

ON THE FARM AND GARDEN

SPECIAL ATTENTION TO PULLETS ALWAYS PAYS

FED BALANCED RATIONS, SAYS PROF. MORMAN.

BY PROF. JAMES H. MORMAN Former Expert for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Egg laying in the late fall and early winter is not in accordance with natural law. Poultry are domesticated wild birds. The natural period for laying is during spring and early summer.

The first essential to success is to keep the young birds growing steadily. The pullets should be separated from the cockerels when about three months old. When four months of age, the pullets should be growing into promising layers.

To be properly fitted for laying, a pullet should be in full flesh with a small amount of surplus fat. The latter is required to maintain the normal body heat as cold weather comes on.

It is good practice to pen pullets by themselves when being fitted for winter egg-laying. The pens should be prepared as early in the fall as possible.

Another advantage of penning pullets by themselves is to provide for normal development. It is not always easy to do this successfully. All poultry feeds contain different combinations of water, protein, starches, fats and mineral salts.

But feeding and housing are not the only precaution necessary for fitting pullets to lay successfully. It is not wise to let pullets run at large in wet grass or weeds during the fall months.

laying. This condition should certainly be avoided if one is striving for profitable winter egg production. If pullets are kept off the wet grass and long weeds, they keep themselves neat, clean and healthy.

EARTHWORMS BUILD UP SOIL.

One of the important soil builders is the earthworm, according to R. I. Throckmorton, assistant professor of soils in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"His greatest importance lies in the fact that by burrowing into the soil it leaves open passages through which the elements of weathering may gain access to the subsoil or underlying layers of stone.

OREGON HENS GAIN RANK IN EGG-LAYING CONTEST

The Oregon's at Mountain Grove place in the Missouri National Egg-laying contest at the end of the tenth month of laying, and another pen of the same breed had reached sixth place in the Storr's contest.

SILAGE AND TESTING AID COOS DAIRYMEN

By growing corn for silage and testing their cows, Coos county dairymen have raised the average production of about 3000 cows to 240.5 pounds of butter fat a year.

Ever since their county agricultural agent, J. L. Smith, has been working with the farmers of Coos, he has considered his major problem to be that of more profitable dairying.

How to Give Good Advice.

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example.

CARE OF MILK CANS IS IMPORTANT ITEM

THOROUGH WASHING AND STERILIZATION NECESSARY TO PRODUCE CLEAN MILK.

In justice to the farmer, milk dealers should give considerable attention to the question of washing the cans before they are returned. If the cans are allowed to go back unwashed to the farmer, it is a very difficult task for him, with his limited facilities, to clean them.

In a circular letter recently sent to milk dealers by the Dairy Division of the department of agriculture, it was pointed out that bacterial counts made from cans which had been washed and rinsed in the ordinary manner showed that there were from 300,000 to 18,000,000 bacteria in each can, with an average of 4,600,000.

One dealer who recently installed a modern washing machine employed a bacteriologist to test the results. It was found that less than 200,000 bacteria were in a can, and among them were no undesirable types.

There are a number of different types of cleaning machines on the market. The aim of all the efficient ones, however, is the thorough cleaning with washing powder and water, rinsing, sterilization with steam, and rapid drying.

One of the simplest of the machines is a jet device, by means of which sprays of cold and hot water and of steam are successively forced into the can. This type also is equipped sometimes with a drying attachment by means of which a draft of dry air is forced into the can.

SELECT SEED CORN.

Better quality and yield of next season's Oregon corn crop may be fostered by careful selection of home grown, acclimated seed. Since maturity is one of the vital factors the selection should be made now, according to the Agricultural college specialists, while it is easy to distinguish between the early and late maturing ears.

MORE ROAD DISTRICTS MAY BE CONSOLIDATED

COUNTY COURT SETS SEPTEMBER 28 AS DATE TO CONSIDER SIDER MATTER

The consolidation of road districts in the northern part of the county and on the west side of the river will come up for consideration at a special meeting of the county court September 28. The court Friday acted on five petitions, denying one and granting six.

The plan of consolidation includes making three or four districts out of all the territory north and east of the Clackamas river. A year ago this month the county court reduced the number of road districts from 60 to 57, and even a greater reduction was favored by many.

The most important change in district boundaries made Friday was in the line dividing Gladstone and district No. 47, commonly known as the Oak Grove district. The river road from the crossing of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company at Gladstone to the Hollowell hill was taken from Gladstone and placed in the jurisdiction of the Oak Grove district.

The court took some land from district 45 and added it to 21, a piece of district 10 was tacked onto district four and part of district 14 was put in the boundaries of 11. A petition to enlarge a part of district 19 for the benefit of No. 19 was denied.

CLACKAMAS WELL REPRESENTED ON STATE UNIVERSITY SQUAD

Clackamas county will be well represented on the University of Oregon football team this fall. Two members of last year's team, Bartlett, of Estacada, and Jake Risley, of Milwaukie, have turned out at the big state school for the squad and are showing class, even this early in the year.

First squad men from 11 Oregon counties and from two other states have begun work for the varsity games this fall. All last year's first team men, except Lyle Higbee, who has gone into professional baseball, and Hob Malarkey, of Portland, are back. The squad is experienced but few in number. The men with the positions for which they are trying are:

Tuerck, Portland, fullback.

C. A. Hutington, The Dalles, quarterback.

Hollis Huntington, The Dalles, left half. Risley, Milwaukie, center. Morfit, Malheur, second quarter. Bartlett, Estacada, right tackle. Couch, Island City, left half. Skidmore, Curtin, tackle. Jensen, Junction City, backfield position. Monteith, Albany, right half. Cook, Portland, end. Williams, Eugene, line position. Carl Nelson, Hollister, Idaho, end or backfield position. McKinney, Olympia, Wash., end or backfield.

Freshmen and others who have not been in residence a year may not compete for the varsity this year, a one-year rule having gone into effect last winter. A freshman squad is in training, however. It has many aspirants, and will play the freshmen of O. A. C. two games.

RED SOX HAND TIGERS SECOND BEATING PHILLIES GAIN IN RACE BY 2 VICTORIES

DETROIT'S PENNANT CHANCES GET SEVERE JOLT FROM BOSTON TEAM.

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Sept. 20.—The Detroit Tigers' pennant chances received a severe jolt this afternoon when the Red Sox handed them their second beating in two days. Sixteen thousand wild-eyed fans saw Jennings' men go down, fighting to the last, by a 4 to 3 count.

Olaf Hendricksen, hero of the 1912 world's series between Boston and the New York Giants, won the game for the world's champions. Batting for Manager Carrigan in the eighth inning with the score tied at three each, he drove a single to center, scoring Scott, who had walked.

Ehmke and Leonard worked on even terms throughout the game, each turning in one very bad inning, but otherwise pitching excellent ball.

DEMAREE PULLS IRON MAN STUNT AND WINS BOTH GAMES OF A DOUBLE HEADER.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The Phillies gained in the National league pennant race this afternoon, when Demaree turned in an "iron man" stunt, winning both games of a double header from the Pirates, 7 to 0, and 3 to 2. The Phillies landed on Cooper in the sixth inning of the first game for all their runs. In the second Mammaux and Demaree had a pitchers' battle with honors slightly with the Pirate, but the Morans hit more opportunely.

87 DESCENDANTS WILL SHARE TURNER ESTATE

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS BEGUN IN COUNTY COURT TO DIVIDE BEQUESTS.

Eighty-seven descendants in three generations were left by T. L. Turner, who died at his home in Stafford September 12, and will share his $21,000 estate. Probate proceedings were begun in the county court Friday with a petition filed by two children, Smith Turner and Mrs. Ella Seedling.

The funeral was held Thursday at Stafford with interment in the Stafford. A majority of the 87 surviving descendants attended the funeral. The Rev. W. T. Milliken officiated, and the following were the pallbearers: Gilbert L. Hedges and Ernest Mass, of Oregon City; H. G. Starkweather, of Milwaukie; John Aden and Charles Wagner, of Stafford.

ADLINE BAXTER SUES FOR DIVORCE DECREE

Charles E. Baxter is defendant in a suit for divorce filed in the Clackamas county circuit court Wednesday by Mrs. Adline Baxter, who alleges cruelty. They were married in the month of May, 1905, in Oregon City. Mrs. Baxter alleges that her husband is employed by the Crown Willamette Paper company at $3.80 a day and can afford to contribute $50 a month to the support of the family. George C. Brownell and Charles T. Sievers appear as Mrs. Baxter's attorneys.

Congress Victims Leave Coos Bay. MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 15.—The Congress wreck victims' special train department from Marshfield this afternoon at 3:45, carrying all the passengers and about 100 of the crew. The train consisted of eight day cars, a baggage car and a diner, and will reach Portland about 3 o'clock.

The passengers had a pleasant time in Marshfield and North Bend and passed the day in visiting and restocking their wardrobes. Many messages came to Marshfield business men from the outside, authorizing them to supply certain of the stranded persons with clothing or money. The unannounced guests left Coos Bay in a cheerful frame of mind and waved their gratitude to the throngs who watched them leave.

Could Not Do Her Cooking.

Mrs. F. E. Hartmeister, Tea, Mo., writes: "I was affected with kidney trouble for two years. I was so bad this summer I could hardly do my cooking. I got Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me. I feel like a new person." Too many women neglect symptoms of kidney derangement. When the kidneys are not properly doing their work poisons left in the system cause weak back, dizziness, puffiness under eyes, swollen ankles, joints, and rheumatism. Jones Drug Co.—Adv.

WIFE CHARGES CRUELTY.

In a divorce suit filed in the Clackamas county circuit court Monday, Mrs. Clara B. Maloney charges cruelty against Ralph E. Maloney. They were married June 23, 1914, in Stockton, Cal. She alleges that he called her names and threatened her and her mother. She asks for the return of her maiden name, Clara B. Beard.

Justice!! Writer Thinks Our Courts Are Lacking In It

OREGON CITY, Sept. 18.—Editor of The Enterprise: After reading the description of the tribulations of John Joseph in the Sunday Enterprise we have concluded that justice in the minor courts of some parts of Oregon is a weird and fantastic thing.

A starving foreigner, absolutely ignorant of English, found a hen. He hadn't English enough to beg, so he killed and ate the settler's hen. She was worth probably 35 cents in the market. He was arrested and haled before the brilliant legal luminary whose profound wisdom illumines the justice court in Estacada. That is, if the story told is true. That worthy individual bound him over to the grand jury. It seems he had not grafted sufficiently to put up $1,000 bail, and in addition was guilty of the unpardonable sin of understanding no English, so the justice sent him to the jail of the grand jury's meeting. To put the matter a little differently, the man stole a 35 cent chicken. To deal directly with so complex a case was beyond the mental capacity of the Estacada court. So he sent the offender to Oregon City where, up to date, he has boarded 124 days, up to the county's expense. Two bits a meal is a low estimate for board. Hence 124 days at 50 cents per day (county prisoners get two meals a day) means $62 board bill out of the pockets of the Clackamas county taxpayers to support the dignity of a rosy 25 cent chicken! One hundred and twenty-four days of God's sunlight, and manhood's freedom taken out of the life of a man created in God's image, because he sacrificed the life of a peck first-cousin to a reptile rather than starve to death! Of course the justice could not have sentenced him to a week in the Estacada lockup. The dignity of the chicken demanded nothing short of a grand jury!

Now this John Joseph—no, John Joseph—possibly deserves all he got for the following reasons:

First—He had no business not to be born an American. He should have had the foresight to order things differently.

Second—He should never have been hungry. It is a bad habit.

Third—Being a foreigner and not understanding any English, thus being unable to beg, he should have starved to death rather than to have taken the chicken.

Fourth—Like a certain recent prominent citizen of Clackamas county he should have illegally grafted $50,000 instead of appropriating a measly chicken. Then all he would have got would be a walking ticket to California, or Arizona, or some other hot county where he could begin to get acclimated for future contingencies. He should have stolen a railroad.

John Joseph has already spent a longer term in jail than the average American rascal gets for stealing another man's wife or his threshing machine. He says he stole the hen, all right, and that he willing to work for the owner a week to pay for her. But that would defeat the ends of justice. The district attorney couldn't possibly permit such a perversion of law! John must languish in the county bastle until the grand jury has the opportunity of sitting upon his corpus moribus—probably it will be his corpus mentis by that time—and decide whether he has told the truth or not.

Meanwhile some of us plain, common citizens wonder whether the whole thing is not a nightmare induced by something we have been reading about Russian justice, or a fantasy from Alice's adventures in Wonderland. And John Joseph sits in his cell, in the gloomy court house basement, and dreams about the summer skies and the soft sunlight of the freest land under heaven, and asks if there is such as Christian charity in this strange, foreign land, and wonders how many years he would have to spend in the penitentiary had he stolen a square meal from a fancy restaurant instead of a measly hen from a stinky citizen. And all who know the circumstances wonder whether this is merely a case of oversight on the part of our county officials, or rather another instance of democratic "watchful waiting!"

BLANCHARD WILL STAY AS CAPTAIN OF THE COMPANY

CHARTER IS SAVED TO OREGON CITY BY UNEXPECTED AND LAST-MINUTE ACTION.

SOME GUARDSMEN STILL REFUSE TO GO BACK INTO MILITIA BODY

Date When Men Will Be Back Home as Guardsmen is Not Known Here—Twelve Recruits Are Put in Company.

Thirty-four members of G company took the new federal oath yesterday and the charter of the company has been saved to Oregon City. Captain Blanchard and other officers will remain with the company, according to the understanding between the men and the regimental officers.

The action comes much as a surprise to the people of Oregon City, after the men had stubbornly refused for several days to sign up. For a time it was feared that the charter of the company would be lost to the town, owing to the action of the men in refusing to take the oath.

Many men of G company, however, refused to take the oath and it was necessary to put 12 recruits, principally Portland men, into the company to bring the number up to 24. At least 30 men must take the oath to save the company's charter, and even with these 12 men on the company's rolls, Oregon City's contingent of citizen soldiers has only four men over the margin.

Members of the company do not know when they will be back in Oregon City, but it is expected that mustering out will begin within a few days.

MRS. BARLOW'S DAHLIAS WIN.

Mrs. A. L. Blount, Mrs. F. T. Barlow and Mrs. Barton Barlow attended the Multnomah county fair held at Gresham Thursday. Mrs. Barlow, probably the most extensive dahlia grower in Clackamas county, is exhibiting some of her handsome blossoms, and Friday was awarded four first prizes and five second prizes on her blossoms. The party made the trip by automobile, and pronounces the dahlia show one of the finest they have ever attended. Dahlias were even entered from the state of Washington, Tacoma being well represented by some of the finest blooms in the show.
