Miss Frances Cross, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cross, of Gladstone, was taken to a Portland hospital the early part of the week suffering from a complication of diseases. Miss Cross was a junior at Oregon City high school this term and was compelled to quit school because of her ill health.

Lamar Toozie, who represented the University of Oregon on the Ford peace mission to Europe, is expected to arrive in Salem Friday, where he will visit his mother, Mrs. W. L. Toozie.

Mr. Toozie will then go to Eugene to take part in the six-year examinations at the university. He is the nephew of City School Superintendent F. J. Toozie and C. T. Toozie of this city.

Miss Eva L. Moulton received a telegram from Minnesota Tuesday morning telling of the death of her brother, T. E. Moulton, at Warren. He had been ill for more than a month with pneumonia. Charles R. Moulton, his son, who is an attorney of this city, was with him when the end came. The younger Mr. Moulton left Oregon City nearly a month ago to be with his father.

SCHOOL DISTRICT AT MAPLE LANE CREATED

SECTIONS OF MAPLE LANE AND EVERGREEN DISTRICTS ARE UNITED BY BOARD.

The Maple Lane school district troubles, which a year ago received county-wide attention, was settled Tuesday by the district boundary board when a new district was created.

The school building at Maple Lane district is located on one edge of the territory served, and a year ago the people in the opposite corner began a fight for a new district, or for a shifting of the site of the school building. Mass meetings were held, resolutions passed, petitions signed, special meetings of the district boundary board were held, and the district divided evenly over the issue. But no change was made at that time.

This year the struggle was commenced over again and the boundary board granted those living a distance from the school an early victory. The new district is composed principally of a part of the Maple Lane district, and a small section from Evergreen.

It was the general opinion of those at the meeting that hard surface road work should be in the nature of an experiment until an economical and practical type was adopted as the best. Robert Schuebel, a road supervisor, lead the fight on the resolution.

Another resolution, opposing the appointment of a deputy district attorney, also was passed.

HARD SURFACE ROADS URGED BY GRANGE

MOLALLA SESSION PASSES RESOLUTION IN SPIKE OF BOB SCHUEBEL'S OPPOSITION.

A resolution, commending the construction of a limited amount of hard surface in Clackamas county this year, was passed at the last session of the Pomona grange, held at Molalla. About one hundred representatives of the various granges of the county were present.

It was the general opinion of those at the meeting that hard surface road work should be in the nature of an experiment until an economical and practical type was adopted as the best. Robert Schuebel, a road supervisor, lead the fight on the resolution.

Another resolution, opposing the appointment of a deputy district attorney, also was passed.

DAMAGE TO TIMBER IN CASCADES HEAVY

REPORTS REACH OREGON CITY THAT LOSS IN MOUNTAINS TOTALS THOUSANDS.

The heavy winds early this week resulted in heavy damage to timber in the Cascades, according to reports received in Oregon City Saturday.

Trees throughout the county were blown down, but in the mountains where the stand was heavy, the loss, it is reported, will total many thousands of dollars. Wagon roads, in the timbered districts, were blocked by the many trees that fell and in some places mail service was delayed until the roads were opened up again.

In many places in the mountains the trees were so thick that when one fell several others would go down with it. They are piled up, in some instances, 15 or 20 feet high.

One theory is advanced by the Canby Herald that the trees not being accustomed to much wind from an easterly direction whence it came were not prepared to withstand much pressure when the wind blew from this point of the compass and it did not take much to put them down for the "count." When a tree of any size fell it generally took several with it, thus adding to the amount of fallen timber.

Corra M. Harrington says her husband's love for her has grown cold, and that he has even told her he does not like her now, in a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court Wednesday against Jesse H. Harrington. They were married March 17, 1914, in St. Helena.

Circuit Judge Campbell Wednesday signed divorce decrees separating Edna Wells from Edward Lee Wells; Maude E. Linquist from Ekil B. Linquist; and Margaret M. Call from Tennyson M. Call. Mrs. Linquist was allowed to resume her maiden name, Maude E. Gilmer.

WOOBURN HOTEL PROPOSED

Aaron H. Gould, Portland architect, who designed the Oregon City high school and is well known here, is now working with Woodburn people in the interests of a modern hotel for the valley city. Woodburn is said to need a hotel badly, and prominent citizens are seeking to erect a $25,000 structure.

HELL IS DECLARED WORSE THAN A MERE FIRE OF BRIMSTONE

"Is There a Hell?" was the subject of the sermon Sunday night in connection with the revival services now on the First Methodist church.

The pastor, Rev. J. K. Hawkins, took for his text, "And if thy right eye causeth thee to stumble, pluck it out, and cast it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not the whole body be cast into hell."

He declared that it was not a pleasant subject, but that it was better to consider unpleasant truth than to go on believing pleasant error, and that it was his purpose to take the subject out of the realm of speculation and put it in the realm of fact, basing his argument on reason, nature, and the Bible.

It was known that in the Old Testament two words were used to represent hell; the first, Sheol 31 times, and Tophet 10 times. The New Testament word for hell is Hades and is found eleven times. In the use of these terms 52 times it is only used three times to mean death and the grave; while 49 times it is used with reference to the underworld, or the abode of the immortal wicked.

He declared that opinions of scholars were not proof against this doctrine that souls of history argued against the flood, and the destruction of Babel, and the overthrow of Jerusalem, but their contentions did not change the facts, or prevent the impending catastrophes. New Testament quotations were given in support of what he called the old-fashioned doctrine of hell, and it was added that he would rather be influenced by what Matthew, and Paul, and Peter, and John, and Jesus had to say than any modern critic of whatever school.

Illustration of the fruits of wrong doing in actual life were given, in which he said he had pictures of hell here on earth, and that these were analogous of a condition that would extend in eternity. He did not contend for a literal fire and brimstone hell; but a hell where men exist in awful and perpetual pain, insatiable desire and vile companionships—worse than fire.

The revival services are being continued this week, and all are extended an invitation to attend.

J. E. CALAVAN FAVORS COUNTY UNIT SYSTEM OF SCHOOL CONTROL

METHOD WOULD CENTRALIZE AND STRENGTHEN EDUCATIONAL WORK, HE SAYS.

County School Superintendent J. E. Calavan is a supporter of the county unit system of school management, a plan which has been adopted in many eastern states. The county unit system places all elementary schools of the county under the direct control of a county educational board and a superintendent. Mr. Calavan believes that Oregon finally will adopt this plan.

Mr. Calavan discussed the county unit system Wednesday afternoon, after spending two days working on petitions presented to the school district boundary board.

The superintendent compared the management of the county schools to the management of a large corporation. "Responsibility would not be scattered among scores of boards and individuals in the control of a corporation," he said. "On the contrary, the management of a successful corporation is centralized and one man or one board is in complete charge."

"I believe that there should be an educational board which would control all the elementary schools of the county and act with a county superintendent. This board would have complete power in school affairs, and the district system would be abolished."

Mr. Calavan also believes that a better method of apportioning county and state funds among the districts could be worked out.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Rolling stock to the value of $5,000,000 is sought in the east by the Southern Pacific railway, according to officials today. The road plans to add 2000 box cars, 650 flat cars, 250 gondola cars, 300 tank cars, 37 coaches and 20 locomotives.

WILLIAMSONS ARE DIVORCED.

Circuit Judge Campbell Friday signed a decree of divorce separating Iva Williamson from George P. Williamson.

The suit of Ethel Ramesbotham and Florence Johnson against Carl P. Johnson, of Gladstone, was dismissed Friday by an order signed by Judge Bagley.

John Straus and W. A. Practor, of Sandy, have secured a judgment for $280 against Elijah Coalman, the Mt. Hood guide.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitcher

Arrangements have been made for holding a public auction day at Veneta once each month.

28 PUPILS PASS THE EIGHTH GRADE TESTS

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT ANNOUNCES RESULTS OF FIRST EXAMINATIONS

Twenty-eight Clackamas county pupils last week passed the first state eighth grade examinations of the year. There were few failures in the list. Few schools conduct examinations this early in the year and the tests were given only in those schools where the year's work is divided into two semesters.

The list of those who passed, made public Saturday by County Superintendent of Schools Calavan, follows: Charlotte Nash, Milwaukie; Laura Spring, Milwaukie; Annie Ferrell, Milwaukie; Vivian Kennedy, Milwaukie; Laveria Kerr, Milwaukie; Amelia Ferrell, Milwaukie; Hazel Moore, Oregon City; Inez Keastling, Aurora; Merrell Seward, Aurora; John Gastrock, Canby; Rupert Marquardt, Oregon City; Rt. 4; Edwin Bottiniller, Oregon City; Rt. 4; Ethel Carpenter, Molalla; Tillie Mallatt, Molalla; Deliah Long, Molalla; Genevieve Rugh, Cherryville; Charles Haagsma, Bull Run; A. Vernon Davidson, Oswego; Orville Davidson, Oswego; Hens Kuffman, Aurora; David Becker, Lents; Emmett Baker, Sherwood, Rt. 2; Elsie Bates, Boring; Carrie Brook, Boring; George Hangman, Boring; Grace Hinkle, Oregon City, Rt. 3; Fred Oberst, Oregon City, Rt. 2; John Case, Newberg, Rt. 2.

24 INCHES OF SNOW FALLS AND PROPHET SAYS MORE TO COME

WINTER REMINDS OLD-TIMERS OF 1896—TEMPERATURE DROPS DOWN TO 27 DEGREES.

According to the government's record in Portland, 24 inches of snow had fallen up to last night and Assistant Forecaster Drake predicted that the weather would remain unsettled, with still more snow and probably easterly winds.

During Wednesday morning there were occasional squalls, but in the afternoon practically no snow fell. The government thermometer in Portland was 27 at one time early Wednesday morning, but the mercury registered two degrees lower in Oregon City.

Old-timers here compare the weather this winter with the winter of 1896, which proved the worse so far as stormy conditions are concerned, in the history of the northern part of the Willamette valley. Wednesday was the 12th day snow had fallen in January, yet the government forecaster expects still more snow.

The indications early Wednesday night were that the thermometer would not drop as low by two or three degrees as early yesterday morning.

SUIT TO COLLECT ON DOCTOR'S BILL FILED

DR. B. E. MILLER CLAIMS $81.50 IS DUE—WOMAN SAYS HUSBAND THREW THINGS.

The Lowell Mortgage & Adjustment company, with a claim assigned by Dr. B. E. Miller, Thursday filed a suit in the circuit court against Barbara Hafner for $81.50 and costs. Dr. Miller performed an operation and gave treatments for the defendant of a reasonable value of $81.50 between July 13, 1912, and October 29, 1912, according to the complaint.

Leona Littlejohn charges that her husband, Vernon Littlejohn, threw things at her and otherwise abused her in a divorce complaint filed Thursday. They were married in Portland August 20, 1913, and she is living in Portland now, according to her statements in the complaint. Desertion is also alleged. She asks for the return of her maiden name, Leona Kipple.

BAPTIST PASTOR IS UNABLE TO REGISTER

FATHER'S NATURALIZATION PAPERS BURNED—REV. MILLIKEN WRITES TO WASHINGTON.

Rev. W. T. Milliken, pastor of the First Baptist church, tried to register Monday and found that he could not. Dr. Milliken was born in Canada, but came to this country while a child. Before the local pastor was of age, his father took out his second papers and became a citizen, but these papers have been destroyed by fire, under the Oregon registration laws, while Rev. Mr. Milliken is a citizen, he must produce his father's papers, or other evidence that his father became a full citizen before the Oregon City pastor was 21.

Dr. Milliken will write to Washington, D. C., and attempt to secure a trace of the records there. A number of cases similar to this one have come up since registration books opened.

SKATER CUTS SELF

While skating on Kellogg lake near Milwaukie last Thursday night George Cuthbert cut himself on the ankle with a skate and severed an artery. Other skaters found him soon after the accident and he was taken to Dr. W. R. Taylor where he wound was dressed.

CANBY BOY IS ONE OF FOUR TO SECURE SILVER HERO MEDAL

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO MEMORY OF MELVIN HAGEN BY CARNEGIE JUDGES.

C. P. Hagen, of Canby, father of the late Melvin Hagen, who lost his life while trying to rescue Alma Summerfield on the Molalla trestle of the Southern Pacific, has received word that the Carnegie Hero Fund commission at Pittsburgh Wednesday awarded one of the four silver medals given by the commission to the memory of his son. Mr. Hagen will receive the medal.

Young Hagen and Miss Summerfield were walking from Canby to Barlow on the night of January 7, 1914, to attend religious services. When they were near the southern end of the trestle, they heard a train coming up from behind and both started to run.

Hagen made such speed that he was practically safe when he looked back and noticed that the girl's foot had caught between two of the ties. He turned back, facing the oncoming train, now only a few yards distant, in a desperate effort to save her. The train struck the two and they fell to the ground below. Miss Summerfield's sister, who was also in the party escaped.

The commission awarded two medals to Oregonians. Fred G. Buskub, a farmer of Friend, was given a bronze medal for saving Edward Harris from suffocation in a well at Friend August 3, 1912.

FARMER IS REPORTED CRUEL TO HIS CATTLE

WELL-TO-DO MARQUAM MAN SAID TO HAVE NEGLECTED STOCK DURING STORM.

Complaints have come into the Clackamas County Humane society that a farmer, who owns about 1500 acres of land and lives near Marquam neglected his cattle, especially during the recent snow storm, and on Saturday Adam Wilkinson, officer of the Clackamas County Humane society, was sent out to investigate.

He found some of the cattle in a deplorable condition. One cow had died and was buried, and others should have been killed. It is also understood by the society of this city that this same farmer owns a ranch about a mile beyond, and complaints have been made from that section in regard to his cattle there. The horses he is using on the farm appear to be in fairly good condition, as he is using them for farming purposes, but his excuse for neglecting his young cattle was that he was not using his cattle and they did not require the attention that of the horses.

It is the intention of the Clackamas County Humane society to take this matter up with the proper authorities if the farmer does not improve in caring for his stock.

WHITE MEN ROB TWO JAP HOMES

When Mrs. K. Zamada, of Kendall station, blew out the oil lamp as two white robbers entered the door, the two white men beat a hasty retreat across the snow to Grays Crossing. Zamada waited 15 minutes to collect his courage, stepped outside his door, shot twice into the air and then went to a neighbor to communicate with Sheriff Wilson. The incident happened about 8:30 o'clock Monday night.

Previous to entering the Zamada home, the two white men held up O. Shigenoda, another Japanese, in the same district and secured between $7 and $8.

Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Frost went to Kendall, returning at midnight. They traced the two men to Grays Crossing through the snow. The trip to the scene of the holdup was made in 25 minutes, a record run.

SHERWOOD FARMER WANTS HOP COMBINE

S. T. Edmiston, of Sherwood, has started a movement for the formation of an association or bureau of growers, the object of which is to collect information, independent of the dealers, as to the exact quantity of hops grown in the state. He believes the growers are seriously handicapped by the lack of such information, and thinks that a properly organized body can obtain the data accurately. It is his intention to take the first steps toward organization in this section.

BROWNELL AND OLDS AT ESTACADA MONDAY

The first of a series of political rallies in Clackamas county will be held at Estacada next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, when George C. Brownell, of Oregon City, and E. D. Olds, of Oak Grove, will be the main speakers. Both men are Republican candidates for the legislature.

ESTATE OF MAN LONG ABSENT IS PROBATED

RELATIVES OF JAMES N. EATON JUST THINK THAT HE DIED, PROBABLY IN MONTANA.

A petition for letters of administration in the estate of James N. Eaton, concerning the death of whom relatives here have no information, was filed in the probate department of the county court Friday.

Eaton, a native of this county, left Oregon City for Montana eight years ago and only a few letters were received here by his sister, Mrs. Alice Armstrong, but none later than 1908. When he left Oregon City he was suffering from heart disease and was 25 years old. Diligent inquiry in Montana failed to reveal a trace of him, either during the last few weeks or at the time of his mother's death.

His estate is valued at $200, and consists of an interest in the estate of his parents. A house and lot, the principal property of the estate, was sold Friday to Matthew Polajner.

All of Eaton's brothers and sisters have died and he is survived by the following nephews and nieces: Ruth M. Armstrong, aged 11 years, and Arlo M. Armstrong, aged 13 years, both of Fresno, Calif., and Ross Eaton.

BOILED EGG LEADS TO FAMILY FIGHT

ITALIAN HUSBAND PROTESTED WHEN GERMAN WIFE PUT UP LUNCH AND IS IN JAIL.

Ambros Gestra, an Italian, and his German wife are alleged to have engaged in a general rough and tumble fight Friday, following a discussion over an egg.

Mrs. Gestra put a boiled egg in the lunch of their nine-year-old daughter, and her husband protested, claiming that eggs in the winter time are too expensive to feed children. His remarks first were directed at the daughter, but Mrs. Gestra took a hand in the matter and after a few minutes, he is said to have made an attack on her, striking her with his fists, and then, she says, he threatened to take her life.

She came to Oregon City, swore to a warrant charging assault. He was arrested by Constable D. E. Frost and taken before Justice of the Peace Sievers. At present he is in the county jail in default of $500 bail to appear Monday.

WOMAN WHO CAUSED HUSBAND'S ARREST WINS HIS FREEDOM

THEN SHE FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE—BURKE ADVISES MAN TO JOIN ARMY.

While she refused Saturday to appear as a witness against her husband and, as a result, he was freed and the charge against him dismissed, Mrs. Mary Gestra Saturday filed a suit for divorce against Ambros Gestra in the circuit court. She caused his arrest Friday on a charge of assault, following an alleged attack on her because she wanted to put a boiled egg in her nine-year-old daughter's lunch.

Mrs. Gestra charges cruel and inhuman treatment, and declares that he often beat her and treated her life. She says he forced her to work in the fields like a man, and that she helped him clear land and do the heaviest farm work.

They were married in Portland, May 4, 1909, and have three children, the custody of whom the mother seeks. The nine-year-old girl over whom the two fought Friday is a daughter of Mrs. Gestra by a former husband.

Their farm at Redland will be divided between the two. C. Schuebel appeared as her attorney and filed the suit. The alleged attack made Friday is mentioned in the complaint.

Deputy District Attorney Thomas A. Burke called Gestra to his office Saturday afternoon and much to the Italian's delight explained that his wife would not press the charge and that, therefore, he was a free man. "If you got to fight, why don't you go back to the old country and join the army," asked the official. "They need good, strong men like you."

MRS. MILLER-HUMPHREY DIES IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Leah Miller-Humphrey died Monday at her home in Portland. She was well known in Oregon City where she attended a local business college and later was employed in the office of Judge J. U. Campbell. In 1910 she left this city for Portland and was married about three years ago.

She is survived by her husband, one sister and a brother. Interment was made in a Portland cemetery.

Mrs. Humphrey was born in Oregon, Kansas, October 27, 1855, and came to Oregon about 1905 with her mother who died a few years ago. She composed a song that sold in the local music stores "Her Sailor Brother" which was dedicated to a brother who was lost at sea.

GILBERT L. HEDGES HOLDS MIDDLEWEIGHT HONORS OF THE WEST

FRIENDS OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY PRESENT HIM WITH PUGILISTIC BELT.

Gilbert L. Hedges, district attorney and middleweight champion boxer of the west.

How does that sound? It is Mr. Hedges' new title, showing the wide variety of honors held by him. Of course, Mr. Hedges has been district attorney for some little time now, but the boxing title came to him only recently.

Following his fistie encounter with William W. Smith on Main street Wednesday, friends of the district attorney contributed to a fund with which a belt, including a number of medals, was bought. The belt was mailed to Mr. Hedges and carried with it a card, which read: "For the middle weight champion of the west. We wish you success in your new venture." The card is signed, "Your Friends."

R. L. Holman, who recently won a short bout with H. M. Templeton, is the only contender for the championship honors, and it was reported yesterday that he and Mr. Hedges might meet in the near future.

JOSEPH JOHNSTON, 93, IS LAID TO REST

NATIVE OF SCOTLAND AND OREGON PIONEER DIES AT GRIBBLE PRAIRIE.

The funeral of Joseph Johnston, who died a week ago Saturday at the home of his daughter in the Gribble Prairie district, was held Thursday and interment was in the Gribble cemetery. John Cole officiated.

Mr. Johnston, who was 93 years old, was one of the best known pioneers in the southern part of the county. He drove an ox team across the plains in 1853.

He settled at Needy in 1866 where he lived until six years ago when he purchased a small tract east of Canby just beyond the city limits, where he resided until a few weeks ago when he became ill and went to stay with his daughter, Mrs. E. White, in order to receive the care demanded.

Mr. Johnston was born in Dumfries, Scotland, August 30, 1823. He came to America in 1851, crossed the plains to Oregon in 1853, spent 12 years in the mines in Idaho and California, and returned to Oregon in 1865. Settling at Needy, he was married in Miss Nancy Jesse February 10, 1878. To this union five children were born as follows: John F. Johnston, of Portland; Mrs. E. White, of Gribble Prairie; Wood R. and Thomas Johnston, of Kelso, Wash.; and Miss Ann Johnston, of Portland. Mrs. Johnston died May 13, 1909.

Mr. Johnston was a familiar character throughout the country and was known far and wide for his love of fishing. He has secured his angler's license every year, including the present one, since the law was enacted. In spite of his great age he was strong and active and would wade out to the middle of the swiftest stream—where many a young man would feel dubious of going—and cast his line for the festive trout.

PIONEER PASTOR IS DEAD IN PORTLAND

REV. W. L. MALLEY WILL BE LAID TO REST BESIDE BODY OF WIFE AT MOUNTAIN VIEW.

Rev. W. L. Malloy, who died at the Patton Home in Portland of grip, will be brought here for burial, and the funeral will take place at 1:30 p. m. today from the undertaking establishment of Holman & Randall, under the auspices of Multnomah lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M. Rev. J. K. Hawkins will officiate.

Mr. Malloy was born September 26, 1832, in Caldwell county, Kan. He was ordained a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1854. He saw service in the Union army during the Civil war.

His first charge in Oregon was at McMinnville. His wife died three years ago and was buried here. Mr. Malloy has a daughter, Mrs. Mattie Palmer, at San Francisco, and a granddaughter, Madallent Thiron, who was a member of the Lamborn grand opera company that was in Portland in 1912. He was well known throughout the northwest in Methodist church circles.

MILL WORKER DIES IN PORTLAND HOSPITAL

Frank Pogaenik, for several years an acid maker in the employ of the Crown Willamette Paper company, died Friday morning at St. Vincent's hospital of pneumonia. He was 46 years of age and unmarried, and was a native of Austria. The funeral will be held Sunday from St. John's Catholic church.

Preparations are being made to grade the site for the proposed high school building in the union district, embracing Svensen and Knappa, in Clatsop county. The site comprises six acres.
