STATE SCHOOL ELEEVNS WILL MEET ON SATURDAY

CORVALLIS CONSIDERS THAT ITS CHANCES FOR VICTORY ARE SLIGHT.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 21.—Saturday of this week is the date for the annual gridiron classic between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural college and this year the game is played in Corvallis. With less than a week remaining before the game the local team is far from up to the standard Coach Pipal believes necessary if they are to do anything at all against the powerful Besdek machine and his best hopes are to hold the game to a low score.

With the team in the best possible condition the chances for an aggie victory are slight.

In point of experience Coach Pipal's men will be outclassed by Besdek's pupils. There is not a single man on the team who has seen three years of service.

When it comes to a comparison of scores the balance swings to the university players by a wide margin. They walloped Multnomah club 25 to 9 while the aggies were defeated by the clubmen 30 to 9, even though Coach Pipal had several of his star freshmen in the lineup.

Besdek's men held the University of Washington to a 0-to-0 score and the aggies are still smarting under the sting of a 25-to-0 defeat at the hands of the Dubie machine. Both teams won from Washington State college, but the aggies were lucky to come out on the long end of the score, while the Eugene team had a decided advantage over the Dietz eleven.

In weight the advantage again lies with the Eugene contingent. Their line averages four pounds heavier than the aggie forward battlefront; the backfield, with Captain Beckett, moved back to take the place of the protested John Parsons, assures a full 14 pounds heavier than Pipal's light ground gainer and the aggie team as a whole will fall short of the average of the university combination by an average of six pounds to the man.
