

LOCAL BRIEFS

G. D. Parry, of Ardowald, was in Oregon City on business Tuesday. A. King Wilson, mayor of Oswego, was in Oregon City on business Tuesday.

D. C. McHenry, of Molalla, who has been in this city on business, returned to his home Tuesday.

W. A. Shaver, of Molalla, well known stockman of Clackamas county, was in this city on business Thursday.

Otto Aschoff, of Maricou, and of the well known summer resort in the Mount Hood country, was in this city Friday, making the trip by automobile.

N. A. D. Hengate, of Molalla, well known in this city, where he resided for some time, will return to his home today, after transacting business in Oregon City.

C. E. Ramsby, of Molalla, formerly of Oregon City, was in this city Tuesday, and will return to his home this morning. Mr. Ramsby is now engaged in farming on the Ramsby farm.

Miss Eleanor Williams, of "The First" Mount Pleasant, left Monday for North Yakima, Wash., where she will spend the winter with her brother, Wallace Williams, and family.

F. W. McLaren, of Willhoit, proprietor and owner of the Willhoit Springs resort, is in Oregon City, and while here is registered at the Electric hotel. Mr. McLaren will remain in Oregon City for several days.

Mrs. W. H. Silcox and daughter, Miss Grace, returned to their home at The Dalles Sunday evening, after visiting for the past week in this city. Mrs. Silcox was the guest of Mrs. W. S. Eddy, and Miss Silcox the guest of Miss Ethel Aldredge.

C. A. Rosencrans has sold his farm of 80 acres located near Redland through the Dillman & Howland real estate company of this city. Messrs. Boardman and Watson, of Portland, purchased the land, and have taken possession of the same. Mr. Rosencrans has rented the farm of Frank Mattoon, near Redland, and Mr. Mattoon has moved to Oregon City.

Louis Davis, residing near Carnu, who fell down a well at his home last week, is improving. Mr. Davis with Gwillim Gwillim was cleaning a well on the Davis farm, and as Mr. Gwillim was hauling Davis from the bottom of the well the rope broke and Davis fell 30 feet. No bones were broken. Gwillim immediately secured another rope and pulled Davis to the surface. Davis only suffered from a severe shaking up.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong, who have been residing one and one-half miles from Canby, left Thursday for Tacoma, Wash., their former home.

J. W. Morris, who has charge of the intake of the water works supplying Oregon City, was in this city Friday, leaving for Cazadero Friday evening. Mr. Morris says that at the present time there are very few people visiting in that section, and that everything is in "tip top" shape at the intake.

D. W. Olds, son of E. D. Olds, the well known Oak Grove bridge contractor and road builder, who was badly injured in a runaway while working for his father in constructing the Sandy river bridge September 4, 1915, was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital Monday, where he will undergo a surgical operation on Wednesday of this week. The operation will be bone grafting, and this will require a section of a bone from the left leg to be grafted to that of the right leg, where there is about three inches of the bone gone. The critical operation will be performed by Drs. Ruckey, of Portland.

HOP FIELDS TORN UP; OTHER CROPS PUT IN ENGLISH EMBARGO LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR ACTION — FUTURE IS GLOOMY.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 25.—Thousands of acres of hops in Oregon are likely to be plowed up before the opening of the next crop season, according to growers in Salem who are already at work tearing out the vines and preparing to convert their yards for the growing of other products. The relaxation of the English embargo, allowing the surplus American crop to be shipped abroad at good prices, would undoubtedly check some of the destruction of yards. On the other hand, maintenance of the embargo until spring will precipitate action on the part of scores of growers owning a large acreage.

Hundreds of acres will be plowed up regardless of the English embargo or of prevailing prices and in fact work is proceeding on several big tracts.

It is reported that E. Clemens Horst, who had already converted some of his California holdings into a rice plantation, is now at work plowing up 100 acres near Salem, which will be put to another crop.

Louis Lachmund, who has been in the business for years, both as grower and dealer, is now at work tearing up the vines on his seventy-five acre yards, and expects to quit the business.

TIA JUANA JOCKEY ARRESTED.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 27.—Following the murder of Drew B. Milligan by bandits last night, J. Collins, a Tia Juana jockey, was arrested early today on suspicion. Collins maintained that he had just arrived in town from San Diego.

Milligan was killed when two robbers held up the machine in which he and Mrs. Erna Weilan had been riding. Mrs. Weilan said one of the men cried "Good God, I have killed him," and then ordered her to call the police. When officers arrived the men were gone.

WIFE, SEEKING DIVORCE, SAYS SHE WAS DRUNK AT TIME OF THE MARRIAGE

Charging that George Scheiberg got her in an intoxicated condition so that she would consent to marry him, Leah Henson Scheiberg Monday filed a suit for divorce against him in the Clackamas county circuit court. The marriage took place August 13, 1914, at Payette Lakes, where the two were spending their vacation.

A few days after the ceremony, after he had secured $50 from her, they separated, she says. As soon as she recovered from the effects of the liquor and became her normal self, she refused to have anything to do with him, she recites in the complaint, and has not seen him since.

Ernestine Wallace, resident of Multnomah county, says that her husband sold their furniture in order to secure liquor. She also alleges that he often becomes intoxicated and that he failed to provide for her. They were married March 16, 1899, in Tacoma, Wash.

In The Social Whirl

A PRETTY wedding was solemnized at the St. Paul's Episcopal church Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when Miss Nieta Natalie Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Miller McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noble McKinney, of Baker, Oregon. This marriage was the culmination of a romance of 1907 when the young couple attended the University of Oregon. The impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church was performed by Rev. T. J. Williams, rector of St. Paul's church. Relatives and former schoolmates of the contracting parties attended.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. E. E. Brodie, sister of the bride, sang very impressively "God Make Thee Mine," by Haydn Wood, accompanied by Miss Sadye Evelyn Ford, of Portland, who rendered Lohengrin's Wedding March as the bridal party entered the church. Little Madelon Jane Brodie, niece of the bride, bearing a basket of Cecil Brunner roses preceded the bridal party to the altar, and was immediately followed by the bride, Miss Bertha McKinney, of Baker, sister of the bridegroom; the maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Harding, sister of the bride, followed by the bride and her father, George A. Harding. At the altar and beneath an improvised archway of evergreens and flowers, Mr. McKinney, his best man, Lloyd Harding, of this city, and the usher, C. B. Harding, of Portland, brothers of the bride, were in waiting. As the last note of Lohengrin's Wedding March had softly sounded, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Williams, and at the conclusion the bridal party, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, preceded by the little flower girl, who scattered rose petals in the pathway, passed down the aisle and to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harding, where a reception was held.

The bride was handsome in her gown of white satin elaborately embellished with pearls and lace, and her long tulle veil was held in place by a dainty crown of pearls and orange blossoms. The ornament worn was a pearl crescent, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Evelyn Harding, the maid of honor, wore a becoming gown of pink satin tulle, and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, Miss Bertha McKinney, was prettily gowned in yellow silk with overdress of yellow chiffon, and carried an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

The interior of the Harding home was bower of beauty. The color scheme of the parlors was yellow and green; the reception hall, pink and green; living room, white, red and green, and the dining room, pink and green. The decorations of the parlors were huge yellow chrysanthemums, that were artistically arranged in brass vases and hanging baskets, and these were intermingled with Boston ferns, while the bay window in the west end of the room was arranged with potted Boston ferns, palms and chrysanthemums, over which was suspended a golden colored basket filled with gracefully hanging ferns and yellow chrysanthemums with large yellow tulle bow and streamers, and where the bridal party received during the reception. The reception hall was in pink chrysanthemums and ferns; the living room in white chrysanthemums, mountain laurel foliage and with the bright red berries of the mountain laurel, added greatly to the artistic appearance of this room. The dining room was beautifully decorated with pink carnations, arranged in Indian baskets, while the north window was banked in these blossoms. Pink carnations were used among the table decorations. Candelabras, with dainty pink shades, heirlooms in the family of Mrs. Mary Barlow, grandmother of the bride, were used among the table decorations.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. McKinney left for Portland, and from that city will leave on their honeymoon, their destination being British Columbia. They will visit Vancouver and Victoria, as well as Seattle, Wash.

The bride is a popular young woman and comes from a well known Oregon pioneer family. She was born and reared in this city, attending the Oregon City schools, and later entered the University of Oregon at Eugene. After completing her studies at the institution and graduating in 1909, she accepted a position in the Oregon City schools, where she taught for seven years. She is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, and of several social clubs and has been the motif of social functions during the past month in honor of her approaching marriage.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Oregon, completed his studies at that institution in 1907, and is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, and was one of the most popular young men in his class. After graduation he returned to Baker, where he is interested in a large ranch. He has served as representative from Baker county at the Oregon legislature for two terms. He is well known throughout Baker county, and has a host of friends.

Many handsome gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. McKinney.

Those in attendance at the wedding ceremony and at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brodie and children, George and Madelon, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Harding, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harding, of Portland; Mrs. Mary L. Barlow, Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Wilkins, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Barlow, Mrs. Olen Arnsperger and children, of Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pierce, of Portland; Mrs. William Wood, of Washougal, Wash.; Mrs. Ada Dray, of Portland; Mrs. Jacob Abbing, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clifford, of Portland; Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Williams, Mrs. Edith Dillard, Miss Evelyn Harding, Miss Dolly Pratt, Miss June Chartman, Miss Maude Gallogly, Miss Louise Huntley, Miss Ethelwyn Albright, Miss Gertrude Holmes, Miss Louise Hawley, Miss Jean Gray, Miss Sadye Ford, of Portland; Messrs. Russell Waitrous, William Laxton, of Portland; Lloyd Harding.

THE old Whitcomb family home at Milwaukie was the scene of the wedding at noon Saturday of Miss Hazel Whitcomb and Walter S. Creech, both of Portland. Rev. H. Griffin, of Portland officiated, using the ring ceremony. A wedding breakfast was served after the wedding. Only immediate relatives attended.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rose Bonnet Whitcomb, and has relatives and many friends in Oregon City. Mr. Creech is employed in the Portland fire bureau.

Surprise Shower for Miss Charlotte Blum.

A pretty shower was given at the home of Mrs. Christina Blum on Fifth and Center streets Friday evening with her daughter, Miss Charlotte, as the guest of honor. The affair was given after the announcement of her engagement to Willamette H. Harris, of Beaver Creek, a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural college. The marriage will take place at an early date. The miscellaneous shower was a complete surprise to the bride-elect, and in the millinery business on Seventh street for about seven years, recently disposing of her millinery establishment and carried out by her sisters, Mrs. L. M. Davis, of Eldorado, and Mrs. Frank E. Ferris, of Portland. Many pretty and useful gifts were received by Miss Blum.

The living and dining rooms of the Blum home were appropriately decorated, the color scheme being red and yellow. The living room was in yellow chrysanthemums and ferns, while the dining room was in red carnations, red hearts and cupid darts formed a very artistic decoration.

The evening was devoted to games, and a luncheon was served.

In attendance were Miss Christina Blum, Mrs. Frank E. Ferris, of Portland; Mrs. L. M. Davis, of Eldorado; Mrs. Thomas H. Davis, Mrs. George Swafford, Miss Inez Bailey, Mrs. Mary Faltrey, Miss Bertha Priebe, Miss Minnie Blum, Miss Maude Warner, Miss Elsie Blum and Miss Elsa Blum, of Portland; Eleanor Ferris, of Portland, and Miss Charlotte Blum.

Miss Blum, the bride-elect, is one of the well-known young women of Oregon City. She has been engaged to Mr. Harris since the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harris, of Beaver Creek, and is a progressive young farmer and stockman. He is well known in Oregon City.

Miss Rita Fraley and Harold J. Broughton Wed.

The marriage of Miss Rita Fraley, of Eugene, and Harold J. Broughton, of Portland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Broughton, former residents of Oregon City, took place in Eugene November 22. The marriage was solemnized in the Presbyterian church at Eugene with Rev. William Moll Case officiating. The young couple will make their future home at St. Helens, Oregon, where the bridegroom is in the lumbering business.

Mr. Broughton and his wife were former students of the University of Oregon, where Mr. Broughton met the young woman who has become his wife. Many of their college friends attended the wedding.

Maple Lane Women Give Annual Supper.

The Woman's Improvement club of Maple Lane gave its annual harvest supper last Saturday evening when the families and friends of the members were in attendance, there being 120 in all. Among the features of the evening was a chicken supper.

A program was given during the evening, and this consisted of vocal and instrumental music and recitations, and closed with the club members reciting the motto of the organization, which is as follows: "I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do or any kindness I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it."

The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing by the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Finley, of Portland, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammond, of Gladstone, Friday evening. Mr. Finley gave a talk before the Parent-Teacher association at the Gladstone school house Friday evening, his subject being "Home Life of Birds and Animals of Oregon." Mrs. Hammond has been heard in public on many occasions, is giving interesting lectures on the birds of Oregon, and has a large number of mounted specimens in which Mr. Finley was especially interested.
