking a drink of water. Mrs. Lowe had been improving slightly during the last few days and had successfully passed a crisis the middle of last week and her death Monday was unexpected. Six children survive Mrs. Annmarintha J. Lowe, who died at her home here Monday afternoon, besides six others, one of whom lives in Portland; her mother, in Kansas, and her husband. She was born May 18, 1865, in Illinois. The surviving children are: Geo. G. Lowe, of Los Angeles; Eleanor J. Lowe, of Los Angeles; John A. Lowe, in the navy and stationed at Cavarte, P. I.; Robert R.
