GREEN SHELLLED FLEAS.

Tiny Parasites That Attack Nearly All Fresh Water Fish. Scarcely any species of fresh water fish is free from the attacks of the little disklike fish flea, its flattened, greenish body being pressed close against the skin of the fish.

The so-called fish louse is neither flea nor louse, but a member of a simple group of crustaceans, well known to naturalists for the parasitic habit of most of its members.

It is far from having reached the ultimate degeneration of the chronic parasite, however, and often forsakes its victim to enjoy the pleasures of the free.

I have watched the fish fleas during these excursions into the open water, apparently engaged in their gambolingly greenish disks dashing hither and thither in direct course, diving suddenly downward or upward or turning over and over in a series of rapid somersaults, which have been reckoned to number some hundred a minute.

Should a fish wish to rejoin a host it approaches until it is caught up in the swirl of water which accompanies the movement of the fish, and so soon as it touches, it lays quick hold upon the skin of its victim by a pair of peculiar sucker organs, placed on the under surface near the mouth—London Tit-Bits.

VAST AREA OF TEXAS.

Some of the Magnificent Distances in the Lone Star State. Those who live in the east and north have little or no conception of the magnitude of distances in Texas. Here are just a few figures that will help to illustrate the vastness of area of the Lone Star State.

The distance from Houston to El Paso by the nearest rail route is 833 miles, which is only 114 miles less than the distance from New York to Chicago, 947 miles.

It is 820 miles by rail from San Antonio to El Paso. This is 114 miles greater than the distance from Chicago to Pittsburgh.

The distance from Echo, Tex., the most eastern point on a direct railroad route, to El Paso, is 944 miles, or three miles less than the distance from New York to Chicago.

The distance from Brownsville, Tex., on the gulf coast, the easternmost point on the Texas-Mexican border, to El Paso, the western terminus of the border, is more than 1,200 miles. This is greater than the distance from New York City to Tampa, Fla., or to Springfield, Ill. It is greater than the distance from New York to St. Louis by 140 miles.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Diana of Ephesus.

Ephesus was one of the twelve Ionic cities of Asia Minor and was situated in Lydia, near the mouth of the river Caystrus. According to Strabo, it was founded by Androclus, son of Codrus. It ultimately came into possession of the Romans, and in the time of Augustus it was the greatest place of trade of all the cities of Asia west of the Taurus. St. Paul resided there three years, but the destruction of its great temple by the Goths in 263 A. D. gave it a blow from which it never recovered. This was the western temple of Diana. Near the western extremity of the town are still to be seen some massive structures, which have since 1868 been carefully excavated. It is now certain that these stand on the famous temple site.

Joss Sticks.

The composition of the candies called joss sticks, which are used in all the religious ceremonies of Buddhism, for a long time remained a mystery, the preparation of the sticks being entrusted to certain persons chosen from a limited class. A French chemist, however, learned the manner of making joss sticks in Indo-China. A stem of bamboo is rolled in a preparation containing fourteen different odoriferous drugs, two of which are chemical and physical properties. These are acule, which serves to protect the sticks against the attacks of rats and mice, and camphor, which causes them to burn steadily without being periodicaly extinguished.

His One Regret.

"There's no use trying to deny it," remarked Mrs. DeFlatt. "This is the worst cook we've had yet. There positively isn't a decent thing to eat on the table." "That's right," rejoined DeFlatt. "But," continued his wife, "there's one thing in her favor. She can't be beat when it comes to washing." "Pity we can't eat the washing," sighed the hungry husband.—Chicago News.

"What—what sort of a part has she in your show? Do you think she'll please the audience?" he queried anxiously. "She ought to. She gets killed in the first act," replies a sister contemporary.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Helping the Diagnosis.

Those who passed the examination were: Miss Shirlee Swallow, Miss Anna Rinearson, Kenneth C. Hendricks, Miss Elizabeth Keese, Marlan White, Ruth Miller, William Miller, Clara F. Tate, Agnes Harris, and Lorraine A. Ostrom.

Misses Shirlee Swallow and Anna Rinearson, with grades of 99 and 98 respectively, submitted two of the best papers ever written in this work. This expert work has been standardized by the United Society of Christian Endeavor, and the same course is offered all over the world. For that reason the showing of the local class is considered especially good.

ESTACADA GINSENG FARM IS SUCCESS

JERRY JONES NOW IS MARKETING VALUABLE ROOT AT HIGH PRICES.

Jerry Jones, of the Estacada country, is marketing ginseng from his fields. He believes that his plants, grown largely as an experiment, are entirely successful.

Five years ago he planted several thousand plants, and thereby made himself the object of much neighborhood ridicule, but by careful cultivation has already sold enough to meet his initial expense. The market price today for this medicinal root ranges from $6 to $7 a pound the price depending largely upon the age of the root. Mr. Jones expects to harvest several hundred pounds next spring.

Oregon grown plants mature about a year earlier than those grown in the east, with about 13 plants furnishing a pound of the dried product. The roots are ready for market after the fourth year, but older roots bring a higher price.

"DEAD MAN" NOT FOUND.

Chief of Police Burk has been asked to investigate the death of Charles Voeth by Chief of Police John Catlin, of Albany. According to the police chief of the up-valley city, Voeth met his death in this county in December 14, 1914, probably while at work on a railroad. A search of both official records and newspaper files, however, fails to reveal a trace of the case. Voeth has a sister living in Albany who is trying to learn of her brother's death.

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere. (Adv.)
