18-YEAR-OLD DESERTER FROM ARMY JAILED HERE

CARTER GOLLEHON, SPOKANE YOUTH, MAY ALSO FACE CHARGE OF LARCENY. Carter Gollehon, 18-year-old son of J. T. Gollehon, Spokane real estate man, is in the city jail facing charges of larceny and of deserting from the army. He was arrested Wednesday by Chief of Police Blanchard. Gollehon ran away from his home in Spokane several months ago and enlisted in Portland. He was sent to the Mexican border and assigned to B company, Third Oregon. A week later he deserted and started north, after making several stops to work. He reached Salem this week, spending a Wednesday in the capital city. Monday he climbed into a buscar. He found a suitcase in the car which he stole. Teaching Oregon City Tuesday night he registered at a local hotel, although he did not have a cent, and this morning he started out to sell a pair of shoes he had found in the suitcase. Chief Blanchard heard of the youth and stopped him on the street. Chief Blanchard was on the border as captain of G company and wore a pair of regulation army shoes. The lad noticed them. "What do they do with a fellow who has deserted?" the lad asked the officer. "Have you deserted?" the officer queried. "No," replied the boy, "but I want to know what they do with a fellow who has deserted." "Where did you get those shoes?" Chief Blanchard asked. "I stole them on a car," the boy answered without hesitation. "The boy was taken to the city jail and soon confessed that he had stolen yet known on which charge the boy will be prosecuted. He may have been implicated in other car robberies on his way up from the south.

JUST MARRIED, COUPLE START A WARM DEBATE ON NATIONAL POLITICS

WITNESS INTERCEDES TO PREVENT DOMESTIC DISTURBANCE MINUTE AFTER WEDDING. Christina Newman and Peter Killburg did not exchange loving words and kisses as soon as they were married by Justice of the Peace Sievers Thursday afternoon. Instead they began a political argument and H. H. Staub, one of their witnesses, was forced to step in and put an end to the discussion. Justice Sievers had just completed the services when he noticed a Hughes suit on Mrs. Killburg's coat. Sievers is secretary of the Clackamas county Republican central committee and a Hughes supporter through and through. "Well, I see that you are starting your married life right politically," he said to the bride. "Yes, I am a Republican and I am going to vote for Hughes," she replied. "The groom stepped up. 'I am going to vote for Wilson,' he declared. "You are going to vote for Wilson in spite of all his mistakes in the last three and a half years?" cried the bride in amazement. "Yes, I am," said he, "and I'll have you in favor of his re-election before morning, too." And the war started. George Hall and Mr. Staub, the witnesses, and Justice Sievers listened to the argument which kept growing warmer for several minutes when Mr. Staub separated the couple. Mr. Killburg lives in Maupin, Wasco county, and his bride lived at Clackamas, where she owns a farm.

TWO MORE HOMES ARE ROBBED IN ONE DAY

MONEY AND CANNED FRUIT ARE TAKEN—PASS KEY IS USED AT BOLLE HOME. Two more victims were added to the list of recent house robberies Sunday. The series are a puzzle to the police, who are unable to "get a line" on the person or persons responsible. The home of John Bolle, First and Center street was visited between 4 and 5 o'clock Sunday evening, the robbery entering the house by opening the front door with a pass key. About $7 in cash, but no clothing or jewelry, is missing. A block or two from the Bolle home another house was entered and a dozen jars of fruit taken. The police believe that the same person is at responsible for both burglaries. A week ago the home of Ray Woodward was visited and a suit of clothes and a ring stolen. Deputy Sheriffs Frost and Deaton spent Monday afternoon investigating the robbery of the cabin of Sam Cox, a Cherryville bachelor, sometime between Friday noon and Sunday morning. A revolver, a shot gun, bacon, beans, flour and other food was taken. The deputy sheriffs secured a search warrant and went through a wagon bound for eastern Oregon, but the stolen articles were not found.

Old Fashioned Buck Saw Is Better For Exercise Than Relays, Says Mayor Hackett

There was no soft soap in the letter which Mayor Hackett wrote President Foster of Reed college Tuesday. The message was carried by two teams of college runners, the athletes starting on the 12-mile relay at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The executive gave some practical pointers on practical physical exercise, and ended the letter by advising Reed college students to vote for Hughes. The letter follows: "Oregon City sends greetings to Reed college and wishes it the prosperity it deserves, and I believe it richly merits the good will and support of the good people of Oregon. "As to athletics, I am of the opinion that much of it is overdone. I do not believe any young man or boy should be required to run a mile as these young men are doing today. "I believe that a good 'dose' of the old-fashioned buck-saw in their father's woodshed would be more conducive to health, and would give them more respect for the man who labors. "Many teachers today tell and urge their pupils to get an education so they will not be compelled to work for a living. "I hope and believe Reed college is above and beyond this kind of 'stuff,' for if there is anything that adds dignity and worth to a man it lies in his ability to fill in his allotted place in this world, and to do the work God designed he should. "I believe Reed college is doing its part along this line. If the boys vote for Hughes it will be a step in the right direction. "The freshmen, who were running against a team composed of upper-classmen, won the race, making the 12 and a quarter miles in one hour six and a half minutes. Layton, the freshman on the last lap of the relay, overcame a 25-yard lead and took the race from Horace Miller. President Foster, of the college, was on the college campus awaiting the runners when they arrived. He is prominent in the activities of the Woodrow Wilson League of Portland, and received with a smile the advice of Mayor Hackett to vote for Hughes.

NEGLECTED WIFE SEEKS DECREE OF DIVORCE

Charging that her husband would not take her to places of amusement, and that he would leave her to go to dances in Portland and at Canemah park, Mrs. Mabel Platt has filed a suit in the circuit court against Hugh Platt, asking for a decree of divorce. They were married June 30, 1921, in Rainier, have one daughter over whom she seeks the custody. She also charges that her husband is quick tempered and "close with his money." She asks for $10 monthly alimony. Dimick & Dimick appear as her attorneys. Because her husband is quick-tempered and swore at her, Mrs. Elizabeth W. McCroskey Wednesday brought a suit for divorce against Elsworth McCroskey. They were married October 3, 1909, in Portland. She asks for the custody of their adopted child, $100 and attorneys' fees.

SUIT IS FILED OVER FLUME CONSTRUCTION

Alison and Florence Baker, owners of a tract of land in the Willamette district, filed a suit in the Clackamas county circuit court Tuesday through attorneys Brownell and Stevers to compel the Tappendorf Lumber company to reconstruct a flume across their property. The plaintiffs allege that through an agreement reached before construction work began, the flume was to be put on the ground, but that the lumber company reserved the flume and plan to erect it 25 feet above the surface of the ground. Although an agreement between the owners of the land and the lumber company gives the former the right to use the flume to carry 2500 cords of wood, on the property, the Bakers declare that the height of the flume from the ground makes it impossible for them to use the flume for that purpose.

J. D. McFall, at one time one of the leading musicians in Washington, D. C., was granted a divorce Saturday from Mrs. Flora H. McFall by Circuit Judge Bagley. The suit was contested and tried before Judge Bagley September 28. The case is one of the many in which prominent easterners come to Oregon, particularly to Clackamas county, to secure relief from domestic woes. Mr. McFall was once leader of the choir of the Metropolitan Presbyterian church in Washington and was a conductor of a conservatory of music in the national capital city. Owing to the activity of his wife, he declared, he lost his position with the church. He signed a Chautauqua contract, but lost out when his wife, he charges, wrote an anonymous letter to the Chautauqua agency. After losing out in Washington, the couple separated in 1905. Mrs. McFall going to Cleveland, O., where she is living with her brother. He went to Wallace, Idaho, where after establishing a legal residence he filed a suit for divorce. The case was dismissed and he came to Oregon. In an answer filed through Attorney Clyde O. Garmier, of Portland, Mrs. McFall accused her husband with being too intimate with several of his pupils. She denied all of his allegations. When the case was tried Mr. McFall went on the stand on his own behalf. The depositions of 15 witnesses at Idaho were introduced and the case tried on the strength of them. Mr. McFall was represented by Judge Grant B. Dimick, Walter A. Dimick and Will L. Mulvey. The couple married in 1882 and have one daughter, who has achieved success as a musician in the east.

The volume of water is usually large enough to carry the craft over the shallow chamber. The lower chamber was flooded for the Argoxy, when she either struck a rock or opened a seam. The pumps were started. It has been over a month since the lower water began to interfere with transportation.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Scientific discovery has proved that Cataract is a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Chesney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 50 drops to a teaspoonful.
