DEUTSCHLAND SAILS ON RETURN TRIP, BRAVING LINE OF ALLIES' WARSHIPS.

The giant submarine trader Deutschland with Captain Paul Koenig and her original crew of twenty-seven men, braving the line of allied warships waiting outside the Virginia capes to intercept her, sailed from Baltimore under her own power on her projected dash down Chesapeake bay, across the Atlantic and back to Germany, a trip of 3,800 miles fraught with the continuous danger of capture and possible death to all aboard her.

Other ships which had started out with the Deutschland left her earlier, the revenue cutter Wissahickon and the police launch Lannon at Fort Carroll and the power boat Echo likewise down the bay. Word from the Virginia capes was that news of her departure had already been flashed to the fleet of allied warships lying outside the three-mile limit and that they had drawn as closely as possible inshore to await her coming. Picture shows the Deutschland leaving Baltimore.

STORY OF TWO BOYS.

Their Methods Were Different, and So Were the Results.

Two boys left home with just money enough to take them through college. They both did well at college, took their diplomas in due time and got from members of the faculty letters to a large shipbuilding firm with which they desired employment. When the first boy was given an audience with the head of the firm he presented his letters.

"What can you do?" asked the president. "I should like some sort of a clerkship." "Well, sir, I will take your name and address, and if we have anything of the kind I will write to you." The other boy then presented himself and his papers. "What can you do?" the president asked him. "Anything that a green hand can do, sir," was the reply. The president touched a bell that called a foreman, and the college graduate went to sorting scrap iron. A week passed, and the president, meeting the superintendent, asked, "How is the new man getting on?" "Oh," said the superintendent, "he did his work so well that I put him over the gang."

In two years that young man was the head of a department and on the way to a salary larger probably than his friend will ever earn.—Youth's Companion.

Why Children Like Candy.

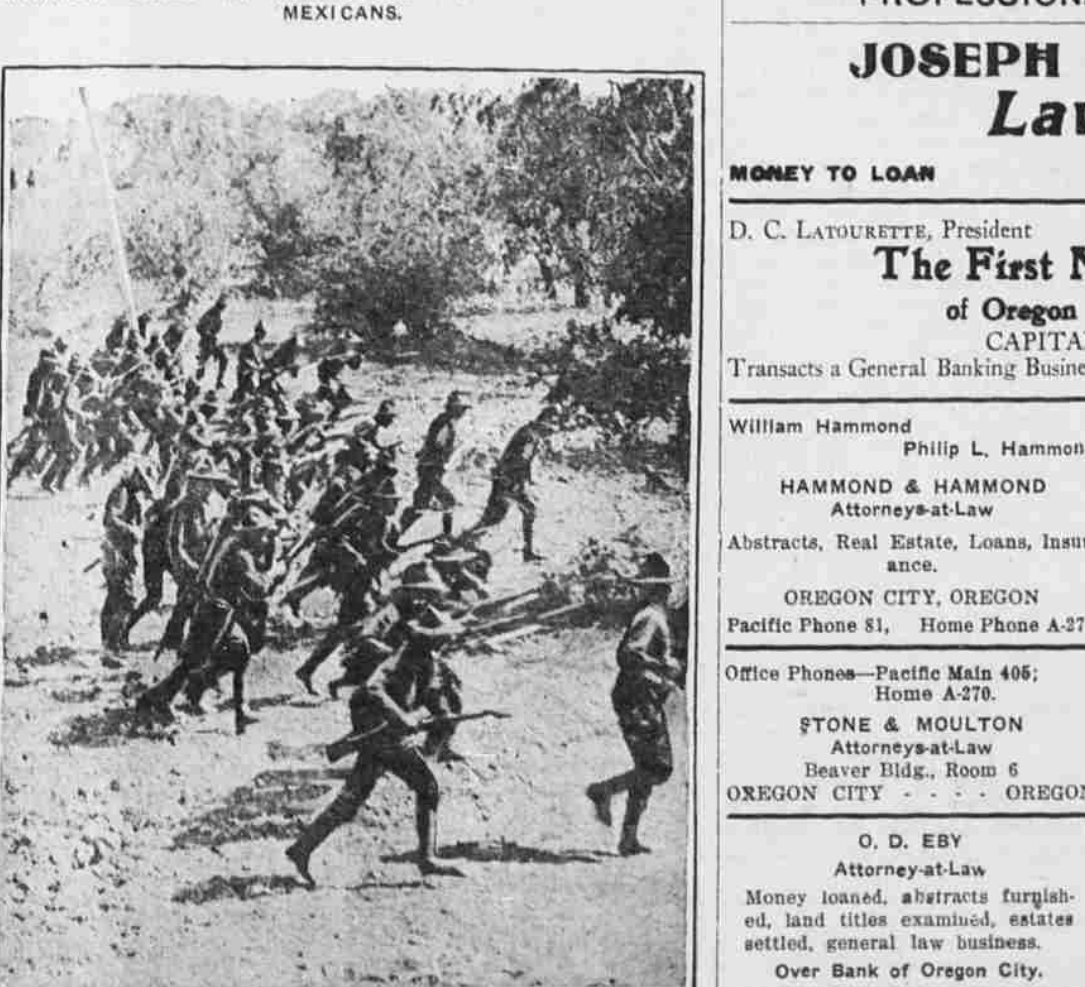

Children like candy because of its properties of sugar, a food quickly absorbed by the human system. The purpose of all food is to supply the energy that is wasted by physical exertion. Some foods more than others contain the elements necessary to furnish this supply and vary in the time required to feel their benefits. Sugar is actually turned into real energy within a few minutes after it is eaten, and candy gives a quick supply of the energy called for by the activities of youth. Thus the constant need of energizing force by children lends them instinctively to crave candy.—Exchange.

MILITIAMEN DRILL IN MANEUVERS INSTEAD OF FIGHTING MEXICANS.

"It is not for the purpose of drill, but for the purpose of protecting the country. The service the men are performing there is an honor to them and a necessity to the United States," wrote President Wilson to a woman of Indiana whose son is serving on the border. But drill is not neglected, as the accompanying picture, taken near McAllen, Tex., proves. It shows men of the Seventy-first New York at maneuvers charging through brush at the side of a road.

LASSEN IS FOUND TO HAVE ACCOUNT IN 'FRISCO BANK

ANOTHER POINT IN BOMB SUSPECT'S STORY STANDS UP UNDER INVESTIGATION.

DANISH VICE-CONSUL HARKSON TELEPHONES SUCCESS OF WORK

Assertion Viewed With Suspicion When First Made by Inmate of County Jail Is Found to Be The Truth.

Another point in the story told by Chris Lassen, believed to be implicated in the San Francisco bomb outrage, has been checked up and found to be correct.

Lassen, in both of his confessions, declared that he had $1,300 in a San Francisco bank, and intimated that this money was his reward for planting the loaded suitcase on the crowded Market street corner. At one time he declared that he did not place the money in the bank himself, but that some other person placed it there to his credit.

Henry Harkson, of Portland, Royal Danish vice-consul, was interested in the case while Lassen was in the Clackamas county jail and communicated with the consular agent in the Bay City, who replied that Lassen's story of the bank deposit was correct. Mr. Harkson called Sheriff Wilson Wednesday and told him the latest development in the case over the long distance telephone.

According to Lassen's own story, he was employed to plant the suitcase on the Saturday afternoon of the bomb outrage. That night he left Oakland for the north, arriving in Portland on the following Monday. He said he registered at the Quimby house, in Portland, Monday night, and that besides the $10 in cash given him he understood that money was to be placed to his credit in a San Francisco bank.

Burns detectives and local authorities, checking over Lassen's story, first found that he arrived in Portland the Monday following the outrage and registered at the Quimby house, and now later investigation reveals the fact that Lassen's story about the $1,300, at first viewed with suspicion, is correct.

Lassen was committed to the state hospital for the insane last week, after being held in the county jail here for over a week. Local authorities are closely watching the new developments in the case.

Lassen attempted to escape from the train taking him to Salem when the cars halted at Canby. An attendant from the state hospital pulled him back into the car as he started to crawl out of a window.

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere. (Adv.)
