There are names on that list which are familiar to all the older residents of the northwest, such as the widow of Nehemiah Doane, who worked in this field since 1849 and Father Flynn, who is 98 years of age.

Rev. Mr. Hopkins spoke of what these early ministers have done for the northwest, of the founding of the college at Corvallis by the South Methodist, which was later bought by the government; of the founding of Willamette college by the North Methodist church, and the founding in 1836 of a temperance society at Champoux, soon after the coming of Jason and Daniel Lee.

set by the first quarterly conference to be paid but they often fell short of the promise, so did not give the minister a chance to lay away very much or any for the future.

The past year there were 29 retired pastors, though another was overlooked, 12 widows and one orphan.

As there was but $792 for the purpose, it was distributed in varying sums, the highest paid being $254 to a minister and his family, the lowest or $21 was paid to a widow to keep her in respectable comfort for the period of one year.

and expensive" to have criteria as they did in the times of the kings, at a cost of four or five thousand dollars a year, to announce that the seven judges were taking their seats and were about to begin duties, when every one could see that was occurring.

Mr. Brownell referred the public to investigate the senate journal where it records where he asked the public in one afternoon, $750,000 by reducing appropriation for the Lewis and Clark fair. Also how as president of the senate, he killed upon the last night an appropriation for $125,000 for a fish way.

He said that he had been accused of everything from stealing chickens up, but accusers would not meet him in a hall and discuss the matter.

He thought the industrial welfare and labor commissions should be kept, but the fish commission should be done away with.

According to figures given, it cost $55,000 to print and distribute the Uren pamphlet.

He gave as his idea in running for office at his age, that in his declining years he would like to establish a name which he could leave as a monument to his family.

He thought that at least he would not be like the gentleman elected from Clackamas county a few years ago who could not find the senate for 40 days. (Applause.)

He believes that there should be arbitrators to settle the smaller difficulties that do not involve very much money. It took over 75% of the county money to defend two fishermen a short time ago.

He believes that each road district is better able to vote for the road supervisor.

He spoke of the 25 years spent in Oregon City, of 12 years in the senate, four of which he was president of that body. He felt that he had never been charged with corrupt business methods. He spoke of the time he was under U. S. indictment for three years, three months and sixteen days for political reasons, until Roosevelt had the matter investigated and his name cleared by Heney in the White Temple in Portland.

He spoke how, upon the last day of the senate, he was offered $35,000 for the use of his vote and upon that same day he had to borrow $50 to pay for his boy's board at Forest Grove, where he was attending school. He told of being in debt to the extent of $9000 much of which was because of going upon other notes or borrowing money in his own name to help others.

He spoke particularly about the fact that he was making the fight alone. He mentioned the five men running for office ending the list with "Mr. Olds who sits there" and asked that the voters choose three.

Mr. Brownell left at once as did a number of the people as they supposed that the meeting was over.

Ed. Olds Also Talks. Mr. Olds then took the floor and spoke a few minutes about his campaign. He stated that he was a working man, had worked till noon with his donkey engine before starting to Molalla.

He felt like having the commissions reduced and said that he would support that measure, but what appealed to him most was about taxation for roads. Since means of travel have changed so that people do not keep on their particular strip of road, to the extent that they used to, he felt that the state should do the taxing for that requiring about 2 mills, and distributing it according to the main trunk line in each county. He spoke of the numbers of Portland autos that are plowing up the roads made by other counties.

He thought that our schools were spending more than was needed though he believed in education. For 1915 Clackamas paid something over $100 for each pupil sent to Eugene, O. A. C. or state normal, to say nothing of the expense these young people had.

Doctor Has Horse Stolen. Dr. Pettit had the misfortune to have a bay horse stolen about midnight, Monday, from Perry's livery barn. Dr. Pettit has given the description as: age 8 years, weight 1100 pounds, nose white, a little wart on breast, hair shoes in front because the animal was driven a great deal and Dr. Pettit wanted to save his feet. Foretop was shorn last Sunday. Had been shod behind for some time.

Mr. Barrett at the hotel next door thinks it was about 11:30 that she heard a horse's foot strike the sidewalk in a peculiar manner. The animal was from Altamont trotting stock and was said to have cost $260. Dr. Pettit drives to Molalla three times a week from his home in Silverton.

The suspects are two young men, rather small, both dark eyed and one quite dark complexion, who had been about Molalla a day or so. One about 22, the other 19. They claimed their mother was part Indian and part Mexican and their father American. Both use cigarettes. They were seen at 9 p. m. in front of the Barrett hotel but were not to be found in town the next day.

The buggy is rubber tired, has top, is black and shows about medium amount of wear.

Major Everhart found himself duty bound to take some pipe from a junk dealer's wagon Tuesday morning. There was no resistance.

Guide posts having been placed on the county road naming the stations, which are valuable for travelers, is one of the things recently accomplished by the club. The club will discontinue the meetings during the summer months.

Many are going down to the towhead to see the fishermen and their craft these pleasant evenings. The red and white lights on each of the boats as they drift down the river make a particularly pleasing sight. Roscoe Brothers reported their first night's catch as small, only 20 fish being caught.

William Finley and family and Mrs. Barnhart dined at their hall on the banks of the Willamette river on Sunday.

Wilson Miller, wife and baby enjoyed a visit at the home of their uncle, William Jennings, on Sunday.

Marie Moore, a little miss of five years who always delights her neighbors, gave a pleasing recitation at the Easter services on Sunday last and unintentionally her name was omitted from the program of the Easter service which was given in full in last week's issue of the Enterprise.

V. A. Nowell is enjoying a visit from his brother from Los Angeles and also a visit from Mr. Cronberry of the same place.

Entertains Psychology Club. Messadmes McFarlane and Morse were joint hostesses to the psychology club on Tuesday last week. Luncheon was served at a prettily appointed table where covers were laid for eleven at the McFarlane home. Arranged about the rooms were clusters of beautiful calla lilies. Mrs. Fannie Perry had charge of the meeting after the luncheon hour, her subject being "Personal Responsibility."

Last Meeting of Season. The last meeting of the season of the Symposium club of Portland was a delightful banquet held at the Ostrom home on Saturday, where the merry makers had a jolly time. The members gathered at 6:30. The fragrance of the narcissus from the bowls arranged so attractively about the rooms, lent a charm to the enjoyable affair. Cards were enjoyed later and 24 shared in the pleasure of the banquet.

May Day Party. Miss Ruth Cook gave a May Day party on Monday. Nine little guests enjoyed the time and little Miss Mary Kassi was crowned the queen of May. Refreshments were served to the little folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox have been business callers at the Lodge during the week.

New Son in Haynes Home. Dr. Haynes and wife are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a little son, who came to gladden their home on April 25th.

Mrs. James Waldron is very ill at her home. Her sons, John of Oak Grove and James of Newberg, and Miss Alice of Everett, Wash., have arrived to be at her bedside.

Former Residents Have Daughter. Cards announcing the birth of a little daughter at the W. Wood home in Portland have been received. Elizabeth Anne has been the name decided upon for their first little daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Wood were former residents of Jennings Lodge.

Geo. A. Ostrom leaves on Saturday for Omaha, Neb., where business calls will, perhaps for all summer.

Henhouse and Chickens Burns up. A fire destroyed the new hen house of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly at 2 a. m. on Wednesday and 180 young chicks lost their lives.
